MEWS SUMMARY.

City Affairs. -Henry Killon was yesterday bound over by U. S. Commissioner Craig Biddle in $1000 to answer the charge of rectifying without paying a special tax.

—Last evening, about nine o'clock, a carriage containing Mrs. Murphy and several other persons, was overturned by coming in contact with a pile of rubbish at Sixth and Locust streets. The vehicle was much damaged, and Mrs. Murphy had one of her arms badly fractured. She was removed to her home, No. 119 Shippen street.

—United States Assistant Assessor W. H. Shelmire yesterday found thirteen barrels of illieit whisky located in a chicken-house on the property of Michael Righter, at Manayunk. The liquor underwent the ordinary form of seizure. Five barrels of contraband whisky were seized on Tuesday by Officers Brooks and Herr, on Water street, near Callowhill. As they bore the mark of E. Donnelly, distiller, at No. 1844 N. Ninth street, this place was subsequently seized on the statement of Mr. Brooks.

-The body of Admiral Stewart, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was deposited in the vault t Ronaldson's Cemetery in the presence of his at Ronaldson's Cemetery in the presence of his relatives, the navy and army officers on duty in the city, and City Councils. The ceremonies at the interment consisted of the reading of the Episcopal burial service by Rev. Mr. Foggo, of Christ Church. The escort, consisting of military organizations and civic associations, moved at 3 o'clock, and presented indeed a creditable appearance.

-Chief Kelly, of the Detective force, ordered the officers of his department to keep a strict watch over the route of the funeral procession yesterday, and to be particularly vigilant at those points where the largest crowds would be most likely to assemble. Accordingly, Detectives Levy and Tryon, after looking among the persons on the sidewalks to Tenth and Spruce streets, stationed themselves there at a good point of observation, and soon saw and selzed three men whom they knew, in the "push." One of them is named Michael Dowling, the others John Burke and John Sweeney. Dowling broke away and started up Tenth street, but was caught by a private citizen and handed to the Burke threw away a jimmy, which is in the hands of the police, and Sweeney threw away a silver soup-ladle, which has evidently been stelen from a dinner table. It bears the initials "S. L. H." Dowling had on him several pairs of unbleached hose, marked H. V. and F. E. H. Burke had a number of picklocks on him and a couple of keys. Officer Roberts arrested James Maynes at Tenth and Spruce streets as a professional, and Officers Burns and Moore arrested at Tenth and Shippen streets John Scott, otherwise Scotty, and Robert Gilroy, also as professionals. Maynes and Scott are only re-cently out of prison. The prisoners were com-mitted for a hearing at 2 o'clock to-day at the Control Station.

Foreign Affnirs.

-Cholera is raging in Kief, Russia.
-The Span h Moderados are said to be plotting another rising. Prim temporarily occupies Admiral Topete's recent position in the Spanish Cabinet.

—A large number of the deputies to the Spanish Cortes have pledged themselves to vote for the Duke of Genoa for king.

—The London Times thinks the English minhave a most favorable opportunity to deal with the Irish land question.

—Several electoral meetings were held in Paris on Tuesday, and a demonstration made at night in favor of Rochefort. Still all is reported quiet. -An intrigue for securing the throne of Spain for Duke Montpensier is reported. The Unionists, it is asserted, will appeal to arms if he is not accepted as a candidate.

-Prevost Paradol, an eminent French journalist, lectured in Edinburgh, Scotland, on Tuesday evening, in which he expressed his views upon the political situation in his country. -A correspondent of the London Daily News thinks the opening of the Suez Canal ought to have been delayed a few months, as he fears the Minister Bejarra thereupon announced the intention of Spain to sustain her honor and authority both at home and abroad; also, that the Cuban insurrection was losing ground.

Swarthmore College. This structure, on the line of the West Chester Railroad, built by the members of the Hicksite branch of the Society of Friends, was formally opened yesterday. The friends of the institution were conveyed to the grounds by a special train, furnished by the West Chester Railroad Company. After an examination of the building and partaking of a collation, the company assembled in the 4ecture-room in the main building, and listened to addresses from Edward Parrish, President of the College; Sam-Ruward Parrish, President of the College; Samuel Willetts and John D. Hecks, of New York; William Dorsey and Lucretia Mott. The build-ing is of stone, 350 feet front by 50 feet deep, ing is of stone, and test from by no test deep, four stories in height, with a fire-proof main building, containing drawing and lecture rooms so feet by 60. The laundry is in a separate building and contains the boilers supplying the steam which heats the entire structure. The buildings are lighted with gas made on the premises. The amount expended in land and building is $205,000 all of which has been contributed by the 100, all of which has been contributed by the friends of the institution. About $100,000 is still required to fully furnish the rooms and procure the necessary library and philosophical and astronomical apparatus, to enable the institution to take its place as a first-class college. Much praise was awarded to Hugh McIlvaine, Edward Hoopes, and William Dossey, active members of the Building Committee, through whose exertions the pile has been reared and farnished. The college opens with one hundred and eighty tions the pile has been regred and farnished.

Foreign Items.

-Le Figaro says of Sainte-Beuve that few people ever wore mourning so often as he did. He made an ideal of the character and future of his famous contemporaries, which was seldom realized. When he perceived that he must renounce his chimera he put crape on his hat, and simply said:-"Such an one is dead, and I am wearing mourning for him." Thus he mourned for Lamartine, Lamennais, Victor Hugo, Buloz, Chateaubriand, and Beranger. On the day of his nomination to the Senate he wore his mourning hat to take his seat in the Luxembourg.

The opening of the Suez Canal is expected by commercial men in Russia to produce great advantages for Russian trade, and preparations are being made for using it largely as a means of communication with India and Central Asia. The Steam Navigation Company at Odessa has determined to establish a regular line of steamers between the southern ports of the empire and the East, and has sent an agent to India for the purpose of obtaining statistical data as to the quantity and quality of the articles of com-merce which it might be profitable to import into Russia. Telegraphic communication is also to be established between the southern ports and Constantinople. Meanwhile, the Government has made a very good stroke of policy with the object of strengthening its influence in Central Asia. It has persuaded the Emir of Bokhara to send his son, who is thirteen years old, to the Russian University at Warsaw, thus securing a valuable hostage for the Emir's future friendship, and at the same time gaining an opportunity of filling the young prince's mind with admiration of the greatness of Russia, and a conviction of the hopelessness of resisting her.

—A Parisian contemporary gives an amus-ing instance to which love of routine will push French officials. When a dog is found wandering about masterless in Paris he is taken to the fourriere, or municipal pound, where he is kept eight days, and if not claimed by the end of that time, either hanged or sold according to his value. It seems, however, that to claim a dog it is necessary to have a "certificate of morality," delivered by the commissary of police of the quarter in which one may reside. Here is a specimen of the document required. It was delivered to a lady:--"We, Commissary of Police of the City of Paris, and specially appointed to the quarter of ---, under our personal responsibility, certify that the black and white-haired dog, answering to the name of Badin, which is at the fourriere, belongs to M'me B., living Quai ---, and that the conduct of this lady has never given cause for repreach; in faith of which we have delivered the present certificate," etc. On the margin of the paper is a blank form, to be filled up with the description, not of the dog, but of the lady.

—The uneasiness which has prevailed in Government circles at Berlin of late has been considerably increased during the last few days by the opposition shown in the House to the Ministerial bills relative to the proposed loan of 100,000,000 thalers and the new provincial organization. On both questions the Government has been attacked, not only by the Fortschrittsmen, but by the free Conser vatives and national Liberals, who are usually among its supporters, and it is generally be-lieved that, if the bills are rejected, Herr von der Heydt, the Minister of Finance, and Count Itzenplitz, the Minister of Commerce, will resign. It is also stated that the King finds it very inconvenient to carry on the Government in the absence of Count Bismark, and that the appointment of another Minister in his place is in contemplation. A ssage in his Majesty's last speech, in which he spoke of "his own policy" instead of "the policy of his Government," has been much remarked, and is regarded as significant of an approaching change in the direction above indicated. Among the candidates for the post of Foreign Minister and Chancellor of the North German Confederation, which would thus become vacant, the reactionist General Manteuffel and the Conservative leader Herr von Bodelschwingh have been mentioned, but neither of these seems to have much chance of success. According to trustworthy accounts, it appears more probable that, if the King should decide to remove Count Bismark from the direction of his Ministry, his choice will fall upon Herr von Werther, now the Prussian Ambassador at Vienna.
