THE NEW POLICE RULES. A sET of rules and regulations for the government of the police force of this city has recently been prepared by Chief Mulholland, approved by Mayor Fox, and printed in pamphlet form for the edification of the guardians of municipal peace, and the information of the public. Many useful directions and commands are given in the brief volume which records the duties and obligations of our policemen, but as it is quite possible that all the rules may not at all times be strictly adhered to, the nature of the existing restric- policy of their own towards them, which is tions should be generally understood, so that anything but conciliatory to the savages. while the blue-coats are watching suspicious Our Indian Bureau too is, and has characters, lynx-eyed citizens may also care- been from its organization, a den fully note whether any of our "stars" erratically deviate from their true orbit.

Among the qualifications for appointment are "unblemished character," "habitual sobriety," and "ability to read and write." This is rather rough on some of the tavorites of the Democracy, and Mayor Fox cannot adhere strictly to this rule in his selections without rejecting "for cause" a large number of the applicants recommended by his most active partisan supporters. Another rule which is likely to be obnoxious to "the party," sets forth that "no member of the Police Department will be allowed to connect himself with any club, society, committee, or organization of any kind, the object of which is the political advancement of a party clique, combination or individual, under penalty of dismissal." This sounds well, and looks like an earnest attempt to prevent the force from meddling in partisan squabbles, but the spirit, if not the letter, of the injunction was shamefully broken during the prevalence of the excitement connected with the late Democratic delegate elections and conventions; and Mayor Fox dodged the issue on that occasion by going out of town, and remaining conveniently oblivious to the active service some of the policemen rendered to their political friends.

Among the offenses which incur dismissal or "such other penalty as the Mayor may see fit to impose," the following are enumerated : 1. Visiting a public house or drinking saloon, unless in the performance of duty. 2. Smoking tobacco in the streets at any time during daylight.

Despite all the "rumors" which prevailed during the day, we find no mention whatever of the burning of anybody in effigy in the Confederate chronicler's account of the meeting, although he mentions the fact that there were a number of tar-barrels on hand. If the Democratic candidate had been burned in effigy, or if any attempt had been made to do so, we would surely have been advised of the fact. The omission of any mention of such a proceeding shows that the negroes had no intention of honoring the Democratic candidate with martyrdom in effigy, and that the "rumors" which had been floating about the town during the day were gotten up by the Democratic Rebels, to give them an excuse for creating a disturbance.

part of the Government, The white settlers Although the colored people did not burn anybody in effigy, they did something which on the plains trouble themselves very little about treaties and bargains, but they, with was almost equally reprehensible. "Many." it is alleged by the Confederate chronicler, very good reason, consider the redskins as "came with guns, and most all with concealed nuisances, and feel it incumbent to adopt a arms, pistols, knives, and razors !" Having heard that the white Rebels of the town intended to break up their meeting, these impudent, lazy, ignorant, and worthless niggers had the audacity to stuff their pockets, boots, belts, and sleeves with pistols, knives, razors, and other deadly weapons: while "many" pointed under it, and it is well known not were so outrageously defiant as to bring their only that its officials growrich on the plunderguns along. Yet the meeting progressed harmoniously until ten o'clock, despite the immense number of concealed weapons on hand and the inflammatory speeches of the leaders. At that hour, however, two "citizens"-that agents have an influence in the national is to say, two unreconstructed Rebels-in-Senate which has been thus far sufficient to dulged in a little jocose disputation on a submaintain the present iniquitous system in ject entirely foreign to the meeting and its spite of every effort to have it superseded by objects. What more appropriate place for a liitle outside jocosity than a negro jubilation ? But even this rational and timely sport did has endeavored to create a reform; but his not suffice to disturb the assemblage, until hands are so tied that he can do little or some one, in pushing up to the scene of the nothing. With the completion of the Pacific episode, "accidentally" put his foot on the Railroad, however, and the rapid advance of toes of a worthloss darkey who chanced to be emigration westward, it has become imperain his way. Then a grand row commenced, tively necessary that some decided effort shall and the negroes used their weapons be made without much further delay to bring of destruction with such admirable the Indian problem to a solution, and public effect that they killed three of their own numopinion will oblige Congress to take some ber outright and wounded five others.  Wilful disobedience or disrespectful language to a superior officer.

The host of applicants who are anxious to create new vacancies may find it to their profit to remember these rules. By carefully watching some of the members of the present force through a course of months, it is quite possible that a violation of the injunction against visits to drinking saloons may be discovered. Such offenders have a fine loophole of escape, however, in the qualifying clause, "unless in the performance of duty, and informers will be apt to discover that it can be stretched to suit almost any conceivable case. The best "holt," as Nasby would call it, of those who desire to create vacancies, appears to be on the second specification, of "smoking tobacco in the streetany time during daylight." Woe to the unfortunate wight who, in a moment of forgetfulness, rushes into the open air with a eigar in his mouth! For this crime there is no excuse, and the evidence is too direct to admit of denial.

. Another rule sets forth that "every police man proven guilty of intoxication will be immediately dismissed, and will not be reinstated." Here is another good chance for the creation of vacancies, but it is considerably clogged by the wide diversity of views on the question of what constitutes intoxication, and some of the Democratic authorities are disposed to reconcile the imbibition of a large amount of the ardent with entire sobriety.

The policemen are very properly directed to be polite as well as prompt and vigilant in the exercise of their duties, to avoid unne cessary violence, and to make arrests "with all possible moderation and forbearance. They are required to "prevent bonfires in the streets," to remove orange peel and rinds of fruit from the sidewalks, and to do hundreds of other things which are implied in the general statement that each "officer is responsible for the life and property within his beat, and for the preservation of the general peace and good order during the time he is on duty." Though some of the rules look as if they were made for buncombe, many others are well constructed, and well calculated to advance the public interests if they are faithfully enforced.

THE HON, WILLIAM D. KELLEY arrived in this city yesterday, on his return from a trip across the continent with the Congressional Committee of Ways and Leans. Judge Kelley came east in company with the Chicago Conmercial Committee and the two wealthy Chinese merchants of San Francisco, Messrs. Singman and Chaychou, who are about making a tour of the principal cities on the Atlantic coast. Judge Kelley has already made arrangements for their visit to this city, but the precise time at which they will arrive here has not yet been determined. They will be sure of a hearty welcome in Philadelphia. The fact that they are almost as well to do as that prince of bloated bond-holders, Asa Packer, will not, however, elicit any enthusiasm from the rank and file of the P. P. Demo-

There is very little doubt that all these grievances are well founded, and this statement gives us a picture of the usual manner in which the Indians are treated by the agents of the Government and the white men on the plains. On the other side we have a statement that in one county alone of Arizona there have been fifty-two whites killed, eighteen wounded, and two made captive by the Indians since January last, and it is certain that this state of affairs will continue unless there is a complete and thorough reform in the whole system of dealing with the Indians. It is time that all this treaty business was done away with, together with the whole system of bribes, bounties, and agencies. Let a certain territory be set apart for the Indians, and measures be taken to prevent white settlers intruding upon them. If they will go to work like other people, and cultivate the ground and earn their living, the Government should put forth its whole power to protect them; but if they will not work, then they will have to take the consequences of starvation and extermination. It is useless to say that the savages cannot work, and it is because the Government has chosen rather to encourage their savage propensities and to consider them as licensed paupers that a great portion of the present depredations are due. Give the redskins a fair chance to earn their living like other men, and if they won't work like other men, then they will have to suffer as others do who have a disinclination to honest labor.

THE MOBILE RIOT.

On Thursday evening a very serious riot occurred at Mobile, with the circumstances of which the people of the Northern States have been made familiar by the agent of the Associated Press, who has evidently not yet been as thoroughly reconstructed as he might be. From beginning to end, the only account which has thus far reached us is written from the Rebel stand-point, and with a studied effort to throw the entire responsibility upon the colored people. The Confederate chronicler begins by recounting the horrible fact that the negroes, by way of celebrating the Radical victory in the Mobile Congressional District, intended to burn the defeated Democratic candidate in effigy. At least "rumors were in eirculation" during the entire day to the effect that such was the infamous intention of the negroes, and the chivalry of the town were deeply and profoundly excited thereby. So deep and so profound was the excitement that "several citizens"-that is to say, several unreconstructed Rebels-called on the Mayor and some of the radical leaders, advising them to postpone the meeting, "for"-so runs the Confederate account of the engagement-"if the threat of burning in effigy was carried out, the white people could not be account evening was much more disastrous than the people of Philadelphia imagined. The bonded warehouse destroyed was at the corner of Delaware avenue and Shippen street, instead of at Front and Lombard. The building was set on fire by the explosion of the boiler, and at the time one hundred and thirty men were in it, thirty or forty of whom were, we regret to announce, "burned up." For these particulars we are indebted to a daily paper published in the interior of the State. "A fire was also seen in Lancaster last night," says the same enterprising sheet.

WHAT'S UP?-The Hon. John Covode, Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, at the urgent request of Governor Geary and by the authority of the committee, has addressed a note to Attorney-General Brewster, politely requesting him to resign his present position, for the sake, as is alleged, of promoting the harmony of the party. Mr. Brewster has as politely declined to accede to this request.
