

FALL FASHIONS.

Darker Goods Displace the Lighter—The Stores Gathering their Autumn Stock—The Styles and the Prices—Interesting Announcements to the Ladies.

See yet the decaying tooth of Autumn has touched with its light the forest tree or the garden bush; are yet the green leaves that have ministered first among the greener foliage; are yet chilly breezes nuzzle with sounds of coming cold, Dame Fashion, even in advance of the time, blazons the announcement that she is ready for the coming season, with styles to delight the hearts of the fair ones, and dresses to make their eyes sparkle in eagerness.

Among the popular goods the mouline is a beautiful fabric of silk and linen in hair stripes of black or grey peacock and violette grounds, $1.50 a yard. Pure soft silk in hair check of black, on popular dark colors, is $1.75, nineteen inches wide. An admired pattern is grey and black stripes an inch wide, the grey broken by a black hair line. The popular silks for fall will be black, with gay or canelle stripes, as they are called. Scotch shawl-like goods, $1.75. The autumn percale goods, heavier than the summer fabric of that name, are of linen and silk, with fine stripes of bright color on light ground.

In mixed wool goods there are the silk-faced serges, the velours, and armure poplins, in golden green, peacock, copper, and other metallic shades. The new silver grey popline is $1 a yard.

In wool goods the soft Harris cloth, seven-eighths of a yard wide, is like an empress cloth, with cord running lengthwise; it is very soft and heavy. The Alaska cloth is also like corduroy, with the ribs woven the long way of the cloth instead of across. The price of both is $1.50, and they come in the shades of red that are popular, in bright green and blue, brown and stone colors. Plain all-wool serges, for cloaks, two and a half yards wide, are $2.50.

Now for a stroll among the stores. Here we meet the color called the "peacock's neck"—a changing metallic color like frog green or sea-tint. It is shown in heavy gross-grain, 25 inches wide, at $5 a yard. It is lighter in color, for people will not consider them as fall in their business until the distinctions of shades are correctly appreciated and understood. In pink there are five shades commonly used, known as Biondine, a delicate whitish tinge, like that of the blush roses; rose color, soft and charming; rose sublime and rose des Alpes are rarely seen; rose pink, rose de chine, which approaches cherry; and the purplish pink, known as Sophrosine. In blue the shades are confusion of terms. Milk blue is the palest; blue celeste, empress, azulite, Marie Louise, Alexandra, and Mexican blue depend according to their order. For short dresses, the Alexandra blue, carnation, sultan, ruby, and maroon shades of red, emerald, and violet are the variety.

Now for a stroll among the stores. Here we meet the color called the "peacock's neck"—a changing metallic color like frog green or sea-tint. It is shown in heavy gross-grain, 25 inches wide, at $5 a yard. It is lighter in color, for people will not consider them as fall in their business until the distinctions of shades are correctly appreciated and understood. In pink there are five shades commonly used, known as Biondine, a delicate whitish tinge, like that of the blush roses; rose color, soft and charming; rose sublime and rose des Alpes are rarely seen; rose pink, rose de chine, which approaches cherry; and the purplish pink, known as Sophrosine. In blue the shades are confusion of terms. Milk blue is the palest; blue celeste, empress, azulite, Marie Louise, Alexandra, and Mexican blue depend according to their order. For short dresses, the Alexandra blue, carnation, sultan, ruby, and maroon shades of red, emerald, and violet are the variety.

Among the ribbons, the velvets for the hair are displayed in light colors, barred with black and tinsel. Light Roman ribbons for the neck are fringed on one side, 75 cents a yard. Narrow Watteau ribbons to match the same, 30 cents.

The splendid silks known as Tapissier's and Bonnet's 77 inch silk, are $12 and $13 respectively. Tapissier's is heavier, but Bonnet's softer. A very silk, forty-seven inches wide, is $16 to $20 a yard. Watered silk, now more worn than more antique, is $4 to $7.50. The latter is $3.50 to $13.

Satin de Lyon, twenty-five inches wide, is $4.50 to $6. English or Queen's satin is $3.50 a yard, twenty inches wide. Striped material, alternate satin and silk, all black, in stripes two inches wide, is sold at $6, twenty-five inch width for under skirts or rich house dresses.

Among the popular goods the mouline is a beautiful fabric of silk and linen in hair stripes of black or grey peacock and violette grounds, $1.50 a yard. Pure soft silk in hair check of black, on popular dark colors, is $1.75, nineteen inches wide. An admired pattern is grey and black stripes an inch wide, the grey broken by a black hair line. The popular silks for fall will be black, with gay or canelle stripes, as they are called. Scotch shawl-like goods, $1.75. The autumn percale goods, heavier than the summer fabric of that name, are of linen and silk, with fine stripes of bright color on light ground.

In mixed wool goods there are the silk-faced serges, the velours, and armure poplins, in golden green, peacock, copper, and other metallic shades. The new silver grey popline is $1 a yard.

In wool goods the soft Harris cloth, seven-eighths of a yard wide, is like an empress cloth, with cord running lengthwise; it is very soft and heavy. The Alaska cloth is also like corduroy, with the ribs woven the long way of the cloth instead of across. The price of both is $1.50, and they come in the shades of red that are popular, in bright green and blue, brown and stone colors. Plain all-wool serges, for cloaks, two and a half yards wide, are $2.50.

Now for a stroll among the stores. Here we meet the color called the "peacock's neck"—a changing metallic color like frog green or sea-tint. It is shown in heavy gross-grain, 25 inches wide, at $5 a yard. It is lighter in color, for people will not consider them as fall in their business until the distinctions of shades are correctly appreciated and understood. In pink there are five shades commonly used, known as Biondine, a delicate whitish tinge, like that of the blush roses; rose color, soft and charming; rose sublime and rose des Alpes are rarely seen; rose pink, rose de chine, which approaches cherry; and the purplish pink, known as Sophrosine. In blue the shades are confusion of terms. Milk blue is the palest; blue celeste, empress, azulite, Marie Louise, Alexandra, and Mexican blue depend according to their order. For short dresses, the Alexandra blue, carnation, sultan, ruby, and maroon shades of red, emerald, and violet are the variety.

Now for a stroll among the stores. Here we meet the color called the "peacock's neck"—a changing metallic color like frog green or sea-tint. It is shown in heavy gross-grain, 25 inches wide, at $5 a yard. It is lighter in color, for people will not consider them as fall in their business until the distinctions of shades are correctly appreciated and understood. In pink there are five shades commonly used, known as Biondine, a delicate whitish tinge, like that of the blush roses; rose color, soft and charming; rose sublime and rose des Alpes are rarely seen; rose pink, rose de chine, which approaches cherry; and the purplish pink, known as Sophrosine. In blue the shades are confusion of terms. Milk blue is the palest; blue celeste, empress, azulite, Marie Louise, Alexandra, and Mexican blue depend according to their order. For short dresses, the Alexandra blue, carnation, sultan, ruby, and maroon shades of red, emerald, and violet are the variety.

Among the ribbons, the velvets for the hair are displayed in light colors, barred with black and tinsel. Light Roman ribbons for the neck are fringed on one side, 75 cents a yard. Narrow Watteau ribbons to match the same, 30 cents.

A rich autumn taffeta is brown gross-grain, with red velvet cords, striping 1 1/2 yard. In shades, black taffeta, the most common, is $1.25 for six-inch width; gros grain, the same, is $2. Taffeta, nine inches wide, is $2.50 a yard; gros grain, seven inches, is $2.00. Ottoman ribbon, with heavy cord, has silk face and linen filling, six inches wide; it is $1.50 a yard. Wide watered ribbon is $2.50. Black taffeta ribbons, embroidered with tiny chintz sprays, in color, are seven inches wide and $3.25 a yard. Black velvet, four inches wide, is $1.

The splendid silks known as Tapissier's and Bonnet's 77 inch silk, are $12 and $13 respectively. Tapissier's is heavier, but Bonnet's softer. A very silk, forty-seven inches wide, is $16 to $20 a yard. Watered silk, now more worn than more antique, is $4 to $7.50. The latter is $3.50 to $13.

Satin de Lyon, twenty-five inches wide, is $4.50 to $6. English or Queen's satin is $3.50 a yard, twenty inches wide. Striped material, alternate satin and silk, all black, in stripes two inches wide, is sold at $6, twenty-five inch width for under skirts or rich house dresses.

Among the popular goods the mouline is a beautiful fabric of silk and linen in hair stripes of black or grey peacock and violette grounds, $1.50 a yard. Pure soft silk in hair check of black, on popular dark colors, is $1.75, nineteen inches wide. An admired pattern is grey and black stripes an inch wide, the grey broken by a black hair line. The popular silks for fall will be black, with gay or canelle stripes, as they are called. Scotch shawl-like goods, $1.75. The autumn percale goods, heavier than the summer fabric of that name, are of linen and silk, with fine stripes of bright color on light ground.

In mixed wool goods there are the silk-faced serges, the velours, and armure poplins, in golden green, peacock, copper, and other metallic shades. The new silver grey popline is $1 a yard.

In wool goods the soft Harris cloth, seven-eighths of a yard wide, is like an empress cloth, with cord running lengthwise; it is very soft and heavy. The Alaska cloth is also like corduroy, with the ribs woven the long way of the cloth instead of across. The price of both is $1.50, and they come in the shades of red that are popular, in bright green and blue, brown and stone colors. Plain all-wool serges, for cloaks, two and a half yards wide, are $2.50.

Now for a stroll among the stores. Here we meet the color called the "peacock's neck"—a changing metallic color like frog green or sea-tint. It is shown in heavy gross-grain, 25 inches wide, at $5 a yard. It is lighter in color, for people will not consider them as fall in their business until the distinctions of shades are correctly appreciated and understood. In pink there are five shades commonly used, known as Biondine, a delicate whitish tinge, like that of the blush roses; rose color, soft and charming; rose sublime and rose des Alpes are rarely seen; rose pink, rose de chine, which approaches cherry; and the purplish pink, known as Sophrosine. In blue the shades are confusion of terms. Milk blue is the palest; blue celeste, empress, azulite, Marie Louise, Alexandra, and Mexican blue depend according to their order. For short dresses, the Alexandra blue, carnation, sultan, ruby, and maroon shades of red, emerald, and violet are the variety.

Among the ribbons, the velvets for the hair are displayed in light colors, barred with black and tinsel. Light Roman ribbons for the neck are fringed on one side, 75 cents a yard. Narrow Watteau ribbons to match the same, 30 cents.

A rich autumn taffeta is brown gross-grain, with red velvet cords, striping 1 1/2 yard. In shades, black taffeta, the most common, is $1.25 for six-inch width; gros grain, the same, is $2. Taffeta, nine inches wide, is $2.50 a yard; gros grain, seven inches, is $2.00. Ottoman ribbon, with heavy cord, has silk face and linen filling, six inches wide; it is $1.50 a yard. Wide watered ribbon is $2.50. Black taffeta ribbons, embroidered with tiny chintz sprays, in color, are seven inches wide and $3.25 a yard. Black velvet, four inches wide, is $1.

Yes, my dears, think of One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Baskets of Peaches "dumped" in the metropolitan markets in one day, and then smack your lips over the sum total! Peaches on all sides, forming a pomological plethora, and it is a felicitous coincidence that the same letters which spell "peach" spell "cheap." So cheap are the peaches and so fine is their flavor, that our Street Commissioner, Mr. McLean, thought he couldn't do a better thing than present some to various New York benevolent associations for juveniles. Which thing hath he done, greatly to the joy of orphanedurchhood.

John Brounham has just arrived here from San Francisco. I hope the $7000 which he raised here at his recent benefit has not yet been dissipated, for John has not saved as much as he ought to have done, and those twinges of rheumatism which he has, and which appear to forget that he is a comedian and not to be visited by the afflictions common to less gifted humanity, ought to remind him that the rally day for which it will seem good to have laid up is gradually approaching, and will not spare him. Whatever his friends may say, his recent season at the California theatre was not a successful one. The management had to engage Elise Holt to attract the audience. This being the case, I cannot believe that J. B. omitted to produce that chef d'oeuvre, The Lottery of Life. If the "trash" which he declared the public of New York and Philadelphia wanted was not so rampant for those cities, I should have supposed the San Franciscans might worry down a little of it.

Madame Anna Bishop, the number of whose vocal years some unkind newspaper paragraphist has been cynical enough to remember, arrived in town yesterday. I hope she will not give a concert. "What becomes of all the worn-out prima donnas," would make a capital magazine article, which I hope to see some day treated of by one well up in the subject. We have enough here in New York to constitute a good-sized directory of themselves. Do I pity or compassionate them? Not in the least. They have had their day. They were better paid than any other class of people under the sun. They have had abundant opportunities of laying up a snug fortune. They have no kind of moral right to squander their means and then expect, in their old age, to be well received by a public upon whom they bestow only the shreds of a voice. These remarks may not apply to Madame Bishop. I hope they do not; but I have learned too sad and cynical a lesson from cantatrices' agents who prowl around improving brilliant romances about the voices of their played-out principals, to entertain any expectations but doubtful ones of any prima donna past her meridian.

Lloyd Aspinwall, the President of the Nassau Boat Club, wants a "reception" gotten up in favor of the Harvard Four when they return. He is of the opinion that they need one badly, more now than they would have, had they been successful. He therefore invites the officers of other clubs to meet at the Nassau Boat Club-House, Thirty-fourth street and North river, next Thursday, at two o'clock, for consultation. When the English wish to express their admiration for a man they "dine" him; when we wish to do the same thing we "receive" him. Each is an idiosyncratic exponent of the Anglo-Saxon admiration of merit.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN IN TEXAS. J. ROSS BROWNE AND THE GILLESPIES—WHY HE RETURNS AND WHO WILL PROBABLY SUCCEED HIM. From Our Own Correspondent. WASHINGTON, August 30, 1869. THE TEXAS CAMPAIGN. If anybody was the Conservative or Democratic candidate in Texas for Governor except Jack Hamilton, the Democrats would have little trouble in carrying the State. As it is, however, the Republicans are not without hope of success. Apart from his chequered political record, Jack Hamilton has nothing in his personal character to command admiration or respect. Even the Rebels, who are not over fastidious, are not so enamored of Hamilton as the accounts in the Democratic papers would lead one to suppose. A man who keeps himself habitually drunk, and who borrows and never pays, can have few friends even in so benighted a region as Texas. The late Thaddeus Stevens was one of the victims of Hamilton. While professing rampant radicalism he borrowed a considerable amount of money from the old man, which he never paid, and probably never intended to pay. I am informed by a gentleman just from Texas that Hamilton's chances of election are growing less every day, while those of General Davis, his Republican opponent, are increasing. Many of the old Rebels will not vote at all, and while a majority of those who do vote will undoubtedly go for Hamilton, the more respectable class will vote for Davis, who is not only a sound Republican, but a man of ability and a gentleman, which is more than can be said for Hamilton.

SEARCH-SHIELDS—August 29, by the Rev. James Crowe, No. 224 N. Second street, Mr. FRANCIS SEARSH and Miss CHRISTIANA SHIELDS, both of this city. TODD-HILTON.—On the evening of the 24th, at St. Peter's Church, by Rev. Mr. Brown, Mr. JOHN P. TODD, Jr. of Fall, Maine, to Miss MARY HILTON, of Philadelphia. DEER.—On August 29, 1869, after a lingering illness, MARY A. DEER, widow of the late John Deer, in the 75th year of her age. Her relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend her funeral from the residence of her son-in-law, Thomas Deer, No. 625 N. Twenty-third street, on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. To proceed to the Old Fellows' Cemetery. GUNNING.—On the 28th instant, at Woodmont, New Jersey, JOSEPHINE, P. GUNNING, wife of Dr. J. E. GUNNING, in the 54th year of her age. Her relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from the First Baptist Church, N. W. corner of Broad and Arch streets, on Wednesday morning, September 1st, at 10 o'clock. To proceed to Woodlands Peace Cemetery. HANLEY.—On the 28th instant, JOHN HANLEY, in the 50th year of his age. His relatives and friends, also the members of the Orient Lodge, A. Y. M., are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from his late residence, No. 127 N. Tenth street, on Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. To proceed to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. HEIN.—On Sunday, August 29, Mrs. HESTER, widow of the late Peter Hein, in the 74th year of her age. Her relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from the residence of her son, Chas. H. Hein, on Thursday, September 2, at 10 o'clock. KITCHEN.—On Monday, the 28th instant, ALBERT H. KITCHEN, of the residence of his parents, on Wisahickon creek, above Conrad's lane, Twenty-third ward, on Thursday, September 2, at 2 o'clock. Funeral to proceed to Old Fellows' Cemetery. RICE.—On the 28th instant, MICHAEL RICE, aged 45 years. His relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from his late residence, No. 128 N. Third street, on Wednesday, September 1, at 2 o'clock. To proceed to St. Michael's Church, Chester. RUTH.—On the 28th instant, Mr. HENRY H. RUTH, aged 40 years. His relatives and friends, and Empire Lodge, No. 104, I. O. of G. F., are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from his late residence, No. 134 Marshall street, on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. To proceed to Old Fellows' Cemetery. PIANOS.—STECK & CO.'S & HAINES BROS'. AND MASON & HAMILTON'S CABINET AND METEOROLOGICAL INSTRUMENTS, AND VOX HUMANA. Every inducement offered to purchasers. 79th street, No. 222 Chestnut Street. R. E. M. O. V. A. L.—GUTHRIE'S PIANO ROOMS, CHICKERING'S GRAND SQUARE AND UPRIGHT. REMOVED TO 511 N. 113th and 115th CHESTNUT STREET. ALBRECHT, RICHARDS, SCHMIDT & CO. MANUFACTURERS OF FIRST-CLASS PIANO-FORTES. Full guarantee and moderate prices. WAREHOUSES, No. 610 ARCH STREET. HATS AND CAPS.—WARBURTON'S IMPROVED VENTILATED and easy-fitting Dress Hats (patented), in all the improved fashions of the season. CHESTNUT STREET, next door to the Post Office.

FIFTH EDITION

THE LATEST NEWS.

Further Details of the Cape Island Fire—Additional List of Cottages and Stores Destroyed—A Fortunate Change of the Wind Saves the Town.

New Departmental Regulations at the Capital—Reports Regarding the Cession of Cuba—The Postage Stamp Contracts.

FROM CAPE MAY.

How the Flames Communicated to the Great Hotels—Efforts of the Citizens to Stay Them. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. CAPE ISLAND, Aug. 31.—The alarm was given by striking the bell known as the Visitors' Church bell, belonging to the Methodists, and the unvoiced tones of the alarm bell broke with terror upon the ears of all the sojourners. Not since the destruction of the celebrated Mount Vernon House, more than ten years ago, has such a startling event occurred to arouse the hearers from their slumbers.

It is a singular coincidence that in each of these cases the fire occurred before the early dawn of morning, and at the close of the season, and it is a yet further coincidence that in neither case was there any fire apparatus to meet and put off the flames. The citizens and visitors, fully aware of the peril that threatened the destruction of the property on the whole island, turned out at once en masse and with the heartiest will, and set to work to try with the meagre means at their command to stop the conflagration; but they might as well have tried to sweep back the resistless tides of the ocean.

There was no fire engine or hose carriage in the place, and the use of a single one would have confined the fire to one or two unimportant buildings. One hook and ladder company was on the ground, and did efficient service in tearing down buildings in the path of the flames, and thus endeavored to check the progress of the conflagration. The citizens and visitors worked manfully and most commendably in passing buckets of water to and from adjoining cisterns and wells. The ocean being five hundred feet distant from the scene, to their heroic exertions are due the saving of one half of the island from total destruction.

Within the short space of thirty minutes from the first alarm the flames had reached to within twenty feet of the north side of the United States Hotel, a building five stories high, with over six hundred rooms, and last night containing several hundred visitors. At this point the noble amateur firemen made superhuman efforts to check the fire, because the destruction of this house entailed a vast amount of additional loss, but all their efforts were in vain. The flames spread from the second to the third, fourth and fifth story verandas, towering up into the sky, far beyond all human efforts to control it.

In twenty minutes this immense structure was one vast mass of flame, a sheet of blazing fire that filled the air with innumerable blazing cinders, that fired all the surrounding properties. The fire now crossed to the west side of Washington street to Ferris cottage, occupied by the family of Wm. L. Hirst, and in a few moments that was level with the ground. Thence to the American Hotel, No. 1, occupied by Miss O'Bryan, millinery; No. 2, owned by Mr. Peterson, of Newark, occupied by Mr. Alexander, jewelry; No. 4, Mr. G. Evans, bookseller, who had fortunately removed his stock the day previous; No. 5, Lemau's store, was unoccupied; No. 6, confectionery store; No. 7, E. P. Smith's boot and shoe store; No. 8, Mr. Smith, real estate agent; a total loss, No. 9, saloon—total loss, No. 10, A. Loftis, saloon—total loss; No. 11, P. König's saloon—total loss. A double ten-story roof building owned by Anselph & Stanton, of Philadelphia, was destroyed. Loss, $10,000 insurance, $5000. One of these was occupied by J. P. Sloan, clothing store. Loss, $5000. The other by Mr. Hartman, druggist. Loss, $5000, no insurance.

The flames were checked at this point on Washington street at 7 o'clock, and the Centre House was saved by wet cloths, and by the water played from Congress Hall, together with the leveling inward of the former building which lay in flames. A fortunate change of the wind about sunrise drove the flames directly to the eastward, towards the ocean, and prevented them from crossing Jackson street, otherwise the Centre House, the Merchant's, and the Ocean House, Congress Hall, and many other houses would have been a mass of ruins, and thus nearly every leading hotel and store would have been destroyed.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Cabinet Meeting. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The meeting of the Cabinet officers, on which so much stress has been laid, occurred this afternoon—Messrs. Fish, Rawlins, Cresswell, Robeson, and Cox, and the President being present.

New Regulations in the Departments. WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Commissioner of Pensions has caused the following notice to be posted about his bureau, and is determined to strictly enforce the rule: "All inquiries in regard to the condition of claims pending in this office must be made through the Post Office."

Postage Stamps. A report has been circulated that the Postmaster-General had annulled the contract with the National Bank Note Company for printing Post office stamps, because of the fact that a large number of the late issue had been counterfeited. Such is not the case, nor in fact has the question of cancelling the contract been before the department. It is not altogether improbable that a change may be made in one or two of the denominations for reasons other than that assigned in the report alluded to. The design and the style of the new stamps have been severely criticized, as before mentioned. Some of the inferior stamps may be superseded by those of improved quality.

The Cuba Question. There is authority for saying that the statement published in one of your evening contemporaries, relative to the new proposition being made to the Government for the settlement of the Cuban question, is not true. Secretary Fish pronounces it not only untrue, but also a serious insult to the Cuban Envoy, says no such terms as those proposed in that despatch would be accepted by Cuba.

FROM THE DOMINION.

Ship Laborers' Strike—Bishops on Their Way to Rome. QUEBEC, Aug. 31.—The ship laborers of this port are on a strike, and the trade of the port is almost at a stand still. Yesterday the laborers society, numbering 3500 men, marched in procession through the streets, and their conduct was so disorderly that the military were called out to prevent a riot. The Mayor and several prominent citizens were roughly handled.

Bishop Oxenden, Metropolitan of Canada, has arrived on the steamship Nestorian. Archbishop Kendrick, of St. Louis, is now here on his way to Rome. He preached to a large congregation at St. Patrick's yesterday.

FROM NEW ENGLAND.

A Raid by the Constabulary. Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. BOSTON, Aug. 31.—The constabulary made a raid on the saloon of W. H. & J. Foster on Tremont street this afternoon, and seized $1500 worth of liquor.

How a Failure Affects the "Hub." The recent failure of the boot and shoe firm in St. Louis is a severe blow to Portland street. The assets of the firm are $150,000, and the indebtedness, most of it in Boston, is about $100,000. The claims of seven Pearl street firms are $300,000, and three houses are nearly ruined by the failure.

Harvesting of a Cotton Mill. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 31.—A cotton mill at Bartleville, in the town of Hopkinton, R. I., owned by John Weldon, was burned yesterday. The loss is $40,000, insurance $30,000, of which $2500 was in the United States of Baltimore, and the balance in home companies.

FROM THE COAL REGIONS.

Large Meeting of Miners at Hyde Park. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. SCANTON, Aug. 31.—One of the largest meetings ever held in the coal regions is now assembled at Hyde Park for the purpose of determining by ballot whether they shall hold out for the basis or resume work, and in doing so become engaged in a bloody conflict with the men from the Schuylkill regions, who are here heavily armed watching their deliberations and with the avowed intention of compelling the Hyde Park men to stay out.

It is expected the voting will be concluded between 4 and 5 o'clock. The result is anxiously awaited by all interested parties.

This Afternoon's Quotations. LONDON, Aug. 31.—3 P. M.—Consols closed 92 1/2 for money and account. 5-20's of 1862, 83 1/2; of 1865, 84; and of 1867, 85; 10-40's, 76 1/2. Railways steady. Erie, 23; Illinois Central, 21 1/2.

THE MISSES GREGORY WILL REOPEN THEIR SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES, No. 217 LOCUST STREET, on MONDAY, September 1. 5 30 PM

EXCURSIONS. TRAINS start from Seven Trains start from Belmont—Lehigh and Pennsylvania AT 6 30 A. M. AT 7 30 A. M. AT 8 30 A. M. AT 9 30 A. M. AT 10 30 A. M. AT 11 30 A. M. AT 12 30 P. M. AT 1 30 P. M. AT 2 30 P. M. AT 3 30 P. M. AT 4 30 P. M. AT 5 30 P. M. AT 6 30 P. M. AT 7 30 P. M. AT 8 30 P. M. AT 9 30 P. M. AT 10 30 P. M. AT 11 30 P. M. AT 12 30 P. M.

READING RAILROAD.—PARK ACCOMMODATION TRAIN—Between Philadelphia and Belmont, commencing August 9, 1869. Starting from station, SEVENTEENTH STREET and PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE, and stopping at Coates street (Park entrance), Brown street (Park entrance), Thompson street, Millin Lane (Entrance to Engel & Wolf's Farm), and east end of Columbia Bridge (Entrance to Washington Retreat).

Arrangements have been made with the Green and Coates Streets, Seventeenth and Nineteenth Streets, and Union Passenger Railroads, to sell exchange tickets in connection with above trains, good either way, for 15 cents.

Single fares, on Park Accommodation Train, 10 cents. Tickets in Packages, 7 for 50 cents, 14 for $1.00. For sale at offices, Seventeenth street, Coates street, and Belmont. J. LOWRIE BELL, General Agent.

FIFTH GRAND EXCURSION AROUND NEW YORK BAY AND STATES ISLAND, with Prof. McCLURG's celebrated Cornet Band and Orchestra. Leaving Philadelphia, Walnut Street Wharf, on THURSDAY, September 2, at 7 30 A. M.

FARE FOR THE EXCURSION: Single Tickets, $3.00. Double Tickets, $5.00. Tickets can be procured at the offices, Nos. 111 and 125 CHESTNUT street, United States Hotel, foot of Walnut street, and at the wharf on the morning of excursion. 5 30 PM

EXCURSION TRIP TO CAPE MAY, on THURSDAY, September 2.—The Green and Coates Streets Railway will make an excursion and, her last trip to Cape May on THURSDAY, leaving ALBANY at 9 A. M., and returning on Friday. Excursion tickets, including carriage hire, $2.00; each way, including carriage hire, $2.25. 8 30 AM

EXCURSIONS ON THE SCHUYLKILL.—A steamer leaves Patuxent for the City of Schuylkill EVERY FORTY-FIVE MINUTES during the day. Steamers run every day in the week. The Green and Coates Streets Passenger Railway Company exchange tickets with the boats. 8 30 AM

DAILY EXCURSIONS TO BELMONT, on THURSDAY, September 2.—The Green and Coates Streets Railway will make an excursion and, her last trip to Cape May on THURSDAY, leaving ALBANY at 9 A. M., and returning on Friday. Excursion tickets, including carriage hire, $2.00; each way, including carriage hire, $2.25. 8 30 AM

DRY GOODS. RICKEY, SHARP & CO., NO. 727 CHESTNUT STREET, ARE CLOSING OUT LAWN, ORGANDIES, And Other Summer Dress Goods, AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES. (It is at)

STOVES, RANGES, ETC. THE IMPROVED BALTIMORE Fire-Place Heater, With ILLUMINATING DOORS and WINDOWS, and MAGAZINE of sufficient capacity for fuel to last 24 HOURS, at a cost of but $10.00. GREEN'S PATENT DAY. The most perfect and cheerful Heater in use. Having made arrangements with the BALTIMORE MANUFACTURING CO. of BALTIMORE, for the EXCLUSIVE manufacturing of these Heaters, we are prepared to furnish them in any quantity, Retail wholesale or retail by the Manufacturer, JOHN S. CLARK, NO. 1018 MARKET STREET.

Beware of imitations gotten up on the popularity of these Heaters. 8 30 AM

DEAFNESS.—EVERY INSTRUMENT THAT Distinguishes and assists in hearing in every degree of deafness; also, Receptors, also, Craniotomy, and superior Craniotomy, in use at P. MADRIBAT, No. 113 TERTIA Street, below Chestnut. 4 PM