FROM EUROPE.

The International Vacht Race. By the Anglo-American Cable.

LONDON, Aug. 21 .- The Morning Post has an editorial to-day on the coming international yacht race, and says :- "In a light wind and on smooth water there are several Euglish yachts that may be relied upon to beat Mr. Bennett's yacht Dauntless at every point. The result of the recent race to Cherbourg and return, as a test, was marred by an accident to the Dauntlefs. The impression among yachtsmen is, that she does not stand to her canvas, and canno compete successfully in heavy any more than she can in light weather; but, in going free, she probably would sail as fast or faster than on deep vessels. A yacht race around the Azor Islands offers a fairer chance to test the qualities of all vessels. If the Americans will not sail around the Isle of Wight, or Ireland, or on a short home course, rather than forego a trial let us race around the Azores."

Harvard and Oxford.

As the time for the international boat race between the Harvard and Oxford crews draws nigh, the excitement in sporting circles in-creases. Much of the space in the newspapers is given up to this subject.

The following extracts are made from to-day's journals:-

From the Land and Water:-The balance seems to favor the Oxford crew. If the Ameri-cans win we will not only learn their new style of rowing, but how to maintain it. If the Harrd crew win after six weeks' excreise, without ing their best at any time, it will be an aquatic from the Saturday Review .- We do not atany importance to the time made in train-If the Harvard crew win the race, we will pwledge that our notions about our style of are antiquated absurdities.

n the Spectator:-The opinions is in respect to the crews and in regard to the chances of victory are nearly even. The public are inquiring if the Americans have ever put out their whole strength. The course is a hard one, but the race is likely to be close. If the weather is bad the result will probably be in favor of Ox-ford. If good, the Harvards will win. A nice, slow English drizzle is the thing to take the heart out of the Americans. Regulations have been issued to keep the course clear for two hours before, and until the race is ended.

No Iron-Clad for Cuba.

LISBON, Aug. 21 .- The regular mail steamer from Rio Janeiro has arrived, bringing dates from that city to the 25th of July. President REDDY THE BLACKSMITH.

A Desperate Character Arrested in his Career -Curious History of his Past Life of Crime and Dissipation. New York is enjoying a pleasurable sensation. At last her joy has culminated, for Reddy the Blacksmith, her wickedest criminal, as Allen was her wickedest man, is in the clutches of her zealous officials. The career of Reddy possesses more than ordinary interest, and these para-graphs from the Gotham journals of this mornwill acquaint our readers with some of its brightest features.

His Arrest.

Says the Times:-William Varley, alias "Reddy the Black-smith," arrived in this city yesterday morning, under escort of Detectives Wooldridge and Dunne, of the Sixth ward police, having been brought by them from Sau Francisco by the overland route. The arrival of this distinguished individual caused considerable excitement in certain circles, and creates a general desire to know something of the antecedents of a criminal of such great repute.

Variey is a hero of crime, who has had great-ness thrust upon him rather than achieved it A man governed chiefly by brutal instincts, he has never risen to the first rank as an adroit depredator, and he has become famous mainly because of his unreasoning, ungovernable tem per, and his matchless impudence. But for that he would have gone through life as a very ordi-uary thief and pickpocket. His intellect is of a very low order, and it would trouble him proba-bly to tell when and how he received the alias of "Reddy the Blacksmith." The name come from his red hdr and ruddy complexion, and from the fact that in early life he was an apprentice to a blacksmith, and the affix was to distinguish him from "Reddy the Plumber," another member of the lawless gang to which he was first attached.

His First Term.

In 1855 "Reddy" fell for the first time into the clutches of the law, being picked up by John Jourdan, then as active, shrewd, and able a patrolman as he is now a police-captain; but Jourdan was inexperienced then, and "Reddy" slipped out of the trap which had been set for im, and he was finally discharged without punishment, because the complainant in the case could not be found.

Very soon afterwards, however, he was an rested again for picking the pocket of an English gentleman in a street car of $400. This time the fates were unpropitious; the complainant was present at the trial; the evidence was direct and positive, and Reddy, for the first time in his life, was a convicted felon. He was sentenced to five years in the State Prison, and was first sent to Sing Sing, where he speedily became noted as the most incorrigible disorderly and disorganizing rufilan that had ever been in the institu-tion. He was disciplined without effect. The shower-bath, the dark cell, and all other expedients proving ineffectual, he was at last sent off to Clinton Prison to expend his stubbornness in the iron mines. There he stayed until the expiration of his sentence, and although nothing as to his demeanor there has come out of that solitude, he certainly returned to his old haunts in the city entirely untamed.

He Turns Forger.

Very soon after his release he achieved dis-tinction in an entirely new line. Resuming his old profession, he picked a gentleman's pocket, and to his great chagrin found nothing in it but a draft for £100, payable to order. He must have been very greatly pressed for money at the time, for he essayed forgery, and, singularly enough, was entirely successful. The crime was disco-vered, "Reddy" was arrested, indicted, gave bail, and meantime the complainant left the country, and although he was subsequently rearrested by Captain Jourdan and confined in the Tombs for some time, the man who had been robbed could never be found, and he was ultimately discharged, A YCFy Important Levee-The Hon. Varley on Physical Economy. From crime to crime-until his presence in An accident of a serious nature occurred yesterday forenoon, which will affect the domestic comfort of the residents of the West Division to a rather unpleasant degree. About II o'clock the Lafrentee, a vessel laden with lumber, was towing by the tug Crawford from the South Branch along the river in the vicinity of the Chicago avenue bridge. Contrary to the pro-visions of the city ordinance she was proceeding stern foremost and dragging her anchor, which struck the main pipe which supplies the West struck the main pipe which supplies the West Division and sprung a huge leak. The pipe runs from the water works along Chicago avenue, and dips about three feet under the bed of the river. It is a two-foot pipe, and forms the prin-cipal main from which the entire West Side draws its supply of water. The leak was at once detected by an unwonted commotion in the river—the water boiling up from below and creating quite a current. The anchor chain of the vessel was broken, and the anchor was left the vessel was broken, and the anchor was left at the bottom of the river.

NO WATER.

Chicago as Bad Off as Philadelphia.

Information of the occurrence was at once communicated to the Board of Public Works, who lost no time in taking the proper steps to remedy the evil. Messrs, Fox and Howard coneyed their pile-driving machinery and material o the spot, and the workmen set about making the necessary preparations for building a coffer-dam. Most of the afternoon was occupied in dragging for the lost anchor, when the precise character of the lojury done to the pipe could be ascertained. The leak appears to be a very heavy one, and its influence was quickly per-ceived throughout the entire West Division yes-terday, by the slackening of the regular supply. The cost of erecting the coffer-dam and re airing the pipe will probably amount to over $2000, while the inconvenience to citizens will be serious indeed. The supply from that quar-ter will have to be cut off for at least a week, and the only remaining sources of supply are a one-foot pipe which runs under the river at Adams street and a two-feet pipe crossing the river at Twelfth street. These will, to some extent, supply the demand, but very inade-quately, inasmuch as the South Side has in the irst place to be satisfied.

The West Side people will hear of the disaster with some alarm. Their prospects for at leasting week to come are not pleasing to contemplate, and it is to be hoped that the Board of Public Works will see that the work of repairing the pipe is proceeded with vigorously by day and night, and without an hour's delay. The accident may also teach a useful lesson in causing the city ordinances to be more rigidly enforced. years that the ordinance prohibiting vestragging their anchors in the river is add to. The result is a calamity will be felt very deeply by a large portion of the community. Now there are two other things to be done One is to immediately arrest and prosecute, with all the power of the law, the captain who wantonly endangered the safety, health, and comfort of one hundred thousand people. If he were sent to prison for tifteen years, and his vessel confiscated, it would not be adequate compensa tion for what he has done. The next thing is that for a few days, at least people must get along with as little water as they can, using it judiciously in all parts of the city, and not squandering it. With such precautions and with unremitting labor on the part of the Board, we hope that the citizens of the West Division will get on with as little trouble as possible.-Chicago Tribune, Aug. 19.

FRIGHTFUL.

A Man Gored to Death by an Infuriated Steer. From the Pittsburg Chronicle of last evening.

A fearful and fatal affair took place yesterday in West Newton, on the Pittsburg and Connells ville Railroad, by which one man was killed and another received injuries that will probably prove fatal. A butcher residing in the town had ourchased a bullock, which he was driving to the slaughter house. The animal proceeded quictly through the streets of the town until pear the slaughter pen, where, getting a scent of blood, he became furious and unmanageable. He rushed furiously down the main street of the town, attacking every person and anything that came in his way. While proceeding in his mad course, he made an attack upon a Mr. Icely, who happened to be crossing the street in front of him, and striking him with his sharp horns, gored him in a most frightful manner. ripping open his abdomen and chest, tearing a portion of his lungs out, and leaving his hear exposed to view. Another gentleman, whose name we could not ascertain, fared but little better, as he was caught between the head of the infuriated animal and a fence and completely crushed. The maddened brute then made a dash at three ladies who were standing in the door of a millinery establishment, who escaped serious injury and perhaps death by aving the presence of mind sufficient to rush into the house and close the door. Next the bull encountered a projecting window filled with millinery goods. Striking the window with his head, it was torn down, and the goods scattered in every direction. The animal then turned his attention to a gentleman on the treet, who, seeing his danger, started to run or a place of safety, closely pursued. Just at this instant, however, when the beast was about o lower his head to strike his intended victim. the man fortunately struck his foot against a tone, and fell flat upon his face, and the bulock passed over him, and made a dash for some Double Execution in Tennessee-Galvin and Moody Hung for the Murder of a Policeman-The Fete at Long Branch Last Evening.

FROM NEW JERSEY.

The Ball at the Continental Hotel, Long Branch, Last Evening-A Brilliant and Successful Fete.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 21 .- The grand complimentary ball given last night at the Continental Hotel by the cottagers and sojourners at Long Branch, to Mr. William B. Barrows, proprietor of the "Continental," was a brilliant success, as far as style and splendor of dres was concerned. The intense heat prevented the attendance of a number of distinguished persons who had anticipated being present. The ball, unquestionably the most aristocratic one of the season, the attire of the ladles, the ladies, the display of diamonds and precious jewels was dazzling. The ball-room was decorated superbly, and bunting, tastefully festooned, made the walls attractive. A large calcium light in front of the hotel threw a bright glare on the pathway that leads to the entrance of the building. Two bands, each of great numerical strength, were stationed in the ball-room. one at either end.

General George T. Meade, and Hon. Asa Packer, of Pennsylvania, were the most notable guests present.

Among the others were General Joshua T. Owen, of Philadelphia: Judge Dowling, Captain Jordan, Frank E. Howe, Henry Clews, Frank Leslie, ex-Collector Shook, and John Hovey, of New York. There was a slight sprinkling of fashionable beauty from Philadelphia. Generals Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Governor Hoffman, and other notables were expected, but prior engagements prevented their attendance. The weather to-day is stifling, and not a particle of air is stirring.

Double Execution in Tennessee Yesterday-A White Man and Negro Hung for the Murder of a Policeman-The Scenes.

Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 21 .- The execution of James Galvin and Samuel Moody, the latter colored, has been the theme of conversation for several days. At an early hour yesterday morning crowds of people, mostly negroes, from the city and country began to assemble about the jail, and by one o'clock the vicinity was dense with people anxious to witness the execution. The men were to explate the crime of murder, having killed Officer Fenton in December, 1868. At 1.30 P. M. Sheriff Curry appeared with the prisoner Galvin, accompanied by Father O'Brien and a guard. Galvin mounted the scaffold with firm tread, and apparently without any fear. Arrived upon the scaffold, the Sheriff read the decision of the Court, after which Galvin, with Father O'Brien, united in prayer, when Galvin, in response to a question from the Sheriff as to whether he had anything to say, stepped forward and addressed the crowd. He acknowledged to having fired the fatal shot, but said he did it in self-defense. After which religious service was read. Galvin's arms and legs were pinioned, and the cap placed over his head, the noose adjusted, and at 1.40 the drop fell. After hanging fifteen minutes the physicians pronounced life extinct, when his ody was cut down and delivered to his mother. Moody, the negro, accompanied by the minister and officers, ascended the steps of the caffold at 2.10. The Sheriff read the death-war rant, and told Moody if he had anything to say o do so. Moody then,"as often before, declared his innocence, warned all to keep out of bad company, said Bedford was the man who fired the shot, and that he was going to die for the rime of murder, but expressed a willingness to die, having experienced religion since his confinement. After this the colored clergyman. Mr. Rivels, offered a prayer and sang a hymn, Moody joining in the latter. At the conclusion Moody's arms and legs were pinioned, the cap was drawn over his head, and at 2.20 the door was again dropped. Fifteen minutes after, life had left the body. It was then cut down and delivered to his friends.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.) Saturday, August 21, 1868. { There is not a very sanguine feeling among finan-cial men as to the future condition of our market, and there is a firmer tendency both at the banks and in the regular discount market. The usual demand for moving the crops has now fairly commenced, somewhat in advance of former years, and during its continuance it is expected that the demand upon feastern markets generally will be very heavy, and Eastern markets generally will be very heavy, and possibly may cause some inconvenience to our busi-ness men not directly interested in crop movements. Money is generally represented cast of the Ohio as abundant already, and with the large accumulations in the Treasury it can hardly fail to be scarce here until the return current sets in in exchange for merchandise. The latter invariably waits on the results head ached; that her bones seemed ready to fall apart, and that each one seemed to possess its own individual pain. While the Doctor was listening to her story, he observed that every member of her family, consisting of a husband and nine children, looked sick, and that the father and four of the children seemed unusually indisposed. Upon inquiry he found that the youngest, but two years of age, had been alling two weeks from some unknown cause, and that the husband, a girl of fifteen, and two boys, aged thirteen and fourteen, had all complained of being indisposed for some days. They were afflicted with diarrhoea; complained of pains in the abdomen; their limbs had become stiff; while the muscles of the face and those of the eyes had been considerably swollen. They also com-plained of headache, pains in the chest, and experienced difficulty in breathing. At first the loctor believed the symptoms to have been caused by poison, and he accordingly questioned his patients regarding their food. He learned that all had partaken of some raw ham, and the cause was soon made clear to him. The symp toms were those of trichina, and he began to treat them accordingly. Before the medicine could take effect, however, the patients be-came much worse, and the father, who, on aturday, was yet tolerably well, on Monday was fairly prostrated with the disease. Yesterday several of the patients were yet in considerable langer.

The ham, which was but a part of a whole one, had been procured from Mrs. Halber, re-siding at No. 156 Arnold street, and upon inquiry it was discovered that she was also sufferng from the same cause, and was under the treatment of Dr. Merkler, of No. 377 State street. Her symptoms appeared less aggravated. lowever, owing to the fact that she had cooked er meat before eating it, while the others had artaken of it in its raw state. The physicians then held a consultation, and both agreed as to cause-trichina. Unfortunately no part of the ham, except a little of the melted fat, is left for examination, and that does not suffice for the urpose. The physicians have endeavored to revail upon some of their patients to allow them to possess themselves of a small portion of the muscles of the arm, but with this tender rejuest none of them have been willing to comply Hamill.

The Pittsburg Commercial, in commenting on the recent defeat of the "Little Engine" by Confter, savs:-

"Hamill's racing days are over, so far as com petition with such oarsmen as Walter Brown and Henry Coulter, his more youthful rivals are concerned. He did not in any part of yes terday's contest which came under the writer's eye pull with much more than half his custom ary vigor, and this was remarked by many, who looked to see him maintain at least forty-five strokes to the minute. A remarkable circumstance was the change in the betting yesterday which on one boat on the way up usually ran from two to one on Coulter winning the race. This change from the pool selling of the nigh previous rather astonished most people, and caused various surmises not at all complimentary to the contestants and their backers. They argued that if Hamili could pull over the course on every trial for days past in less than thirtyseven minutes, he could certainly out-distance his competitor, whose best time was 38 30, and who claimed he would lose a minute on the upper course. Be all this as it may, whether the race was vigorously contested or not, or whether it was part of an alleged triple alliance between the prominent oarsmen to rotate the championship between them, a majority of those present yesterday are satisfied with the result. It will probably be of little use to cau-tion people against betting on boat races, for they will do it over and over again, although there is nothing more uncertain." one else. GENERALITIES.

Kidnapping Extraordinary.

A remarkable case of kidnapping occurred in Chicago on Sunday morning last. While Officer Edward Miller was crossing Lake Street Bridge he heard a wail from a vessel tied near by, and at once went to the rescue, was met by some constable, who told him that there was a diffi-culty on the vessel, and directed him aboard for particulars. While trying to find some one to crest, the tug Crawford came alongside, took he vessel in tow, and went out into the lake with it. Since then Miller has not been heard from, and his friends are a little anxious as to his whereabouts.

Singular Accident.

On the occasion of a festival at Malta on the evening of the 24th of July, some officers of the garrison, thinking to amuse the crowds who were collected to witness the illuminations, procured a number of what they believed to be light balls, with parachute and rocket bouquets. pon setting one or more of them on fire, by a match train, however, a loud explosion took place, and showers of grapeshot were discharged. to the imminent peril of the assembled spectators, who took to their heels. Fortunately no one was seriously injured. The officers, at the risk of their lives, took the rest of the shells and threw them into the sea, where some of them exploded with a tremendous noise, and the concussion shook the ground like an earthquake. The missiles were two feet in height. and appear to have been intended for a suspen sion over a bastion to throw light on the enemy's movements, and it is said that they had been so long in store that there was no record of their introduction, and they were considered worthless.
