MEWS SUMMARY.

City Affairs. -Directors of the North Pennsylvania Rail-rend-Jacob Riegel and O. H. Wilson. -Directors of the Philadelphia and Eric Railroad—James D. Wetham, Joseph W. Gaskill, and J. Alexander Simpson.

-Richard Tasker, twenty-eight years old, residing at No. 203 Christian street, had one of his hands badly burned, yesterday, by the up-setting of a pitch pot at Simpson's ship-yard. —The Coroner held an inquest yesterday on the body of Thomas Kelly, forty-one years old, who was found dead in bed at his residence, Garwood place. Death was attributed to de-bility.

—A joint cancus of the Republican members of the City Councils was held yesterday after-noon, at which William M. Greiner was nominated as a member of the Board of Port Wardens, in place of A. L. Landell, resigned.

—The committee selected to try the contest of William Hogeland to the sent of James Logan, one of the representatives of the Sixteenth ward in Common Connell, will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to decide the matter.

The annual meeting of those interested in the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored People will be held this evening in the hall of the Franklin Institute. This is a deserving charity.

Franklin Institute. This is a deserving charity, and the proceedings promise to be interesting. Bishop Campbell, of the African Methodist Church, is to be one of the speakers.

—Peter Sullivan, sixty-nine years old, received a severe injury of the head yesterday, by a box falling on it, in Market street, above Seventh. Daniel Nelson, twenty-one years old, residing at Front and South streets, broke a collar-hone yesterday, by falling on the footcollar-bone, yesterday, by falling on the footway. Both the sufferers were taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital.

—An inquest was also held on the body of William Kelley, seventy-nine years, old, who was found dead in bed at his boarding-house, No. 836 Market street. The old man had for several years slept in a closet under a flight of stairs, a place selected by himself. As the bed clothes were found over his head, he is supposed to have suffocated.

—Mr. Henry L. Steven, for a number of years attached to the Philadelphia Inquirer as assistant foreman, died yesterday morning, after a short illness, at his residence, No. 1015 Wharton street, of typhoid pneumonia. Mr. Steven was only thirty-six years of age, but in his comparatively short career had made many friends by the modesty of his democrance products and made many friends by the modesty of his demeanor, urbanity, and unwavering fidelity.

The annual meeting of the contributors to the House of Refuge took place yesterday after-noon, James J. Barclay in the chair. The au-nual report was read, showing the following facts:—There were in the House on the first of January last 651 inmates—White Department, 430 boys, 95 girls: Colored Department, 85 boys, 41 girls. Benial of the "Stants Zeitung" Story. The following translation from the columns of the German newspaper Freie Presse, of yesterday, in relation to Dr. Schoeppe, will be read with interest:-

From the reports of European newspapers we have seen that the person who is here charged with murder by poison, Dr. Paul Schoeppe, is identified with a certain person of the same name who has from Germany a bad record. We, name who has from Germany a bad record. We, the undersigned citizens, emigrated to this country from Germany, do hereby declare that such assertion in European papers is based upon a mistake in regard to the respective persons. We know Dr. Schoeppe personally from Germany, and from reliable sources, to be a thorough, respectable, and honorable man, who is free from the charges preferred against the person for whom he is mistaken. We feel in person for whom he is mistaken. We feel in duty bound to declare this in accordance with duty bound to declare this in accordance with truth, and request you to publish this, our statement, in your valuable paper.

THE IMPERIAL ASSASSIN.

Prince Bonnparte's Statement Dealed by M. Fouville-Bonaparie the Aggressor-The Functual of Victor Solr. Paris, Jan. 12 .- The Marseillaise publisher Paris, Jan. 12.—The Marseillaise publishes the following statement of M. de Fouville:—On the 10th of January, 1870, at 1 o'clock, Victor Noir and myself repaired to the residence of Prince Pierre Bonaparte, No. 59 Rue d'Auteuil. We were commissioned by l'aschai Grousset to demand of the Prince the reason for the injurious articles against M. Paschal Grousset, published in the L'Avenir de La Corse. We lished in the L'Avenir de La Corse. We handed our cards to two servants who stood at the door, and who ushered us into a small parlor on the ground floor, at our right hand. After a few minutes we were conducted up stairs to the first floor, passed through the fencing-room, and finally entered the drawing-room. The door opened, and M. Pierre Bonaparte entered. We advanced towards him, and the following words passed between us:—"Sir, we come on behalf of M. Paschal Grousset, to deliver a letter to you."

"You are not come, then, on behalf of M. Rochefort, and you are not tools of his?"
"Sir, we are here on other business, and I beg you to look at this letter." I handed him the letter. He approached the window to read it. He read it, and after crushing it in his hands, he returned towards us. "I have provoked Roche-fort," said he, "because he is the standard-bearer of the rabble. As for Grousset I have no reply to make to him. Are you the representatives of these carrion?" "Sir," I answered, "We come to you to fulfil loyally and courteously the commission entrusted to us by our friend." "Are you the representatives of these wretches?" Victor Noir replied, "We are the representa-tives of our friends." Then suddenly advancing a step, and without provocation on our part, Prince Bonaparte slapped Victor Noir with his left hand, and at the same time drew a revolver of six chambers, which he had held concealed in his pocket, already cocked, and fired upon Noir, with the muzzle of the pistol close to him. Noir staggered, pressed both hands on his breast, and sank down in the doorway by which he had entered. The cowardly assassin then turned upon me and fired. I then seized a small pistol which I had in my pocket, and while I was endeavoring to free it from the sheath the wretch rushed on me, but when he saw that I was armed he retreated, stood behind the door, and aimed at me. It was then that, compre-hending the ambush into which we had fallen, and reflecting that if I fired there would not be warting those who would cry that we had been the aggressors, I opened a door which was behind me and rushed out, crying murder. As I went out a second shot followed, and again passed through my coat. In the street I found Noir, who had strength to descend the stairs, and was dead. These are the feets were the feets and was dead. and was dead. These are the facts just as they transpired, and I look for prompt and exemplary ustice for this crime. ULRIC DE FOUVILLE.
LONDON, Jan. 12.—It is the original Atlantic Cable Company, and not the Anglo-American Company, certain of whose influential members are adverse to consolidation with the French Cable Company, and whose hostility has caused a depression in cable shares.

Paris, Jan. 12.—The funeral of Victor Noir took place to-day. The Government, expecting a demonstration, made extensive preparations to preserve order, and at an early hour all its police and military arrangements were complete. fice and military arrangements were complete. During the morning the people began to gather around the house where the remains were lying, coming from all parts of the city. At 11 05 one thousand workmen from the Faubourgs had passed up the Boulevards on their way to the Many carriages with ladies dressed in monra-ing, drove to join the procession. At 1 P. M. deputations of workmen visited the remains. The streets from Pince de la Concorde to Rue d'Auteuil were filled with vast throngs of people, Carriages containing noted persons were sur-rounded by the crowd and their occupants cheered. The weather was cold and a heavy rain was falling, but the numbers continued to increase. Between 2 and 3 o'clock, more than one hundred thousand persons were assembled in the vicinity of the place where the remains reposed. Henri Rochefort attended the funeral, and his appearance called forth a great demonstration of enthusiasm from the people. The remains were taken to Neully for interment, followed by a long recognition. by a long procession.

The crowd wanted to parade with the body through Paris, but Louis Noir, brother of the deceased, refused his consent. At the cemetery there were frequent shouts of "Vive la Republique," and the Marseillaise was repeatedly sung during the day. While Rochefort and Raspail were coming down the Champs Elysees, accompanied by a great crowd who were singing the Marseillaise, they were stopped by a regiment of troops and the crowd was ordered to disperse. Rochefort, claiming his right as a Deputy, passed on to the Chamber, where he arrived pale and much excited. The Champs Elysees was then cleared by the troops. Two battalions were cleared by the troops. Two battalions were stationed near the Hall of the Legislative body. and a few regiments were massed on the vards close at hand. The crowd finally dis persed without resistance, but some arrests were made by the police.

The French Government has given notice that from about the lat of December, 1909, the following alteration in the lighting of the north entrance of the new harbor at Marselle would take place, viz.—

The fixed and flashing red and white light on the south side of the western entrance of the Port Imperial would be discontinued, and instead a light would be exhibited from a lightveesel moored in a line with the outer jetty, 625 yards north of the Traverse de'sh Pinede.

The light is a fixed red light, elevated 39 feet above the level of the sea, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of 7 miles.

The lightnessel is painted red.

The lightvessel is painted red.

The lightressel is painted red.

The lightressel is painted red.

Directions—To pass through the north entrence of the new ports of Marsellle keep the lightvessel on the starboard hand, and, having passed to the eastward of it, atcer to the southward, and keep as nearly as possible midway between the two green lights; but when these two green lights (which, from being exposed to the sea, cannot at times be lighted), are not visible, the two green lamps on the Traverse de l'Absttoir will serve as a sufficient guide.
