NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Progress of the Exploring Party-The Passes of the Rocky Mountains-Availability of the Proposed Route.

Mesers. Jay Cooke & Co., of this city, have received the following letter from the Chlef Engineer of the party engaged in exploring the oute of the Northern Pacific Railroad:-HELENA, Montana Territory, Aug. 17, 1869. Messrs. Jay Cooke & Co .: - My last letter was dated August 9, on the Jocko river. We passed over from Jocko river to the valley of Heligate river, and along that to the town of Missoula, where we were most kindly received and entertained by the gentlemen of that place. I remember especially Mr. McCormick, Mr. Worden, Captain Higgins, and Major John Owen (the atter, however, resides at Fort Owen, thirty miles off, in the Bitter Root valley). Major Graham, of "Deer Lodge" City, and Major Owen accompanied us for several days, and gave us much useful information. At Deer Lodge City, or rather on our approach when ten miles out, we were met by all the principal citizens, who escorted us to their nice flourishing little city, the financial and supplying centre of a large mining district both of gold and silver. Under the guidance of Mr. Granville Stuart, Mr. Worden, and Major Blake, we made a very satisfactory examination of the "Deer Lodge" valley and the "Deer Lodge" pass of the main chain of the Rocky Mountains, and thence down Divide creek, ten miles to itjunction with "Wisdom" or Big Hole river. This is the most remarkable divide I have ever seen, and, considering that it is a pass separating the waters of the Pacific from those of the Atlantic, its characteristics are truly wonderful. In truth, instead of separating, it has afforded the means of uniting the two oceans by a continuous water communication.

The miners of this region of the so-calle Rocky Mountains have stolen the waters of Divid creek (which rise in the eastern side of th mountain), and conveyed it by a ditch to the western side, where they employ it in their gold | read this vehement washings. I examined this in the ground carefully. The cut or ditch in the deepest part of the summit or divide is cut down to the depth of eighteen feet, the whole length of the excavation being a little over one-fourth of a mile. I is through loam or clay; not a particle of rock is visible within two miles in any direction.

This may strike you as almost marvellousand so, indeed, it is-that the great backbone of a continent, the grand chain of the Rocky Mountains, should be so toned down at this particular pass as to permit the flowing of a stream across from the eastern to the western slope. And this is not the only striking feature: the approaches of this divide on both sides are so gradual that we trotted to the top with perfect ease in our two-horse wagon, containing four persons and our baggage and sleeping blankets. The grade from "Deer Lodge" valley, pass ing the summit, and thence down Divide creek to the Wisdom (or Big Hole) river, need not exceed fifty feet per mile, without either tunnel or any deep cutting. Such is one of the passes of the Rocky Mountains that I have examined. and from concurrent and reliable testimony strengthened, by many personal observations tending to confirm it, I am satisfied that a snow of two feet depth in either of the valleys, or in the Divide, is of very rare occurrence. The Divide is nothing more than a gentle plain, covered with nutritious bunch grass, and usually cattle feed on it all through the winter, without any housing, and get fat. Indeed, the entire region that we have been passing through for weeks is a vast grazing country, interspersed with excellent arable agricultural land, already cultivated as farms in a number of places. We encamped in the valley of Divide creek, within one mile of Wisdom river. I found the river at the point where I saw it, and made an approximate estimate of its size and volume, to be 350 feet wide, with a flow of about 42,000 cubic feet per minute, which is more than one-third of the low water flow of the Ohio at Wheeling. This river rises more than fifty miles, and its sources now constitute the great mining region-the Big

Hole gold region. Before leaving the Rocky Mountains, we have yet to examine a pass between the waters of the Gallatin river and those of the Yellow Stone river, which is said to be very favorable. We returned through the "Deer Lodge" divide, by the "Deer Lodge" valley, to the "Deer Lodge" City, and remained over Sunday. We then passed down the valley to the little Black Foot, and up that valley to "Mullan's" Pass, of the main chain of the Rocky Mountains, and thence down a branch a short distance, and then over to another branch of the "Prickly Pear," a tributary of the Upper Missourl, and thence to this city, where we arrived last evening. We have been cordially met by many of the citizens here, who of course feel a deep interest in the early construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad. We have also met Colonel De Lacy and Mr. W. W. Johnson, who spent a number of years making surveys for military wagon-roads and railroads through this region (whose reports I had previously read), from whom we derived valuable information. Major Blake, who has been many years in this country, accompanied us around from Deer Lodge to this city. Of course, it is natural that we should fall in with the men now living here who best understand the country. We are greatly indebted to Mr. Worden and Captain Higgins, of Missoula (and also Mr. McCormick). who accompanied us not only to Deer Lodge City, but also to Wisdom river, and we obtained much valuable information of Granville Stuart; and Major Blake went with us from Deer Lodge. as well as from Major Graham and Judge Dance of Deer Lodge City. This Mullan Pass is of a different shape from the Deer Lodge Pass: it is not so gradual on the Pacific slope, and is quite abrupt in its descent on the Atlantic slope; but I will not in this letter attempt any discussion of routes. We have yet to examine the 'Cadotte Pass," designated especially by Mr. Edwin F. Johnson as one of the routes for the main line. Then, after visiting Fort Benton and the Boseman Pass, already referred to, between the Gallatin and the Yellow Stone, we will return homeward. I think we shall have accomplished a great deal, and that I will be prepared to present a plain, intelligible report of the great country explored, and that it will be favorable in many important respects. We have met Governor Ashley and General Washburn, the new Surveyor-General; Mr. Trambull, United States Senator; and Mr. Marmaduke Moore, and other Philadelphians, just arrived from a laborious tour up the Missouri. I suppose we will start to-morrow morning for Fort Benton by stage. Very truly yours, W. MILNOR ROBERTS.

P. S .- We have met General Sully, who has recently been placed in command here, and he has invited us to ride out this evening to the Warm Springs, about four miles. This is a great

NEW-YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 1, 1869. Further developments induce the belief that the Poard of Police Commissioners knew perfeetly well what they were about in the order they lately promulgated in regard to the Wenring of the Uniform by the Police. From the number of anticipated resignations sent in, it is probable that the Board were quite aware that their regulations would have that effect. An avalanche of resignations was yesterday let fall upon the Board, after receiving, accepting, and filing which the Commissioners proceeded to virtually revoke all that they had said by appending to the regulations the explanation that any member of the force will be relieved from those regulations by the Board, or the Superintendent, or the President of the Board, or in the absence of the President or Superintendent, by any Police Commissioner, in special cases. Among the more amusing of the resignations handed in was one by a sergeant, which read as follows:-

"Gentlemen:—Deeming the amended rule ty-rannical and humiliating to me as an officer and a man, and, in my opinion, directly assisting all classes law-breakers, especially the proprietors of gin-ills, to evade and violate the laws, I, therefore, nder my resignation as a member of the Metropolitan Police Force, to take effect on the 1st day of September next."

This is decidedly spley. The reader is particularly requested to notice the withering sarcasm of the reference to the proprietors of "gin-mills." I am afraid the writer of the resignation in question has been driving some neat operations in black-mailing with reference to the Excise law, as he evidently thinks that the destruction of his incognita by his being always compelled to wear uniform will interfere with his perquisites of a detective.

Mr. Bonner is out in a moral card in which he repudiates with indignation the imputation that he ever might, could, would, or should have used Mrs. Stowe's article on Byron for any consideration whatsoever. It is very amusing to Outbur-1 of Bonnerean Buncombe. That the New York Ledger is "interesting, moral, and instructive" we were taught to believe, through the medium of advertisements, in our school-boy days, and, even if we had not, a perusal of the chefs d'auvre of Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., and of Mrs. Paradise Southworth would have abundantly assured us of that fact. Besides, of late years, it has been very evident that Bonner has been trying hard to cradicate the raw-head and bloody-bones style of romance from his chaste columns. Why Mr. Bonner should bear down against Mrs. Stowe in such particularly strong terms I am unable to conceive. Has she not merely stripped the bandages from the wound of unnatural vice and displayed it to us in all its bleeding hideousness? How's that?

I hear that Mrs. Richings Bernard has been publishing in the Philadelphia newspapers

A Card which is a very silly junction of egotism and lackadaisicalness. She complains that Mr. Castle, the tenor, and Mr. Campbell, the paritone of the old troupe, should have forsaken her "banner" and gone unto Parepa-Rosa's. What a pity that Caroline should do so! I presume Messrs. Castle and Campbell, like other people. are fond of getting as much as possible for their wares, and are willing to warble under whatever "banner" will bring them in the greatest number of greenbacks. Certainly they have a right to their choice, and Caroline has no right whatever to complain. A pitiable aspect is the very last in which she should wish to appear beside he fleshy rival.

The Watermelon Crop

rivals the peaches. Watermelons are arriving here in such abundance that the speculators scarcely know what to do with them. Twentyave thousand were "dumped" here on Monday, From Baltimore cargoes are landed containing between three and four thousand. From the Southern States single vessels bring cargoes of between eight and nine thousand, and money is being made on them at a rate unexampled in that line of business.

The Breoklyn Citizen's Reform Association have been holding meetings with regard to the propriety of commencing political meetings with prayer. Of course such a proposal provoked a good deal of spirited discussion. Some members thought that it would be enough to kill off the meetings at once; some that it would only waste time: the majority that it would be exceedingly inappropriate. On that latter ground the proposal was finally rejected; but the Executive Committee were authorized to prepare an address to the public on the subject.

Miss Glyn (or Mrs. Dallas, as she is known to personal friends) is expected ere long in this city. She is

A London Actress of Great Local Celebrity. although her name is searcely known in this country. The most critical and fastidious of the London weekly press have very highly commended her performance of "Cleopatra" in Shakespeare's Antony and Cleopatra, and it is in that tragedy that she expects to make her principal hit in this country. Among the foremost admirers of Miss Glyn is the London Saturday Review, the most accomplished, the most educated, and the most bitterly cynical of all the London weeklies. Miss Glyn intends making the tour of the world, commencing with the United States and the Canadas, finishing up the American continent with California, and departing thence for Australia. Next to "Cleopatra" the "Duchess of Maifi" (introduced to us by Mrs. Waller) is considered her finest part. She comes to us in the nick of time, just as the blonde-burlesque is played out and the metropolls finds it can exist without Lydia Thompson. The first section of the Elevated Bailway between the Battery and Cortland street is completed, and the new cars have already been placed upon the track, their lifting being witnessed by a crowd of upwards of five thousand spectators The cars much resemble those of the city passenger railways, save that they are larger and more highly finished in back walnut. It is not expected that the road will be opened for business before December, for although the pillars are up as far as Thirtleth street, the vaults for the engines are not yet finished. This ele vated railroad, this car-travelling between heaven and earth, is the nearest approximation we have yet made to Tennyson's idea of "Navie grappling in the central blue."

It is said that all the songs introduced into the version of Uncle Tom's Cabin to be brought out next Monday night, at the Olympic, are the Negro Melodies of a Quarter of a Century Ago, which have been taken from the lips of the few surviving minstrels who remember them, and so rescued from oblivion.

MISS LYDIA THOMESON AS SINUAD THE SAILOR, AT Nist,o's, —Miss Lydia Thompson, as 'Sinbad,' is the same unquenchable spirit of grace and mischief that she was as "Ganem" and "Ixion " Tireless in action, exuberant in mirthfulness, a perpetual sunbeam, she gives life to every scene, and beautifies the stage whenever she steps upor it. Her rare face shines sweetly through every disguise: her smile is a marvel of magnetic jayou ness, her form the embodiment of womanly beauty, and her movements never less than graceful. Ns actress of the present day has done more for the stage, in one sense, than Lydia Thompson. She has shown that in the broadest burlesque and extravaganza, a woman, however costumed, may combine perfect modesty with fun, frolic, rogaishress, and freedom of action. The popular taste may be degenerate when i raves a surfeit of such amusement as that afforded by burlesque, but it cannot become degradeo while it sustains with sincere admiration such burlesque actresses as Mis-Thompson, - Hour Journal, June 9, 1869.

A REGULAR HABIT OF BODY is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot coexist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs, and one of its most common re sults is CONSTIPATION. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitantssuch as an unpleasant breath, a sallow skin, contaminated blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory and general debility.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS remove all these evilremoving their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestinas. The combina ion of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant, or a tonic, or an anti-bilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements—judiciously blended in one powerful restorative.—It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the nembrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves, and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygionic victues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a house hold medicine. Experience has proved that it is as barro less as it is efficacious, and nehce it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold in buttles only and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the is the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeits.

CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC, AND COMMERCIAL ACADEMY,
FOR BOYS AND YOUNG MEN, Entrance No. 108 S. TENTH Street.

Fatrance No. 108 S. TENTH Street.

This school presents the following advantages:
Finely ventilated class-rooms, with ceilings thirty feet in height, giving each pupil more than double the usual breathing space.

Wide massive stairways, rendering accidents in assembling and dismissing almost impossible.

A corps of teachers every one of whom has had years diexperience in the art of imparting knowledge and making study interesting, and, consequently, profitable.

A mosle of teaching and discipline calculated to make school attractive, instead of burdensome, to the pupil—an indispensable requisite for complete success.

Applications received at the Academy from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., daily, on and after August 23.

Catalogues containing full particulars and the names of many of our leading citizens, patrons of the institution, may be obtained at Mr. W. F. Warburton's, No. 420 Chesnut street, or by addressing the Principal, as above H. Y. LAUDERBACH.

Late Principal of the Northwest Public Grammar School.
