

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

THE FIRE.

The Scene this Morning—Recapitulation of the Insurances.

The great conflagration at Front and Lombard streets still smolders, smokes, and occasionally lights into a tiny blaze as some loose timbers, un- reached by water, are touched by unextinguished embers and the rubbish. As yesterday and last evening, so also this morning, the scene is one of desolation and gloom around the burned building. The curiosity of the citizens to behold the place upon which a fire of such magnitude had been wrought in so quick a time is not yet satiated. So long as a puff of smoke ascends there will be eyes to watch it. In Front street the debris has all been shoveled away beyond the site of the structure, the car-track, rising there in mountains of con- crete, brick, wood, and clinders that it passed. The cellar-wall, where the descent is made, upon these mountains of rubbish, as also along Penn street, police officers and firemen are stationed, the former to restrain the crowd from entering the place, the latter to guard the fire from spreading. While the whole interior of the building has disappeared at its northern extremity, both upon Penn and Front streets portions of the wall are still standing. To all appearances security stands—but yet there are enough to inspire con- sideration in hearing from the fire, by water, parties are already actively at work cleaning and repairing. One of them has nearly completed upon it a new single room.

The cars of the Lombard and South streets line are running by the site of the warehouse as usual, and all obstructions to river traffic are being removed. The business fronts on its western side are pursuing trade as if they were still protected by the shadow of the tall structure that a day since stood upon the site.

The following recapitulation of insurances upon the warehouse have been ascertained:

Table listing insurance companies and amounts: Mutual Assurance Co. $27,000; Philadelphia Fire Insurance Co. $25,000; Hand-in-hand $2,000; Fire Association $10,000; etc.

The fire and its losses caused a large number of spirits could not claim from the Government of the refunding of internal revenue on the sugar destroyed.

Paterson's warehouse, class B, on the 30th of June, and some of those who participated in the discussion expressed their views on the subject.

One of the most singularly curious circumstances connected with the fire is the death of Mr. William Aldinger, which took place at his residence, No. 1017 Market street, on Saturday last.

The following note was sent us this afternoon: To the Editors of the Evening Telegraph.

THIRD EDITION

WASHINGTON

Customs Receipts for the Past Week—Admiral Hoff Relieved by Admiral Poor—Decisions by Commissioner Delano.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The subject of taxing manufacturers of shingles on their sales, which has been before the Revenue Department for some time and excited some discussion, has been decided in favor of exempting the same, in accordance with the ruling of the late Commissioner, Mr. Rollins. The point raised was, that where sawed out shingles are manufactured, being ready for consumption; but being then precisely in the condition of sawed boards or laths, which are exempted, the distinction was too nice. Hence the ruling.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN PENNSYLVANIA.—General James S. Negley, M. C. from Pennsylvania, arrived in town to-day. The campaign will open about the 1st of September.

THE MONEY AND STOCK MARKETS TO-DAY.—Special Despatch to the Evening Telegraph.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The Gold market is weaker than yesterday, and is quoted at 1 P. M. to-day at 130 1/2. The European rumors of yesterday regarding political complications in Spain and Egypt have no apparent effect upon the gold premium here. Stocks are irregular and dull.

GOVERNMENTS OPENED FIRM AT THE 10 O'CLOCK BOARD, but were 1/2 lower at the 12 o'clock call. The Money market is easy at 6 1/2 per cent.
