

NEWS SUMMARY.

City Affairs. About 12 o'clock yesterday an insurance agent named Potts fell dead at Second and Market streets. The coroner was notified. Ann Gallagher, aged 60 years, residing in Baker street, was run over by a wagon at Front and Arch streets, and sustained a fracture of the leg. Thomas McConnell, aged 19 years, residing at No. 2060 Lombard street, had his foot crushed by being caught between two cars, at Thirtieth and Walnut streets. John Forway, aged twenty-three years, residing at No. 514 Powell street, had his foot badly injured by a bar of iron falling upon it at Washington street wharf.

missioner, and Receiver of Taxes elect, were then taken up. Mr. King stated that he had a telegram from Pittsburgh, announcing that the Supreme Court had refused to entertain the motion to quash the writ of certiorari and had fixed a time in January next for the hearing of the case. He thought Councils would act wrongly if they passed these resolutions at this time, and moved to postpone for the present. The motion was agreed to. The consideration of Common Council bills was resumed; one appropriating $225 for the extension of the Fire and Police telegraph to Fairmount Park. Agreed to. One for a sewer on Master street. Agreed to. One for the grading of Sanson street, between Thirtieth and Forty-sixth streets. Agreed to. Mr. Hodgson, Chairman of the Highway Committee of this Chamber, reported a resolution for the laying of an improved wooden pavement on Spring Garden street from Twelfth street to Broad. Agreed to. Mr. Duff presented a resolution for the removal of the concrete pavement on Vine street, east of Third, and the paving of the street. Agreed to. Adjourned.

ing. No estimate is made for arching any of the tunnels. The bridges are of good material and workmanship, several of them, lighter, and especially in their suspension rods, than is advisable. An estimate has been made for strengthening such as are of poor material, and for carrying the maximum load with safety. The high trestles of the Sierra Nevada are generally of good character. The material, especially on the mountain divisions, is well selected and of good material. At the summit of the Sierra Nevada the track has been covered by strongly-built sheds, boarded in the sides, for the purpose of protecting it from snow. There are in these mountainous regions frequent snow slides or snow avalanches, and in many places the road crosses their track. Whenever this occurs in excessive heat, the snow slides, and the whole is carried to the side of the mountain, to which its upper edge is fitted, and the whole securely fastened to the side, being such that the avalanche will pass readily over. In a distance of forty miles there is an aggregate length of thirty-two miles of snow-sheds and galleries. The iron in the track varies from six to six and a half inches in diameter. The whole is well adapted to high rates of speed as average first-class railroads in the United States. The sidings are ample, and are judiciously located. A large portion of the road is well ballasted with good material. The station-houses west of Sierra Nevada are not deemed sufficient, and an estimate is made for additional ones further east. The machinery in the road is considered sufficient, except at the proposed junction of the two roads. There is a sufficient supply of machinery and tools on hand, and the shops, except at this junction, are well equipped. The company have one hundred and sixty-six locomotives, engines, and passenger and freight cars in excess of the number required for the operation of the road. The telegraph line is well constructed and is supplied with a sufficient number of stations. There is a sufficient supply of telegraph material on hand, and the telegraph line is well constructed and is supplied with a sufficient number of stations. There is a sufficient supply of telegraph material on hand, and the telegraph line is well constructed and is supplied with a sufficient number of stations.
