CITY INTELLIGENCE. A GRAND WEDDING.

Marriage in High Life—A Daughter of Bishop Simpsen Changes her Name—The Rite Per-formed with Great Eciat—Distinguished People Present.

Last evening a sensation of more than ordinary magnitude agitated the people of the northwestern portion of the city, and, for the matter of that, excited an interest all over the town, and miles beyond cited an interest all over the town, and miles beyond its limits.

At the Spring Garden Street M. E. Church, between s and 9 o'clock last evening, a daughter of the well-known Bishop Simpson was joined in matrimony to a gentleman who also enjoys a widespread and enviable fame; and as, in addition to the celeority of the high contracting parties or their relations, all the incidents of the ceremony itself were upon a sivle of grandent, the marriage may fairly be termed one of the most interesting that has been solemnized in this city for many days.

Notwithstanding the number of fashionable weddings that take place in Philadelphia, comparatively but very few of them reach the notice of the public; and we understand that even the one of last night was to come off void of any circumstance or pomp, Such was the design, but not such the event. It was impossible to keep it quiet, since two weeks ago, the announcement was published that President Grant would visit this city and, as a matter of course, everybody wanted to know the object of b'a coming.

In this way the secret was let out that ne, with his wife, was to attend the marriage of Miss Anna Simpson, a daughter of Bishop Simison, to a young gentleman of Morgantown, W. Va., J. Riley Weaver by name. The date leaked out, and our readers can well imagine the dense throng of people who were attracted to the violity of the church in the hope that they might witness the ceremony, and if not that, to take a lock at the ladies as they passed from the carriages to the edifice.

Although the ceremony was announced to come that, to take a lock at the ladies as they passed from the carriages to the edifice.

Although the ceremony was announced to come off at eight o'clock, crowds of people began assembling in the vicinity at as early an hour as six o'clock, so that by the former hour at least two thousand people had collected. Those who happened to have been fortunate enough to secure cards of admission experienced the greatest difficulty in effecting an entrance, so great was the law. of admission experienced the greatest difficulty in effecting an entrance, so great was the jam, so mixed and taugled the scores upon scores of carriages, and so eager the desire of every one present to push forward to the deer of the church. A double cordon of policemen extended from the curbstone to the threshold of the sacred edifice, but the stone to the threshold of the sacred edifice, but the stalwart men composing it were absolutely unable to keep open an avenue between their ranks.

Once inside the church the scene was pretty in the extreme. On the thither side of the chancel rails were bows and arches of flowers, aquaria brilliant with gold and sliver ishes, and twining wreaths of evergreens, forming all a fitting foreground to the bright and gay picture presented by the harm and gay picture presented by the happy guests around.

Shortry after 8 o'clock, Mr. Charles H. Jarvis, organist of the church, took his seat and performed organist of the traction, took his seat and performed a number of operatic and other airs while the im-mense assemblage was being seated. nutter among the audience. This excitement was occasioned by the entrance of President Grant and lady. The curious had been disappointed, as the In the midst of the music there was a considerable Presidential party, consisting of himself, lady, General Dent and Senator A. G. Cattell, had surprised everybody, inasmuch as they came into the auditorium from the rear of the chancel, and only those who occupied front seats were given the opportunity of seeing the President and his wife. The General and Senator Cattell were in full dress; General Dent was in uniform, and Mrs. Grant was neatly attired to be because the season of the control of the season of the se in a bine slik dress, black lace mantle, and a handsome white bonnet. They took seats in the front pew, which had been specially reserved for them, and were at once the object of general attraction.

Many other distinguished personages then entered. General Eaton appeared in the full uniform of a brigarler-general. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter. Across the aisle from the Presidential party—also in a front pew—sat his Honor Mayor Fox and lady, in plain dress. There were also present, and seated in different parts of the church, Adolph E. Borie, ex-Secretary of the Navy, General Moorhead, Hon. John Covode, General
Horatio G. Sickel, W. H. Alien, President of Girard

Bishop Edmund S. Janes, who had been selected to solemnize the rite, was already seated within the church, when, shortly after half-past s o'clock, the bridal party entered the church, the maids of honor, attended by groomsmen, coming up the main aisle in the following order:

Miss Ella Simpson (a sister of the bride) and Mr. John C. Lucas, of Philadelphia.

Miss Amelia Verner, of Pittsburg, and Mr. Paschall Adams, of Pittsburg.

The bride was dressed in a plain white corded slik, with long train, skirts perfectly plain, Pompariour waist trimmed with white lace, long white illusion veil, wreath of orange acovers, and ornaments of pearl. She leaned on the arm of her father, Rev. Bishop Simpson, while the groom attended Mrs. Simpson, attired in a silver colored moire antique.

Miss Libble Simpson (sister of the bride) wore a white Ernani dress, trimmed with ruffles and green silk, and, attended by Mr. Simpson McCullough, she sat in a new near to the chancel, as did also Master. sait, and, attended by Mr. Simpson accumough, she sait in a pew near to the chancel, as did also Master Verner Simpson (brother of the bride), Miss Ida Simpson, and the younger members of the family. On arriving at the chancel the party prostrated themselves in silent prayer, after which the nupital ceremony was performed in the prescribed form by Bishon James.

Bishop Janes.

The utmost silence was observed, and the answers to the usual interrogations were given by both par-ties in a clear, distinct voice, particularly so by the groom, when he said:—"With this ring I thee wed, and with my worldly goods I thee endow, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

Being pronounced man and wife, a solemn prayer was offered by the Bishop, calling on God to bless the union of the couple, and the benediction of the Church being given, the ceremonies terminated and Church being given, the ceremonies terminated and the assemblage left the church.

So great was the number of carriages, the multitude of people, and the general excitement incident to the event, that it was at least half an hour before the President and distinguished guests of the bridal party could be seated in their carriages.

The opportunity was selzed by the assemblage generally to present their respects to the President, and this being over, the specially invited guests were driven to Bishop shapson's residence, No. 1807 Mount Vernon street, where a recention was held

FROM UTAH.

Affairs Among the Saints. CHICAGO, Oct. 28,-The following is an extract from a private letter from a well-informed gentleman, living in Salt Lake City, to one of the editors of the Chicago Tribune: -

"The schism of which you may have heard while here, is working. Stenhouse and all the editors and proprietors of the Utah Magazine have been suspended, and if they stand firm, and they will, they will be cut off. It is only valuable as showing what may be expected when the overpowering will and intellect of Brigham Young shall have been removed, the revolution proceeding from the heart of the Church itself, enthroning the majerity of the people instead of God, and of course letting drop the absurd idea of daily revelations, with which, as it is based upon it, would go polygamy, and the preposterous scheme of empire to which they are now so fanatically devoted."

Mr. Stenhouse, named in the above extract, is editor of the Salt Lake Telegraph, and has been for many years one of Brigham Young's most trusted friends and ardent admirers. His daughter is one of the wives of Joseph Young, Brigham's oldest son, and the editors of the magazine are wealthy and influential. FROM EUROPE.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

READ THE EVIDENCE.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article. Many years of severe and thorough practical trial bave demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the Pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed CONSUMPTION.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proofs strong as Holy Writ" would fall to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies; and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are admit the strong logic of well-established facts.

We are told almost dally that Consumption, the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facis as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at mid-day to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel un-willing to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor more assertion can overturn propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago I was a confirmed consumptive, and, like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single ves-tige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that some-thing could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much-desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventral period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedles for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends, and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appealer returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly-wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am biest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all these wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was diterally besieged on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine, with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so ease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investiga-tions the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually from consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women, and children, who were on their way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED: and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts of which I am the living evidence. There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been complately cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousands of others still might be benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic, and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, NO. 15 N. SIXTH Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY. Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.
