Parade of the Young Cadets To-day The Divi-sions in Line-Appearance of the Youths-The Route.

The House.

As heralded by announcement for weeks, to-day was specified as the date for the annual parade of the Order of the Cadets of Temperance—and to-day the demonstration took place.

As usual upon such occasions, when the watery men turn out the watery clouds o'ertop them, so to-day the heavens lower above the Temperance boys, as if fain to drench their cuticles with the same liquid that wets their stomachs.

According to the issued orders of the Grand Marshal of the parade, Mr. Thomas R. Redding, the various divisions were on Broad street at the point designated for the formation of the line, upon pretty sharp time. The directions in regard to dress, appearance, and other minor matters were also a rictly observed.

The lads were clothed, that is, the majority of lads were clothed, that is, the majority of The lads were clothed, that is, the majority of them—those who did no appear in fancy costumes—in dark-colored pants, white shirts, and dark caps. Of course, they all presented upon their breasts and around their waists the peculiar insignia of their Order. Their appearance was quite attractive. Such was the unanimous verdict of the spectators who nocked the line of their march.

They stepped four abreast to the music, observed most excellent order, and restrained themselves from any division of the line. A merry band of little soldiers they were—in fact, not a few of them carried swords, or the axes of pioneers.

Numerous banners, open Bibles, extended flags, pennant-capped lances, etc., were carried in the line, and so distributed at intervals that the appearance of the marching column, with its gay and lively

He is Chased by English Balliffs. From the London Telegrapa, Oct. 7.

An arrest by sherin's officers under circumstances exciting considerable merriment at the West End of London, took place yesterday at about noon. For some time past Lord Charles George Archibald Hamilton, brother of the Duke of Hamilton, has been in monetary difficulties, and doubtiess aware of certain gentlemen attending upon him. His movements were at length so closely watched as to become quite unpleasant and in this dispuns his loveleys. unpleasant, and in this dilemma his lordship con fided his troubles to a well-known Hansom cab driver named Sawyer; and, aided by cabby's knowledge of the limbs of the law, the crisis was staved on until yesterday. Benied in many attempts to capture their client, a close watch was set, and at length Sawyer's anxiety for the safety of Lord Charles was discovered. A Hanson cab, worthy of his distinguished position, had been placed at his lordship's service by a coach proprietor in New Bond street Sawyer was yesterday driving his lordship in th Sawyer was yesterday driving his lordship in the direction of Arlington street, when suddenly severa men, stationed at the corner of Bennett street, mad a dash at the horse's head. The Empress at Magenta.

A letter from Venice, dated the 2d of October, in the Journal Official, of Paris, gives further details of the Journal Officiel, of Paris, gives further details of the Empress' lourney toward the East:— Her Majesty, after having passed over Mont Cenis, found a special train waiting for her at Susa, which brought her here. Towards nine in the evening the train arrived at Magenta, and her Majesty was un-whiting to pass the place without having visited the monument commemorative of the battle. The Em press alighted and entered the chapel constructed in the centre of the monument. After having put up a short prayer for those who fell on the memorable 4th short prayer for those who fell on the memorable 4th of June, and whose names are engraved on the waits of the building, her Majesty deposited some flowers at the foot of the abar. A large number of people were present and warmly cheered her Majesty during this pious pilgrinange.

GENERALITIES.

A Telegraphic Blunder.

From the Warsaw New-Yorker, Oct. 14. On Tuesday a telegraphic despatch was brought to our station by a conductor—it is thought from Attica—addressed to George H. Dunham, Esq., of Orangeville. It was sent from Jamestown, and announced to him that "your wife's body is on the train; meet it at Warsaw." He had left his wife at Jamestown on the Friday previous, in perfect health, to come to the bedside of his dving brother, and the despatch was handed to him just as his brother's body had been buried, at Orangeville, consternation and augulah can scarcely be gined. The hearse in attendance was directed to come to the station and receive the body. Waen the train arrived Mrs. Dunham and her little son stepped on, alive and well! It then appeared that he had been telegraphed that his "wife and boy" would be on the train, and wished to be met at the depot.

Horrible Catastrophe. Advices from the French islands bring intelligence of a serious accident in the town of Cayenne on the celebration of the Engaror's birthday. It appears that there was a display of irreworks on a spot to the eastward of the Government square, which is close to the magazine, and to the wooden buildings of the hospital. The fireworks had been lighted, when some sparks fell on the warchouse wherein a large number were stored, and instantaneously hundreds of squibs and about a dozen bombs ignited, and flew in all directions among a dense crowd of people. Twenty persons, including women and children, were horribly burned, and thirty other persons were more or less wounded. The victims were taken to the hospital, and many have since died.

Wife, Pig. and Colt. From the Lewiston (Me.) Journal, Oct. 18.

A story is told of the late storm which runs as follows:—An old gent with his aged wife tried to escape from the flood which surrounded his house and stable by wading, but his wife's strength and resostable by wading, but his wife's scenged and residution were not equal to the task, so he helped her up into a tree-said made his way alone to a knoll a short distance away. Here he stood, lamenting his situation in this wise:—"On! If I only had my wife there I wouldn't valley giving five dollars! And there's the pig! I'd give ten dollars this minnt if he was only safe! The spotted colt's gone, too. I'd go two dollars more it she was ashore!" The old lady was safely carried to land by some neighbors. but her husband's griet for the loss of the coit and pig was too great to be assuaged, and he passed the remainder of the night lamenting their loss.

A New Naval Station. Proparations are being made for the establishment a North German haval station in the Indian Ocean. The correttes of the North German fleet in those waters are to be formed into a naval squadron with the addition of a number of gunboats to protect trading vessels against pirates. A steam gunboat of the first class, the Meteor, and a North German corvette, are also to be sent to the West Indies, in ow of the Cuban insurrection and possible com-lection between the United States and Spain. At the opening of the Suez Canal the navy of North ermany will be represented by two corvettes and an aviso. These vessels, says the Zeitung fur Nord Deutschland, will produce a very different impression from that created on the ballan coast by the Prus

This Professor, who has been so soundly criticized in England as well as in this country for his imprudent speeches, sloses a latter to the London Times on Canadian independence in the following words:

If there is any one who really believes that democratic Canada on one and of the Atlantic can permanently remain a part of systocratic England on the other side, he will promote the settlement of a great our street by patting fourth his policy in a definite question by putting faith his policy in a definite form. Otherwise the time has come when it behaves canadian states are to purge their vision, once for oil, of delusive fancies, and to bend their minds deliberately to the great lask which the crists has cast nent, and of providing such real guarantees as its circumstances will afford, either for its permanent independence, or for its ultimate entrance into a connection with the United States on such terms as shall secure to it forever full liberty of self-development and of self-government, with all the other sub-stantial privileges of English freedom. Washington Amazed. It may be a matter of interest to the scientific to know that there is a remarkable spring, singular n appearance and smell, on the west-skie of Eighteenth street, a little way below F street, just opposite a brick wall. The row comes out just below the edge of the curbstone, and runs into the gutter, and so on down the hill. The liquid is dark in color, and emits a punigent, unpleasant odor, something like petroleum with considerable ammonia in it, and when it forms in little pools a sort of metallic-looking crust eathers on the surface. It may be crude petroleum, forms in little pools a sort of metallic-looking crast gathers on the surface. It may be crude petroleum, and would no doubt afford an interesting subject for scientilic investigation. It is certainly worthy the attention of the Heard of Health, as dwellers in the vicinity fear the unwholesome exhalations from it is the cause of much sickness in the neighborhood.—Washington Star of Saturday evening.

How an Adversary is Circumvented. How are Adversary is Circumvented.

The introduction of rified artillery has given rise to a new and rather dangerous kind of industrie. When experiments are made at Tegal, Prussia, if the shell does not burst immediately, the so-called bail thieves rish out of their cover in the neighborhood, seize the shell, knock off the leaden coating with a few sharp blows with a chisel, and make off with their booty. Sentries are posted near the line of flight, but they often fail in catching the depredators, who, regardless of danger, place themselves just where the shell is expected to fail. If the shell is a large one the value of the lead is very considerable; if it is a small one the thieves carry it off boddiy, and perform their dangerous manipulations bodily, and perform their dangerons manipulations at their leisure. A few months ngo the police gave notice that three such loaded shells which had not buist had been stolen, and warned the public against having anything to do with them.

A Very Destructive Fire. From the Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat, On Saturday night a fire occurred in the two wooden buildings on the University grounds, used by Professor Ward as depositories for his collection of Professor Ward as depositories for his collection of mineral and zoological specimens. The flames spread with great rapidity, and in a brief time the structure in which the fire originated was destroyed. The great loss sustained by Professor Ward, who is the owner of the buildings and their contents, is the almost complete annihilation of his vast, and we may say priceless, collection of minerals. The Professor feels as though the labor of a lifetime has been swept away by this misfortune. He has travelled overland to California six times, and crossed the Atlantic eight times while engaged in the collection of these specimens, and the loss financially speaking is to spectmens, and the loss financially speaking is to him very great, while in science it can be scarcely estimated. Professor Ward had also an extremely estimated. Professor ward had also an extremely large lot of moulds of great value, from which he made casts, and almost all of these are lost. None of the casts were saved. The estimated value placed upon this cabinet is estimated at $85,000, upon which there is an insurance of about $35,000. It is difficult to estendate the loss sustained by Professor Ward, but probably it would require the greater part of the insurance to restore what has been consumed by the

THE NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

From the Herald. "Some uneasiness was felt at the opening of busi ness to day lest the inception of the movement of currency to the South and West should precipitate currency to the South and West should precipitate an active money market, and lenders were inclined to exact higher rates on call. During this period there was a good demand for money at six to seven per cent, but after 2 o'clock the lenders were in the majority and loans were made as low as five per cent. on Governments and at six quite freely on stocks. The facyplicable portion of the bank statement of Saturday is now cleared up. It seems that in the recent remarkable advance in gold the precious metal found its way here from all sections of the country, the out of town banks and the people the country, the out of town banks and the people generally feeling positive that they could never again sell so advantageously whatever gold they were possessed of. It was the drain of currency to were possessed of. It was the drain of currency to offset this indux of gold that assisted the then stringency in money which helped to bring about the panic in the stock market. Thus day by day we are getting at the full history of that eventful period. Now the counter current has set in. Boston and other ports of entry are in need of gold to make customs payments, and the gold is going out of our city again, greenbacks coming here in exchange, Hence the bank statement on Saturday last showed a falling-off in specie and a gain in legal-tenders. The discount market was steady, but prime names were not negotiable less than tea to twelve per cent. The failure of the stock Exchange to-day; but no announced at the Slock Exchange to-day, which particulars transpired concerning their liabilities, it is supposed that they were heavy losers in the stock panic, but fought oil their suspension until to-day. The creations of the Gold Exchange bank, at a meeting this afternoon, signed a paper by which they agree to take no legal action against the bank during the ensuing ten days, the object of the step being to enable the institution to resume, if possible, under the direction of the receiver. Foreign exchange was steady and firm on the basis of 109, for prime bankers' sixty days, and 109% for sight ster-ling bills. Governments were more active, and advanced about a quarter per cent, on the leading speculative issues. The Spanish Insurrection-New Conspiracies Discovered-The French Cable - Paris Strikes - The Merchants' Clerks Assert Their Rights.

FROM EUROPE.

The Spanish Insurrection.

Madrid, Oct. 19 .- The Government regards the republican insurrection at an end, although precautions to guard against any new outbreaks are continued. A conspiracy, having for its object the surrender of the barracks at San Mateo to the insurgents, has been discovered and thwarted by the Government authorities. The captain of the garrison, who is said to be the leader of the conspiracy, was arrested.

FROM WASHINGTON

Senator Scott and the President.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph,
Washington, Oct. 19.—Senator Scott. who arrived here last night, had an interview with the President this morning. This being Cabinet day, no persons were admitted to see the Presi dent except Senators, and the White House was deserted of visitors.

A New Pinn. It is said that Secretary Fish is seriously considering the question of changing the consuls who reside in Great Britain about from place to place, allewing them to remain but one year in each place. This is to prevent them from engaging in commercial business, which nearly all of them now do.

The President. in conversation with one of his Cabinet officers to-day, expressed great satisfaction with the action of the caucus of the Virginia Legislature in nominating two men, for Senators who can take the iron-clad oath. He does not think there will be any obstacle now to the admission of the State to representation in Congress. Outrages.

A negro yesterday attempted to outrage a little girl ten years old. He has been arrested, and it is rumored to-day than an effort will be made to take him from the authorities and lynch him. Cases of outrages by negroes have been so frequent in this neighborhood of late that one of the papers here intimates that the criminals should be hanged on the nearest tree or lamp-post.
