MEWS SUMMARY.

Ulty Affairs.

-A large meeting of journeymen oak coopers was held last evening at the hall, Eighth and Locust streets, when addresses were made by several members of the association, showing the trade to be in a prosperous condition.

-Yesterday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, there was launched a fine new schooner, named the Surah Wood, from the shipyard of Messrs, Taylor & Mathis, of Cooper's Point. She is 106 feet in length; double-decked to the fore-hatch; has a capacity of about 400 tons, and cost $23,000.

-Peter Nearney some time since was arrested, charged with the embezzlement of $146 from Wilson, Rockafeller & Co., his employers. Bail was entered and Nearney fled the city. He was arrested on Tuesday last at Gloucester, and taken yesterday before Recorder Givin, where he was charged with the embezzlement of the additional sum of $1200 from the same firm. In default of bail, he was committed to answer.

-Yesterday afternoon the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society held a meeting at the Green Street Methodist Episcopal Church, The exercises were commenced by singing and prayor, after which interesting addresses were delivered by Mrs. Dr. Butler of Boston, and Mrs. Willing, from Chicago. These ladies have spent the best part of their lives as missionaries in foreign lands,

-Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock the dye and scouring works connected with the establishment of J. Mottet, in the rear of the store No. 209 South Ninth street, took fire and were badly damaged. Mr. Mottet was engaged at the time in scouring some silk and woolen fabrics. He was using a preparation largely composed of benzine. The vapor arising therefrom from some cause ignited, and an explosion followed, setting fire to the clothing of Mr. Mottet and communicating to the goods and woodwork. Mr. Mottet was dreadfully burned about the face and limbs, the skin peeling off in places when his garments were removed. He was carried to the Pennsylvania Hospital. His injuries are so severe that is doubtful whether he can recover. The dye works were damaged to the extent of $500. The loss on goods will probably exceed that amount.

-In 1864, when at the age of sixty years, a widow named Elizabeth McGuigan had a will drawn up, in which the balk of her estate, valued at $60,000, went to Henry Donaghy, a man of twenty-six years, and a cousin of the lady in question. This will was signed, witnessed, sealed up and laid by. In 1869, Mrs. McGuigan appeared at her counsel's office, and stated that since the will had been drawn up she had married Mr. Donaghy, overlooking the disparity in their ages. And now that she was his wife she feared that in case of her death the will would not secure the property to her husband. She wanted another drawn up, identical with the first, save in this-that the second will should recognize Mr. Donaghy as her husband. This document was written and duly authenticated by witnesses, and in a short time the lady died. When the will was taken to the Register of Wills' office to be proven, it was discovered that the relatives of the deceased, who regarded the secret marriage as no marriage at all, had filed a caveut, restraining the Register from granting Mr. Donaghy letters testamentary under the will, upon the ground of its invalidity. They allege that the testatrix, at the time of making the will, was not of sound mind. Yesterday a long hearing of the case was given by the Register, and a mass of evidence was gathered. Both wills are on file. The genuineness of them is proven. How either is to be broken by the contesting heirs is a problem.
