THE DAILY EVENING TELEGRAPH-PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1870.

NEW.YORHISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORE, April 15, 1870. Dawn-town Delmonico's, at the corner of Chambers street and Broadway, has been newly decorated, and painted in pink and gold. The best of cating is to be enjoyed among the best of upholstery, and you dine off viands while reposing on velvet. This change has not been made before it was necessary. Delmonico's, like Wallack's, has preserved its great name without those improvements which places of small note avail themselves of without obtaining much additional fame. Delmonico's up-town is a shabby but intensely respectable affair; Delmonico's down not quite so shaboy, and with a little of the respectable nap worn off. The gold and pink, consequently, were needed. The European Circos

Is stationed at the Empire Skating Rink, at the corner of Sixty-fifth street and Third avenue, but it draws the people notwithstanding. The backless benches are arranged in the fashion observed at country performances, and the conve tional sawdust of the ring is replaced with shavings. One of the African lions has been advertising himself by biting in the shoulder the interesting gymnast who performs with them, and Mr. Bergh is said to be nightly among the audience for the purpose of seeing that the animals are compassionately treated. Suddenly Disappeared.

This is the case with a Mr. George O. Colt. who vanished out of the sight and knowledge of his wife, family, and friends more than four months ago, and was only discovered a day or two since. The place of his discovery is remarkable, considering the time that has elapsed since he first disappeared. His body, all doubled up and past recognition, was discovered in a little out-house in the yard attached to his own dwelling. He had been attlicted with a complication of maladies, among which was heart disease, and it is supposed he died of that. A few days after his disappearance his wife and family moved to a quarter of the city distant from where they had been living, and although a child of her former neighbor had frequently called the attention of his mother to the fact that the body of a man was lying across the floor of an out-house, no notice was taken of it until a day or two ago. Then at length the body was discovered to be that of Mr. Colt. A strange coincidence, is it not?

Chucked Out of the Window.

Yesterday evening a young lady was chucked out of the window by a wealthy gentleman and obliged to take up her quarters on the plazza. Her offense was helinous, and when I mention what it was you will quite agree with me that her punishment was very light. The miserable being was a governess in the family of the wealthy Christian gentleman who is one of the pillars of St. James' Episcopal Church. Besides transacting her duties as governess she has likewise nursed and restored to health the wife of the wealthy Christian gentleman. Yesterday she ventured to ask the wealthy Christian gentleman for a large amount of salary that was due her. Some altercation occurred, which was ended by the wealthy Christian gentleman giving her so violent a push as to precipitate her out of a plate - glass window. The smash was heard across the road and the distance of several pavements up and down the street. The young lady managed to get in the house again, but the wealthy Christian gentleman again expressed his disapprobation of her conduct by ejecting her in similar fashion. The shades of evening began to close around the scene. So did a crowd. Neighbors expressed their sympathies and congratulations, and offered the criminal shelter. is she refused, however, stationed herself on the piazza, and, for all I know, remained there until this morning, for the wealthy Christian gentleman kept his doors closed, and had posted sentinels to prevent the re-entrance of the dangerous character through the smashed parlor window. The locality where the windowsmashing and the young lady chucking took place is on Ryerson street, between Willoughby and Myrtle avenues. Mr. Fechter has selected next Monday evening week as the date of his reappearance in this city. It was at first intended that he should occupy the Academy of Music, but the French Theatre has since been determined on. He is to be supported there by the same company which was recently in your city, commencing with "Claude Melnotte," and continuing with the "Corsican Brott ers." His managers want him to play "Obenreizer." but will succeed only if they convince him that they will produce the play well both with regard to cast and scenery. The portralture given a season or so ago by Mr. Florence is said by those who have seen both it and Mr. Fechter's to be a weak imitation of the trilingual's. The one is described as a rich oil painting, the other as a pale water-color sketch. Mr. Fechter's managers, too, have a great trouble with him in this respect, namely, that while the public prefers him in melodrama, he is bent upon appearing in legitimate tragedy. It is the same old story over again of a great artist's mistaking his forte. Even Lester Wallack believes to this day that there is only one man living who can play "Hamlet," and that man is Lester Wallack.

public an ample opportunity to become acquainted with the merits of the many superior works it contains, and which fully deserve and should receive careful examination. Owing, however, to the fact that the Italian opera season will open on Thursday, and attract many of the better class of picture-buyers, it was judged expedient to commence the sale on Tuesday. The pictures are now arranged for exhibition at Mr. Scott's galleries, and the catalogues will be ready today. Mr. D'Huyvetter is too well known as an artistic expert for any special allusion to be made to him, and it is sufficient to say that his name in connection with a sale of this kind is a guarantee of the excellence of the works of art to be sold. The collection now on exhibition contains a large number of Mr. D'Huyvetter's private pictures, selected by him from the studios of Europe for the gratification of his own tastes: and the opportunity, therefore, for picture buyers to select works of the first rank is one such as is not often offered. Those who are interested in art should drop in at Mr. Scott's gallery and examine these works, whether they intend purchasing or not. STUDY TO PLEASE .- It was our pleasure a few days ago to step into the old and wellestablished grocery store of Messra. Crippen & Maddock, No. 115 South Third street, below Chesnut street, and we are pleased to state we found many articles lower in price than we have yet seen or heard of; for example, their canned tomatoes of fine quality were only 14 cents per can, and fresh peaches only 15 cents per can, and other canned goods, such as green peas, mushrooms, green gages, truffles, etc., equally low in price. We noticed also that they keep a very fine assortment of the best brand of sugar-cured hams known in this market, at such prices as cannot fall to suit the buyer. Their teas and coffees, of the finest quality too, we noticed had been reduced some 25 per cent. or more, and in fact all their merchandise to which our notice was called seemed to possess the same inviting features. As this firm is well known to our readers as having the reputation of sceping the finest quality of groceries, we take pleasure in recommending our friends to give Messrs. Crippen & Maddock, at No. 115 South Third street, a call before purchasing elsewhere.

THE ITALIAN OPERA .- The troupe of artists that will appear at the Academy of Music on Thursday, April 21, with Signor Brignoli, has been performing with much success in various parts of the country, and as we have not been surfeited with Italian opera this season, the six entertainments announced ought to attract large andiences. The operas to be produced are Lucia di Lammermoor, Don Pasquale, Martha, Trovatore, Il Barbiere, and Lucrezia Borgia. One of the prominent features of the season will be the appearance of Madame Gazzaniga, who will personate the gipsy "Azucena" in *Trora-*tore for the first time. The sale of subscription tickets will commence on Monday next at Boner's, No. 1102 Chesnut street.

AT THE WALNUT Boucicault's comedy of London Assurance and the drama of Eustache, the Condemned will be performed this evening.

To-morrow there will be a matinee, when Unele Tom's Cabin will be represented. To-morrow evening Mr. Lewis Morrison will have his first benefit in this city. The dramas of Pizarro and Jack Sheppard are announced. Mr. Morrison is a talented actor, who never slights his work, and who has steadily won upon the regards of the patrons of the Walnut during the present season. He deserves the compliment of a full house to-morrow. AT THE CHESNUT the burlesque of The Field of the Cloth of Gold will be presented this Oysters by Telegraph.

A rather interesting case is on before Judge McCunn, of the Superior Court. It illustrates the dire effects of illegible hand-writing, and it is brought by a couple of dealers in oysters, James A. Young and Robert H. Lool's, against the Western Union Telegraph Company. The plaintiffs have agents at Norfolk, and lately had occasion to telegraph to them with regard to their future operations in oysters. They profess to have written thus: -"Send no more oysters until further orders." The telegram which really reached the Norfolk agents read, "Send us more oysters until further orders." Thinking there must be some mistake, the Norfolk agents applied to the telegraph operator to repeat the message. He did so, and informed them that it was correct. A large cargo of oysters was then sent to Messrs. Young and Looks, greatly to their amazement, and they claim that in consequence of the ovster season being almost overthey have lost nearly one thousand dollars.

A party of very silly young men have given what they call "glee-singing" at Steinway Hall. The entertainment was an olla-podrida of college-songs and German part-songs, and was attended by an audience composed entirely of Yale graduates, who blushed at the puerility of the affair. That Yale College Glee-singing will not be repeated. ALI BABA.

IT Is SPLENDED.- Most of our readers have probably heard of the patent article manofactored fro Moss, and known as SEA MOSS FARINE, which Mr. Rand, a distinguished practical chemist, has recently intro duced into the kitchens of America. Liebig, with all his recipes for concentrating the life-sustaining elements of animal food, has never done society so great a service. He has been successful in extracting the nutritious mate rial from meats, and condensing it into a small compas-but he has given us no article that, like the Sea Moss Farine, will increase mere than one-third the quantity of wholesome bread obtainable under ordinary circumstances from a given quantity of flour. We are not prone to place much confidence in new discoveries, even when announced under the sanction of a patent; but the testimony in favor of this cheap and simple preparation is ac overwhelming, and has been so entirely corroborated by our own experience, that we cannot and do not hesitate to recommend it most emphatically to the attention of every household destrons of combining economy with the enjoyment of luxurious and deliciou articles of food.
