WATER.

Report of Chief Engineer Graeff, of the Water Department.

The Chief Engineer of the Water Department

has completed a very elaborate report upon the condition of our works, and the means and cost of improving them. Now that we have passed the severe drought which proved so sore an affliction, Councilmen are prone to lose sight of the fact that unless some remedy be now applied the same serious water famine may visit us again next year. The Chief Engineer has undonbtedly prepared this report to call the attention of Conneils to the urgent necessity of taking immediate steps to avoid this possible and probable trouble next year. Mr. Graeff says that our works, first, are deficient in two retion, Councilmen are prone to lose sight of the that our works, first, are deficient in two respects-in that the reservoirs at the terminus of a single line of aqueduct are not large enough, and that there is not a sufficiency of entirely reliable power to keep the works in motion at all times and seasons. After speaking of the dilapidated condition of the works when he assumed control, in 1867, he remarks that the unprecedented drought of last summer has developed the want of an auxiliary to our ordinarily reliable water-power, which, as he believes, may yet be implicitly depended upon for at least eight, and probably ten, months of any year, particularly if the dam be raised. In considering the subject of auxiliary power, he is embarrassed by a doubt as to the proper location of the engines. Fairmount has been named as the proper location for them, under the supposition that they should be so arranged as to be useful in pumping below the dam, should that struc-ture meet with disaster. But there are many objections to this. The water below the dam is contaminated by the tide bringing up upon its rise much of the sewerage and waste from the city Gas Works, and Cornish engines could not be adapted to pumping from above and below the dam. The Chief Engineer recommends the erection efauxiliary power at the Schuylkill works, for these reasons:-That it is a great advantage to have all the steam power concentrated at one point; that the works are provided with an ample forebay to supply double the number of engines now drawing from it; that coal can bere be delivered at a great advantage; that from this point the highest of our reservoirs can be easily reached by mains of moderate length; and, finally, that auxiliary power can here be made available sooner than at Fair-

It is proposed to take out Engine No. 2, which with its boilers, has been in almost constant use for over twenty-four years, and erect in its place a side-wheel Cornish engine, and as soon thereafter as possible to remove Engine No. 3, and replace it by one of much increased power and improved construction; this will fill the old engine-house, and will probably be sufficient for several years. It is then proposed to erect a new engine and boiler house on the western side of the forebay, between the present coal shutes and the river, and place therein engines of adequate power to pump through a stand-pipe to be placed upon the rocky bluff behind the proposed iouse, into any new reservoir which may be erected within a reasonable distance, while, the Delaware works, a new eagine is positively a necessity.

Mr. Graff states that the water power at Fairmount will be greatly improved by increasing the height of the dam two feet, for then the wheels could be run with the expenditure of about 25 per cent. less water than at present. Inasmuch as, by the raising of the dam, the Schuylkill Navigation Company would be bene-fitted, he suggests that they share in the expense. The Twentieth and Twenty-eighth wards call loudly for a better supply than can now be fur-nished them. To remedy this, the Chief Engi-neer suggests five expedients:—To continue the twenty-inch main now laid from the Roxborough reservoir to Ridge avenue and Jefferson street which may be considered as the centre of distribution of the ward; to lay mains from the reservoir now building near George's Hill, across the Girard avenue bridge; to construct a reservoir west of the Schuylkill, for the special supply of the high ground on the east side of the river; to construct a new reservoir at Strawberry Mansion, and to use engines to pump into standpipes, taking their supply from present reservoirs. The Twenty-eighth ward covers 3700, and the Twentieth, 1174 square acres. Mr. Graff estimates that the Twentieth ward will require 4,500,000 gallons per day, assuming its population now to be 60,000, and the Twentyeighth ward about 235,000 gallons, taking it population at 3000. In view, however, of the rapid increase of these wards, the department should calculate for a supply of 10,000,000 gal-

The Chief Engineer goes into quite a discussion as to the best of the expedients he has suggested for the relief of these wards, and concludes that the one proposing the erection of a new reservoir on Strawberry Mansion property, of about 00,000,000 gallons capacity, is the The site is upon the grounds of the city, and the reservoir could readily be supplied from the Schuylkill works by a main 7,500 feet in length. As to the balance of the city, it is proposed to erect a reservoir capable of storing 635,704,200 gallons upon the eastern park, high and adequate enough to supply all but the Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, and Twenty-eighth wards, these to be supplied by the present system and the new one mentioned above If the reservoirs described are built, the entire storage capacity in them and the old ones, excepting Roxborough and Germantown, will be 821,603,311 gallons, equal to 24 days' supply, or 22 days longer than at present. The Engineer ends his report with an approximate estimate for all the works described in it of which the following is an epitome:-Reservoir on Strawberry Mansion, capacity, 89, 120,000 gallons, for the Fifteenth, Twentieth, and Iwenty-eighth wards, $425,000; reservoir on East Park, capacity, 635,398,200 gallons, $1,164,407; reservoir near Delaware works, ca-pacity, 13,398,475 gallons, $160,000; to enlarge Belmont reservoir, $30,000. Total for all reservoirs, $1,779,007. Ascending and descending mains to said reservoirs, of all kinds, $768,700; two new Cornish engines at Schuylkill works, $147,000; boilers, etc., $74,850; new turbine at Fairmount, $145,000; rebuilding dam, $215,000, making a complete total for the projected improvements of $3,129,957.

Mr. Franciscus denounced this resolution as a covert device to defeat or to frustrate the passage of the proposed bill to sell a portion of the almshouse domain to the University of Pennsylvania. five newspapers. Mr. Duffy said that Mr. McIlvain's resolution met his hearty concurrence. He felt that Council had no right to privately bargain away a piece of property that would bring a much greater price.
