

FIRST EDITION

THE TEXAS FLOODS.

The Latest Details—Loss of the Corn Crop—Effect of the Damages by the recent freshets in that State.

Our Texas exchanges continue to furnish details of the damages by the recent freshets in that State. The Houston Telegraph publishes the following from Columbus:— In three weeks three lives lost as far as we have heard about town. From the country or the bottoms we cannot hear, as the water is yet very high. All the plantations on the river are literally ruined, though some of the planters have still a hope of making a fair crop, provided the waters are not entirely killed, which cannot be told yet. So far as heard from, the negroes are hard at work trying to save the rais, and where the water has gone down they are building fences and trying for a crop anyhow, at least cotton; as for the corn, that is all gone.

The Austin Gazette has the following:— About nine miles below us on the river, in the neighborhood of Mr. Conson, a widow lady, name not remembered, with six small children, driven from her house, which was swept by high water, took refuge in a tree with all her little ones. As the flood brought along fence rails and drift wood, she caught them and constructed a sort of raft around the tree, so that when one of her children slept and fell, it was caught by the raft. Fortune favored the widow mother, with all her precious treasures, remained for twenty-four hours, until Mr. Conson constructed a boat and took them all safely to the shore.

The Victoria Advertiser says the loss in the valley here, Gaudulepe will be very heavy, though cotton only partially submerged seems to be still growing. It is thought the cotton worms in the valley were drowned out. While Mr. Whitney and two negroes were attempting to cross the river, the boat capsized and one of the negroes was drowned.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country. The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000. The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide. Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs. But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

A Model Chicago Divorce Case—The History of the Affair.

A petition for divorce in the Chicago courts the other day has developed the following curious history. In the year 1859 there lived in a Swiss valley an interesting family of wealth and culture named Junod. Monsieur Junod found his sole happiness in a lovely daughter named Lucie, who was the most admired belle of that portion of the canton. The father, a man of stern, solitary nature, the descendant of a long line of men who had exercised the rights of lordship over all the beautiful vineyards that bloomed beneath them, though somewhat fallen from the state of his forefathers, still nourished feelings of ancestral pride.

INFLUENZA.

In some of the merry-makings peculiar to the wine-bearing districts, in which, by the time-honored requirements of tradition, all ranks meet together in a common jubilee, Madlle Lucie met with a young man named Gustav Flotru, of person handsome and attractive, and by trade a watchmaker. The abnegation of everything like social distinction enabled Flotru to approach the lady with a familiarity to which he would otherwise never have presumed.

The lady fell blindly in love with the humbler, dazzled by her beauty, and, not improbably, still more strongly attracted by her fortune, ardently reciprocated. Her first acquaintance was followed by many others, of course clandestine. Her fancy, united to the inexperience of girlhood, gave him every opportunity to press his suit, and he became her accepted lover. The father still supposed that his daughter knew no love but the affection of a daughter for her father, and he became her accepted lover. The father still supposed that his daughter knew no love but the affection of a daughter for her father, and he became her accepted lover.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

INFLUENZA.

The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide.

INFLUENZA.

Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs.

INFLUENZA.

But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

In conclusion, however, the same paper says:— We confidently believe that the crops have not been cut short more than one-half, and possibly not more than one-third, of what they would have had this misfortune not have befallen us. Let us be hopeful, and thankful that our condition is not worse.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

INFLUENZA.

The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide.

INFLUENZA.

Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs.

INFLUENZA.

But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

In conclusion, however, the same paper says:— We confidently believe that the crops have not been cut short more than one-half, and possibly not more than one-third, of what they would have had this misfortune not have befallen us. Let us be hopeful, and thankful that our condition is not worse.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

INFLUENZA.

The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide.

INFLUENZA.

Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs.

INFLUENZA.

But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

In conclusion, however, the same paper says:— We confidently believe that the crops have not been cut short more than one-half, and possibly not more than one-third, of what they would have had this misfortune not have befallen us. Let us be hopeful, and thankful that our condition is not worse.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

THE TEXAS FLOODS.

The Latest Details—Loss of the Corn Crop—Effect of the Damages by the recent freshets in that State.

Our Texas exchanges continue to furnish details of the damages by the recent freshets in that State. The Houston Telegraph publishes the following from Columbus:— In three weeks three lives lost as far as we have heard about town. From the country or the bottoms we cannot hear, as the water is yet very high. All the plantations on the river are literally ruined, though some of the planters have still a hope of making a fair crop, provided the waters are not entirely killed, which cannot be told yet. So far as heard from, the negroes are hard at work trying to save the rais, and where the water has gone down they are building fences and trying for a crop anyhow, at least cotton; as for the corn, that is all gone.

The Austin Gazette has the following:— About nine miles below us on the river, in the neighborhood of Mr. Conson, a widow lady, name not remembered, with six small children, driven from her house, which was swept by high water, took refuge in a tree with all her little ones. As the flood brought along fence rails and drift wood, she caught them and constructed a sort of raft around the tree, so that when one of her children slept and fell, it was caught by the raft. Fortune favored the widow mother, with all her precious treasures, remained for twenty-four hours, until Mr. Conson constructed a boat and took them all safely to the shore.

The Victoria Advertiser says the loss in the valley here, Gaudulepe will be very heavy, though cotton only partially submerged seems to be still growing. It is thought the cotton worms in the valley were drowned out. While Mr. Whitney and two negroes were attempting to cross the river, the boat capsized and one of the negroes was drowned.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country. The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000. The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide. Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs. But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

A Model Chicago Divorce Case—The History of the Affair.

A petition for divorce in the Chicago courts the other day has developed the following curious history. In the year 1859 there lived in a Swiss valley an interesting family of wealth and culture named Junod. Monsieur Junod found his sole happiness in a lovely daughter named Lucie, who was the most admired belle of that portion of the canton. The father, a man of stern, solitary nature, the descendant of a long line of men who had exercised the rights of lordship over all the beautiful vineyards that bloomed beneath them, though somewhat fallen from the state of his forefathers, still nourished feelings of ancestral pride.

INFLUENZA.

In some of the merry-makings peculiar to the wine-bearing districts, in which, by the time-honored requirements of tradition, all ranks meet together in a common jubilee, Madlle Lucie met with a young man named Gustav Flotru, of person handsome and attractive, and by trade a watchmaker. The abnegation of everything like social distinction enabled Flotru to approach the lady with a familiarity to which he would otherwise never have presumed.

The lady fell blindly in love with the humbler, dazzled by her beauty, and, not improbably, still more strongly attracted by her fortune, ardently reciprocated. Her first acquaintance was followed by many others, of course clandestine. Her fancy, united to the inexperience of girlhood, gave him every opportunity to press his suit, and he became her accepted lover. The father still supposed that his daughter knew no love but the affection of a daughter for her father, and he became her accepted lover. The father still supposed that his daughter knew no love but the affection of a daughter for her father, and he became her accepted lover.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

INFLUENZA.

The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide.

INFLUENZA.

Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs.

INFLUENZA.

But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

In conclusion, however, the same paper says:— We confidently believe that the crops have not been cut short more than one-half, and possibly not more than one-third, of what they would have had this misfortune not have befallen us. Let us be hopeful, and thankful that our condition is not worse.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

INFLUENZA.

The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide.

INFLUENZA.

Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs.

INFLUENZA.

But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

In conclusion, however, the same paper says:— We confidently believe that the crops have not been cut short more than one-half, and possibly not more than one-third, of what they would have had this misfortune not have befallen us. Let us be hopeful, and thankful that our condition is not worse.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

INFLUENZA.

The destruction to property has been great; many farmers have been stripped of cotton and corn, thousands of rails, some few houses, and a number of cabins, and a vast quantity of provisions, and valuables of all kinds followed in the wake of the resistless tide.

INFLUENZA.

Hundreds of freedmen were forced to take refuge in trees, and children were lashed to trees, in which condition they remained for twenty-four hours or more before assistance was given by parties with skiffs.

INFLUENZA.

But it would fill the columns of our paper to recite all that has been told us of the thrilling events connected with the flood that occurred in the river bottom.

INFLUENZA.

In conclusion, however, the same paper says:— We confidently believe that the crops have not been cut short more than one-half, and possibly not more than one-third, of what they would have had this misfortune not have befallen us. Let us be hopeful, and thankful that our condition is not worse.

INFLUENZA.

The Belton Journal reports that some plantations on Little River had been submerged, but the danger is comparatively light in that country.

INFLUENZA.

The Inquirer Advertiser gives the names of about a hundred plantations that completely have lost from $500 to $15,000.

SECOND EDITION

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

The Dent Imbrogio—Banks and Wade Attempting to Flank the Spaniards—Injuries of Mr. Creswell.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Dent Imbrogio. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, July 30.—The grand row between the rival factions in Mississippi is still in an inextricable muddle. Judge Dent, it appears, has written a letter defining his position and policy, in which he says that he is a National Republican, opposed to the extreme proscription measures of the party, and places himself unequivocally upon the Walker platform of Virginia, advocating universal amnesty and universal suffrage. In all these positions he claims to be in unison with the President. On one hand, it is claimed that he will permit in being a candidate for Governor of Mississippi, while on the other it is asserted that, in deference to President Grant's wishes, he will retire from the contest. The extreme radicals of the State, however, appear determined to head him off if the thing is possible. R. C. Powers, chairman; General J. Tarbell, secretary of the Executive Committee of the Republican party of Mississippi; Judge Gilman, of Corinth; and Mr. George B. Jones, representing the straight-out Republicans, are among those who are now here for the avowed purpose of inducing the administration to forestall him, and to set before the President and the Cabinet what they claim to be the true condition of affairs in that State. The Republican party of the State is, according to their statements, united, and it is asserted that the real Republicans who have given support to the Dent movement can be counted without much difficulty. They seem to think that they have the best of it so far.

The Indian Committee. The special Indian committee appointed by the President to visit Kansas and the Indian Territory, in the double interest of the Indians and the Government, have arrived in Kansas and have already commenced their investigations. The committee appointed by the Philadelphia Quakers to look after and assist their brethren in Nebraska have reached their destination and are at work. The Kansas papers generally speak favorably of the Quaker agents in that section.

Banks and Wade Attempt to Flank the Spaniards. General N. P. Banks and Hon. B. F. Wade are at the head of a movement which has for its object the prevention of the sailing of the gunboats now building in this country for the Spanish Government. The subject was brought before the President's notice last Saturday. If by any technicality of national law these gunboats can be detained, the Cuban Minister, Senor Lemus, is satisfied the President will stop them.

The Mexican Claims. The joint commission for the settlement of all claims pending between the citizens and Governments of the United States and Mexico will commence its session here next week.

Called to Account. Brevet Col. Alexander Chambers, U. S. A., is ordered immediately to Washington, and to bring his books and papers relating to his present and former positions for which he is responsible, and to report in person to the Commissary-General of Subsistence, for the purpose of settling his accounts.

The New Boston Post Office. The plans for the new post office at Boston are rapidly being completed at the office of the supervising architect of the Treasury Department, and if the necessary appropriation be made early in the approaching session, the work upon the superstructure will be commenced at the beginning of spring. Secretary Boutwell has decided that the new building shall be of granite, although a strong influence was brought to bear upon him to build it of marble, which is far more expensive than granite.

Why the President's Mare Died. Doctors differ as to the cause of the death of the President's favorite trotting mare. The stomach of this animal was sent to the Army Medical Museum for analysis, which has been made. Some declare that she was poisoned, while others, among whom is the Chief Veterinary Surgeon of the Army, think she died from natural causes.

Bad for an Office-holder. The Secretary of the Treasury has abolished the office of Surveyor of Customs at New Brunswick, N. J.

An Accident to the Postmaster-General. Postmaster-General Creswell is still at his home near Elkton, Md., but his arm is much less painful, and he hopes to be sufficiently recovered to visit Washington in a few days—perhaps this week. The physicians are not able, on account of the swelling and extreme soreness of the arm, to ascertain whether any of the bones about the elbow are fractured or not. The injury is painful, but not considered dangerous by his physicians, and does not confine the patient to his room.

Personal Matters. Colonel Robert M. Douglass, Private Secretary of President Grant, is gradually recovering his health at the residence of his stepmother, Mrs. General Williams. Secretary Boutwell and Attorney-General Hoar will go to Massachusetts next week, it is stated, for a short vacation. Ex-Secretary Stanton is going to the Rocky Mountains next month. Senor Lemus, diplomatic agent of the Cuban insurgents, will leave here this evening for New York, and will return on Monday.

The Weather at the Sea-side. The following was the state of the weather at the sea-side at 9 o'clock this morning:— Atlantic City, N. W., clear, 67. Long Branch, N. W., clear. Cape May, N., clear, 65.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and N. W. pref. 94 1/2 Gold. 114 1/2 Chl. and N. E. R. 114 Market dull.

Stock Quotations by Telegraph—1 P. M. Grandin, Davis & Co. report through their New York house the following:— N. Y. Central R. 41 1/2 Pacific M. S. 8 1/2 Ph. and Kea. R. 97 Mil. and St. Paul R. C. T. 7 1/2 Mich. S. and N. E. R. 105 1/2 Mil. and St. Paul R. P. 57 1/2 Cle. and Pitt. R. 105 1/2 Adams Express. 69 1/2 Chl. and N. W. com. 93 1/2 Wells, Fargo. 92 1/2 Chl. and