NEWS SUMMARY.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania, held on Tuesday, Dr. D. Hayes Agnew, the eminent surgeon, so long and favorably known in connection with the school, was elected Professor of Clinical and Demonstrative Surgery.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Rosine Association was celebrated yesterday afternoon, at the asylum, Germantown avenue, below Rising Sun lane. A large number of the managers were present, together with many of the lady friends of this excellent institution.

-The Coroner held an inquest yesterday, as follows:-On an unknown man, found drowned at Washington street wharf. Deceased was about 30 years old, and had on dark pants, vest, sack coat, and long boots. He was about five feet six inches high, and had been in the water about one month.

An inquest was also held on the body of Felix Douglass, an old man, found dead in an out-house, back of No. 828 Bainbridge street.

Verdict, death from debility.

—At a meeting of the Board of Health yesterday, the contract awarded for cleansing the streets in the Twentieth district (Frankford) was annulled, the contractor neglecting to perform the work. The Inspectors of Streets reported to the board that only five or six of the contractors had fully complied with the terms of their contracts. Special committees of the board will examine into the subject and report upon the propriety of an-nulling all contracts where little or no work has been done.

-Deputy Collector Kerns, of the First District, acting on information received by Colonel Peter Sides, Assessor, yesterday seized the cigar store and factory of Catha-rina Johannes, No. 505 South Second street. In the store was one person making cigars, and in the fourth story four additional hands. Bonds had only been entered for one hand, and the cigars made by those up stairs were nover returned to the Assessor. The Col-lector found ten cases of leaf tobacco, a large quantity of smoking and chewing tobacco, and several thousands of cigars.

—Patrick Williams, who was shot at Eleventh and Sansom streets, on Wednesday evening, died about five o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Pennsylvania Hospital. A number of the friends of the wounded man remained at his bedside up to the time of his death, and conversed with him in reference to the shooting. Williams refused to give any information as to the name of the party whe committed the deed. He admitted, however, that he provoked the assault. The person in custody on the charge of having fired the fatal shot is named Frank McCoy, and not Frank O'Donnell, as previously published. An inquest in the case of Williams will be held at three o'clock this afternoon.

-Yesterday afternoon the Cathedral was crowded to overflowing to welcome Bishop Wood, just returned from the (Ecumenical Council at Rome. The Bishop entered the Cathedral, accompanied by Rev. Charles O'Connor, late vice rector of the American College, and Rev. John Elcock, of the Cathe-Very Rev. C. J. H. Carter, Administrator of the diocese during the Bishop's absence, acted as High Priest. Rev. A. J. McConomy, Rev. F. P. O'Neill, and Mr. J. Boyle acted as Masters of Ceremonies. Over one hundred of the clergy were present, many of whom were from the country. The ceremony commenced with a procession, which proceeded up the centre aisle of the Cathe-

An address was made by Very Rev. James O'Connor, D. D., to which Right Rev. Bishop Wood responded.

-Next week there will be a new drawing for seats in the House of Representatives. -On Monday next the Funding bill will be taken up by the House Ways and Means Committee.

-To-day the joint Committee on Commerce meet to consider the question of registering foreign vessels. -A Baltimore financier intimates his intention, in the event of the Funding bill passing, of purchasing $250,000 worth of the new bonds. -Some progress, but very little, was made with the Tariff bill in the House yesterday. Members seem determined to make speeches on every line. -Governor Geary sent to the Legislature yesterday a veto of the Jersey Shore Railroad bill. No attempt was made to proceed any further with the measure.

Foreign Affairs. -Changes are contemplated in the British Cabinet. -Rouher is accused of encouraging the strike at La Creuzat.

-The new Irish peace law was enforced in Dublin yesterday. -Queen Victoria declines to visit Belfast to inaugurate an Albert memorial. -Count Daru and Buffet, Minister of Finance, it is reported in Paris, have resigned.

-Napoleon is said to have met with an accident while mounting his horse yesterday. -Ollivier and Jules Janin have been elected members of the Academy of France. -At an election in Baltimore yesterday colored votes were refused on the ground that there had been no time for them to register. There is some talk of contesting the election in consequence.

THE STAR COURSE.

The Final Lecture-Presentation of a Testi-monial to Mr. Pugh-Another Course Asked

As on all occasions when a lecture was to be delivered in the "Star Course," the Academy was filled to overflowing, last evening, to listen to the eloquent and favorite champion of her sex, Miss Anna E. Dickinson, the subject announced being "To the Rescue."

Not only the auditorium but the spacious stage was entirely occupied by the largest audience that has greeted any lecturer of the

Prior to the introduction of the lecturess William Rotch Wister, Esq., came forward and said:-I am not here for the purpose of apologizing for the non-appearance of a singer; but I have in my hand a paper requesting Mr. Pugh to get up a new course of lectures He has gotten the previous ones up with that tact, liberality, and ability for which he is so celebrated. This paper is a testimonial for what is past, and a request for what we hope will come, as has been testified by your oftrepeated approbation. The friends of Mr. Pugh think his course is deserving of approval. After I have presented this testimonial, you may testify your approval or disapproval, as may seem to you most fit. Wister then read the following letter:-To T. B. Pugh, Eeq., Manager of "The Star Course of Lectures:"—

Bir:—The undersigned, highly appreciating the energy, ability, and fidelity with which you have conducted the most brilliant and effective series of literary entertainments ever given in our city, desire to express our obligations to you for the gratificallon we have experienced.

The able and successful manner in which the enterprise has been managed, as well in the happy selection of the first secure talent in the country as in the continued effort to provide for the comfort and convenience of immense audiences, commands our hearty approbation.

We do therefore respectfully and earnestly request that, on the r larn of the season, you will provide the lecture-goi c community with a like series of varied and elega... literary entertainments, being well assured that the citizens of Philadelphia, remembering the season now closing, will be ready and happy to welcome and to give a hearty support our hearty approbation. to such an enterprise to one who has so thoroughly earned their confidence in the past.

Signed by James Thompson, John M. Read, Joseph Allison, James R. Ludlow, William S. Peirce, E. M. Paxson, J. B. Lippincott, William Rotch Wister, and many others.

The testimonial consisted of an elegantly engrossed copy of the above, magnificently framed. The testimonial was received by Dr. James White on behalf of Mr. Pugh who, in the course of his address, stated that only one thing marred his congratulatory feelings on this occasion, and that was that Senator Revels, of Mississippi, would not be allowed to address the people of Philadelphia from this stage, but his sorrow was somewhat modified by the fact that he was authorized to make the announcement that the Senator would address them in another place. He returned thanks for the appreciation that had greeted the efforts of Mr. Pugh.

Miss Dickinson then came forward, dressed in a black silk, whose perfect absence of color was only relieved by a dainty frill of lace around the neck.

Miss Dickinson said that after travelling so many miles she was glad to face such an audience as this. She wished to make a few remarks before commencing the main subject of her discourse. They were, that since she last stood on this stage an act had been committed that had brought a blush to her cheek. She had heard in far-off cities and towns that Senator Revels had been refused permission to stand on this platform. She, as a Philadelphia woman, had said that a dozen men did not represent that great city, and that on the 14th of this month it would be proved that Philadelphia did not endorse such action.

She had been met with remarks in regard to this action because it was Philadelphia, and other cities do not hesitate to mention it to show that they rejoice in the apparent fall. Miss Dickinson then referred to the disgraceful action of the students at the clinics recently held in this city, but she felt assured that such actions were not endorsed by the people at large. The question would soon be decided by the Pennsylvania Hospilal as to whether women should attend the clinics. She was certain it would be favorable, and the comparison between their noble action in this respect as to equality of right and privilege contrasted most favorable with the action of the directors of this Academy. She desired to say this much, as she had the right to say it here among her friends and neigh-

Miss Dickinson then proceeded to sketch the beauties and glories of the Pacific slopesthe hundreds of miles of rolling prairies, the lofty mountains, the mighty rivers. The idea that mostly strikes the observer is one of endlessness. It appears as if you were indeed done with life, and the everlasting eternity had overtaken you.

The lecturess retired amid the delighted plaudits of the audience.

Immediately on the conclusion a treat was unexpectedly given to most of the audience by the exhibition of stereopticon pictures of the entire Star Course lecturers in the following order:Miss Anna Dickinson, R. J. De Cordova, Miss Olive Logan, Hon. S. S. Cox, Charles Sumner, Rev. Robert Collyer, Mark Twain, Wendell Phillips, P. V. Nasby, R. W. Emer-son, Dr. E. H. Chapin, George William Curtis, Prof. Henry Morton, and Bayard

Taylor. The appearance of Mr. Taylor's picture on the canvas was the signal for a storm of hisses, intermisgled with applause. We do not know the reason of the hisses. It certainly was in extremely bad taste. We notice among those who applauded the fair lecturess, Miss Dickinsen, who afterwards expressed herself in strong condemnatory terms of the unseemly exhibition of dislike. After the excitement had subsided the portrait of John G. Saxe was thrown upon the canvas, followed by Professor R. E. Rogers, P. R. du Chaillu, and Senator H. C. Revels, of Mississippi.

This picture was also greeted with hisses. This is more easily accounted for than that of Mr. Taylor. The action of the Academy directors and the ferce of Democratic doctrine had led some of the audience into the idea that they were in the midst of a political campaign. For a few minutes a scene of wild confusion ensued, hisses and cheers being about evenly balanced. Miss Dickinson stepped to the front of the stage and made the following palpable hit: -

"Since I am at home I will take the liberty of say-"Since I am at home I will take the liberty of saying one word for this benefit of those who are hissing. Since they manifestly have the right in their turn to applaud, I would suggest that the opportunity be given them by a presentation of the picture of Senator Revels' predecessor, Jefferson Davis. (Loud applause, during which the hisses found it convenient to subside.) The announcement was made that Senator Revels would lecture at Horticultural Hall next Thursday evening, which announcement was greeted with loud cheers, the first heard in the Academy for a long time. Some of the audience undoubtedly need to be still further instructed as to the force of the fifteenth amendment.

PREPARED STRICTLY ACCORDING TO THE LAWS OF MEDICAL CHEMISTRY.

The University Medicines are propared in consonance with the views of a number of distinguished living American Physicians, who believe that the time is come when educated Physicians should arise and make a decisive effort to everthrow the health-destroying system of Quackery prevailing in every town and city, and substitute SCIENTIFIC RESPONSIBLE REMEDIALS, in place of the worthless or dangerous Patent Medicines flooding the country.

These remedies are prepared by the newly discovered Chemical process of Professor Scott, termed STEAM FILTRATION, by which the entire Active Principle of any herb, drug, or chemical is thoroughly extracted, and its curative properties increased a hundred fold over those made in the ordinary manner.

They are standard, most of the ingredients constituting them having been used by the physicians of the University, in their private practice, for more than twenty years. Although but recently brought before the public in their present form as FIRESILE REMEDIES, they are rapidly superseding the old poisons, Patent Medicines and Nauscous Brugs.

They are taken in small doses.

They are pleasant to the taste.

Their effects are almost instantaneous.

There are harmless to all.

We have no one CURE ALL for all diseases, but a regular system of Remedies and a valuable Medical Book sent free to any address.
