AMUSEMENTS.

City Affairs. -The residence of Wm. Brooks, on Seventeenth street above Alieghany avenue, was entered by thieves on Monday evening and robbed of about $60 worth of silver ware.

-The following named gentlemen have been elected officers of the Junction Railroad for the ensuing year:—Isaac Hinckley, President; John Tucker, Treasurer, and Joseph Lesley, Secretary; Directors, Islac Hinckley, Asa Whitney, John Edgar Thomson, John Tucker and Franklin B. Gowen.

-The following cases were admitted to the Pennsylvania Hospital yesterday:— William Sweeny, aged 33 years, living at Broad and Cherry streets; back injured from falling off his cart at Eleventh and Race John Parker, aged 21 years, residing at Newton, Delaware county; lower extremities badly injured from an attack by an infuriated bull. Simon Purcell, aged thirty-four years, residing at Conshohocken; badly bruised about the back from the fall of a rock. John Lentz, aged sixteen years, residing in Tasker street; thumb cut off by a bar of iron falling on it at Morris & Tasker's foundry.

The man who was knocked down by Giacco Mayoretto, at Sixth and South streets, and taken to the hospital, was so inebriated that his name could not be ascertained. He received injuries about the head.

—A special meeting of the Devotional Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last evening at their rooms in Chesnut street, above Twelfth, for the purpose of adopting plans for the summer work of the association. After some discussion it was decided that the committee would recommend the holding of out-door or open-air meetings and the establishment of Bible teachers' cottage prayer meetings, Sunday Schools, and visitation among the poor and neglected of the city. One of the designs in inaugurating these movements is to get church members now uninterested in the different instrumentalities for good aroused to a sense of their duty as members of the Church of Christ. The meeting was well

-The Committee of Councils on Fire and Trusts held a special meeting last evening to consider plans for the reorganization of the Fire Department.

The plan for the redistricting of the city, allowing the various companies to attend the fires in the districts in which they are located and portions of adjoining districts, adopted recently by a convention of firemen, was, after some discussion, rejected by the following vote:-

Yeas-Messrs. Burnell, Marcus, Nickels, and Stiles-4. Nays-Messrs. Armstrong, Fareira, Plumly, Sherman, and Hanna, chairman-5, It was then determined to report to Councils the box system, by the following vote:-Yeas-Burnell, Fareira, Plumly, Shermer, Stiles, and Hanna, chairman-6.

Nays-Armstrong, Marcus, Nickels-3. Under this system a certain number of companies nearest to the box from which the slarm may be given may attend the fire. If these should be insufficient to extinguish the fire, aid may be procured by summoning a certain number of those next nearest to the fire, and so on. The average number of companies that under this plan would be necessarily called upon is about fifteen, about onehalf of which will be steamers.

Domestic Affairs. -Gold closed yesterday at 112@1121. -Judge Bradley leaves for New Orleans on the 1st proximo.

-At last a New York city charter bill has passed the State Legislature. -The Taylor vs. Reading election case is to be considered in the House to-day. It seems pretty certain that the House will not reach the Funding bill for a month. -The proposition to admit New Mexico as a State will be considered by the Committee on Territories to-morrow. -Municipal elections were held in Colorado yesterday, and resulted in the success of nearly all the Republican candidates. -Colonel Johnson, Chief of the Sioux Indians, has offered 800 of his braves to the New Dominion Government to put down the insurrection.

-In the New Domision Parliament on Monday the Government said they had no information of the shooting of Scott in the Red River territory.

—President Grant, his Cabinet, and the Congressional committees will leave Washington to-morrow morning to attend the obsequies of General Thomas at Troy. The Connecticut election has resulted in the choice of English for Governor by a small majority. In both branches of the Legislature the Republicans have a majority. -The memorial services in honor of the late General Thomas, held in the Hall of the House of Representatives last evening, were a fitting tribute to the deceased hero. -To-day the question of allowing foreign-built ships to take out American registers will be discussed by the Senate and House Commerce Committees in joint session.

Foreign Affairs.

-The ministerial crisis in Spain is ended. -Queen Victoria has given her assent to the Irish Peace bill. -A special envoy is being despatched by

Prussia to China and Japan. -Cambridge's chances of a victory in the University boat race look brighter. -Charles Dickens presided at the annual news-venders' dinner in London last evening. -Leave to introduce a bill for the payment of members was refused in the House of Commons yesterday.

-On Monday the new conscription law went into operation in Spain. Disturbances are reported in some places.

MAJOR-GENERAL THOMAS.

The Meeting Last Evening in the House of Representatives Speeches on the Occasion. Washington, April 5.—The memorial services in honor of the late Major-General Thomas were held in the hall of the House of Representatives to-night. The galleries were densely crowded, and in the place allowed the diplomatic corps were several foreign ministers, attaches of legations, and ladies of their respective families. The gallery opposite the Speaker's chair was occupied by the Marine Band. The places on the floor were filled principally by Representatives and Senators, together with judges of the District of Columbia Courts, and officers of the army, including General Sherman.

On one side of the main aisle, fronting the area in front of the Speaker's chair, were President Grant, Secretaries Fish, Robeson, and Belknap, Attorney-General Hoar, and Postmaster-General Creswell (Secretary Boutwell is absent from the city). On the other side of the area were Chief Justice Chase and all the other justices of the United States

Supreme Court.

The hall was decorated over the doorways with national flags draped with crape, and there was a similar arrangement in the front of the gallery immediately in the rear of the Speaker's clasic, with the addition of a large phe tograph of General Thomas.

After a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Newman the Marine Band played a dirge.

Remarks were made by General Cox, who said they had met to-night to mourn the death of one whom the nation pronounced to be one of its greatest men. By friend and foe he was regarded as a model man, both as a soldier and citizen. His own claim to be here to-night was that he served with General Thomas in several campaigns and was honored with his friendship. He passed a high eulogium upon the character of the deceased for bravery, modesty, and stern in-

General McCook, Governor of Colorado, said that the presence here to-night of not only the comrades who had served with General Thomas, but the representatives of the people of the United States who conferred upon him his rank and honors, attest the grief which possessed all hearts, and after paying a tribute to the virtues of the deceased general, General McCook read a series of resolutions, concluding as follows:-

Resolved, That in the Simple but massive greatness, the exact justice, the entire devotion to the interests of his country which characterized General Thomas, we recognize his likeness to him who was "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of

Resolved, That his name and memory can never perish from the hearts of his soldiers or his countrymen, and the last sad tribute we can pay to him is to thus record our love, our admiration, and our

General Sherman said that his mind turned back thirty years ago when life was fresh and new, and in this connection he spoke of their intimacy while in Florida, and then briefly traced the military career of his deceased comrade, concluding with the remark that his death might be traced to long exposure and the shocks that ever attend the tumults of war, and to the providence of that God who rules all things for the best.

Chief Justice Chase next said that he and his associates of the Supreme Court came to join the honored President and Cabinet, and Senators and Representatives, and all of their fellow-citizens, in homage to the memory of the great soldier whom the nation mourns. He also spoke of him as a private citizen, possessed of singular intelligence and accuracy of information.

If he were called upon to name his most distinguishing feature, he would say it was self-abnegation. Perhaps it would be more correct to say absolute unconsciousness of self. His patriotism was profound and sincere; but it was not the patriotism which lives upon the lips. He was without fear and without reproach.

The Arion Society then sang a dirge. Carl Schurz was introduced as a general of the volunteer army, but now a Senator from Missouri. He said, in speaking of General Thomas, his eulogy was written in millions of hearts before he died. The oath he had taken to defend the republic and maintain the laws was more potent in his patriotic heart than the voice of his mother State. From obscurity he rose to fame, but fame did not affect the glorious simplicity of his char-

General Garfield said it was his privilege to know General Thomas as his friend; for two years he saw him every day in some of the most stirring scenes of his life. He called attention to the great gift of character and fame he left to his country. First and foremost was the patriotism of the deceased. Born in Virginia, loving his native State, as we all love our own, his heart full of its traditions, and where all he loved was centred; yet, when the day of trial came, he never needed to make a choice; he was on the right side; he was no doubting Thomas. The tite wounds becountry needed not to show fore he believed, but when the first threat was made against his country's liberties, he took sides with the republic against all ene-

General Cox said that putting the resolutions to a vote was merely a matter of form, but it might, nevertheless, be satisfactory to take the question, and he thereupon stated it, and the resolutions were adopted. It was also resolved that a copy should be sent to the widow of General Thomas, and the assembly separated.
