CITY INTELLIGENCE. CORONER'S INVESTIGATION.

The Killing of Peter Vereheller at Front and Pine Streets.

At noon to-day Coroner Taylor held an inquest upon the body of Peter Vereheller, who died at the Pennsylvania Hospital yesterday morning, from injuries alleged to have been received at the hands of two United States sailors, on Front street, below Spruce, on the night of October 25. The testimony was as follows:—

John J. Sims sworn—I reside at No. 300 South Front street; I am employed by James McClinsky as a bartender; I remember the night of October 25, when this occurrence took place; I did not know the decessed; the sailors Charles bmith and William Cox were in the bar-reough there was German coming down the street singing; he had two denigones; he stopped in our place; Smith picked up one of the demighons and put it in such a position that it fell down stairs; I brought the demighin up again; the sailors were cutting up with the German; I then told him I was going to shut up; I went to put up the shutters on the Spruce street door, and it fell and broke; while I was fixing it the German and sailors went outside; which way they went I don't know; shortly after that I heard a cry of distress, but these cries are so numerous in that neighborhood that I did not pay any attention to it.

then told him I was going to shut up; I went to put up the shutters on the byruce street door, and it fell and broke; while I was fixing it the German and salors went outlined, was the way they are the content of the way thought the salors with the was fixed the was the theater, and on the way tome that the content in that neighborhood that I did not pay any attention to it.

Michael Garvey sworn—I reside at Ne. 694 Penn street; with others I was at the theater, and on the way home went into McClanky's La due of them was hauling away at one of the demiphons; Sims said shortly that it was time to shut up; the German walked out first and the salors followed him; in about half a minute we heard the cry of murder; there was also a drunken man that followed steet the party in about half a minute we heard the cry of murder; there was also a drunken man that followed steet the party of three plainty from McClanky's stops; did not see any other than the three; I dould recognize the salors from their dress; and am satisfied that they were the conselvelo left, the tent think, was drunk.

Court of Oyer and Terminer - Judges Peirce and Paxson.

PARRICIDE - MARSHALL R. BYANS ACQUITED ON THE GROUND OF INSANITY.

In the case of "he young man, Marshall K. Evans, who was yesterday trie," for the murder of his father, Thomas L. Evans, before rep.—"red. the prosecution was virtually abandoned by the Common..." and the jury, being charged by the Court, rendered a verdict of not guilty upon the ground of insanity. An order, founded upon this verdict, has been made by the Court directing his confinement in the State Insane Asylum at Harrisburg. AN ACCUMULATION OF MURDERS.

This morning quite an unusual scene took place in this court, being the appearance in the dock of ten prisoners accused of the crime of murder, who were brought up for the purpose of being arraigned and having the days fixed for their trials. Nine bills of indictment were presented by the District Attorney, and the arraignments were made in the following order:

Robert Collins, charged with the murder of Dennis Dolan on the 5th of July last. A plea of not guilty was entered, and notice given that at the next period of this Court, beginning on the 15th last, this sease would be called first for trial.

Wm. Moore and others, Moore alone being arraigned, charged with the murder of Charles O'Reilly on the 12th of July last; a plea of not guilty was entered, and notice given that this would be; the next case in order for trial.

James McGonigal, charged with the murder of his wife on the 3d of October; plen of not guilty, and notice that this would be the ninth case in order for

Mr. Dwight said that there were eighteen person now awaiting trial in this court for murder, which, when coupled with the cases of Annie Peoples and Daniel Reading, recently tried, make no flattering commentary upon our present state of society. Court of Quarter Sessions-Judge Peirce.

The prison calendar for the November term was taken up this morning.

James Jackson and James McDowell pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny. The proof was that the prisoners entered a house while the family occupying it were absent from the city, and stole a large quantity of household goods, silverware, jewelry, and clothing; these were traced to the possession of the prisoners, and they were arrested and they confessed their guilt.

Eliza Cahoon pleaded guilty to a charge of the larceny of two pounds, which she said she stole while drunk.

Jacob Walters pleaded guilty to a charge of the larceny of a pair of pants and a quantity of flowers. These articles were placed in the North Pennsylvania depot by a gentleman who was about to leave the city, and during his temporary absence the prisoner was detected in the act of "going through 'em."

John O'Keefe pleaded guilty to charge of arrangements and control of the control of John O'Keefe pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny. He was a sojourner at a tavern in this city, and in the dead of night, when honest men were sleeping, he opened the trunks and valises of his fellowboarders, and appropriated to his own use those of the contents that pleased him. He was detected in his nefarious operations, and some of the stolen property was found in his possession

"BLACKSMITH DAN" ACQUITTED. George Thompson, alias Blacksmith Dan, who is notorious in police circles, was this morning tried for the larceny of slik from the house of Bush, Bunn & Co.. Nos. 432 and 434 Market street. The only witness who knew anything of the theft, John Nugent, having died, there was no one who could give any testimon against the prisoner, and consequently he was ac

MORE TROUBLE.

How a Young Man's Domestic Happiness and Worldly Goods Have Taken Flight, A few years since, says the Detroit Post of Saturday last, a young mechanic came to this city from Canada, bringing with him a young wife, and about $500 in money, the sum of his worldly possessions. A house and lot were contracted for at the sum of house and lot were contracted for at the sum of $2000, the $500 being paid down, and a contract made that the purchaser should pay a certain sum per month until the whole was paid, when he was to receive a deed of the property. To this end he has since labored with a will and perseverance that never dagged. Having the most perfect confidence in his wire, he has invariably intracted his weekly earnings to her care, and whenever the monthly payments became due, hers was the hand that gave the hard-earned greenbacks into the creditors possession receiving in turn a receint that was laid the hard-earned greenbacks into the creditors pos-session, receiving in turn a receipt that was laid away by the husband, who looked upon the acquisition of each one of them as a step ad-vanced upon the road to a home. A few weeks since the last payment was made, and the wife gladdened her husband's heart upon his return home at night, with the information that she had received the deed in due form, and that she had left it at the Register's office to be recorded. A day or two later Register's office to be recorded. A day or two later, and the husband returned home one night to find the house deserted; only a few lines from the guilty woman, to inform him that she had long loved another man, and had now gone to live with him. The grief of the deserted man was intense, but a few moments' consideration of the subject decided him to let her follow her chosen path, and make no en-deavor to secure her return. He determined to sell out and go away from Detroit. He went to the Register's office to get his deed, but none such had been recorded. He went to his late creditor, and there learned that the deed had been made out in the name of the man to whom his wife had fied. He sought her out, and, after consulting with her para-mour, she informed him that she had no desire to be unjust in the matter: that, as he had always been unjust in the matter; that, as he had always been kind to her, she entertained none but friendly feelings towards him, and if he would agree to make them no trouble at any time, and would give them peaceable possession of the house and chattels, they would return him the $500 which he brought from Canada; the balance, having been attained since their marriage, she claimed belonged to her. The husband declined the magnanimous offer, and threatens legal proceedings.

THE NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

threatens legal proceedings.

The following extracts snow the state of the New York money market yesterday:-

From the Herald. "The activity in money noticed at the close of banking hours on Monday continued to-day, and lenders were enabled to place their funds at full seven per cent, where the collaterals were stocks and miscellaneous shares. In some instances borrowers on Governments were accommodated at six per cent. The change is due to the sudden withdrawal of three or four millions of currency by the City Chamberlain for the redemption of a portion and the payment of the interest on the balance of the and the payment of the interest on the balance of the city debt. It is only a temporary disturbance, however, as the money does not go out of the city, but will find its way back into the banks again within a few days. Otherwise there is no feature in the general monetary situation. There is still a good demand from some sections of the South, and currency is going in that direction, but the receipts from the interior in the North are steady and almost equal to the outflow the other way. Were the collections of our merchants better there would be a large gain in these receipts over the Southern be a large gain in these receipts over the Southern shipments. As to the grain crop there is still no movement, at least such as to call for any large amount of currency from the banks. The president of one of the prominent Western roads, who reached this city this morning, reports a sudden movement of the crops as having commenced towards the store. the crops as having commenced towards the close of last week, and the freighting facilities of his road were taxed to their atmost. It is very certain, however, that the demand for money corresponding to this movement has not as yet reached our banks. It may be too early to look for it, it is true, but if the crops are coming as is reported our sensitive movements. crops are coming as is reported our sensitive money market will soon reflect the fact. At bank the rate for commercial paper is nominally seven per cent, but on the street prime notes of sixty days to four month's time are quoted from nine to fifteen per cent, discount. Foreign exchange was firm and dull on the basis of 100 for prime bankers' sixty down the commercial prime control of the cont from nine to fifteen per cent, discount. Foreign exchange was firm and dull on the basis of 109 for prime bankers sixty day and 109% for sight sterling bills. The gold market was excited over a further decline, the price going off to 127%, the lowest quotation since 1890, when it twice touched 128.
The whole market has become bearish in feeling and the premium is at length reflecting the improved character of our national credit, the demonstration of which enhancement in the value of the national paper would have been made earlier in the history of the present administration had not the great gold speculation given gold a fictitious advance and reduced to naught the effect of the steady reduction of the national debt.

"The activity in the money market is redected in the national debt.

"The activity in the money market is reflected in higher rates for loans of cash gold, the currency collateral commanding from three to seven per cent.

interest. The Government sold one million of gold in beginning the performance of the November programme. The amount bid for was a little over two

"The Government market was heavy, and declined in sympathy with the decline in gold, and the '65s touched 115',. In the general improvement late in the day there was a firmer market and better quota-tions were made."

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.

By the Anglo-American Cable. A Wife and Her Paramour Shot by the Hus-Bombay Hook (a small village near Hackensack, Bergen county, N. J.) was in a state of great excite-ment yesterday, a man named Cahoon and the wife of the murderer having been shot by a revolver in the hands of John Dickey, an employe in a factory near by. It appears that Dickey has had as board-ers in his house for some time two fellow-workmen, and has frequently quarrelled with them and his wife when under the influence of liquor—never, lowever, coming to blows until Monday night last, when he got up out of bed late at night, and, in a fit of jealousy, shot his wife and one of the boarders, Collins Cahoon. After the commission of the crime, he visited several of the commission of the crime, he visited several of the neighbors, told them what he had done, and left with a friend to find a doctor, as he said. One of those whom he had informed crossed the river to Yonkers, and informed Sergeant Flandreau of the Metropolitan Police, who detailed squads of men to search for the murderer. A party who went down the river in a boat, finally overtook him as he was crossing. Roundemen Austin and Walters, his captors, toek him before the Sergeant, at the Yonkers Police-Station, where he made a statement, of which Police-Station, where he made a statement, of which

ne following is an abstract:—
My wife went to bed about 9 on Monday night, and lowed about 10; shortly after I was awakened by hearing a noise down stairs, and I missed my wife from my side; on reaching the foot of the stairs, I saw my wife and Collins Cahoon together; I rushed in, crying, 'I have caught you at last,' and fired at Cahoon; the ball took effect, and he rolled over, dead; I then shot at my wife, and the shot lodged in her thigh, but she was alive when I left home to go for the doctor; William J. Mooney, the other board-er, attempted to prevent my escape, but I ran past him, told several of the neighbors, and got William Kelly to go with me to Yonkers for a doctor; not finding one, I left for New York, and told my employer what I had done; he advised me to go back and deliver myself up to the authorities; after going back to Yonkers and getting Dr. Pooley I was consider the river to give myself up when I was crossing the river to give myself up, when I was arrested; I make this statement with the know-ledge that it may be used against me." Mrs. Dicker denied positively that there was any improper intimacy between herself and Cahoon, and says that she got up to give Cahoon and Mooney some food, and at got up to give canoon and money some food, and at the time they were ared upon they were sitting on a bench before the fire. Mr. McNell, with whom Dickey has worked for the past six years, speaks in the highest terms of him. Dickey thuself does not appear to realize his position, and seems to be unconcerned, and expresses a willingness to go back to New Jersey, without a regulation from the Governor of that State.—N. Washington, Nov. 3.—Several members of Congress from Pennsylvania, interested in the tariff question, have called upon the President to ascertain what recommendations he will make in his message on that subject. It has been given out that he would recommend that the tariff and internal revenue laws shall remain as they are for at least one year. It is understood that the tariff men are opposed to his making allusion to the subject in the opposed to his making allusion to the subject in the message, but if he does, they would prefer that he advise Congress to allow it to remain untouched.

What is it, and what will cure it? It is a fact that will not be controverted that Dyspepsia is a national disease, to be found from the Presidential mansion to the humble cottage along the marshes of the Atlantic. Symptoms-There are searcely two cases of Dyspepsia alike. The symptoms vary. In one case they may be cold hands and feet, oppressive soreness and pain in the pit of the stomach, drowsiness after meals. In another, costiveness, heartburn (so called), tormenting feelings, both mental and physical. In a third, nervousness, the spirits depressed, a foreboding of evil, the mind so depressed that in some cases there is extreme melancholy, and the sufferer is led to commit suicide. In another, harassing belchings, saliva or a watery substance profusely running from the mouth, throat irritated with a dry cough, skin dry, then cold,

the stools clay colored, restlessness at night, sleep easily disturbed, frightful dreams, at one time bowels constipated, then diarrhea or dysentery, caused by foul matter in the stomach, causing apoplexy and other diseases beyond the power of human skill to control. What will cure it? By indigestion the food lies in the stomach and is decomposed by heat, etc., into a mucus; this mucus adheres to the walls of the stomach until a false membrane is formed, which paralyzes the functions of the digestive organs. To perform a cure this false membrane must be detached, and the stomach healed and brought back to natural tone; without effecting this, it is impossible to effect a cure, and in this mode of treatment lies Dr. L. Q. C. WISHART'S wonderful cures of the Dyspepsia. The Dyspepsia Pills remove the false lining, and the Pine Tree Tay Cordial heals, making a perfect cure of this dreadful disease.

THE VIRTUES OF TAR. A very ingenious "sell" upon the Royal Society of Great Britain was perpetrated by Sir Charles Hanbury Williams, a wicked wag of the age, during the furore caused by the discovery of the wonderful healing powers of TAR WATER Sir Charles sent a communication to the President relating the circumstances of a sailor's breaking his leg on board of the guardship at Chatham, and its perfect union and cure by an application of spun oakum soaked in tar. After the communication had been read and printed in the Royal Transactions, he sent a second letter, stating that he had forgotten to state in the former correspondence that the leg was a wooden one! Although this joke was a sore one for the society, it did not injure the reputation of Tar as a remedy, for its legitimate cures were so wonderful that odes were written in its praise, and the celebrated Bishop Berkely published two voluminous works describing, endorsing, and registering its virtues. From the failure of scientific men, at that period, to extract and concentrate the curative principle from the erude tar, its nauseousness caused it to fall into disuse, and its great healing powers were lost to mankind until Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart succeeded in depriving the specific of its unpleasant and cruder particles, and in his PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL offering to the afflicted all that was valuable, while the other parts were eliminated by its careful preparation. As soon as this was accomplished the remedy was again endorsed by the faculty, and the cures were such as to convert its enemies and firmly establish it as one of the greatest blessings to suffering humanity. Its success was immediate and wide-spread, and its manufacture became of great importance and a source of wealth to its reviver. A long life was spent for the welfare of mankind by Dr. Wishart in perfecting his discovery and promulgating its usefulness, and at his decease (which took place but recently) the method of preparation an New York, Nov. 3.—The Democrats gain two Assemblymen in Steuben county and a Senator in Dutchess, and lose one in Eric.

It cures colds and coughs with marvellous It cures colds and coughs with marvellous celerity, and is the only preparation which approaches to a specific. It does not cover and patch up, but eradicates disease by removing the cause, and for obstinate, long-continued catarrhs, and consequently of the inciplent stages of consumption, is the only certain remedy in the pharmacopeia. It would be a waste of the reader's time to enumerate coast for the the reader's time to enumerate cases, for the remedy is so well known, its virtues have been so thoroughly tested, that eulogy is superfluous and reference not requisite. Not only as an internal remedy is it valuable, but externally it heals sores and irritations, and as a pleasant famigator in the sick room stands above all

Tar Cordial is an extremely potent and valuable medicine for the cure of throat and lung diseases. It combines, to a degree unknown in any other remedy, vigorous action with safety and harmlessness.
