payer who pays readily and willingly, not only pays his own fair proportion of the expenses of the elty government, but from ten to twenty-five per cent. additional by reason of the dis-honesty of his fellow-citizens. The committee, in conclusion, say that "we desire to repeat that immediate action on the part of Councils looking to the collection of axes is imperative, as it is the height of folly to evy a tax only sufficient for the expenses of the city and then to be forced to report at the close of the year that from $750,000 to $1,200,000 of the amount levied is still due, and the greater portion thereof uncollectable. Measures must be adopted to secure the collection of the evied, or else the levy about to be made must be made with sufficient margin to cover the possible non-collection of $1,250,000 of the taxes of 1870. If neither the one nor the other of these plans is adopted, we will be compelled to and at the rate of more then $1,000,000 per and at the rate of more than $1,000,000 per anoun for current expenses, the inevitable re-alt of which is utter bankruptcy, and that in no ry distant future."

	The committee have increased the item of receipts from dividends from $240,000 to $300,- 000, and state "that we found that the city of Philadelphia held in the sinking fund 67,149 shares of the stock of the Pennsylvania Rail- road Company, representing a par value of $3,357,450; and knowing that this company had been paying annually dividends of 10 per cent. in cash, we were surprised to find that the re- ceipts from this item, as recorded upon the Controller's books, amounted only to $282,645, which sum we found upon inquiry at the offics of the said company to be made up as fol- lows:
	Among the stock held there was of the sub- scription of the old city of Philadelphia, for which cash had been paid to the rali- road company, 40,690 shares, dividend at $5 per share. Subscription of Northern Liberties, for which bonds of said corporation had been given, the interest of which is paid by the Penn- sylvania Raliroad Company, and deducted f from the dividends made upon this stock, $500,000-10,000 shares; dividend, $2 per share. Dividend in stock made some years since thereon, 4332 shares; dividend, $5 per share. Subscription of the District of Spring Gar- den, $500,000-10,000 shares; dividend, $2 per share. Stock dividend thereon-2127 shares; divi- dend, $5 per share. Bonds cancelled, $115,000, at 6 per cent Total dividends, at 6 per cent The column "Estimated Receipts" for 1870 in the Controller's Report has been increased $110,000 from dividends and State appropria- tions to public schools, and reduced $9300, leav- ing the estimated receipts at $1,564,345. In reference to taxes levied and remaining unpaid, the committee say, "We would call your most serious consideration, feeling satisfied that the future solvency or bankruptcy of the city depends upon the satisfactory or unsatisfactory solution of this question. We find that the tax duplicates for any current year issue about Feb- ruary 15, of that year, and close upon January 15 of the following year. All bills unpaid at the latter date are then registered, i. e. , copied into new books, from which abstracts of bills, amounting to no more than $5000 at any one time, are made and placed in the hands of collectors of outstanding taxes, one in cace ward in the city, who are required to give $5000 security, approved by the Court of Common Pleas, and who are expected to make returns of moneys collected once in each week. They are paid by certain legal costs and a commission upon the amount collected, and have power to proceed by distraint against parmateria have been and the ties in arrears. Just previous to the expiration of five years from the 31st day of December of the year in which the taxes were levied, the Solicitor of the Receiver of Taxes, appointed by hiraself, and entirely independent of the City Solicitor, prepares and files liens against the properties upon which taxes are unpaid. For example: your committee found the Solicitor of the present Receiver, on their visit to his office to-day, actively engaged in preparing liens for taxes levied in 1864, and unpaid at this time. By reason of the long delay-six years-from the date of levy to the date of filing of the lien, and because of the careless manner in which many properties are assessed, and the unavoidably incomplete condition of the records in the Registry Bureau, it is found in many cases impossible to describe with the accuracy required by law the property to be lieued; and the lien filed against is void for informality. We have been unable to find, from the records it is of the city, that any property has of late years been sold for unpaid taxes, and from the figures presented above it is apparent that any man desirous of evading the payment of taxes has full opportunity to do so successfully, provided he can keep the collector of outstanding taxes of his ward in a good kumor, and provided he has no occasion to sell the property upon which the
