THE DAILY EVENING TELEGRAPH-PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 27, 1869.

NEW-YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

New York, August 27, 1869. The Blue-Eyed Baby Business. The Philadelphia readers of the most notorious of the New York daily newspapers will probably, at one time or other, have had their attention attracted to a certain quarter of the journal wherein parties wishing to adopt beautiful blue-eyed babies could be accommodated upon reasonable terms. Sometimes it is added that the adopting party must be a professing Christian, but more often the advertiser casts aside all considerations of faith and practice, and confines herself to statements in regard to the reasonableness of terms.

The blue-eyed baby business is carried on to a greater extent in New York than in any other city upon the American continent. The number of blue-eyed babies that come to the surface in the columns of the daily and weekly press is immense. Baby-farming is a regularly recognized business in itself, and those harples who engage in the profession are most successful who part with the greatest number of babies for a consideration.

There are several of these baby-farmers in New York. One of them is in St. Mark's Place, where a female physician, in conjunction with a male one, undertakes to supply Christian families with as many blue-eved babies as may be desired. She never makes any charge, but it is tacitly understood that babies of various degrees of of blue-eyed beauty are to be procured from her at all prices between $50 and $150. The proprietress has a sharp eye, a shrewd tongue, a long head, and a short manner, and is not capable of being brow-beaten. Another one is on Third avenue, near to Stewart's. It is located over a shop, and pervaded with an air of intense respectability. Indeed, the "respectability" of these places is their most gratifying and salutary characteristic. The servant who opens the door may look dowdy around the hair and dirty around the neck, but she is respectable; the parlor into which you are shown may have cemetery-like mouldiness of atmosphere, suggestive of new-made graves, but the pictures on the wall are scriptural in subject. and the few ornaments are uniformably correct and respectable; the "lady" who receives you is generally attired in black bombazine (as though she were a Rachel weeping for other people's children), but the respectability of her appearance and language is one of the first things that strikes you. This Third avenue establishment is, however, more of an office than anything else. The real hospital and nursery is "farther-uptown."

In Nineteenth street is a third baby-farm, and these three are the principal ones of Gotham, From these issue most of the advertisements which dupes, blest with no children of their own, and wishing to adopt those of others, so readily answer. Scattered all over the city are smaller ones, where the business is less artistically conducted, and the police descents upon which render a temporary residence there extremely risky.

It is in holes like these that the nobodies children of New York, who somehow or other are "left over," and never adopted out, go through protracted courses of ill-treatment which finally bring them to the grave. Whatever sorrowful chance may have taken the innocent visitor to such a house, he will have remarked with inexpressible compassion the old countenances of the withered and unhappy little children that there abound. These are the blueeyed babies that the advertisements run about, and which the female physician is so desirous of adopting out into a Chistian family where they Dysentery, Cholera, Summer Complaint, and all bowel affections may be had in JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALSAM. Compounded with care from the best understood ingredients known to the medical faculty, its action is prompt and always to be depended upon, while the reputation it has attained as a standard bousehold remedy should induce all at this season of the pear to keep a bottle of so useful [a medicine by them. Sold by all Druggists.

PAINLESS DIGESTION .- "No man," says Sir Astley Cooper, "ought to know by his sensations that he has a stomach." In other words, when digestion is perfect there is neither pain nor uneasiness in the region where it takes place. Nauses, want of appetite, flatulency, oppression after rating, shooting pains in the epigastrium, a flushing of the face at meal times, and a furred tongue in the morning, are among the direct symptoms of indigestion. Constitution, billousness, headache, nervous irritability physical weakness, and low spirits are its almost invaria. ble accompaniments. All these indications of Dyspepsis whether immediate or secondary, are usually aggravated by hot weather.

The close of summer is, therefore, the season when the victim of dyspepsia most urgently needs a tonic and regu-lating modicine. Of course, every invalid has many ad-vicers. One friend recommends one drug, another another; but in a multitude of counsellors there is not always safety. The standard remedy of the present age for indigestion, in all its stages, is HORTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Time, that proves all things, has established its reputation on an impregnable foundation-the sponta-neous testimony of millions of intelligent witnesses. No acrid oil or acid defiles its stimulating principle; its tonic onstituents are the finest that botanical research has yet discovered ; it combines the properties of a gentle evacuant, a blood depurent, and an anti-bilious medicine, with invigo-rating qualities of the highest order, and is admitted both by the public and the profession to be the surest protection against all diseases that are produced or propagated by pestiferous air or unwholesome water, that has ever been used either in the United States or Tropical America. In cases of constipation resulting from a want of muscu lar tone in the intestines, the effect of the BITTERS is per fectly marvellous; and without the dangerous sequences of mercury, it restores the disordered liver to a normal andition.

may experience the comforts of a home Wretched children of nobody, I am sure they need it, for the tender mercies of the woman on whose hands they are left are sure, sooner or later, to conduct them to the grave. Some of these children escape death, however, by being sent to Randall's Island, whose nurseries received during the year 1868 over eleven hundred such children. Here their condition is at least a little better than under the roof-tree of the yenal friend who assisted their mothers (at the rate of $25 per week) in bringing them into the world. They receive at least some education. The girls are taught sewing, and the boys get some inkling of farming. Thence, periodieally they are sent West, and in a few years no small proportion of the population of the prairiepeopled West will consist of the grown-up children of nobody. At the same time the condition of the juvenile occupants of Randall's Island-those little illegitimate ones-is nothing to brag of. The nurses there who take charge of the younger children mix a great dea of their milk of haman kindness with bad gin and educate the innocents to a love of whisky The mortality among the infant population is extremely large. Last year much more than one-half the entire number admitted died. The various children's hospitals and other charitable institutions for children established in the city do something towards mitigating this evil, but all the benevolence heaped togother seems but as a drop in a bucket. It is one of the great shames of New York that there are such extensive facilities for the "putting away" of nobody's children, and one of the first steps towards reform should be the abolishment of all such advertisements as the blue-eyed baby ones.

AGAIN TESTED !

YONKERS, N. Y., August 13, 1869. MESSRS, HERBING, FARREL & SHERMAN, New York-Gentlemen :- At the great fire here on Sunday night last (Sth inst.), which covered an area of two blocks, we had two of your Safes in our building, which passed safely through the ordeal. When first discovered they were surrounded by burning lumber, and bear evidence of having had a severe test, as our place of business occupied seven lots, all covered with buildings and lumber, all of which were entirely consumed, and to this heat the Safes were exposed. It was with great satisfaction that we found, upon cutting into our Safes, as they were so warped and swollen they could be opened in no other way, that our books and papers and money were all saved; indeed, the bills came out of the Safe without a singe, and nothing is discolored but the binding of the books. Respectfully yours, ACKERT & QUICK.
