OUR LATE ELECTION. From the N. Y. Herald.

A Democratic Legislature, both branches, with a Democratic Governor in this State, simply means a sweeping revolution in the laws regulating our city and State Govern-ments. The Democrats, since the great political revolution of 1852, which swept out of existence the old Whig party, have not se-cured a full possession of this State. They gained in the general Whig party collapse of 1852 the Governor (Horatio Seymour) and the Legislature, and so they took full possession at Albany in January, 1853. Since that time they have secured the Governor twice-Seymour in 1862 and Hoffman in 1868; but through all the long interval from 1853 the Senate, or the Assembly and the Senate, have been against them. Consequently they have never been able to upset the special legisla-tive measures of the Republican party, passed from time to time under a Republican Legislature and Governor since 1856, and adopted mainly to reduce the Democratic majorities of this corner of the State. After seventeen years of exclusion from th control of the State government we may accordingly expect, with the meeting of the Democratic Legislature next January, backed by a Democratic Governor, a general over-hauling and repealing of the Republican party measures aforesaid, which will amount to a general reconstruction of the government of this city, and alreconstruction, to a great extent, of the laws regulating the affairs of the State. It has been broadly hinted from variou i quarters that the Democratic programme in the new Legislature (which will be engineered by Tammany Hall and supported by the Governor) will embrace, first, on national affairs, the repeal of New York's ratification of the fifteenth amendment; and, on local affairs:-

A repeal of the Excise law.
 A repeal of the Registry law.
 A repeal of the law establishing the existing Metropolitan police system.
 A repeal of the law creating the present Fire Department.

Department.

The abolition of the present Croton Board.
 The abolition of the present Health Board.
 A new immigration system.

These things are to be done away with, and, under a new city charter, it is said, we are to have all these and all other departments of the city government made subordinate to the Mayor and a Municipal Cabinet and the two Boards of the City Council. The Mayor's Cabinet will probably embrace the chief of each of the new departments to be created-on the licensing of liquor dealers, etc., on the police, the streets, the piers and wharves, quarantine affairs, firemen, Croton water, Central and other parks, gas, health, etc. etc. This general reconstruction of our city government will create hundreds of fat offices, and can be made to cover five hundred millions of dollars in good fat jobs, including a new system of piers and wharves, new city railroads (overhead and underground), new streets, new markets, and other new public institutions.

At all events, this great positive gain of the Legislature gives to the Democrats so firm a foothold in the possession of the State, and such abundant means for strengthening their position, that it is only by the most stupid blundering that they can lose it. The repeal, however, of the ratification of the fifteenth amendment would be a blunder to begin with, and it would not avail anything; but it is probable that the proclamation of the complete ratification will be made from Washington before the 1st of January, which will settle the question and reduce the Northern Demoto the wise alternative of Southern Democracy in cultivating the negro vote. On our local affairs the schedule of changes suggested will require a great deal of mighty nice consideration, especially as the Demo-crats have, with the full power, the whole responsibility in legislative matters. Nevertheless, we think great changes may be confifidently expected in the laws regulating our city affairs; but whether these changes will be good or bad-whether they will operate to lighten or increase our taxes, to render more safe or more in peril the lives and property of our citizens, to strengthen the party or to destroy it—will depend very much upon the engineering of Tammany Hall. She may play her cards so as to control the National Democratic Convention of 1872, or so as to lose her prestige and her power in 1870.

who are his real friends and who are only humbugs and pretenders—especially after he sees how Horace Greeley has run in this eity.

HOFFMAN. From the N. Y. Tribune.

It is not very likely that the success the Democrats have met with in this State will help in the realization of Hoffman's Presidential desires. Past experience will not permit us to doubt that the Tammany corruptionists and plunderers who have obtained control of the Legislature will find any difficulty in using the Legislature will find any difficulty in using it to carry out their nefarious schemes of public plunder. Having the State administra-tion, as well as the Senate and Assembly, in their hands, the Democratic party will be held accountable for the condition of things at Albany this winter. If we could imagine Hoffman taking a stand and fighting the communication stand, and fighting the corruptionists of his party right straight through, we would be delighted to offer him our support would be delighted to other him our support in this course; but if he shall show himself to be the creature of the Tammany Ring—as he has done on previous occasions—if he chooses to systain and indorse the frauds and rascalities which have undoubtedly already been prepared as the Ring programme for the winter-if he intends to identify his interests with the interests of the men who have made our Legislature infamous in years past-he will be likely to find, before the end of the next session at Albany, that he has not gained sufficient strength among the people to make him any surer than he now is of being the Democratic President at the close of Grant's term We will make him one promise, however, which we may find it profitable to ponder over during the next two months. We promise to watch his conduct closely and vigilantly during the Legislative session, and to report it correctly and fearlessly to the people of all the States of the Union, from Maine to California. If he be a party to any sort of corruption or chicanery, we shall blazon the facts and blazon his name in connection with them, so that they will be known over the continent. If he prove himself to be a tool of the Ring, we will not scruple to use plain words in telling it. If he put his name to plun-dering bills, we shall state the fact in unmistakable language. If he be found backing up those who may be caught with their hands in the people's pockets, we shall expose him as well as them in a way that will leave nobody in doubt as to what we mean. In any event, whatever be his course, we shall give him justice; and if he come to the conclusion that his ambition can best be served by fighting and frustrating the schemes of the plunderers and villains of the Ring, we shall not be hindred in chronicling such evidences of the fact as he may give by any consideration of their effect upon his Presidential prospects.

THE TRUE WAY TO ENCOURAGE NA-TIVE INDUSTRIES.

From the N. Y. Times. State fairs and commercial conventions are becoming much more common than ever they were before, and we regard the circumstance as one of the most promising of all the "signs of the times." The special indus-tries of each district are brought into prominence, and the inventor or the ingenious artisan enlarges his opportunities of finding profitable markets.

The first exhibition which Virginia has been able to arrange since the war is now open. It does credit to the enterprise of the projectors, and will bring money from other parts into Richmond; for there is not only Northern competition, but many visitors from a distance. We are rather sorry to hear some "domestic champagn the commodities offered for sale, for there was quite as much of that in the market before as was good for the health of a confiding public. The recent convention at Louisville was of somewhat more extended importance, and this fact was recognized by General Grant in the few remarks he made to the delegation which waited on him. Purely sectional differences were ignored at the convention, and the President expressed a hope, which he has done his full part towards rendering a reality, that this good feeling would "extend and permeate throughout the entire Union, until every vestige of bitterness or unkindness should forever be eradicated." He also avowed the belief that the South would in a few years be richer than at any previous time in her history. It is quite certain that her own efforts to extend her commerce, and foster her industries, will do much towards justifying this anticipation. One personal point in the President's remarks will not surprise our readers, although the "enlightened Democrats" may rejoice over it:-- driven by humiliation to emigrate) for t driven by humiliation to emigrate) for the purpose of drawing a contrast between Lad Byron as she was and the Lady Byron por trayed by Mrs. Stowe. Thus the unseeml and regrettable scandal started through the world by an American woman has recoiled no only upon her own head, but on the head of the wife for the ostensible sake of whose memory assailed by a mintage the anexes memory, assailed by a mistress, she engage in what we trust will be the last literary ver ture of its kind for the present century.

GENERAL GRANT DECLINING TO RUN AGAIN.

From the N. Y. Sun.

That energetic soldier and statesman, Major-General Hiram Walbridge, made a speech to the President on Wednesday. It was in behalf of the recent Louisville Convention, and the General committed the blunder, common in the ignorant, but astonishing in one so familiar with etiquette, of addressing General Grant as "Your Excellency." Of course so old a courtier as Walbridge could not finish his speech without some great compliment, and he gave it the shape of a formal nomination of General Grant for a second term. To this attack the President responded as follows:--

"He was very much gratified to receive such a delegation, representing not only the great commer-cial interests of the nation, but also the new condi-tion of affairs. The good followship which ought to unite a common brotherhood, and which was so hap-phy inangurated and invigorated at Louisville, he hoped would extend and permeate throughout the entire Union until every vestige of bitterness or un-kindness should forever be eradicated. He believed that within a year or two the South would be far richer and far more prosperous than ever she was before; and the people have it within their power, by judicious policy and wise acts, to advance their own interests and those of the entire country with marvellous rapidity. As to his second term, he could assure General Watbridge he felt now very much as he did at West Point in his cadet days, when he counted every month with eagerness to get out of his position. He had not sough his present position, as everybody knew." "He was very much gratified to receive such a position, as everybody knew."

This answer of General Grant shows that he had not been informed beforehand of the purpose of Major-General Walbridge to arsail him with a new nomination for the Presidency, and that he was entirely unprepared for it. This gives to the act of General Walbridge the appearance of a breach of good manners of so extreme a character that General Grant may possibly lay it up against him when he comes to choose a new man for the place now filled by the Hon. Moses H. Grinnell-the exact reverse of what General Walbridge intended.

Commonplace politicians will suppose that this refusal of General Grant to run a second time is only a cunning dodge to help him in getting the nomination. But this is not so. He practises none of these little arts, and does not say anything that he does not mean. This refusal, with its almost pathetic weariness of spirit, comes no doubt from General Grant's present uncertainty as to whom to trust-an uncertainty which Walbridge's soft sawder must, if anything, have intensified. But this state of mind will hardly be lasting. With the native good sense of President Grant, he cannot long remain in doubt as to over it:---"As to his second term, he could assure General Walbridge he feit now very much as he did at West Point in his cadet days, when he counted every month with eagerness to get out of his position. He had not sought his present position, as every-head here " body knew."

The President has done his duty through evil and good report, and if he is anxious to be out of office, we may be sure that it is not because he is tired of serving the public. He has received scant courtesy from his po-litical opponents, but the people at large only think the more highly of him when he is attacked by the advocates of dishonesty and repudiation.

THE BYRON STORY-FINIS! From the N. Y. World.

Mrs. Stowe may as well, we should say, go to Florida, and there in some sequestered vale abide. The frequent showing in detail of the inconsistencies of her story about Lord Byron and his sister is now surpassed by the exhibition of its "colored, amplified inaccu-racy," as a whole, which is made by a writer in the last London Quarterly Review. Our extracts from this writer's able summary are conclusive. They deal with the merits and the demorits not only of Mrs. Stowe's article, but of the entire controversy to which it gave rise, and contain some hitherto unpublished letters from Lady Byron to Mrs. Leighletters full of expressions of affection and confidence, written at the very period when Mrs. Stowe would have the world believe that Lady Byron had already been cognizant of an incestuous intercourse between her husband and his sister! The evidence introduced, aside from those letters, is alone sufficient for the vindication of the post and that "Augusta" to whom he addressed some of the tenderest, purest passages of his verse; but, even if we could go so far as to admit that Lady Byron ever did, after writing those letters, tell Mrs. Stowe the tale which the latter claims to have received from her, what kind of a woman must Lady Byren herself have been? The writer of this article in the London Quarterly does not confine himself to proving the specific charge false; he ad-duces additional proof to refute the incidental charges of Byron's unfeeling or ungenerous conduct towards his wife, and even carries the war into Africa (where he may have naturally enough supposed that Mrs. Stowe might be
