

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY.

From the Boston Daily Advertiser.

Of all inventions which have tended to relieve woman of the injurious effects of excessive domestic drudgery that of the sewing machine is incomparably the most important. It is the Ariel of the household...

Members Grover & Baker began business about eighteen years since under a patent taken out by them for certain improvements completely finished...

As a striking contrast to the commencement of their business, it may be interesting to state that at present the company manufacture about 160 machines every four minutes...

The business of this company is as extensive as the world. In addition to their handsome and spacious store on Summer street, in this city, they have large branch establishments in thirty-five of the most important cities of this continent...

The works, covering more than three-quarters of an acre of ground, are located at the corner of Washington and Waltham streets...

Directly you enter the busy hum of labor tells you that you are in an enormous field of industry, which is amply confirmed by the very first glance at the interior.

Every person has an idea of the immense amount of labor required to complete one small sewing machine, and of the great nicety exacted in its construction...

The first step in this building towards the manufacture of the machines is to receive the castings. These are made at the company's foundry on Albany street...

The season of medical commencing reached a climax at noon to-day, with the closing exercises of the Jefferson and Woman's Medical Colleges...

The needle department is on this floor. The manufacture of the needles is a most important department of the factory, when it is considered that about 175,000 are made here every month...

ected, and if found, in any way, a departure from the standard, is at once condemned. It is therefore almost impossible that an imperfect piece can get into a machine...

In this story is the plating-room, where, by means of the electro-plating process, certain portions of the machines are coated with pure silver...

THE JAPANESE AND ORNAMENTING DEPARTMENT. This is a separate building in the rear of the main factory, seventy-five feet long and two stories in height...

THE WOOD-WORK DEPARTMENT. For supporting the delicate machines, is made in factories entirely separate from this, and is a distinct branch of the business...

THE PACKING DEPARTMENT. A busy scene is presented in this department, from which the machines are forwarded to all parts of the civilized world...

THE FOUNDRY. Of the company is a handsome and commodious brick building at the corner of Albany and Plymouth streets...

CONCLUSION. Thus we are shown how ingenuity and never-tiring enterprise, combined with an upright and straightforward manner in all their business transactions...

The number of students in the class of 1869-70 was 485, residents of distant States and countries. Of the graduating class 75 members were residents of Pennsylvania.

The valedictory address to the graduating class was delivered by James Aitken Meigs, M. D., Professor of the Institutes of Medicine in the college, and on the 11th inst. at the Jeffersonian Hospital.

"The most of you are destined, perhaps, to become active private practitioners. Some of you may be called to the hospital, to attend the sick, the insane, and the like...

"I wish you particularly to remember that the only way to success in the world is to exchange for the goods of life, are your time and professional knowledge. It behoves you, therefore, more than all other men, to economize time, that is, to use it wisely...

"If you would obtain the confidence of the world, you must have confidence in yourselves, you must be animated by a noble and generous spirit...

"If you would become physicians in the highest acceptance of the term, you must be deeply impressed with the scientific requirements of medicine...

"In view of this fact it is incumbent upon you to do all that you can to render quackery impossible, not by exposing its criminal fabrications, but by making that which is desirable in medicine certain and that which is obscure clear... and that which is obscure clear. It further adds: "It is a noble and generous spirit which should be the basis of all our efforts to establish medical colleges for our women...

THE FORMATION OF AN ALUMNI ASSOCIATION. Previous to the commencement a meeting of the Alumni of the Jefferson College was held in the lecture-room of the college building...

The meeting was called to order by Dr. Samuel D. Gross, the present Professor of Surgery, on whose motion Dr. N. L. Hatfield was appointed Chairman...

The Voyage of the Smidt.

$7000 Embezzlement of a Book-keeper.

The Religious Revival in Cincinnati.

Newly Discovered Gold Fields.

FROM NEW YORK.

Voyage of the Steamer Smidt. NEW YORK, March 12.—The captain of the steamer Smidt reports that he left Bremen on the 23d of January, and proceeded satisfactorily until the 27th, when a perfect hurricane commenced...

This disaster occurred on the 9th of February. The gale continuing, rendered the task of repairing difficult and slow. The labor lasted twelve days, the steamer lying to all that time, unable to make the least headway.

Charge of Embezzlement. NEW YORK, March 12.—At 11 o'clock last night, Detectives Carroll and Stratford, of the Jersey City police, arrested Joseph Cunningham, recently book-keeper in the employ of the extensive dry goods firm of Homer, Colladay & Co., Chestnut street, above Broad, Philadelphia...

FROM THE WEST.

Religious Revival. CINCINNATI, March 12.—According to authentic information gathered by the Gazette in 50 churches of this city and suburbs, 2092 have thus far been added in the present revival. This, however, does not embrace all the converts, very many of whom have not yet united with any church. Some churches have not been heard from. Of 1259 whose ages are known, there is 1 person over 70 years, and but 37 between 50 and 70; between the ages of 12 and 20 and 20 and 50 the numbers are about equal.

FROM THE PACIFIC COAST. Mining News. SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—There is great excitement here concerning the newly-discovered gold mines in San Diego county. Many persons have gone overland to San Diego, and the steamship Oriflamme will leave on Sunday for the same destination.

FROM NEW ENGLAND. The Massachusetts "Sixth." LOWELL, March 12.—The old Sixth Massachusetts Regiment are making arrangements for observing the anniversary of their passage through Baltimore on the 19th of April, 1861. They will go to Worcester this year, as one company of the regiment was from that city.
