Moyn vs. Hibernia. We give the following statement as we our-selves received it:—Early this morning, whilst the Hibernia Fire Company was proceeding to the fire at Fliteenth and Walnut streets, they were met at Eighth and Walnut by a large crowd of the members and adherents of the Moyamensing Hose Company, who had evidently lying in wait for them. Not being prepared for battle, the Hibernia halted, and for a time both companies refused to move. At length the Moya started off and turned up Tenth street; the Hi-bernia then started out Walnut street, but on reaching Tenth street they were attacked by the Moya roughs (who had returned) and severely handled. Andrew J. Casey, of the Hibernia, was badly beaten, as well as several others. The Mayor should at once investigate this matter. The Hibernia members, after returning home. gathered together a large crowd and proceeded with their carriage to Eighth and Fitzwater streets, where they raised a cry which was soon responded to by the Moya. Another row en-sued, and the carriage of the Hibernia was taken from the members. Finally the tumult subsided, and the carriage being recovered the Hibernia

RICHMOND AND YORK RIVER ROUTE TO THE SOUTH .- The large steamer State of Virginia, on the Richmond and York River line, made her first trip from Baltimore to West Point, Va., on Friday. She is 250 feet long, and fitted up in a style of magnificeece surpassing anything running on the Chesapeake Bay, and equalling in all respects the famous Sound and North river boats from New York. The State of Virginia is commanded by Captain L. W. Freeman, a very popular and agreeable gentleman, who has had years of experience on the Bay steamers, assisted by the clever and amiable James W. Biddle, clerk. Next week the fast steamer Admiral will be placed on the same line, under the command of Captain Phil. Reybold, son of Anthony Reybold, of Delaware City, and his clerk, Mr. V. B. Cavender. The Admiral is being fitted up in the same splendid style as her consort, and the two will supply a want long felt by the travelling community, under charge of gentlemen of acknowledged ability and per-sonal worth. The boats leave No. 90 Light street, Baltimore, at 4 P. M., on the arrival of the noon train from Philadelphia, and arrive in Richmond at 9.40 the following morning. By Richmond at 9:40 the following morning. By this route passengers are insured a comfortable night's rest in wide, new, and clean berths, and they reach the capital of Virginia early next day, and it is the only route to the same point by which the rest is undisturbed. The State of Virginia was built at Cfeveland, Ohio, and ran on the lakes as the Northerner. In 1862 she was brought east, and for some time was favorably known on Long Island Sound. Recently she has been completely overhauled, and received new engine and boilers from Neafle & Levy's shops of this city, and now is first-class in every

THE MISSISSIPPI ABDUCTION CASE .- Some weeks ago we published the facts relative to the abduction of a little girl by her uncle from her home in Mississippi. The uncle was captured in Manayunk by Lieutenaut Kelley, and the father of the child notified. A telegraphic reply was received stating that the father would at once visit this city. The prisoner, whose name was Cessna, was given several hearings, and the father (his brother) not appearing, he was discharged. Yesterday a Mr. E. A. Arrison, a prominent merchant and manufacturer of Crystal Springs, Mississippi, arrived in this city in search of the little girl. He stated that after receiving word of the arrest of his brother the girl's father was taken suddenly ill, and renained so for some time. Recovering, he rode thirty-five miles to Mr. G.'s residence, and requested him to come on here. After Mr. G. fully satisfied the authorities that he was the right party the child was produced, when she immediately rushed up to him and hugged and kissed him for joy. She then turned round and asked if she might not go home. Both left for Mississippi last night. ON THE RAMPAGE. - Yesterday afternoon colored individual named John Cook, fired with Nick Brown's poison whisky, visited the house of another colored man, in Gillis' alley, and insulted his wife. The husband, who was at work on the pavement, remonstrated, as did also a white man. To silence the latter John seized a brick and, hurling it at him, inflicted a serious wound on his head. The alarm was at once sounded, and owing to the prompt arrival of the firemen the flames were confined to the upper story, where they originated. The horses, wagon, harness, etc., were all saved. The fire is supposed to have been caused by sparks falling from the pipe of one of the two stablemen who had been sliting up reading. Mr. Peterson cannot at present estimate his loss, but the supposition is that it will not exceed $500. A pet recodle does that it will not exceed $500. A pet poodle dog perished in the flames.

The Almshouse is full of patients and the Small-pox Hospital has been rented for their accommodation. Two ambulance loads of sick are sent out to the last named establishment daily. A regular monthly meeting of the Pennsylvania

A regular monthly meeting of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society was held in the hall, Ninth and Walnut streets, this morning, the President in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Austin, of Montgomery, was unanimously elected a member of the society.

Mr. Job Jackson, from the Pennsylvania Experimental Farm in Chester county, made a statement to the society concerning the present condition of the farm. The kitchen and office accommodations are very deficient, the kitchen in particular. This is so bad that no family can be found to occupy it. It are very dencient, the kitchen in particular. This is so bad that no family can be found to occupy it. It has been thought best to use the greater part of the recent State appropriation of $3000 in the rebuilding of the kitchen and the erection of a small office building about ten feet square. A great difficulty is experienced in stocking the farm on account of the great want of means. The stock is not sufficient to consume the means. The stock is not sufficient to consume the provender that is raised. The farm might be rendered infinitely more useful by the addition of liftydered infinitely more useful by the addition of hityfive acres of land adjoining the present farm, which is offered for sale at a very reasonable figure. This is not to be done at present. The farm is of little or no value as regards to stock for the purposes for which it was founded. In some departments, however, as the ascertaining of the relative value of fertilizers, of the different varieties of grain, etc., it is very useful and could with adequate means, be very useful, and could, with adequate means, be made much more so. A revolving mole plough was exhibited to the so-ciety and explained by Mr. Herstine. This plough breaks up and pulverizes the ground while in the act of ploughing. It is said to be very effective. After some other unimportant business, the meet-ing adjourned.
