THE NEW LITTHERAN CHURCH.—About a year since the Lutheran congregation worshipping as Fourth and Cherry streets disposed of their burial ground, running from Eighth streets of Franklin street, be-tween face and Yine streets, and already the Eighth street front is covered with handsome stores. The congregation also sold the old edifice at Fourth and Cherry streets, and commenced the construction of a new elegant building on Franklin street, below vine. It is now creeted as far site second story, and workmen are busily engaged on it, so that it may be under cover when winter sets in. When completed, its beauty of design, appearance, and grass proportions will make it the conspicuous object of that section of the city. Its cost will be about $130,000. Its dimensions may be briefly given as follows:—Depth, 112 feet; width, 70 feet; length of main foor, 80 feet; width, 58 feet; height of the building from floor to ceiling, 45 feet 6 inches; dis-tance from the ground to the apex of the roof, 80 feet; from the ground to the edge of the roof, 80 feet; height of spire from ground, 190 feet. The tirst floor will have a school room, 38 by 28 feet, and proven other apartments for library and school pur-tors of selfery will contain four rows of seats. Birst noor win nave a school room, as by 25 leet, and neveral other apartments for library and school pur-poses. The gallery will contain four rows of seats. The wal's are of Trenton brown stone. It is expected that by next May it will be ready for the congregation.

The first floor is used for the exhibition of sample cases of goods, the upper atories serving as store-rooms for the stock itself. In the rear of the first floor is situated an intervent complete boxes. The house aboves corrian elegant counting-house. The house always carries a very heavy stock. #### A Contradiction About Senor Lemus. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, July 23 .- I am authorized to say that the despatch which appeared in an evening paper yesterday from Washington relative to the removal of J. M. Lemus, the Cuban envoy, by the Cuban Junta, is false. Senor Lemus is the only person in the United States who has the official authority to represent the Government of Cespedes and the patriotic Cubans.

The Cuban Junta is not officially known in Cuba. It was called together by Mr. Lemus for advisory purposes only, and can have no power over his conduct. It can neither remove nor appoint. Mr. Lemus has never held any conversation with Senator Sumner, and has never expressed to any one any doubts of the success of the Cuban revolution.

Delinquent Revenue Officials,

When Commissioner Delano returned to the city, he found upon his desk letters making complaints of supervisors and other high revenue officers, and investigation has shown that they are not altogether unfounded. He has since been in consultation with Secretary Boutwell in relation to his power to remove supervisors at will. The law is construed to clearly give him that power, and it is understood that there will soon be removals of supervisors in some instances and suspensions in others.

The Bonds of the National Banks,

Secretary Boutwell will issue an order to-day giving national banks the privilege of exchanging bonds deposited with the United States Treasurer as security for their circulation. This will enable banks that wish it to exchange tenforties for five-twenties, and vice versa.

BROOKLYN, July 23 .- The daughter of Mrs. Margaret Farmer was suffocated last night under peculiarly distressing circumstances. The mother left her child under the charge of its grandmether, with special charges of care during her absence. On her return she found the' grandmother grossly intoxicated, lying across the child, and the child dead. An investigation will be had.

The Money Market.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. NEW YORK, July 23 .- The general stock market shows an advance in prices since yesterday of about 11% per cent. New York Central has been as high as 214%, but is quieter now at 218%; Hudson River is decidedly stronger; it has advanced to-day 2 per cent., and is now quoted at 1861%. Gold continues steady, and is rather strong at 185%. There is a tendency to higher figures in consequence of the Parliamentary crisis in England, which is fraught with the gravest danger, and is likely tains the following:— A gentleman who formerly resided in St. Louis is possessed of a young, pretty, and virtuous wife, whom he prizes as a faithful partner of his joys, and a dutiful sharer of his mishaps in life's great battle. For four months past his business WASHINGTON, July 23 .- John Wilkins, Colpursuits have forced him away from our city, but he left his young wife behind. The clerk in a large establishment on the street referred to knew of her lonely estate, and thought to turn the fact to his own low purposes. lector of Internal Revenue of the Fourth New Ex-Secretary Stanton had a long interview to-Accordingly he indited a loving epistle of the spooney order, in which he announced himself the slave of the adorable charmer, and sought an interview. The insulting letter passed unheeded, and another followed it, teeming with laselvious The amount of fractional currency of the fourth issue, ten and fifteen cent. notes, already donkeyisms, and proposing a meeting on the steps of the College, corner of Ninth and Green streets, where he could be identified by the color of his cravat. This also was neglected, and an-other, equally tender, proposed the vicinity of the Post Office as a place of rendezvous, when he would wear a white cravat, bordered with red. This shared the fate of the others, and a final earnest appeal for a meeting at his room on Third street, for yesterday at 3 P. M., was for-warded. As "silence gives consent," the donkey Reported by De Haven & Bro., No. 40 S. Third street.  $\begin{array}{c} \text{Berrween a Brown a Br$ felt sure that his jenny would come to the fodder offered. Meanwhile, the husband who was to be dishonored returned to the city on Monday, and his wife, like a true woman, told him how she had been annoyed by an impertinent coxcomb and gave him the letters to read. What he thought may be guessed, but what he did is what the reader is to know. He sat down and wrote the puppy a note, saying he would meet him at his room at 2 o'clock on Tuesday, on important business. Then he went to a harness shop or Fourth street and bought a supple cowhide, to do the business referred to. A little before two on Tuesday, his wife put on her hat, took her hus-band's arm, and on satisfaction intent the two called at the designated room, and were admitted by the "Son" of pleasure, totally unsuspicious of what was coming. Entering in uninvited, the husband coolly locked the door and took the key, while the wife drew forth the rawhide, an-nounced that he at last had "the meeting" he had so pertinaciously sought, and began to lay the stinging whipeord over deserving shoulders. The fellow howled, and whined, and begged for pardon, and promised to be a better man, while the insulted woman whipped him until her strength gave out, and then the satisfied parties left. The whip is kept with a ribbon attached as a memento of the deed and the day; and Mr. Arrival of a Plague-Stricken Vessel at New Thompson, or Johnson, or Wilson, is doubtless reflecting upon the adage that "he who would win the goal must bear the stripes." At all events he has the stripes, but does not seem quite in the way of winning.

A St. Louis Woman Gives an "Impertment Pappy" a Cowhiding. The St. Louis Democrat of Wednesday contains the following:

Another Defalcation in New York-$63,000 Lost by an Insurance Company. From the N. Y. World of this morning.

Yesterday afternoon another wave went dash-ing over the surface of the commercial sea. It was not a dangerous breaker, but when the wind brings such words as "heavy defalcation" and the like, these waters are sure to be agitated until the air is calm again. The officers of the Security Insurance Company whispered the an-nouncement that their Secretary, Frank W. Ballard, had become a heavy de-faulter, and forthwith the words were taken up and loudly proclaimed from mouths innume-The loss to the company is reported to be $63,000, and the discovery of the alleged swindle was made two days ago, while the alleged defaulter was absent in the country. The officers of the company state that they have found proofs of Ballard having been engaged for a long time in Wall street speculations with the funds of the company. He had, so it is said, made use of his extraordinary skill in the keeping of accounts for the purpose of concealing his operations. He also had the advantage of possessing the unlimited confidence of all the officers of the company, and was never before suspected for a moment of dishonesty in anything. He had been secretary of the com-pany for more than two years, and for a long time before that he was secretary of the Importers' and Traders' Insurance Company. He had also held the positions of secretary of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters and of the National Board of Underwriters. Mr. Ballard is an old and prominent member of the Young Men's Christian Association, and for many years has performed a conspicuous part in the proceedings of the main Twenty-second street organization. He has always held esponsible positions in that organization, figuring in the most important committees that were appointed. He was almost invariably chosen o represent the New York organization at the religious conventions, and in June of last year he was sent to the great international convention of the Young Men's Christian Association held at Detroit, Michigan The numerous friends of the alleged defaulting secretary are, of course, sorely grieved, regretting that another man who had always borne an exemplary character should be tempted into irregular transactions for the sake of gaining wealth. to the Smallpox Hospital at Blackwell's Island. Most of the cases are children, and all are of the most malignant type. The other passengers are detained on board the vessel, and every measure necessary to check the further appearance of the disease, such as vaccination of all on board and fumigation of the vessel, has been adopted.

The Admiral has hitherto had the reputation of being a very healthy ship, this being the first instance of her bringing contagion into port.

The ship Cynosure, Captain Teevens, with forty-one passengers, also arrived this morning, forty-three days from Liverpool, all well on board. No new cases of cholera or yellow fever are reported at quarantine, although several steamers and sailing vessels have arrived within a day or two from the West Indies and Brazil. The Saratoga, which brought the vellow fever from Havana, and which lost a number of her officers from the epidemic, still lies at her anchorage in the lower bay, with a few men on bard to take care of her. She will remain at her present station until cold weather, experience having taught that the ordinary disinfectants are not always sufficient to purify a vessel from the contagion. Of twenty-five deaths on board the Saratoga, in addition to Surgeon Quinn, who died at Havana, the following were officers:-Lieutenant Commander William A. Van Vleck, died June 29; Lieutenant George A. Flagg, June 30; Licutenant Herman C. Roebel, June 25; Master's Mate Samuel G. Blodgett, June 20; Captain's Clerk William E. McMullen, June 22; and Carpenter Hiram L. Dixon, June 26. The appearance of yellow fever and smallpox in our bay, and the terrible ravages of yellow fever and cholera in the West Indies, from which vessels are daily arriving at this port, impressively warn our citizens against carelessness in sanitary measures during the approaching hot season. The filthy condition of our streets, loss, as the company's surplus fund amounts to manifested in the most offensive manner, by $900,000. sight and smell, and the immense quantities of unripe cholera-breeding fruit with which the city is gorged, demand the immediate and thorough attention of our health officers but judging from the neglect of duty manifested by city officials whose businers it is to avert epidemics from the community, there seems but little hope of our escaping any or all of the fearful pestilences threatening us, except in the careful observance by individuals of the laws of health. Every family should see that its place of residence and the gutters adjacent to it are kept thoroughly clean, and the green apples, peaches and other deadly fruits for sale at the street street corners should be avoided as poisonous things Unless such precautiens are taken the cholera may be upon us suddenly, and with as great violence as in the terrible years of pestilence from which New York and her sister cities have previously suffered.

York-Twenty-nine Cases of Smallpox on Board-The Malady of a Virulent Character. From the N. Y. The Admiral left Bremen on the 5th of June, with 298 steerage passengers, and on the fifth day out the first case of smallpox occurred. Lyery precaution that could be taken under the circumstances was observed to prevent the spread of the malady, but without success, and for forty days the passengers were exposed to the ravages of the disease, which daily assumed Immediately upon the arrival of the Admiral at the lower quarantine the sick were removed Loring as the successor of Governor Claffin, and also for the elevation of General Butler to a seat in the National Senate "at an early day." Getting Ready for the Scaffold.

The same journal contains also the following The colored man William Edwards, or Roach who was convicted and sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Samuel Wilson, has for some time been preparing for the gallows. Governor McClurg postponed the execution from June 17 to July 23, and on Friday next, unless Executive clemency again grants a reprieve, he will be hung in the jail yard. The rope is ready-the same cord that was procured for the execution of Billy Banks, who was pardoned by Governor Fletcher.

Edwards appears to be confident that he will be reprieved, but says he is ready to enter the next world, having made his peace with God and paid off his little debts in this world.

Last month, when the time fixed for his execution was drawing near, Edwards was visited almost daily by large numbers of colored people, who prayed and sang in front of his cell, and succeeded by incessant supplications in convinc-ing him of the truth of religion and the efficacy Purification by immersion, as practised in the Baptist Church. The large bathing tub in the all was filled with water, and the repentant murderer was soused into it, face upwards, coming out nearly strangled, but feeling an inward conviction that his sins had been washed away. Since the postponement of the execution the visits of his colored friends have been less frequent, but the regenerated sinner is contented and requires but little additional consolation. Edwards is a rather dull minded, full-blooded yellow man, formerly a slave of Mr. Sharp of Lafayette county. He stabbed Wilson with a knife at a ball because Wilson had struck a colored girl with whom he had been keeping company. The impression is that the Governor will commute the sentence to imprisonment for min Bryan, who live about twelve miles back of Covington. William, the elder, is married, and has three or four children. Beujamin is siderably younger, hardly having yet arrived at man's estate. A dispute arose yesterday morn-ing between these two, on a matter of suffiing between these two, on a matter of suffi-ciently small importance. Each wanted to use the wagon, and the dispute soon became very warm. At last the younger seized an axe which happened to be near at hand, and struck his brother four blows upon the head, knocking him senseless, and, it is feared, inflicting so serious wounds that life cannot be saved The aid of a surgeon from this city was called as soon as possible, and all was done that could be done for the sufferer. Our informant told us, however, that it was hardly probable that his life could be saved. The younger brother, he said, had been apprehended and brought to Covington.
