Great preparations are being made for the approaching visit of the Fire Zonaves, and they will receive a hearty welcome and be well taken care of after they arrive there. -Our readers have frequently heard that many | not all of the Democratic nominations were made b fraud and intimidation, and they will doubtless b gratified to see a statement of the exact manner | which the thing was managed. In another column will be found an advertisement which gives the sworm statements of a number of the delegates of the City Treasurer's Convention. We commend this to the careful consideration of our readers, as it is a precise and circumstantial exposition of the "rough" management in this convention. The statements need no esament, as they explain themselves, and they set forth in a very plain manner the duty of the respectable portion of the Democracy. It now remains to be seen whether there is honesty enough in that party to everrule the nominations made in defiance of decency and honesty. which the thing was managed. THE LIBERATORS. THE END OF THE FIASCO.

Release of the Filibusters Imprisoned at Fort Lafayette.

From the N. F. Times of this morning. One hundred and twenty-three of the fillbusters who belonged to Colonel Ryan's command and were captured on Gardiner's Island by Marshai Bartow, were brought by that gentleman to Fort Lafayette on Saturday night last, where they have been held ever since. Xesterday District Attorney District Opening baying received instructions from the Secreta state, with whom he had a long interview on Thursday, went down to Fort Lafayette in the steame Uno, Captain Pierson, He was accompanied by Commissioners Shields and White. On arriving at its destantion, the Uno signalied the fort, and told the officer of the day, Walor Maymalian, the properties of the day. Walor Maymalian, and the day, Walor Maymalian, and the day. the Uno signalied the fort, and told the officer of the day, Major Mayundiere, of her business. After considerable delay a bout was desputched to her, and Mr. Pierrepont, with his attaches, was transported to the fort. When they landed they were received by General Vogdes, who introduced the District Abtorney to H. H. Harrison, the commander of the Caban liberators. Mr. Pierrepont proceeded to inspect them, They were formed into three companies. Some of them barrefonced, others coatless and shirtless, liberally in these. Yet they were fine-spect them. They were formed into three companies. Some of them burridooted, others coatless and shirtless, literally in rage. Yet they were fine-tooking, soldier-like men, despite the disadvantages of their surroundings. What teneral Vogues cathed them to attention, Mr. Perrepoint, standing in front of the battalion, addressed it them:

Mon, you have been arrested charged with violating the law of the United States, in preparing to pin an expelling squares the foregrament of Spain, with whom we are at peace. A stand passed in fell makes it a arrise, punchasile by fine and empireoment, to sugage in any stream than he would be a fine and interested in fell makes it a arrise, punchasile by fine and empireoment, to sugage in any stream than he would be a fine and they contained more adjusted any been filed stating that you were sugaged in such an expeditional against a fell spaints. Government Some of you may perhaps be ignorant of the volation of the law you have semantized, and I learn from the officer who commands passed in whom you seem to true, that Critisa expeditions are given up, and that such is the order of the Junta. Under these circumstances, and dust none of you may requested these circumstances, and dust none of you may requeste softer, by the arithment yeased in me by the Preschorts of the United States, in the arithment of the law.

When this addiress had been delivered. Commissioner Shields read the list of the US prisoners whose names were jublished yestering morning. And as each was called up he signed his name to the bond. The list comprised 120 names, the same slegant though vague appellations published in yesterday mornings. Haded, one man exclusioned, on being told that his name was Rothschild, in great trepidation and flury. "It is a first trepidation and flury. "It is 2.00 1.1 forgot." This clearly that als name was Rothschild, in great treputation and hurry. "Is it? Oh! I forgot," This clearly proves that all were so much ashamed of their connection with the whole matter, that they preferred to give fictibleus names, to avoid being identified with the movement hereafter. One hundred and twenty signed this bond, and three men—Thomas O'Neil, James C. Burns, and Albert O. Erwin—re-fused to do so, and therefore were locked up in private cells. Their refusal must undoubt een caused by a fear of violating their oaths as Fe nian brethren.

At the close of these proceedings the prisoners went to dinner after which Captain Harrison read the following farewell, which disbanded the fillbus-ters, and contained the Junta's intentions with regard ten, and contained the Junta's intentions with regard to inture expeditions:—

HEADQCARTERS FIRST N. V. C. A. L. July 23, 1883.—

Scamers.—We have called you together for the last time, Spanish gold. American displicity, tyrainy and treason in our mids, have proves too much for us. The great Republic, forgating the traditions of the past, has prestituted herself to the intames task of strangling a struggling searct, and she to whom the world looked as its bearon light to freedom, is striving to continue the trade in flesh and to perpetuate oppression and numan slavery. The standard which we had hoped to have been in triumph over the hills of this must be firled, and our swords returned unclaimed to their sheaths until other hands are ready to draw fasem. There is no alternative, and we must part. Acting under the orders of our superiors, it becomes our said daily to disbland you, and to declare that the let New York Cavalry of the Army of Liberators coses to exist. We think you for your orderly and soldierly conduct in all the trais through which you have passed, and we shall ever remember the brave men whom we have commanded, and the hours of pleasure and or mistoriums which we have spent with them, our only regret being that we could not lead them into battle for liberty. Return to your homes and remain law shiding citizens. The cause will not fall with us. It must succeed, and we may yet meet under the blood cod dag that bears the star of Cuita. You have done what you could. The responsibility of failure does not like with you. With our best wishes for your future, we hid you farewell.

This was the final address of H. H. Harrison, the captain commanding the prisoners. He is well be-loved by many of them. A Virginian himself, he has thirty-nihe men of his native State and county with him, all of whom served in the Confederate

Mr. Pierrepout having assured the liberared fiberator that he would send the Uno back for them, rators that he would send the Uno back for them, returned in her to the city. At 8 o'clock she remened the fort again, and received on board the prisoners, 115 in all, five having entered the regiment stationed at the fort during her absence. When on board they presented a singular group, takered and torn, and bearing unmistakable marks of the hardships of campaigning under difficulties. Nevertheless, they were joyous, and with hearty cheers bid adied to their former guardians—the military. On the trip to New York, filled with the pleasant sensations of liberty, their voices harst forth simultaneously in singing the old song, "Home again." At length they reached their Eldorado, New York, and, landing at the Barge Office Home again. At length they reached their El-dorado, New York, and, landing at the Barge Office Dock, proceeded to the Castle Garden, where Captain Harrison, who had gone to see the Junta early in the afternoon to obtain money to provide for his men, had appointed to meet them. He told them that his mission had been unsuccessful, imasmuch as he had obtained from Senor Mora only money sufficient to give each man a slight supper. He told them that they might sleep on the grass in the garden, where he had no doubt they might remain unmolested by the police. To-day he will have an interview with General Alfaro, when he opes to obtain money enough to meet their present

They speak highly of the kind and gentlemanly treatment they received at the hands of Lieutenant Driscoll and Major Maynadiere, who both behaved to them, as far as lay in their power, in a manly and soldierlike manner.

To-morrow morning, at 9 o'clock, Captain Harrison has appointed to meet his company in the Castle Garden, when he will communicate to them the result of his mission to the Junta.

—The opening of a Prussian naval barbor in the North Sea has excited no little jealousy in Russia, and the newspapers of St. Petersburg express great alarm at the increasing power their German aeighbor. A remarkable articl on this subject appears in the Goloss of the b instant:— 'After seizing Kiel and the bay of Jahde,' it says, "Prussia has constructed in tha my the naval port of Heppens, and thus at one becomes a naval power and a dangerous rival to us in the Bultic. When the canal between the Baltic and the North Sea, the construction of which is already seriously contemplated at Ber lin, is completed, the naval power of Prussia which formerly only existed in the dreams of Pressian patriots, will become an accomplished fact." The Goloss, after accusing Pressia of alse dealing in her relations with Russia, proceeds: "Our commercial legislation has been such that if the Prussian Minister of Com-merce has been jasked for his advice, he could not have invented anything more ad-vantageous for Prussian Interests. The stiding scale of customs tariffs which has been recently coolished, and the obstacles created by our bureageracy, have drawn nearly all our northers maritime commerce into Prussian larbors. Crimean war, and the construction of the rail way communication between our Western pro vinces and Konigsberg, have made that port the headquarters of our northern trade. Moreover, the mercantile marine of North Germany increases yearly, while merchant ships under the Russian flug are scarcely ever seen on foreign waters." "If France," the Goloss signifi-cantly adds, "does not think proper to put a stop to Prussian impetuosity, that power will in a few years absorb the whole of Germany, or in other words, become the arbiter of Enrope."

Cancellation of Revenue Stamps. al Desputch to The Roening Telegraph.

Washington, July 24: - Commissioner Delano has appointed a special commission of five to examine all inventions that may be brought forward for cancelling internal revenue stamps. The New Currency,

The demand for the new ten and fifteen-cent urrency is so great that Secretary Boutwell has nformation to the effect that It has sold in New York at a premium. The Secretary has instructed the Assistant Treasurer at New York to distribute some of this currency there. The bank-note companies are greatly to blame for the dilatory manner in which they deliver this currency to the Government.

The Next Debt Statement. There is reason to believe that the public debt statement for the present menth, as well as for the months of August and September, will not show as much of a decrease as for the two or three months past. Henvy payments for the army, together with a failing off in customs reecipts, and payments of interest on the public

FROM CHARLESTON. Conflicts Over the Custom House.

CHARLESTON, July 24 .- Much excitement prevails among the two wings of the Republican party here. Dr. Mackey, the late Collector. leads the native wing, which includes the mass of the colored voters, while Senator Sawyer. Congressman Bowen, and George W. Clark, the newly-appointed Collector in place of Mackey. head the Northern element. The removal of Mackey has intensified the bitterness between the two factions. On Thursday Clark called on Mackey, and, presenting his commission, demanded instant possession of the Collector's office. Mackey refused to vacate until he had taken inventories of the public pro-perty, and received receipts from Clark, but promised to make the transfer on the Sist inst Clark insisted on an immediate surrender, which being refused, he entered Mackey's office and attempted to act as Collector, whereupon he was forcibly ejected by Mackey's subordinates. Yes terday afternoon Mackey and other Custom-House officers were arrested at the in-stance of Clark on a charge of assault and obstructing an officer of the revenue, and were bound over to answer before the United States Commissioner on Monday. During the hearing of the case, Clark, with a posse of thirty men, forced his way into the Custom House, and took possession, which he still re-tains. The partisans of Clark attempted to serenade Sawyer and Bowen last night, but the colored Republicans rallied in large numbers, and prevented the serenade, charging the pro-cession, and capturing the flag, which they car-ried in triumph to Mackey at his residence. The colored Republicans bitterly denounce the action of the administration in removing Mackey, and declare that Clark, the new Collector, is a traitor

to the radical party. FROM NEW JERSEY.

Horrible Death from Hydrophobia.

The Wilmington Commercial of last evening-contains the following norrible story: A child aged about eleven years, a daughter of Mr. Davis, who resides on Shate Hill, in Chester county, about one mile and a half from the Spread Eagle Hotel, died from hydrophobia on Monday morning last, after the most horrible suffering. She was bitten on the finger by her uncle's dog about nine weeks ago. the dog disappearing thereafter, so that it was not known whether he was mad or not. It was known, however, that he was one of the fox-hounds attacked by a mad dog near the Chester county line about three months since, and most of which were batten. The child showed no symptoms of hydrophobia until Saturday afternoon last when she had a spasm, refusing to drink or look at wafer.

At first the spasms were divided by intervals of half an bour, gradually becoming more frequent and severe until Monday morning at 2 o'clock, when her sufferings were ended by death. During the spasms she would froth terribly at the mouth, snap and bite, and upon hearing of water would enter upon a worse form of convulsion. When the it was off she would beg that her family connections be kept from ; lest she might bite them. On Monday morning all the dogs known to have been connected with the fox hunt mentioned were killed. It was before doubted whether the dog which attacked them was -The Prussian Government has just experienced a double check in its hitherto successful career of press prosecutions. The proceedings instituted at Dresden against Herr Otto Walsler, the author of some anti-Prusslan articles in the Eulletin National, have terminated in an acquittal; the verdict of the court being received with loud applanse and cries of "Long live the Saxon autonomy." At Munich the Prussian Minister had caused Dr. Sigl of the Volksbate to be arraigned on five counts, charging him with abuse of his Prussian Majesty, libel on Count Bismark, etc., but in this case also he falled to obtain a conviction. Perhaps the mortification caused by this double defeat may account for the seveity displayed towards eleven unfortunate wights found guilty by the Berlin courts of having formed part of the Hanoverian legion in France, These luckless patriots, notwithstanding all the efforts of their counsel, who described them as mere unintelligent tools in the hands of others. and called attention to their miserable appearance, comparing them to Falstaff's recruits, were sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from twelve to eighteen months.
