IMPORTANT DECISION IN PAVOR OF LIFE INSUR-ANCE POLICY HOLDERS, Judge Thompson, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, has latery given a decision that inures largely to the benealt of life insurers. The case arose on an appeal from the District Court of this city in the case of Helmo

District Court of this city in the case of freinde against a life insurance company, and is worthy of perusal by all interested in the subject. The abstract of the case is as follows:—

1. A custom among life insurance companies to allow thirty days grace for the payment of premiums, notwithstanding a clause of forfeiture for non-payment on the day they become due exists in the policy, is valld to interpret the contract, and may be proved by the insured.

2. Evidence that the practice of the company was to give notice of the time at which the premiums fell due, and that they omitted to do so on the occur-rence of the default in question, or that they so dealt with the insured as to put her off her guard, is admissible as evidence, from which the jury may draw the conclusion that the insured was misled by the company, the company cannot take advantage of a which they have themselves contributed to or encouraged.

THE BOGUS AUTOGRAPH-WRITER.

He is Again Arrested and Sent to Prison—A New Dedge for Procuring Money. Since the investigation by Mayor Fox in the case of William Emerson, alias Dr. Hawley, alias Dr. Redburn, alias Fannie Jackson, etc., orders have been issued at the New York Post Office to stop any foreign letters directed to the various names borne by the prisoner. Yesterday Major Petheridge, a enecial agent of the Post Office Department, arrived in this city, with a letter containing a £20 draft from England.

Emerson was again arrested and taken before that magistrate, where he admitted that the letter was intended for him, and stated the circumstances under which it came to the city. It seems that he, first of all, purchased a London Times, and in it found the death of a wealthy gentleman. Ante-dating a letter, he wrote over the initial E. to "My kind benefactor." The substance of the letter was that the writer was confined in the Ekkton, Md., jail, on an unjust charge, and that the money which "my kind benefactor" had last sent to him was all gone. He was also sick, and was being attended to by a Dr. Hawley, who with his wife was deeply interested in his case. The doctor was so positive of his innocence that, in conjunction with some friends, he was about procuring a pardon, which would require money. The tone of the letter was to convey to the wife, or the executors of the deceased gentleman's estate, that the writer was an illegitimate child, who had been sent to this country, and who was being estate, that the writer was an illegitimate child, who had been sent to this country, and who was being supported by the deceased. "E." also directed that funds be sent in care of Dr. Hawley. "Accompanying this document was another epistle signed Dr. Hawley, in which that gentleman writes that, being sure that "E." was of noble blood, he had taken considerable interest in his case. A pardon was being procured, the expenses of which were being defrayed by the doctor, who relied implicitly upon the friends of the young man to recompense him in the amount.

min in the amount.

The letter which Major Petheridge has in his pessession is the answer to these communications, and is from the executor of the estate, who is decidedly solvitous about the welfare of "E." and informs the doctor not to spare any expense in having the young man released from jail. He sends a remittance of twenty nounds the young man released from jail. He sends a remittance of twenty pounds.

The Special Agent, in order to trace this letter to its proper source, visited the Elkbon Tost Office, where he found an order directing the letter, when it reached there, to be sent to the Lazaretto. At the latter place was a similar order, directing it to be forwarded to Philmtelphia, and even at that post office was another order directing it to be sent to the Kellyville Post Office, where the prisoner intended to receive it.

The Recorder then committed the prisoner to answer the charge "of fraudulently making and uttering written instruments to the prejudice of other persons' rights,"

THE RIGHTS OF LUNATICS .- For the sake of this class, the number of which is largely on the sake of this class, the number of which is largely on the increase in our midst, we should judge from the number of new newspaper enterprises that are warming into life, we publish the following extract from a decision of ex-Judge F. Carroll Brewster, made immediately before he left the bench to accept the position of the lighest law officer of the Commonwealth in the highest law officer of the Commonwealth, in the case of one Joshua Isaacs. In the proceedings it appeared that a Commission of Lunacy was ap-pointed under the act of April 20, 1869, but that the ommission did not examine the lunatic himself, but relied on other people's testimony, thus defeating the very object of the wise statute which excited so much feeling in the community, both pro and con, at the time of its passage only a few months ago:—

at the time of its passage only a few months ago:—

"It also appears that the alleged lunatic was, during the execution of the commission, in confinement in an insane asyiom. Personal service of notice of the time and place of the meeting was made in due form upon the respondent, but of what avail to him was it to give him such a warning and keep him in custody? Of course he could not attend, had no opportunity of confronting his acquisers or cross-examining the witnesses. It is no answer to this to say that he has been found a lunatic. We must guard here against all possible mistakes, and we therefore hold that, whenever it is possible to do so, the defendant should be brunght before the jury and have the fullest opportunity for defense.

"It is dangerous to the respondent or to others to adopt this course, the commissioner and jury should go to the asylum, and not only see, but examine the alleged lunatic." These remarks, of course, have no application to a case.

"These remarks, of course, have no application to a case where the respondent is at large. But the record ought to show whether he is in confinement or at liberty, and if the former, the inquisition should be super visual corporat."

"This view is sustained by authority Bright, Rep. 181; 1 Barb, ch. 38, and is confirmed by our sense of justice." The report of the commission was therefore re-

OUTHAGEOUS CONDUCT.—At noon to-day, as the students of the Woman's Medical College were leaving the clinic of the Pennsylvania Hospital, they were surrounded by a large number of the male stuwho were lying in wait in the yard of the hos. As the ladies made their way out, they were sasailed with reers, insulting remarks, and howis. The scoundrels followed the females as far as Elguth street, continuing their noisy demonstrations and raising considerable excitement among the other pedestrians. All this was done, and not an arrest was made by any of the blue-coated fellows who always manage to be about when they are not wanted.

The scene of the disaster was at the ex-civation on North Broad street, near the German-town Railway crossing. Two other workmen were covered up with the gravel, but they were rescued after considerable labor, with but slight injuries.

Assaulting a Policeman.—Hugh Phillips was captured last eight at Eighth and Locast streets, on a charge of assaulting Sergeant Duny, of the Seventeenth Police district, at an earlier hour, at Twelfth and Shippen streets. The Sergeant had a prisoner, and he alleges that Phillips struck him what a black-jack. Alderman Bonsall held the prisoner for trial.

A ZECKLESS DRIVER.—Abe Backnell comes from Backles county. Yesterday aftimoon he was over-handed at Third and Wood streets for recklessly driving an animal through the former thoroughfare.

A surmage which was coming in the opposite direction was considerably damaged. Abe was taken before Addressan Cahill, who sent him to prison.

A Tell Tarke.—John Anderson, aged 16 years, was arrested but evening in the act of robbing a till at the barery of Mr. McDonald, Mo. 1007 South Tenth street. John had divested his feet of his boots and stockings, prior to entering the place. Adderman Bonsall committed him for trial.

THE SELECTION OF PROTHONOTABLES OF THE SU-PREME COURT takes place at the meeting in January next in this city. There is a considerable amount of surmise who the choice of Justices Read, Aguew. surmise who the choice of Justices Read, Agnew, and Williams will be to supply the gap left vacant by the expected resignation of Colonel J. Ress Snowden. This gentleman distinguished himself in the political annals of his country by adding largely to the number of our naturalized citizens at the election in 1868, and thus trying to overturn the popular will of the old Keystone State in the election of the hero-statesman Grant. His efforts, it is true, did not avail much when the keen edge of the law interfered, but a similar simpless will cut off the official head of the Frothonotary, and he will go forth stripped of his official robes, without the seal of the court to keep at the moderate salary of $2500 and fees. The acceptant of the office cannot by law practice in the Supreme Court, which will prevent many good lawyers from trying for the position.

NEW-YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent. NEW YORK, Nov. 6, 1869.

Bloody Mr. Bergh.
The latest of Mr. Bergh's benevolent manifestaions has been that of bloodthirstiness. Recently his private rooms, at Fourth and Broadway, have broken out into a display of firearms. Hitherto he had been remarkable for his peaceable tendencies and his distaste for anything remotely resembling a pistol. The present manifestations are merely the latest phase of his love of the lewer animals. If any man has a horse or a donkey that won't go, on account of a broken leg, or any other dislocation that renders recovery impossible, let that man send for me, says Mr. Bergh, and it will give me great pleasure to shoot the animal's brains out. Notices to this effect have been posted up at police headquarters, in the station-houses, and at several other public places. The headquarters of the S. P. C. A. are converted into a perfect arsenal. and all the functionaries have received implicit instructions to be ready to shoot out the brains of any animal whenever such service should be necessary.

Vanderbilt Brenze which is to be unveiled here next Wednesday has been the occasion of great preparations being made for the collation that is to celebrate the event. The feed is to be laid in the Hudson River Railroad de not at St. John's Park, and is to be partaken of at one o'clock, sharp-and the appetites are to be just as sharp as the time. The Governor and the Secre tary of State, the Mayor, the Collector of the Port and the ex-Collector, the Surveyor of the Port, the Postmaster and the Naval Officer, the Assistant United States Treasurer, the Chamberlain, the Comptroller, and the Surrogate, rear-admirals, exmayors, the press, the judiciary, distinguished citizens, the Board of Commissioners, shipbuilders, bankers, proprietors of steam engines and formaries, steaming throughput officers of steams of the President and officers of steamboat proprietors, the President and officers of the Board of Charities and Corrections, the Commissioners of Police, the proprietors of steamship lines, and, last and least, the Common Council, all are and, last and least, the Common Council, all are going to be present at that unveiling. Apropos of this, it is said that Commodore Vanderbilt wants to buy up Sing Sing, and offers to build a new and first-class jail, and give $200,000 in addition, if Governor Hoffman and the Legislature will only let him have it. So runs the world away. One man contents himself with leasing opera-houses, and another buys up prisons. In this last transaction, if the Commodore would unveil his purpose simultaneously with the unveiling of the statue, he would confer a beon upon the community whose curlosity confer a boon upon the community whose curiosity he has awakened. He says nothing about furnish-ing the new prison with ready-made jail-birds, or out buying up or off those in the present Sing Sing. and his friends regard the proposition as the chime rical fancy of a too much moneyed man.

Maretzek and his Squabbles. Mr. Maretzek has already had a squabble with his singing birds. He refuses to put as much sugar and chickweed as they would like between the gelden wires of their cage. Miss Jenny Landsmann is a young lady belonging to an excellent family in this city, and possessed of very promising vocal powers. Previous to the commencement of the season ahe was regularly engaged as a member of his company, and expected to make her debut last Wednesday night, identical with that of Madame Carolina de Briol. On reconsidering matters, however, Mr. Maretzek came to the conclusion that it would be rash to entrust the role of "Azacena," on a first night, when a new prima donna was to help either to make or mar him, to a debutante. He therefore passed Miss Landsmann by and selected Madame Cellini, who may be said to "know" the operatic "ropes." This conduct naturally disgusted Miss Landsmann, who withdrew from her engagement, and is thus deprived for the present of an opportunity of making her appearance in operations. Mr. Maretzek has already had a squabble with his portunity of making her appearance in opera a New York audience.

Newspaper-Theatrical Marriage. Among newspaper and theatrical circles a rumo s going to the effect that Miss Rose Eyilinge, former is going to the enect that disserted string, the string is locating actress at Wallack's theatre, has been married, since october 5, to Mr. Geo. H. Butler, equally known to fame as the theatrical critic of Wilkes Spirit of the Times, and as the individual who smashed Mr. Henderson, Miss Lydia Thompson's "partner," As Mr. Butler, whose critical acumen is equalled only by his latent diplomatic fluesse, is going as Consulted Daths it would be a matter of regret should only by his laterat diplomatic fluesse, is going as Con-sul to India, it would be a matter of regret should Miss Extinge withdraw permanently from the stage the toliettes and the talent which rendered her con-spicuous at Wallack's. She is a gentle, lady-like, refined actress and woman, not great, but very win-ning behind the footlights, and too pleasant a pos-session of the stage to be allowed to depart without regret to the tropic obscurities of Calcutta and its surroundings.

surroundings. John Miller. This once notorious burgiar, who has broken into more stores and out of more jails than any other more stores and out of more fails than any other living burglar, and through whose hands more than one million dollars is supposed to have passed, has just been sent to prison again for three months for the larceny of a few yards of flannel, which he stole to avoid starvation. What a commentary upon a criminal career? He is old, he is wretched; he will probably not live out the brief term for which he has been scatteneed. When only sixteen years old he had stolen $50,000 and laid the foundation of his career. He and Judge Dowling knew each other of old. Fifteen years ago the Judge sentenced him for burglary, and only yesterday was called upon to pronounce judgment against him for probably the last time, for an act which, in his palmy days, he would have contemptaously sneered at. The way of the transgressor is hard, ain't it?

Grant to Visit as More Fairs This Year. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. - Governor Bullock, of Georgia, called at the White House to-day, and invited the President to attend the Georgia State Agricultural Fair, which commences on the 16th.

The President said that as Congress meets about the ist of December, and would expect to hear from him about that time, he could not leave the city to go to any place. Without Foundation. The statement that Secretary Boutwell had sent an agent to Europe to inquire into the feasibility of negotiating a four per cent. loan with capitalists there is without foundation. In fact, no such step is contemplated. The Secretary has various offers from large European capitalists, proposing to take the whole or any part of our public debt at a reduced rate of interest, but none of them have been acted on as yet, nor will they be considered until action is had by Congress.

The "Cuba," and Why Commodore Higgins Put Into Wilmington, N. C. Despatch to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 .- Commodore Higgins and Surgeon McNulty arrixed here to-day from Wilmington, N. C., on their way to New York. The former is in full naval and the latter in half-dress costume. The surgeon contradicts a statement which has been published to the detriment of Commodore Higgins. The facts are that before eaving Montauk Point the commodore was severely wounded in one of his eyes by the parting of a hawser, and when he reached Wilmington he was suffering severely from the effects of the accident. The surgeon suggested that the commodore's wife be sent for to attend him. He consenting, the was [telegraphed [to come to Wilmington. Riot at a Colored Church Mission-Fight Between Rowdies and Police - The Latter Rauted. Late last night, as services were being held in the colored church mission, where a revival is in progress, a disturbance arose between a portion of the persons attending there. Officer Lawler, of the Seventh precinct, ordered the rioters to disperse, He was resisted, however, and Officer Brown, of the same precinct came to his assistance. As the officers, were attempting to arrest some of the most riotous of the rufflans, they were suddenly set upon by a gang of men and their weapons taken away, and they were fearfully beaten. Some held the officers while others beat them with clubs and stones; others again inflicting severe gashes with knives or razors. Officer Brown's head was cut in several places, his jaw broken, and the injuries in other portions of the body are so severe that his recovery is doubtful. Officer Lawler's injuries are also very severe. As soon as tidings of the riot reached the police station the whole force of the precinct was ordered out, but on arriving at the hurch the rioters had dispersed. Four of the vinters were arrested and six or eight more are known to the police.

Judge Kelley Opposes Reciprocity with Judge Kelley, of your city, did not succeed in seeing the President last night, but this morning he was at the White House early, and had an interview of over an hour. His business was to oppose the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty with the Dominion of Canada, and to present some facts about the tariff. He laid before the President a formidable and well-arranged mass of figures taken from the books of the Treasury Department, going to show that since the expiration of the treaty with Canada we have been gainers to the extent of millions of dollars in the shape of revenue, and that our export trade had increased with the provincials instead of The President, in conversation with Judge Kelley showed that he had been studying the subject, and was to some extent posted upon its details. He spoke particularly against abolishing the tariff on bi-tominous coal, and said such a step would take from Tthe reasury a large amount annually. These facts he has no doubt learned during his tour through the coal regions of Pennsylvania. Altogether the President does not appear to be in favor of revising the Reciprocity Treaty. He requested Judge Kelley to leave with him facts and figures which he had col-lected, so that he might examine them more thoroughly. It looks now as if Kelley had, to use his own words, "knocked Reciprocity in the head." The Tariff Question.

With regard to the tariff Mr. Kelley explained to the President that the best plan would be to put all articles of raw material which we do not produce on the free list, and to reduce the tariff on articles manufactured from raw material which does not come in competition with our own production while it should be advanced on all articles imported which can be produced and manufactured in thi country. With these ideas the President expresses concurrence, and he thought such a plan would simplify the tariff and afford a kind of protection needed to foster and encourage home industry. Judge Kelley Departs.

FROM THE STATE.

Death Warrants Issued by the Governor.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph, Harrisburg, Nov. 6.—The death warrants of John Fields and Zachary Taylor were issued by the Governor this morning. Fields is or was a resident of Lycoming county, where he committed his crime, and Taylor comes from Hackenberg. Their execution is set down for the 4th proximo; the former to be hung at Williamsport and the latter at Butler, Appointment of a Board of State Charities for Pennsylvania.

This morning Governor Geary appointed Hon. G. D. Coleman, of Ailegheny, Hon. Wilmer Worthington, of West Chester, F. D. Penniman, of Pittsburg, John Welsh, Esq., of Philadelphia, and Genoral Thomas M. Kane, of McKean county, as Comnissioners of State Charities, in pursuance of an act of Assembly in April last. Their terms are to be one, two, three, four, and five years, such as they themselves shall decide upon. Each year thereafter Governor Geary will appoint one to the Board, whenever a vacancy shall be caused by the expiration of a term.

Their office will claim to inspect all charitable and correctional establishments within the limits of this State. They appoint a Secretary to the Board, whose salary will be $3000, and an assistant, whose pay will be $1000 per annum. The Commissioners them-selves must work gratuitously.

The Death of Mr. Peabody. By the Anglo-American Cable.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The death of Mr. Peabody occurred so late on Thursday evening (half-past 11 o'clock), that the fact could not be widely published until to-day. His death is universally regretted. until to-day. His death is universally regretted. Flags are flying at half-mast and buildings draped in mourning in various parts of the city, and other evidences of public grief attest the universal sorrow.

The Daily News of this morning, in an obituary article, says:—"Mr. Peabody was not a man of impulsive emotional benevolence, but rather of judicious, wide-spread benevolence. His charity was not posthumous. He gave from his own substance. He did not surrender what death wrested from him. His services, both to his native and adopted country, nave been fittingly and generously recognized in royal letters and the thanks of Congress.

The Financial Situation. Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

New York, Nov. 6.—Money is easy at 4 to 7 on call, but it is said by prominent bank officers that never since the establishment of the national banking system has there been such a demrnd for discounts or such a disinclination to make them. This is, perhaps, consequent on the general feeling of insecurity which always precedes a meeting of Congress. Discount rates range from 12 to 20. The gold and stock markets are dull, the former showing considerable strength at the opening, but falling off at noon. The premium has ranged between 1273-601273. HYACINTHE.

His Letter to the American Branch of the Evange lical Association.

Evange Heal Association.

To Rev. Leonard W. Bacon, Brooklym.

REVEREND SIR:—I am as, much gratified as surprised at the honor you are disposed to do to the few discourses I have published in Europe. Some of them are actually the production of my pen, but these are very few, and relate to circumstances of time and place which I fear will have no interest for American readers. The others, more important in their subject, since they are part of the course of conferences instituted at Notre Dame by the Bishop of Paris, are extant only in detached parts, taken in their subject, since they are part of the course of conferences instituted at Notre Dame by the Bishop of Paris, are extant only in detached parts, taken down hastily in shorthand, and the gaps filled by an imperfect summary. I should have been glad, I acknowledge, if I could have brought to America something less unworthy of the sympathy with which I have been received here, and which I shall always reckon among the great honors and the purest joys of my life. Such as they are, however, I commit these rude productions to the indulgence of your readers. Frenchman and Catholic as I am, I present them, through your hands, to that great American republic of which you are a clitzen, to those numerous and flourishing Protestant churches of which you are a minister. I am proud of my France, but I deem it one of its most solid glories to have contributed to the independence of this noble country, which it has never ceased to love, and which shall some day learn to imitate a people with whom liberty is something else than a barren theory or a bloodyspractice; with whom the cause of labor is never confounded with that of revolution, and never divorced from that of religion; and who, rearing under all forms and all denominations its houses of prayer and its houses of commerce and finance, crowns its noisy and productive week with the sweetness and majesty of its Lord's day, "And on the seventh day it ends the work which which it has done, and rests the next from all its work which it has made," I remain faithful to my Church, and if I have lifted up my protest against the excesses which dishonor it and which it has made." I remain faithful to my Church, and if I have lifted up my protest against the excesses which dishonor it and seem bent on its ruin, you may measure the intensity of my love for it by the bitterness of my lamentation. When He who is in all things our Master and our example armed Himself with the scourge of cords against the profaners of the Temple, His disciples remembered that it was written—"The zeal of thy house hath eaten me up." I continue faithful to my Church, but I am none the less sensible of the interest which will be taken in other churches in what I may say or do within the other churches in what I may say or do within the pale of Catholicism. Furthermore, I have never denied that the Christian communions separated from Rome were disinherited of the Holy Ghost, and without a part in the immense work of the preparation of the kingdom of God. In my relations with some of the most plous and the most learned of their members, I have experienced in those depths of the soul where illusion is impossible the unntterable blessing of the communion of saints. Whatever divides us externally in space and time vanishes like a dream before that which unites us within—the grace of the same God, the blood of the same Christ, the hopes of the same eternity. Whatever eur prejtdice, "our alienations, or our irritations, onder the eye of God, who seeth what we cannot see, under His hand, which leadeth us whither we would not go, we are all laboring in common for the upbuilding of that Church of the future which shall be the Church of the past in its original purity and beauty; but shall have, besides, he depth of its analysis, the breadth of its synthesis, the experience of its toils, its struggles, and its griefs, through all these centuries. In the sad days of schism and captivity the word of the Lord came to the Prophet Ezekiel, saying, "Thou son of man, take thee one stick and write upon it, "For Judah and for the children of Israel, his companions;" then take another and write upon it, "For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim and all the house of Saul, his companion, and join them one to another into one stick, and they shall become one in thy hand."—Ezekiel xxxvii, 16-17. To me likewise, who am the least of Christians, in those visions of the soul which are never refused to our devout aspirations, the Lord hath spoken. He has placed in my hand these two beloved and withered branches—Rome and the children of Israel who follow her; the churches of the Reformation and the nations that are with them. I have pressed them together on my heart, and under the outpouring of my tears and prayers I have so joined them that henceforth they might make but one tree. But men have laughed to scorn my effort, seemingly so mad, and have asked me, as of that ancient seer, "Will thou not show us what thou meanest without a part in the immense work of the prepara-tion of the kingdom of God. In my relations with 'One God, one faith, one baptism." "And there shall be one flock and one shopherd."
