MBW-YORKISMS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22, 1869.

The Paragon Parliament. This Association held its usual meeting on Saturday, Mrs. Croly being in the chair. She commenced by congratulating the ladies present upon the increase of membership, and expatiated on her favorite doctrine that wives ought to be paid by their husbands for domestic service. She thought it would be a good idea if the rates were fixed previous to marriage, so that Imogene might know precisely what she had to expect from Alphonso. Mrs. Croty ir an ambitious woman, but this new doctrine of hers is so detestable that one might almost suspect propounded it as a satire upon the very cause she has identified herself with. She is thoroughly in carnest, however. What do you think of the idea? Is it true that the marriage contract is dwindling down into a business relation, in which the woman promises to superintend the houseand bear and nurse children, on condition of so many greenbacks per week or quarter? Are services of love to become matter of pay? Is marital confidence to be measured by cash? Am I to expect to give my wife so many greenbacks for making me some tea and toast and bathing my brow with eau de Cologne when I have the headache? Oh! Mrs. Croly, for shame! A strong-minded woman ought to remain true to some of the intuitions of her girlhood, even if she does head a Sorosis or a Woman's Parliament. Is the wife that is to become so duferent from the maid that was? Is love-making, after all, to subside into money-making? Ah me! when the Saturday afternoon's session is over and these revolutionizing ladies go home to meet their husbands at dinner, do they never feel a little regret, I wonder, that there is not a little more warmth of heart there and a little less heart-burning?

The New Post Office. The area wall is nearly completed; three piers of Maine granite are in position, and the stone for the remainder arrives every few days. In the centre the area is rapidly being sunk lower, the digging there going on day and night. Naturally, however, so much of this department of the labor being completed, the original force has been reduced, and stonecutters and masons will hereafter do the greater portion of the work. Every Saturday evening the swarm of laborers that oscillate around the entrance to the pay-room on Broadway is something worth seeing.

A Morgue Curlosity. The most sickening portion of a human body that has yet been sent to the Morgue for identification is a face that was on Saturday discovered in an ashbarrel in front of Dr. Nichols' office, No. 11 University place. It was discovered by a party of boys, who reported the fact to a policeman, and the remains were removed to the Mercer Street Police Station. This phantom face is that of a man apparently about forty-five years of age, and has evidently been preserved for some time in carbolic acid. The head had been sawn of above the eyebrows, back to a point a little above the ears, and then downward. The lower jaw had been removed, and the softer parts, including the chin, upper jaw, and nose, left. The features were in an exceedingly good state of preservation, quite sufficiently so to be recognized, and are at present in the Morgue. Coroner Rollins has made an effort to clear up the mystery, but thus far without success. Some think it is intended as a medical student's joke.

Mrs. Moulton, the unprofessional and fashionable vocalist, has made several announcements that she will sing in public, and there has been a great desire to hear her. The hundreds who would have gladly paid opera prices for this pleasure are doomed to disappointment, however. Her intention was said to be due to some financial difficulties which her friends did not seem to think it was incumbent upon them to remove. Hence the contemplated concert. This determined action is said to have aroused those friends to a sense of their duty, and now it is asseverated that the concert is not to take place at all. Mrs. Moulton will very shortly return to Paris, where she reigus supreme as an amateur in fashionable circles. withe World" newspaper has, for the last few Sundays, been attacking more or less all the theatres in town, the criticisms emanating from a correspondent who signs himself "Nym Crinkle," and who says a good many true and bitter things. I believe suspicion accredits these criticisms to Mr. Wheeler, the musical and dramatic critic of the World, but that gentleman denies the imputation, and professes to be as much in the dark as any one else. He need not be ashamed of them, however. They are as smart and discriminating as any of the World's week day amusement articles, and are almost the only papers in the New York journals worthy the name of criticism. The Skating Rinks are completing their preparations for the winter season, and one or two new ones are in process of ALI BABA.

On Saturday next the first matinee of the season will be given. Miss Keene designs to make these entertainments especially attractive to children, and the pieces chosen will be such as will suit the juvenile tastes.

On Saturday next a play entitled The New Red Riding Hood will be brought out.

AND DEBILITATED.-This is a trying season for invalids, indeed for all who are not blessed with rebust constitu tions and iron frames. Cold has come upon us suddenly, sealing up the open pores, and scaling in, as it were, any seeds of disease that may have been lurking in the system, but which remained undeveloped so long as the waste matter of the body and all acid and unwholesome humors were freely discharged by evaporation from the surface and through the bowels. A tonic, aperient, and alterative medicine is now needed to invigorate the vital powers depressed by a low temperature; to stimulate and purify the secretions, and to fit the body to endure, without inconvenience, pain or danger, the sudden climatic change which ushers in the winter. The only preparation which will fully most this almost universal need, and will thoroughly and safely perform the important work, is the leading tonic and alterative of the age, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

This popular specific improves the appetite, invigorates the digestive organs, regulates the flow of bile, enriches the blood, calms the nerves, relieves constipation, pro-motes superficial circulation and evaporation, and being composed solely of wholesome vegetable elements, with a pure stimulant as their diffusive vehicle, may be taken by he weakest without fear. The flavor is agreeable, for although the BITTERS are a potent medicine, they contain

In some instances the same cause will produce Bronchitis, a disease of the branches of the windpipe. In all affections of the Pulmonary Organs, as well as in Bronchial Affections, JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT is both a palliative and a curative, as the testimony of thousands and its worldoide reputation attest-while in Coughs and Colds it acts speedily, and, when taken according to directions, promptly removes them. Why not give this standard remedy an immediate trial? Sold by all Druggists.
