The Sufferings of the Spanish Troops—De Rodas' Nepotism—The Situation in New York.

An arrival from Havana brings the following news to July 17:—The Spanish soldiers unable to stand the climate.

The following despatches have lately been received from Havana:—The first from General Puello, who proceeds to say:—

As I observed to your Excellency before leaving Havana with the battalion of marine infantry, these men will fight but cannot stand the field...

The following comes from Brigadier Leasca:—My friends the volunteers will be happy to operate under my command. Send me at least 2000 of them to help my holding the principal points in my neighborhood.

As a confirmation of the above, the Voiz de Cuba published on the 13th the article headed "One effort more," the most interesting part of which I translate.

We have a chief who inspires complete and absolute confidence. We should anticipate his wishes. Let him ask us for the resources he may judge necessary to terminate the war.

Another Fierce and Feroocious Philippic Against Grant. Wendell Phillips declares as follows in the Anti-Slavery Standard of this week, under the head of "Forgotten Promises:—"

General Grant was commended to the country as a man of few words, but sure to mean every word he said, and to be true to the word he uttered.

Why then, if every Spaniard is born a soldier, should he not be counted among these picked men? Why then, if every Spaniard is born a soldier, should he not be counted among these picked men?

Such is the condition of affairs with the Spaniards.

Sufferings of the Spanish Troops. You can form some idea of the sufferings of the Spanish soldiers who have come over the sea within the last eight months to fight for the integrity of Spain.

General De Rodas' Nepotism. General De Rodas has not, so far, differed much from his illustrious predecessors. You will find his name in the list of those charged upon the Governors-General of Cuba, and indeed it is one of the most prominent national names.

The Summer Resorts. The wonder of the White Mountains this season is the Mount Washington Railway. This stupendous work is now entirely finished and in operation from the base of the mountain to the Tip-Top House, in front of which the iron horse may be daily heard snorting.

The Removal of Lemus. Senator Morales Lemus, Envoy of the Cuban Republic to the United States, and President of the Cuban Junta in this city, has been removed, and Mr. Macias, it is said, has been appointed in his place.

The Weather [at the Sea-Side. The following was the state of the thermometer at the sea-side at 9 o'clock this morning:—Atlantic City, S. E., cloudy. Thermometer, 68.

BROWNLOW.

He Does not Affiliate with the Democracy. Brownlow, the ex-Gubernatorial Parson of Tennessee, who supports Senator for Governor, and is being just now quoted as having entered into a compact to resign his place in the Senate to let in Andrew Johnson, has written a card, in which he repudiates A. J. in toto, and gives the following blast at the Democracy in general:—

In conclusion, I have no confidence in that organization known as the Democratic party, either North or South. I can never act in connection with the Democracy, nor support any man or office which they have reason to believe will be controlled by its partisans.

Concerning Senator, the Parson says:—So far as the representation named concerning me, and also as to your being disfranchised in the event of Senator's election, have been made by native Tennesseans, they were made by mitigated demagogues, who do not themselves believe a word of them, and they are made for the purpose of misleading you.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

The following extracts show the state of the New York money market yesterday:—From The Herald.

The markets in Wall street continue to exhibit even more than their usual summer dullness, noticeable not so much in the falling off in the amount of business, although there are many buyers, but in the absence of the excitement so usual about the Stock Exchange, and the general appearance of almost idleness as compared with the rush and bustle of a month ago.

The steadiness of the general list was shared by the market for the opening prices for the first call exhibiting but slight alteration from the closing figures of last night. At the noon call, upon information of a firm tone in the market on the other side and a stronger feeling in the market, there was a marked improvement, which was maintained at the last call, the market closing steady.

The transaction during the day were, there was a marked improvement, which was maintained at the last call, the market closing steady.
