NEW-YORKISMS.

From Qur Own Correspondent. NEW YORK, March 21, 1870.

Mr. Bergh's Blunder. In the two hundred and ninth stanza of the first canto of "Don Juan," Byron remarks:-"For feat some prudish reader should grow skittish, I've britted my grandmother's review—the British," and it is notorious that when this canto was published the proprietors of the Brilish Quarterly were entrapped into the enormous blunder of coming out with a card solemnly asserting that they had received no bribe from Lord Byron or "any other man."

Quite as ridiculous a blunder is that which has just been perpetrated by Mr. Bergh, the celebrated President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in his having brought a libel suit against the New York Sunday Courier for a playful but somewhat coarse burlesque description of his personal appearance. habits, and mode of life. The libel suit has subjected Mr. Bergh to infinitely more ridicule than the libel alone-if it was a libel-could ever have done, and he has found himself to be afflicted with a greater degree of cuticular attennation than most men who have reached his time of life. By-the by, I hope the expression "time of life" is not libellous. If so, you may confidently expect that, when the Sunday Courier business is settled, there will be a suit brought against THE EVENING TELEGRAPH. "Punchinello."

It is officially announced that Punchinello, the new pictorial and satirical weekly, will positively make its appearance to-day, and I presume that by the time you are reading this I shall be reading that. It will aim to be witty, humorous, and satirical in its illustrations as well as in its written matter. If there is any failure at all it will probably be in the pictorial department. Somehow or other our artists are not so witty as we might wish them to be. We have here in New York any quantity of men who can write smartly, but comparatively very few who can make their sense of fun serviceable to them as draughtsmen. Unless these sprightly artists are forthcoming, there is little chance that Punchinello will prove to be what Punch was, but what it has not been for many a long week. I believe Nast is to furnish some contri-The Late George Wakeman.

If smart juvenile journalists do not get much printed adulation during their lives, they do directly the grave has closed over them. None have better deserved the respect and commendation of the public whom they served than the late George Wakeman, who died early on Saturday morning at his home in Harlem. He was still young, not having completed his thirtieth year, and had half finished preparations for a course of public lectures. Without holding a position of great prominence, he yet filled a very fair field, and transacted many of the more useful duties in a graceful manner. As a magazinist he was less noticeable as an original writer than as a pleasing and playful stringer-together of the thoughts of others. In some respects, his mind was a literary junk-shop, stored with all sorts of odds and ends, shelved away in such order, however, that, so to speak, he could find then in the dark and make use of them at any moment. In private life, too, he was a blameless nan, filling his part with a modesty which is rare indeed in this Age of Cheek. Of late he was aregular contributor to the Galaxy, where his art and taste as a compiler of curious saws and aphorisms was very happily made use of.

The Last of "Hamlet." Mr. 300th appeared, for the last time for the present as "Hamlet" on Saturday afternoon, having played the part between seventy and eighty times. He will appear to-night as "Sir Giles Overrach," in A New Way to Pay Old Debts, and repeat the character to-morrow and Wednesday evenings. On Thursday and Friday evening, and at the Saturday matinee, he performs "laude Melnotte." How the women will rush to be that! I am informed that Mr. Booth is pink-mted as much as ever by certain ladies. the expresion of whose admiration is restrained by no suh trifle as the little fact of his being married toa woman who rejoices in his faithful

Injor Leland's Masher. All the world knows by this time that Mr. George Willes, editor of the Spirit of the Times, was recently assaulted by Major Leland, and more or less amaged. In an editorial which appeared in the Spirit of the Times, when issued last Friday, M. Wilkes darkly intimated that he was biding hi time, and that Major Leland would discover hat he would have to settle yet, and would not t permitted to go unpunished. Whether this inplication has anything to do with what occurred on Saturday night can only, of course, be a latter of suspicion; but at 8 o'clock that eveing, while passing through Prince street, near/fercer, after having left the Metropolitan Hotel Major Leland was attacked by an individual of very ruffian-like appearance, and who is genrally believed to be a professional "masher." At any rate, he "mashed" Major Leland, cut hispper lip badly; knocked several of his teeth on and, in the vernacular of the street, "put a hid on him." In return, Major Leland, who is y no means wanting in personal courage, fired our times at the villian, and endeavored to "het him off." His shots

THE PANORAMA OF "THE PILGRIM" WILL be exhibited this evening at Concert Hall. This work is much superior to the common run of panoramas. Many of the pictures are by artists of distinction, and are well worth seeing for their own sakes independently of the very in-teresting subject they illustrate.

PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL RR. CO. GENERAL MORTGAGE

Six Per Cent. Bonds

At 921 and Accrued Interest to Date.

These Bonds are Coupon and Registered—Interest on the former payable January and July 1; on the latter, April and October.

The bonds secured by this mortgage are issued to WISTAR MORRIS and JOSIAH BACON, Trustees, who cannot, under its provisions, deliver to the Company, at any time, an amount of bonds exceeding the full-paid capital stock of the Company—Ilmited to $25,600,000.

Enough of these bonds are withheld to pay off all existing liens upon the property of the Company, to meet which at maturity it now holds ample means independently of the bonds to be reserved by the Trustees for that purpose, making the bonds practically a FIRST MORTGAGE upon all its railways, their equipment, real estate, etc. etc.

The gross revenue of the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1869 was $17,250,811, or nearly twenty-eight per cent. of the capital and debts of the Company at the end of that year.

Since 1857 the dividends to the Stockholders have averaged nearly eleven and one-half per cent. per annum after paying interest on its bonds and passing annually a large amount to the credit of construction account.

The security upon which the bonds are based is, therefore, of the most ample character, and places them on a par with the very best National securities. For further particulars apply to Robbery of a Custom House.

Despatch to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 21 .- The Collector of Customs at Saredo, Texas, reports to the Secretary of the Treasury that on the night of February 5 the Custom House at that port was entered by burglars, and some private property stolen. The object was to steal Government funds, but since a former robbery of his office they have been kept in the Deputy Collector's dwelling house, and the Government suffered no loss. The report says the frontier is full of lawless characters, and escape is easy after committing depredations. Several robberies have been committed upon the Custom House.

Mr. Conkling gave notice that he would to-morrow ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the question of privilege, namely, the report from the Committee on the Judiciary, adverse to General Ames, Senator elect from Mississippi. Mr. Morton (Ind.) thought the matter ought to be disposed of at once.

Mr. Hamlin was disposed to accord the courtesy to the committee of proceeding with the case to-

After a conversation between Mesers. Morton.
Conkling, and Carpenter, the question went over till The Senate resumed the consideration of the Georgia bill.

Continued from the Third Edition. Mr. Dawes (Mass.), from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a bill appropriating $20,000 to the Sisters of "Our Lady of Mercy,"in Charlestown, South Carolina, for the purpose of rebuilding their Orphan Asylum, in consideration of the services rendered by those sisters to the sick and wounded Union officers, and soldlers, while the city were Union officers and soldiers, while that city was under bombardment during the war, the money to be expended under the direction of Sister M.

Collector Bailey.

New York, March 21.—Childs, Collector Bailey's chief deputy, who was arrested on Saturday night for supposed complicity with Bailey's alleged defalcation, was released on bail to-day. His pressure in the office on Cedar street is requisite for an investigation into the affairs of the department.

Mr. Nail, Deputy Collector, claims that the accounts of the office so far as investigated have been found correst. The money account is now being examined, and it is in that, if anywhere, that defalcation is to be discovered.
