OBITUARY.

George Wakeman,

A well-known author, journalist, and stenographer of New York city, Mr. George Wakeman, died of pneumonia at his residence near Harlem on Saturday. He was but twenty-nine years of age at the time of his death. He was born in Connecticut, near Greenfield Hill. While still very young he instructed himself in stenography, with the design of becoming a journalist: went to New York in 1858, when sixteen years of age, where he was employed for a time upon the Ledger and other papers. On the establishment of the World he was employed upon that paper as a reporter, which position he held for several years. By constant practice he became one of the best of short-hand reporters. He was noted both for the quantity and the accuracy of his matter.

About three years ago Mr. Wakeman, who had previously been a good sketch writer, began to contribute some now well-known articles to the Galaxy. These were collections of quaint anecdotes mostly relating to the uses and misuses of words, strung together in an extremely amusing fashion. Being assured of his success in this department of writing, he afterwards contributed many other articles to the chief periodicals.

He was elected stenographer to the Senate of New York State in 1868, and this year held the same office in the Assembly. He discharged the duties devolving upon him in this capacity until about two weeks ago, when he was taken with the illness which resulted in his death. At that time he was engaged, among other things, in preparing for some public lectures which his friends had urged upon him as being suited to his talents.

Mr. Wakeman was a man of strict honor and spotless character. His death is the cause of deep sorrow to all who knew him.

Bishop of Barbadoes.

On Saturday Thomas Parry, D. D., Bishop of Barbadoes, died at his home in Western England. He was the fourth son of a clergyman of Denbighshire, and was born in 1795. He received his education at Oriel College, Oxford, from which he graduated with high honors, and was elected to a fellowship at Baliol College. For a few years previous to 1834 he held the small incumbency of St. Leonard's, Colchester, from which he was appointed Archdeacon of Antigua, in the West Indies. From this he was transferred in 1840 as Archdeacon to Barbadoes. On the resignation of Dr. W. H. Coleridge in 1842 he was consecrated second Bishop of Barbadoes, the emoluments of his see amounting to £2500 per annum, with a patronage of fifty llvings. Dr. Parry was the author of some able "Expositions of the Epistles of St. Paul to the Romans, Hebrews," etc., and a number of other works, such as "Christian Stewardship" and "Christ and his Adversaries." For some time past the Bishop had resided in England, having been obliged to leave Barbadoes on account of his health.

Ladislans Ujhazy.

Ladislaus Ujhazy died on the 7th instant, at San Antonio, Texas, at the advanced age of nearly eighty years. He was a compatriot of Kossutn in the Hungarian struggle for independence, and at one time during it held the governorship of the celebrated Fortress of Comorn. For a number of years past he had lived at San Antonio, where his son, Mr. F. Ujhazy, still resides.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

THE DEATH OF STACY B. BARCROFT, one of the oldest and most successful dry goods merchants of this city, occurred at his residence, No. 1803 Vine street, on Saturday last. Mr. Barcroft was born near Flemington, Hunterdon county, New Jersey, in 1795; hence, at the time of his demise, was in the neighborhood of seventy-five years of age. He was descended from an English family of distinction, a branch of which settled in New Jersey about the year 1740. He came to this city as a boy in the year 1817, and by dint of perseverance and industry worked himself up the ladder of commercial greatness until he became a partner in the wellknown firm of Bray & Barcroft, No. 407 Market street, which firm he and Mr. Bray created, and which has been carried on under the management of Mr. Barcroft until the present time, his partner, Mr. Daniel Bray, having died in 1855. The name of the firm afterwards became croft, Beaver & Co., and in 1858 changed to the present title, Barcroft & Co. Mr. Barcroft was a public-spirited, philau-thropic gentleman, and was one of the few who do not permit the right hand know what the left doeth. In manner he was quiet, retiring, courteous, and gentlemanly. As a merchant, besides being eminently successful, he was a most valuable member of the community, and his demise leaves a vacancy in commercial circles that will be deeply felt and deplored. He has been connected with the business interests of Philadelphia for more than half a century. Is reputed to be worth over a million dollars, all of which he made by his own indefati-gable perseverance and industry. He leaves a widow, but was never blessed with children.

FEMININE. Arrest of Supposed Impostors.

Detective Gordon and Special Officer Roberts this morning succeeded in arresting two females named Sarah and Laura Haines, mother and daughter, at Thirteenth and Locust streets, on the charge of conspiring to defraud by false representations. The two, it appears, travel, as it is termed, "on their shape," and represent that they are daily expecting a handsome legacy. Some days ago they called on a Mrs. Shivers, doing business at Thirteenth and Chesnut streets, and ordered some $1000 worth of fancy and fine underwear, stating that they would call and pay for them in a few days. It appears that they afterwards endeavored to obtain a portion of the goods, when Mrs. Shivers, suspecting something wrong, called at the Detective Office, and lodged information with Chief Kelley. A watch was then set on them, and they were tracked from place to place until to-day, when the arrest was made. The two, seeing the officers, separated several times and ran through several alleys, but all to no purpose. It has also been ascertained that they have been boarding at No. 1315 Locust street, since the 26th of January, and have succeeded in ruuning up a boardbill of some $300, besides $25 for "extras." ' The prisoners are respectably-dressed, lady-like peronages, and would not for one moment suspected of any dishonesty. They stoutly deny the charge made against them, and aver that the whole affair is simply persecution. They will have a hearing this afternoon, when the whole matter will be more fully developed.

PUGILISM.

A Prize Fight that Did Not Come Off.

The so-called "manly art of self-defense" seems to be gaining ground in this city daily, and prize fights are becoming as common as flies in August. About 4 o'clock yesterday morning Sergeant Whalen and Officers Reeves, Sallagher, and Dennisson, of the Second dis trict, noticed a gang of roughs proceeding down Fifth street, and, surmising their intent, sepa-rated and followed after them. The roughs proceeded to Stone House lane, below Second street, where a suitable spot was selected, stakes driven, and a ring formed. The two principals then entered the ring, their seconds followed, and all being in readiness, time was about being called when the officers appeared. If a battery of 100-pound Armstrong guns had opened on them the consternation of the crew could not have been greater. Like so many hares from before a pack of hounds they started for their respective holes, and went scampering in all directions. The major portion of them suc-ceeded in escaping, the officers turning their attention to the principals and the seconds, whom they arrested and took before Alderman Lutz, who held them in $600 ball each to answer. The former are named Samuel McClain and Francis Tole, the latter Joseph McKeever and William Cergee.

THE NEW STEAM COLLIER ACHILLES, built by the Pennsylvania Iron Works, at Chester, for the Reading Railroad Company, left Chester at 12:35 P. M. on Saturday, on a trial trip. Arriv-ing opposite Market street at 1:09 P. M., she again started down the river, and at 1:46 P. M., she passed the flag-staff at Fort Millin, making the run of 81/2 miles in 37 minutes. She arrived at the Navy Yard at 2.14 P. M., a total distance of 161/2 miles in one hour and four minutes. The run was made on a flood tide, for which a credit of one knot is given, but the wind was dead ahead and blowing tresh, which will about compensate for the tide favor. The Achilles was light, drawing about nine feet aft and eight feet forward. After passing the Navy Yard the course was shaped for Pier No. 12 of the Richmond coal docks, where she arrived in one hour and $4 minutes from Chester, a distance of 20 miles, including slowages, turning, and lines to the dock. During the trip the holsting ma-chinery for discharging coals from four hatches at the same time were worked and gave great satisfaction. The excursionists were mostly connected with the Reading Railroad, and were :-F. B. Gowen, Esq., President; J. E. Wootten, Chief Engineer of Railroad Machinery; S. Jef-frey, Master Machinist in charge of colliers; J. S. Rilles, General Manager of Colliers; Captain W. B. Gallager, Superintendent of Construction W. B. Reaney, of the Pennsylvania Iron Works in charge of the Achilles; Admiral F. J. Gowen, of the steam collier fieet; Commodore Fred. C. Gowen, steam collier fleet: G. W. Hall, late Chief Engineer United States Navy. The performances of the Achilles gave great satisfac-tion, and the builders are to have six more completed by May, The Hercules is to be ready on Monday next. The Achilles is the first of the fleet of 1000 tons, and is 195 feet in length, 37 feet beam, depth 15 feet, and is brig-rigged. She has one engine, with 40-inch cylinder and 30-inch stoke piston. Her screw is 10 feet in diameter, with 17 feet pitch, and makes 80 revolutions a minute on 35 pounds pressure of steam. She was estimated to make a speed of 10 knots an hour laden, but from her perform ance on Saturday it is thought she will exceed that by at least two knots. The Reading Railroad have thus far built steam colliers of 500, 600, 800, and 1000 tons burden as experiments, and in a short time they will decide upon which class to build. It will require over 500 vessels to do their work, full particulars of which have

COUNTERFEITS.

Internal Revenue Reer Stamps-Hearing in the Case of W. B. Grover. The recent visit of Chief Whiteley, of the Secret Service Department, to this city, resulted in the alrest of two men samed Frank Mackey and Morris H. Traubel, the former charged with dealing in counterfeit revenue beer stamps, and the latter with the manufacture of the plate from which the same were printed. These parties pleaded guilty to the charge, and were sentenced each to three years imprisonment. He was brought to the office of the agency preparatory to being sent to Wilkesbarre, where, by some means at present unknown, he suc-ceeded in getting away. He said by way of excuse that he had been on a drunk the night before, and on waking up this morning found that his clothes were stolen. On this representation he was allowed to proceed. FROM WASHINGTON. The New York Collectorship.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, March 21 .- Immediately after reading the journal the Senate went into Executive session at the request of the President, and confirmed Gen. Pleasonton as Collector of the Thirty-second District of New York, vice Bailey, removed.

Judge Bradley.

It is understood that the case of Judge Bradley, nominated as Assistant Justice of the Supreme Court, will also be taken up, that case having been postponed until to-day.

The Cadet Investigation. The House Military Committee was at work this morning on the report of the cadet investigation in the cases of Mungen, Covode, Brooks, Churchill, and others, against whom there was not enough evidence to establish fraud. The report will be laid before the House this week.

Removal of Mr. Delano. Rumors about the intended removal of Commissioner Delano increase. It is said that members of Congress, who represent large districts, have protested to the President against the tyrannous conduct of Delano's revenue officlals. The defalcation of Balley, who was fa special pet of Delano, has had the effect of weakening the latter's influence at the White House. It is not supposed that Delano was a party to Bailey's frauds, but he is accused of sustaining him in his exactions upon the business men of the Thirty-second District of New York. Boutwell is very much incensed at Delano, and altogether he is in trouble.

Modest Request.

Colonel Bindirot Cherokee, whose tobacco establishment was seized in Indian Territory for violation of the Revenue laws, was before the Judiciary Committee to-day, asking for such a construction of the law as would release his place. The committee are of opinion that the request is by far too modest to be granted.

Judge Bradley Confirmed. The Senate confirmed the nomination of Joseph P. Bradley, of New Jersey, as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

DOCTOR'S OFFICE ROBBED-ARREST OF THE LLEGED THIEF .- On Wednesday, March 16, 1870, Dr. S. W. Beckwith missed from his office, No. 1220 Walnut street, a gold watch, a number of surgical instruments and medical books, and a valise. The Doctor had studying under him one Colonel D. B. Smith, who mysteriously disuppeared about the time the articles missed. To this individual suspicion pointed, and the detectives were notified. Since then they have been at work, and from information received, Detectives Cobb and Levy this morn-ing visited a house on Twelfth street, below Catharine, with a search-warrant. In the hope of recovering the stolen property. Detective Levy entered the premises by the front door, while Detective Cobb took a position at the gate, on a small street in the rear. It so happened that Smith was in the house at the time. The presence of Levy drove him out the back way into the arms of Detective Cobb. The goods were not recovered. They had been sent West, where Smith, it is understood, intended to set up business. Defendant will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

This morning the case of the Commonwealth vs. Frank Quick, charged with the murder of Dennis Corkery, was called for trial, and at the time of our going to press the jury is being selected. The accused is a stoutly-built, lighthaired German, about thirty or thirty-five years old, and of genteel appearance. On the part of the Commonwealth it is alleged that on the night of January 23, about 10 o'clock, the de ceased and two or three friends were standing at Fifth and Thompson streets, talking about birds, when the prisoner, a stranger to them, stepped up and said, "To h- with your birds," The deceased asked if that remark was dressed to him, and was at once stabbed in the abdomen by the accused. The friends of Corkery interfered, but were likewise stabbed, some them receiving serious wounds. An officer arrived at the scene of disturbance, and arrested the prisoner. Corkery was removed to St. Mary's Hospital, where he died on the fol-When the prisoner was searched lowing day. a bloody knife was found upon him. He was under the influence of liquor, and said he had been assailed by these parties, and had only striven to defend himself. Under these circum stances the prosecuting attorneys indicated their intention of pressing for a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Adopted. By Mr. Burchard, declaring that the business in-terests of the Southern and Western States imperatively require a greater amount of circulating cur-rency, to be used in those States, and that a distribution of national banking circulation by which three-fourths of the entire amount is issued which three-fourths of the entire amount is saided to associations in States having in the aggregate less than one-third of the population of the Union, is partial and unjust, and should be remedied by a redistribution, or by an increase of the existing bank circulation in States and Territories having less been their divergences on the convergence of the Color than their due share, so that every part of the Union can secure i's just proportion. The House refused to second the previous ques-tion, and the resolution was, on motion of Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, referred to the Committee on

By Mr. Holman, declaring it as the judgment of the House that the policy of granting subsidies in public lands to railroads and other corporations ought to be discontinued, and that every considera-tion of public policy and equal justice to the whole people require that the public lands shall be held for the exclusive purpose of securing homesteads to the exclusive purpose of securing homesteads to actual settlers under the Homestead and Pre-emption law, subject to reasonable appropriations of such lands for purposes of education.
