THE OPENING.

An Enthusiastic Meeting of the Friends of William D. Keiley.

A large number of citizens favorable to the renomination of Hon. William D. Kelley as Representative in Congress from the Fourth district, in this city, was held last night in Spring Garden Hall, at the northwest corner of Thirteenth and Spring Garden streets. Richard Chambers presided; William B. Webb, Joseph Chapman, Joseph G. Rittenhouse, Thomas R. Bigelow, William Devitt, Joseph Collins, and John H. Miller acted as Vice-Presidents; and Thomas R. W. S. Kochersperger, Robert B. Dixon, Lewis Reimer, J. H. Pugh, and James Macnichol acted as Secretaries. The President read the call for the meeting, and introduced Major A. R. Calhoun, who said Mr. Kelley's course was as well known to the nation as in the district he represented, and is more fully appreciated by the nation at large than in his own district. It was the men from Pennsylvania who most distinguished themselves that were the most shused and slandered, and under his hat Mr. Kelley probably earried more brains than any other of our representatives in Congress. It may be said that he is a renegade Democrat, but the man who never changes his opinions never corrects his errors. It is simply a matter of education, and among the strongest advocates of Republicanism to-day are the men who were the brains, in years gone by, of the effete Democratic party, that now drags out so miserable an existence. One of them was Hon. William D. Kelley.

He then reviewed and enlogized the course of Mr. Kelley during the late war, and maintained that but for him the coal mines and vast industrial interests of Pennsylvania would lie idle. In one day 700 letters came to the room of Mr. Kelley, marked special and private, each one being an application for office. If Mr. Kelley had been sent to Congress as an office-seeker he had been a failure; he had been a statesman for Pennsylvania and the whole land. He does not wish to go to Washington for personal ag-grandizement; he has worked harder for the protection of the industries and labor of the country than any other Congressman since the times of Henry Clay.

Mr. Edwin H. Coates followed, saying that there may be reasons in the breastr of some men why Judge Kelley should not be sent back to Congress. It is said that he has been there for many years. But so was John Quincy Adams for many years a representa-tive of Massachusetts. He was kept in Con-gress because he stood up for the right of petition. Judge Kelley stood up not merely for the right of petition for the abolition of slavery, but for the abolition of slavery itself. It was important for those engaged in the great Republican movement of the day to be united in this crisis. The Republi-can party was never organized to vindicate the rights of the slave and to give him the ballot, but to carry out the principles laid down in the Constitution.

Addresses were also made by Thomas W. Price, Esq., and Captain Mackey, eulogistic of Mr. Kelley's Congressional career and the positions he took upon all the leading questions of the times, and especially on that of protection. The meeting then adjourned with cheers for Mr. Kelley.

MEDICAL.

THE UNIVERSITY MEDICINES ARE THE FAVORITE PRESCRIPTIONS OF THE

York Medical University Reliable Remedies of a high Scientific character, designed for the cure of all discusses.

PREPARED STRICTLY ACCORDING TO THE LAWS OF M. DICAL CHEMISTRY.

The University Medicines are precared in consonance with the views of a number of distinguished living American Physicians, who believe that the time is come when educated Poysicians should arise and make a decisive effort to cerethrew the health-destroying system of Quackery prevailing in every town and city, and substitute SCIENTIFIO RESPONSHLE REMEDIALS, in place of the worthless or dangerous Patent Medicines flooding the country.

These remedies are prepared by the newly discovered Chemical process of Procesor Scott, termed STEAM FILTRATION, by which the entire Active Principle of any herb, drug, or chemical is thoroughly extracted, and its curative properties increased a hundred fold over those made in the ordinary masner.

They are standard, most of the ingredients constituting them having been used by the physicians of the University, in their private practice, for more than twenty years. Although but recently brought before the public in their present form as FIRICH. E REMEDIES, they are repidly superseding the old poisons, Patent Medicines and Nauscous Drups.
