SPAIN'S NAVY.

The Fleet in Caban Waters. The following letter explains itself:
NORTH ATLANTIC FLEET, UNITED STATES
FLAGSHIP POWHATAN, FIRST RATE,

Hon. G. M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy:

Sim—In compliance with the Department's circular letter of September 28, 1269, I have the honor to state that the vessels of war in this harbor at present are that the vessels of war in this harbor at present are a part of the Spanish fleet, consisting of one large iron-clad screw frigate, with projecting prow or ram, the Vittoria, mounting thirty guns of heavy calibre—six and seven inch—nearly all rifled; full ship rigged; plating 4½ inches thick; tonnage about 6000; built in England, and is very fast. Three double-banked screw frigates (wooden), averaging forty-six guns, mostly of heavy calibre; full ship-rigged, and about equal to the Colorado class. They are the Gerons, about 4000 tons, and mounts thirty-two sixty-eight pounders on main deck; and sixteen thirty-two pounders on the spar deck; the Almanzor two sixty-eight pounders on main deck, and sixteen thirty-two pounders on the spar deck; the Almanzor and the Lealtad, which are a trife smaller than the Gerona. The Almanzor has just arrived from Malaga, and appears to be fully manned, as does also the Lealtad. The other two, judging from the hammocks they stow, are very short-handed. A sidewheel gunboat sailed the day after the arrival of the Powhatap. There is also a Spanish despatch years. wheel gunboat sailed the day after the arrival of the Powhatan. There is also a Spanish despatch vessel of the English blockade-runner class here. The Spanish officers here report that two heavy iron-clads—the Saragossa and another—and one more frigate, are expected from Spain. I have rarely seen their specimens of naval architecture than these vessels present. I understand, from the Spanish Admiral Mai Cumpo, that it is the intention to send the iron-clad Vittoria to New Yerk to be docked for the purpose of cleaning her bottom. I docked for the purpose of cleaning her bottom. I learn that the mortality in the Spanish fleet during the past summer months was very severe—several the past summer months was very severe—several hundreds in number. A supply of water, and other assistance that we may need, has been offered by the Spanish Admiral. Her Britannic Majesty's gunboat Philomel has just arrived from Jamaica with sickness on board. Her commander died last night, and one officer previous to her arrival here. The Philomel reports that the English fleet is recruiting at Halifax, Nova Scotia. I can learn nothing of the French fleet. As opportunities occur I hope to furnish more definite information respecting the naval force upon this station. I am, sir, very respectfully. force upon this station. I am, sir, very respectfully onr obedient servant, C. H. Poor. Rear-Admiral commanding North Atlantic Freet.
