NEWS SUMMARY.

City Affairs.

-A dead infant, but a few days old, was found on Saturday last, in the cellar of a cooper-shop on Krider street, above Swanson. The Coroner took charge of the body. -In the case of Henry Kuck, who fell dead, on Frider last in the clus factory of Baeder on Friday last, in the glue factory of Baeder & Adamson, the Coroner's jury yesterday ren-dered a verdict of death from apoplexy. —Charles Bradhering, mate of the bark Pro-metheus, died at the Pennsylvania Hospital on Saturday last, from injuries received from a fall into the hold of his vessel on that day. An inquest will be held to-day.

-John Orr, a watchman at the factory of Morgan & Orr, on Callowhill street, below Thirteenth, was severely burned yesterday by the ignition, from some unknown cause, of alcohol, with which he was bathing himself.

-Mary Morris, aged four years, residing at No. 911 Callowhill street, who was admitted into the Pennsylvania Hospital on Saturday afternoon, suffering from burns caused by the boiling over of some varnish, died at that institution from her injuries yesterday morn-ing, about quarter past 10 o'clock.

-The tenth anniversary of the North Broad Street Presbyterian Chnrch occurred yesterday, and was properly observed. In the morning the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was celebrated, a large congregation partici-pating in it. In the evening the pastor, Rev. Dr. Stryker, preached the decennial discourse from the eighth chapter of Deuteronomy, 22d verse.

-The body of an unknown aged woman way found, on Saturday night last, lying near the track of the Philadelphia, Germantown and Norristown Railroad, at the intersection of Tenth street. Her skull was crushed by passing train. She was poorly clad, in a light spotted frock, gray woollen sack, and black hood, and had with her a basket containing bread, cold meat, etc. An inquest was held and a verdict of accidental death rendered.

-The first anniversary of the Juvenile Mis sionary Society of the Arch Street Methodis Episcopal Church was celebrated yesterday. In the afternoon a large number of scholar gathered at the mission rooms, Seventeenth and Vine streets, when interesting addresses were made on the subject of missions. During the year the members of the society have contributed largely towards missionary objects.

-The western wall of the portion of Bru-ner's mill, at Twenty-second and Hamilton streets, that was destroyed by fire some time since, fell about a quarter before 6 o'clock yesterday morning, while a high wind was prevailing. In its fall it crushed in the roofs of two small structures attached to the mill, and broke in and damaged the doors and windows of two houses in Mill Spring court. No person was injured.

-An inquest was held by Coroner Taylor upon the body of Peter Scheutler, aged fifty-two years, who died suddenly on Saturday last, at No. 5 St. David's avenue. Verdict, death from convulsions.

Also upon the body of an unknown woman who was yesterday morning found lying dead upon the sidewalk on Bainbridge street, above Sixth. Verdict, death from intemperance and exposure.

-A shoe store in Carman place, near Eighth and Race streets, was slightly damaged by fire on Saturday last. The grocery store of E. Johnson & Son, at Seventeenth and Carpenter streets, was slightly damaged by fire yes-terday morning, as were also the dwellings No. 1921 Chesnut street and No. 1137 Girard street. Shortly after 9 o'clock the building No. 620 Market street was discovered to be on fire. The first floor was occupied by Porter & Burk, venders of the King washing machine; the second floor by Leahman & Co., dealers in perfumery and fancy articles; and the upper stories by J. C. Kelsh, dealer in hatters' trimmings. The flames were con-

Burlingame's Early Days. A correspondent at Coldwater sends us the following, relating to Anson Burlingame's early days: -

"Anson Burlingame once resided in this county, at Branch, then our county seat, with his father, who went there about 1836, and kept a hotel, and who, while there, endea-vored to resuscitate a suspended bank at Monroe, and also endeavored to establish a bank at Branch. The family remained at Branch until 1842. Young Anson went from here to Detroit to study law when about seventeen years old. Our old residents remember the family very well. Anson was then not re-markable as a young man who loved work, but was pleasant and attractive in his manners. but was pleasant and attractive in his manners. His father, Joel Burlingame, went with the balance of his family, in about 1842, to Dry Prairie, Indiana, and spent a while with the Fourierites there, as he said, to educate his children. They movoved from there to California, where they were in 1851. From there they went to Oregon, where in 1851. From there they went to Oregon, where they now reside, principally engaged in farming. Joel Burlingame was present, as a delegate from Oregon, in the first convention that nominated
