REVIEW OF NEW BOOKS.

THE LUCK OF ROARING CAMP, ETC. By Francis Bret Harte. Published by Fields, Osgood & Co. Philadelphia Agents: J. B. Lippincett & Co.

All of the stories and sketches contained in this little volume have, we believe, been published in The Overland Monthly, of which Mr. Harte is editor, and many of them have been extensively copied by the newspapers, and have achieved a great popularity in all sections of the country. We are glad to see these sketches, and are pleased to see them collected in a book form that will give them a permanent place in literature that they could scarcely enjoy while floating around in the newspapers, for two reasonsthey are intrinsically good in themselves and eminently worthy of an even greater popularity than they have attained, and they point very plainly to the right path for American authors to tread if we are to have a distinctively American literature. Mr. Harte is a master of the very rare art of writing a good short story. All of the sketches in this book are short, and yet they say all that need be said, and they apparently exhaust their subjects. Their chief merit, however, is that they show the power of a true artist to detect the latent poetry that exists in the most unpromising subjects, and they are undeniably the finest sketches of the rough life of the gold diggings that have ever been given to the world. Other writers have essayed the same line of subjects, but they have either drawn upon their imaginations or have contented themselves with mere descriptions of the outward characteristics, and few if any have attempted to go below the surface in search of the finer qualities of human nature that underlie even the roughest exteriors. This, however, is the great merit of Mr. Harte's stories, and while, with the instinct of a poet, he keeps in the background the most offensive features of his subjects, his sketches are nevertheless true to life, and they are characterized by a mingling of humor and pathos that accounts in a large measure for their popularity. They are liked, however, by the mass of the readers because they are emphatically American in subject and treatment: they smell of the soil, and they suggest unlimited opportunities for writers who will study the humanity that surrounds them, and put it in their works, instead of adopting Dickens, Thackeray, George Eliot, or Charles Reade for their models. "The Luck of Roaring Camp," from which the book takes its title, is one of the best of the series, but all are so very good that it is impossible to declare a preference, and we commend them to our readers with far greater cordiality than we do most of the current fiction of the day.

J. B. Lippincott & Co. also send us "Henry Courtland; or, What a Farmer Can Do," by A. J. Cline. The object of this story appears to be to glorify the occupation of the farmer, and with such a worthy object in view we regret that the author did not produce a more entertaining narrative.

-From William Flint, No. 26 South Seventh street, we have received "The Secrets of Internal Revenue," by U. S. Vidocq, edited by Franklin Eliot Norton. This work commences with the attempted assassination of Revenue Detective Officer James J. Brooks, and gives the various operations of the whisky ring in various parts of the country; the performances of the gold ring, with an account of the great gold panic in Wall street in last September, and various other matters of interest. The book appears to have been compiled entirely from the columns of the newspapers, and much of it is put together in a very clumsy manner. So far as the secrets of the internal revenue are concerned, we discover nothing in it that has not already been made public, and we find very little to commend except the fact that it gives a mass of information about the matters of which it treats in a more compact shape than could be obtained elsewhere. -"Minnesota as it is in 1870," by J. W McClurg, of St. Paul, Minnesota, is a very complete description of a State that is apparently destined to become one of the most prominent in the whole Union. The Northern Pacific Railroad will make Minnesota, and in view of the early inception of that great work the information contained in such a work as this will be of value to capitalists, business men, and prospective settlers, as well as invalids and tourists.

OUR RELIGIOUS COLUMN.

SUMMARY OF CHURCH NEWS.

EPISCOPAL. -Rev. Thomas S. Yocum, late of this city, has been called to the rectorship of Christ Episcopal Church, Cincinnati, as the successor of the Rev. W. A. Snively. —The Rev. J. J. A. Morgan, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church at Southampton, and some years a teacher at Hempstead, was ordained a deacon in the Episcopal church at Brooklyn last week.

-At the late Episcopal Visitation at Columbus, Ohio, Bishop Bedeil stated that between Columbus and Marietta there is no Episcopal church, except at Lancaster; and between Ma rietta and Ironton there are but two small churches, one at Pomeroy, and the other at Gallipolis.

-Notwithstanding his bad behavior, as viewed from Bishop Whitehouse's standpoint, the Rev. C. E. Cheney seems to have done considerable good work in Chicago. When he took his church in 1860, it was on the open prairie. with some seven members, in a house worth $1260. They now have 330 communicants, and 1100 scholars in Sunday Schools.

-When the Episcopal Diocese of Albany went off from that of New York, says the Independent, was understood that the Episcopal fund was to be divided. But the Diocese of New York refuses; and a bill has passed the State Legislature authorizing the trustees of the Episcopal fund of Albany to sue their New York brethren for the amount.

METHODIST.

-The Free Methodist Church, which was organized in 1860, has now one hundred and nine preachers, and about six thousand members. It has four Annual Conferences.

Bishop Kingsley leaves a widow and five children. Four of these are daughters, one of whom, Eliza, is married. The son, Frank, is employed by the Western Methodist Book Con-Before leaving on his oriental tour, the cern. Bishop had his life insured to the amount of $4000

-There are fifty students in attendance at the Boston Theological Seminary (Methodist). An effort is making to secure the balance of the two hundred thousand dollars, three fifths of which are pledged on condition that all is raised-that the endowment of the Seminary may be completed, and the buildings immediately begun.

-We learn that the congregation of the Eleventh Street M. E. Church last Sabbath received ten new members, and promises to be largely increased. Rev. T. A. Feraley, its pas-tor, is well known in this city as one of our most active and catholic ministers. A series of sermons now being preached by him on 'Inclsermons now being preaches by him of the dents in the History of Christ between the Re-surrection and Ascension" is attracting much attention. To-morrow (Sabbath) his subject will be "Thomas: or, the Skeptic Cured." The Washington avenue. The parsonage of the church, 933 Federal street, has recently been handsomely fitted up by the ladies of the congregation.

REFORMED.

-During the past year the First Reformed Church of Freehold, N. J., have erected a neat and commodious chapel in the village of Marlboro, at a cost of over $3000, all of which has been paid.

-The First Reformed Church, corner of Seventh and Spring Garden streets, is meeting with a steady and healthful growth. Subjected, as some of our readers know, in late years to numerous difficulties, it is cheering to report that since the present pastor, Rev. T. X. Orr, assumed the pastorate, just one year ago, peace, prosperity, and a marked degree of encouragement are made manifest. Large congregations are in attendance on Sabbath as well as the week-day meetings. The subject of congregational singing is receiving attention; and with this in view a fine organ has been recently placed in the capacious lecture-room to aid in the devotional exercises. A congregational re-union is appointed for Tuesday evening next, partly with the design of celebrating the anniversary of the present pastoral relation.

would give a total of 1,826,421 members. The Methodist branches have about 2,135,000 members. The Saptist strength is greatest in Georgia, bers. The dapthet strength is greatest in Georgia, where they have 1478 churches, with an ave-rage of 70 members; and in Virginia, where 764 churches have 107,584 members, an average of 150 members. New York has 100,502 members; Kentucky, 88,177; North Carolina, 76,100; Illi-nois, 59,585; Massachusetts, 39,831; and Rhode Island (the birthplace of the denomination), 9116. Their Sunday Schools last year reported 325 fdf runnia. Their S general societies reported 337,647 pupils. Their 8 general societies report $751,767 receipts; but, as the largest sum, $374,160, was most of it from the sales of the Publication Society, it is impossible to tell what were the exact contributions. The Foreign Missionary So-ciety received $190,898, and the Home Mission Society $144,032. If the average, leaving out the sales, comes up to only about 30 cents for each member, it must be remembered that more than half of this membership is in the South, where it is mainly composed of colored people, and where the missionary societies have hardly begun to appeal. Of other parts of the world, Canada has 43,375 Baptist members, 256,628 (mainly in England and Wales) Asia 18,740 (mainly Karens), Africa 1215 (mainly Liberians), the West Indics 19,544, and Australasia 2410-making a total of 342,282, not much more than one quarter of the number in this country

-The Baptist Educational Convention held last week in Brooklyn was well attended by tho public, and addresses were made by the leading Raptist educators of the country.

UNIVERSALISM.

-The Christian Leader complains that not a single religious paper has published its figures correcting a widely circulated statement that Universalism is declining relatively to other

Every Saturday contains a continuation of Dickens' new story, "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," and a large drawing of "Sairey Gamp and Betsy Prig," by Sol. Eytinge.

-The Central News Company, No. 505 Chesnut street, send us the latest numbers of The St. James' Magazine, Punch, and Fun. -The Schoolday Visitor for May, as usual, presents an agreeable variety of entertaining reading matter for young people. -The April number of The Journal of the Franklin Institute has a number of excellent articles on scientific and practical subjects.

-From John Murphy & Co., of Baltimore, we have received a pamphlet copy of a "Discourse on the Life and Character of George Peabody," delivered in the hall of the Peabody Institute, Baltimore, Feb. 18, 1870, and repeated Feb. 25 before the Senate and House of Delegates of Maryland, by Severn Teackle Wallis.

-Governor Hendee, of Vermont, is almost weil again.

-A small elephant belonging to a menagerie died in Cleveland last week, and one of the papers of the city, which reports that his re-mains were "bequeathed" to the Western Reserve College, gives him a feeling obluary no tice, closing with, "Remember, this is the last night of the show."

Mr. Lewis Sanctuary, who has canvassed a small town in Vermont, reports that of the ninety-two women over twenty-one years of age in the place, eighty-eight are decidedly opposed to having the suffrage added to their duties, and one would not express an opinion. Minority for woman's suffrage, three.

CONGREGATIONAL

-The church and society at Malden, Mass. have voted to extend a call to the Rev. Edward Hawes, of this city, and entertain consider-able hope that he will accept. —The Rev, Edwin P. Parker, of Hartford, who has been called to the Mount Vernon Church as colleague of Dr. Kirk, is a son of the Rev. Wooster Parker, of Belfast, Me., and a grandson of the Rev. Dr. Pond, of Bangor Seminary. His wife is an adopted daughter of President Harris, of Bowdoin College. PRES BYTERIANS.

-The Presbyterian Board of Publication (Old School) last year employed 156 colporteurs. -The Presbyteries of Fayetteville, N. C., and Louisiana, have voted against any revision of the old Book of Church Order.

-The Presbyterians of Millersburg, Ky., in conjunction with the Associate Reformed brethren, are about completing a handsome church edifice at a cost of $16,000.

-The Cumberland Presbyterian indignantly denies that the reason why that body did not separate during the war "is indicated by the fact that Jeremiah S. Black, Buchanan's Attorney. General, is their great oracle, religiously and politically

-James B. Converse, son of the Rev. Dr. Converse, was ordained to the work of the ministry as an Evangelist by East Hanover Presbytery. Mr. Converse has a call to the Mackemie Church in Accomac county, Eastern Shore of Virginia.

THE MORMONS.

-A convention of the Godbe-ite Mormon Re-form party was held April 6, 7, and 8, in Salt Lake City, by which Messrs. Godbe and Harrison were chosen councillors to the First Presi-dency, and Messrs. Kelsey and Shearman as two of the Twelve Apostles. The meetings were largely attended. The new movement takes the name of "The Church of Zion." Its first Sunday school was organized February 20. party takes ground against resisting the National Government on the question of polygamy; and, though its leaders disapprove of portions of the "Cullom bill," they hold that polygamy has become materialized to such an extent in Utah as to produce a proper reaction, and that the prac-tice should be abandoned. They say that, while the "Josephite" movement is directed towards extreme literalism in the interpretation of the Mormon Scriptures, allowing no further revelation, their own movement is the protest of the free reason against Brigham Young.

FREE RELIGIONISTS.

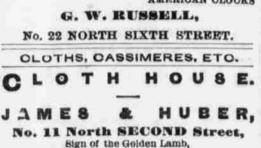

-For some time the objectors against the plan of organizing the right wing of Unitarian-ism have seemed to have it all their own way, We see, however, that Dr. R. P. Stebbins, in the Liberal Christian, once more defends the plan. He and others at first used the organization of the left wing as Free Religionists as an argument why they should do the same. The answer was made that this association is not composed of Unitarians, as such, but includes many outside of the denomination; and that, if the members of the right wing wished to combine in a similar way, it should be with any who accept the supernaturalism of the Bible.

BAPTIST.

-The National Baptist prints long tables of Baptist statistics, from which we learn that last year the number of associations increased from 651 to 728; of churches from 12,015 to 15,143; of ordained ministers from 8695 to 8787; of baptisms from 60,787 to 70,172; and of members from 1,141,988 to 1,221,349. This shows that the Baptists have 100,000 more members in full and papers is a set to the set of the members in full connection than the Methodists. But it must be remembered that the Southern Baptists are now united with their Northern brethren, while the more complete ecclesiastical system of the Methodists has kern the discourse body. has kept the dissevered bodies apart. Were the other immersing churches, as the Freewill Baptists, with their 66,691 members; the Beventh Day Baptists, with their 7336 members; the Disciples (Campbellites), with their 500,000 members, and the Winebrennarians, with their 30,-000, to be counted in with the regular Baptists, it
