on Wednesday evening last, Lyman'Allyn, an red boarder at Taylor's Hotel, in Jersey City, was und dead sitting in his chair in his room. His esth was duly reported on the following morning, at there were circumstances developed yesterday hich sourcound his life and death with peculiar in-rest. His brother, Thomas Allyn, of Groton, Conn., a company with a sister, the only relatives of the becased, arrived yesterday, and, with the permis-ent of Coroner Burns, who is to hold an inquest, sok charge of the corpse. They examined also the we displicated trunks thet stood in the corner of heir brother's bedroom, and in one of them were cond stocks and bends, deeds and securities of arrivos descriptions representing a fortune of bootom.

His life during the last five years had been most rumarkable. He was a man of over seventy, and so infirm that he consumed half an hour or more in reming down from his room to the during-room. Yet reming down from his room to the dining-room. Yet be lived upon the highest floor to save money, and was never known when upon the streets to use a iorse car, saying that they had the effect to make ecople lazy, and he would not patronize them. He ame from his room to his meals but once a day, eat-ing the very smallest quantity of the cheapest food. He sought no society, and would permit no person to inter his room but the chambermaid, and she but poe a week. While she arranged his room he inva-iably watched her closely. To an observer the room contained very little that was worth watching. room contained very fittle that was worth watching. Two old trunks, a scanty wardrobe, made up of cheep ready-made coats; two hats, one white, the other black, and both thirty years old; patched hoes and boots, a copy of Webster's Dictionary, a Bible, and a medical book, were all that the room Contained, and its situation and interior desolate-ness made it a dreary abode. The old man had lived hoes in the first situation and interior desolatee alone for nearly six years, declining all the lie to see any visitors, for, he said, they came y because they thought he had money; that they is mistaken, for he was very poor, and had great dealty in paying his board bills.

rects, yesterday gave our reporter a brief sketch of life. He was born in Groton, Conn., in 1797, and is sent at an early age by his father to work in a occry store in New London. Finding that his em-over was dishonest, and that he used false weights d measures, the boy ran away and returned to his measures the boy ran away and returned to his and measures, the boy ran away and returned to his home. He soon procured a situation in another store, remaining there for a number of years, until, in 1897, he came to New York and engaged in busi-ness as a commission merchant. Becoming in-terested in stock speculations, under the advise-ment and in partnership with Jacob Little, Mr. Aliyn amassed a large fortune, which subsequent spephations did much to reduce. He was a bache-in and he for thirty or forty wars been in some and had for thirty or forty years been in some rece averse to all society, but his eccentricities to not so marked as they were during the six or in years preceding his death. or's Hotel he was occupied entirely in looking the value of and the interest upon his bonds stocks, keeping his business, however, in so great ecy that not even the proprietor of the hotel the faintest intimation that his gnest was a lithy capitalist. His bills were paid with the eatest promptitude, but beyond this fact no rson in the hotel had grounds for supposing it he old man had a dollar. His occupation, meanwhile, was entirely unknown, and many provide the result of the second many provide the boot of the reclass on much confined to his garret. Wednesday afternoon the bill collector took Mr. Alyn's bill to his room, the door, and went away. The day wore away, and it was remarked that the old grain no admittance. He threw the bill into the room over the door, and went away. The day wore away, and it was remarked that the old could gain no static the bill. Mr. Fisk, the proprietor, went to his room, and receiving no answer to his cloud it was forced open, and the aged occupant was found lifeless in his chair. The examination of the trunk and contents yes-terday disclosed the fact that the old man owned stock in many of the best paying concerns in the context. He owned stock in all the principal rail.

stock in many of the best paying concerns in the roads in New Jersey, the Erie Railway, Atlantic and Great Western, the Morris Canal and Banking Com-pany, and the New York Central. Deeds for a large amount of real estate in Long Island and in the city of Brooklyn, and a pile of State and county bonds, were found. With these there was a will, dath differen years ago, becomeathing all his property dated fifteen years ago, bequeathing all his property to his brother and sister.

Description of the Monument to be Erected by the Lincoln Monument Association.

way a monument to be erected at Broad and Girard avenue, the statue and ornamentation part of which are now being cast under the artists direction in the celebrated bronze foundries of Municb, Bavaris. The design is by Randolph Rodgers, the well-known American artist in Rome. The pediment is of Quincy granite, eighteen feet high, and sixteen by eighteen feet at the base. The buttresses at either corner finish at the bottom of the die with a moulded cap, on which rests a bronze eagle. At the base of the die a festoon of laurel and bak in bronze ornaments each face. The die is panneled and each panel will bear an inscription. The pedestal finishes with a moulded cap on which rests the statue.

The statue is of bronze and represents the Presi-dent in the act of signing the Emancipation Procla-mation. The figure is in a sitting position. One hand is uplifted and holds the pen, and the other the document. The height of the statue is nine and a held fact.

around. The granite work is by Struthers & Sons, of this city. A letter has been received from the artist, dated October 4, by the Treasurer of the association, Mr. J. L. Claghorn, which shows how far the work has progressed. The model in clay of the statue was linished on the 23d of January last. Transposing it to plaster occupied about six weeks. To make an extra mould over it, in order to have a duplicate for studies, took about six weeks more. It required about the same time to dry the plaster before boxing. Mr. Rodgers, the artist, visited Munich in August and saw the model. He is now writing every forthight to the founders, and is doing all in bis nower to burry on the work.

when give y for high to the bounders, and is doing all in his power to hurry on the work. The work is of such a kind that it cannot be done hurriedly. The statue has to be cast in pieces. When it is completed at Munich it will have to go back to the artist for his finishing touches, which is the great part of the work. This will take time. The granite part of the monument is now entirely completed and ready for actions. The bronze work completed and ready for softing. The bronze work is expected in about six months' time. The cost will be about $32,000. The committee on the design are Messrs. N. B. Browne, Henry C. Lea, Francis Wells, J. L. Claghorn, and J. B. Lippincott.

CLOTHING.—On the 1st proximo, Wednesday next, a mammoth clothing sale will be inaugurated at the great Oak Hall, S. E. corner of Sixth and Market streets. Messrs. Wanamaker & Brown have stored therein nearly half a million dollars' worth of the clothing, made up in first-class style, and equal in finish and durability to an enstom work ever turned out. Our readers will ready perceive that a firm doing busi-ness on such an unusual scale possess facilities far excelling those of smaller dealers. Buying their cloth in enormously large quantities, they, of course, old an it at the lowest forme and by this means are obtain it at the lowest figure, and by this means are enabled to sell their made-up goods very cheap. The stock is now open to public inspection, so that those who see fit may step in and examine for them-

It comprises 4000 overcoats, 4000 full suits, 6000 coats, 5000 pairs of pantaloons, and 6000 vests. If a man cannot be suited from this assortment, then we say he cannot be suited at all.

THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION.—At a recent meeting of Councils, a resolution was passed directing the Committee on House of Correction to examine and report upon the practicability of using the tract of land in the Twenty-third ward, known as the Oxford land in the Twenty-third ward, known as the Oxford and Upper Dublin Poorhouse property, for the pur-poses of a House of Correction, a Prison and an Almshouse. As this property is now owned by the residents of the Twenty-third ward, a doubt arose in the minds of the committee as to the city obtaining it; therefore, the opinion of the City Solicitor was requested upon the subject. He has decided that as the property belongs to the Twenty-third ward, a vote of the residents of that locality would be neces-sary before a transfer can be made, and in addition, legislation would have to be obtained at Harrisburg. This opinion will be submitted to Common Council on Thursday next. on Thursday next.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION LEC-TURES.—One of the most popular courses of lectures ever arranged in this city is that formed by the Young Men's Christian Association. Four lectures will be delivered in this course, two by Gough, one by Beecher, and one by Greeley. Mr. Gough takes his two very popular lectures, "Circumstance" and "Habit." Mr. Beecher is writing a new lecture, subject not announced. Mr. Greeley is preparing a lecture on the Woman Question, a subject which is now attracting universal attention. The philosopher of the Tribune holds that woman should be freely welcomed to all positions of influence and useful welcomed to an positions of initiatice and useril-ness consistent with the diguity and purity of her nature. Making her a voter, in his judgment, would not be to her advantage. The tickets for this course will be sold on Tuesday, at Ashmead's.

A PLEASANT ANNIVERSARY.—To-morrow Rev. Dr. Suddards, rector of Grace Church, will enter upon the thirty-sixth year of his pastoral charge over that parish. During that long period, extending beyond the average life of a generation, the mutual relations of this reverend gentleman and the flock under his charge have been most pleasant and intimate. In this time he has baptized and married several gene rations. On first assuming his charge, Twelfth and Cherry streets was considered so far outside of the Units of the bull-up portion of the city that difficulty was experienced in obtaining the services of minis-ters attending upon the annual conventions to off-ciate in this pulpit; but now the tide of population has passed far to the westward.

Wilson, who has been annoying our church people for the last ten years, last night entered the church at Eighteenth and Spring Garden streets, and interrupted the proceedings by his noisy decla-mation. He was called to order by the pastor, who desired to make a prayer. Wilson, however, in-sisted upon his right to the floor, and was only aquelched by being floored and then put out. A police officer then took charge of him, and Alderman Pancoast held him in $400 bail to keep the peace.

THE HOMEOFATHIC FAIR .-- One of the largest at-tended fairs, since that given by the Sanitary Com-mission in this city, has been that which is now being neld at Horticultural Hall, in aid of the Homecopathic Hospital fund. The contributions are the result of everal months of labor on the part of young ladies esiding in this and adjacent cities. The Fair will ontinue open for another week, during which time a number of additional attractions will be intro-

King, of the general committee. Messrs, C. F. Norton and J. W. Gaskill, Directors of the Philadelphia and Erie Rallway, were present, and submitted to the committee a paper setting forth substantially that the gress receipts of the road from January to October inclusive of the present year were $2,661,862 55, and the estimated receipts for November and December $620,000, making a total of $3,281,862 85. Of the last-named sum, thirty per cent. goes to the Philadelphia and Eric Railway making $984,558 55; dividends on Oil Creek and Alle gheny River Railroad (stock owned by the Philadel phia and Erie Road), $255,000; balance on hand Janu phia and Fire Road, $250,000; balance on hand Janu-ary 1, 1869, $92,521:24, making the total actual and estimated gains, say, $1,332,080:89. The interest on the funded debt for 1869 is set down at $970,000; the taxes on real estate, rent of depot stations, etc., $55,000, and "maintaining the organization of the road," whatever that means, at $5000, making a t-tai estimated expenditures of $1,007,000 or $200 or estimated expenditure of $1,037,000, or $296,238.09 less than the estimated gains. A long discussion of the conversational kind was then indulged in, and the committee, with a view to receive the definite and specific information they de-sure to have on behalf of the city of Philadelphia, resolved to submit to the officers and directors of the road such interrogatories as will place them in pos-session of the knowledge they desire and are entitled to receive. The replies to these will be considered by the authorities of the road, and submitted at a future meeting of the committee.

A CHURCH DISPUTE SETTLED.—The case of John Wiest vs. Christ Evangelical Reformed Church has be n finally disposed of. This was a suit brought against the church to recover over $13,000, money advanced by ar. Wiest for the crection of the church cdifice. An offset of $5000 was claimed by the de-fendants, said by them to have been promised by him as an additional subscription—at a time when his subscription was already $5000; also errors in his account, and that obligations were given him in violation of the charter of said church corporation. violation of the charter of said church corporation, all of which the defendants failed to satisfactorily prove. The books of the corporation and reports of the pastor and treasurer made from time to time, showed clearly that no such additional subscription was ever included by them in any of their financial celeptations while it was actually in evidence that was ever included by them in any of their infancial calculations, while it was actually in evidence that the plaintif had given towards the erection of the church of the defendants as donation about $13,000, not a dollar of which was included in his present claim. The suit came up at the sessions of the Dis-trict Court last spring, but was, en motion of de-fendants' counsel, continued, and was finally with-drawn for arbitration, the parties entering into an agreement that the decision should not be appealed from but should be final. The arbitrators were five of our most honorable and intelligent merchants. of our most honorable and intelligent merchants, who, after patiently listening to the evidence and arguments of the counsel on both sides, unani-mously awarded to Mr. Wiest $13,470*55, being the entire amount of his claim. General B. F. Fisher conducted the case for plaintif, and S. V. Mays for defendants. defendants.

Libel Suits Dismissed. Despatch to the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 27 .- The libel suits of Frank Marsston against the Democrat and Times have both been dismissed by the Judge, Marston being unable to furnish security for the costs.

General Hammond. General Hammond left here for Chillicothe this morning, to make arrangements for laying twenty miles of track to Omaha next week. It is expected that Nodaway county will raise a twenty-thousand dollar subscription on behalf of the object. Much dispppointment was felt in that section of country at the inability of St. Louis to raise the money for the purpose.

Chicago Special Assessments Wooden Pave-ments. Despatch to the Evening Telegraph.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 27 .- The special assessments for the opening and extension of streets and alleys, wooden pavements, filling and grading of streets for the erection of lamp-posts, the construction of sidewalks, the laying of private drains, water service and gas service pij es, which have been made in this city since the first of last April, amount to $3,440,-395-77.

The Beard of Public Works of this city have as-sented to a compromise with Goodwin, Larned & Lowe, agents for the Nicolson pavement in this city, by which it is agreed that the city shall pay as royalty the sum collected for that purpose previous to January 19, 1867, amounting to about $17,000. It is also agreed that the royalty for the time intervening between that date and April 1, 1869, shall be waived on the part of the proprietors of the patent, and that the city shall pay for all pavements laid after April 1, 1869, the sum of ten cents per square yard as royalty. This arrangement causes the withdrawal of the suit for the recovery of $29,000 and interest up to January 17, 1867, which is now pending in the date for the Chairmanship of the Committee, and General John Love is put forward as the representa-tive of the Hendricks wing. The former claim a victory in the refusal of the committee to postpone

M'FARLAND IN THE TOMB

After the rendition of the verdict, Coroner Keenan committed McFarland to the Tombs, to await the re-sult of Mr. Richardson's injuries. McFarland, who appeared to be almost heart-broken, was very submissive, and seemed to take the incarceration as a matter of course. His demeanor at once most favor-ably impressed the keepers of the city prison, and McFarland was therefore treated with as much kindness and consideration as prison discipline with allow.

M'FARLAND AS AN INTELLECTUAL MAN

The writer, who, in Mr. McFarland, had found an old acquaintance, asked him if he remembered the people's meeting that ten or twelve years ago had weekly sessions at No. 185 Bowery. McFarland said he did, and that on several occasions he was op-pointed to open debates at the meeting. He spoke feelingly of a number of gentlemen who, as public speakers, graduated from that little assemblage of iberal minds.

liberal minds. At this meeting McFarland won the reputation of being a thorough debater, a man well posted on all the advanced theories of the day, and a logician whose speeches no man could follow who was not prepared to make a strong argument, and show an ability to demolish "points," While on this subject McFarland said, "I always liked literary people, mainly because, I suppose, I always loved literature. My wife is a literary woman, and those who know her as such know that she is a woman of fine talents and couldyation. If she and I had been less literary and cultivation. If she and 1 had been less literary, perhaps we would not have had this terrible trouble,

THE WOUNDED MAN MAKES & DISCOVERY. At a late hour last night Mr. Richardson was in a very comfortable condition, although suffering from weakness-the natural exhaustion consequent on the loss of blood-and from slight fever. He was very cheerfu, and to the few friends who were almost constantly in his room he spoke words of hope and said that he felt he would recover. Mr. White-law Reid, the managing editor of the Tribune, and an old and intimate friend of Mr. Richardson remained with the wounded man until 6:30 o'clock yes mained with the wounded man until 6:30 o clock yes-terday morning. At one time Richardson, who seemed to be in a doze, sudenly cried out, in a cheery voice, "Whitelaw, I've found it." "What have yon found?" asked Mr. Reid. "The ball," answered Mr. Richardson. "Well, don't go search-ing for it," counselled Mr. Reid, and Mr. Richard-son followed his advice. son followed his advice.

THE BALL FOUND,

Dr. Holcombe called during yesterday afternoon, and made another examination of the wound. Mr. Richardson told him that he thought he had discov-ered the location of the ball, and put a finger on the place. Dr. Holcombe carefully examined the back of the man, and said that the ball was really palpa-ble to the touch. It was found lying beneath the surface about on the line between the left side and e back, and buried about an inch and a half under

No attempt was made to extract it, the physician No attempt was made to let the patient recover his strength before subjecting him to an operation. The ball passed through the stomach, and it is believed the intestimes were not touched. Strong hopes are entertained of Mr. Richardson's recovery, and his attending physicians are quite confident that he will averies bit interfes survive his injuries.

ANXIOUS TELEGRAMS. ANXIOUS TELEGRAMS. Yesterday afternoon despatches were received from a number of Mr. Richardon's friends, who were anxious to learn the condition of the wounded man. Among these was one from Vice-President Colfax, and another from Ben Pericy Poore. The last neared continuum said he know a man who had last-named gentleman said he knew a man who had been wounded just as Mr. Richardson had been, and that he was still alive and was a sound, healthy man. This telegram increased the hope of Mr. Richard-son's friends, and the patient himself was greatly pleased to know that his friends were so anxious for his recovery.
