THE UNION LEAGUE RECEPTION of last evening, an account of which is given elsewhere, was certainly one of the most elegant and successful affairs of the kind that has ever been witnessed in this city. The decorations especially were of the most elaborate and attractive character, and were furnished, including the flags, bunting, floor cloth, and general appointments, by Messrs. W. H. Carryl & Sons, Mr. Carryl himself superintending their arrangement. The cards of invitation, instruction, and programmes, which were of the most artistic style, were furnished by Mr. Louis Dreka.

BAR-ROOM BRAWL .- Last night a drunken brawl occurred in a drinkery at Sixth and Lom-bard streets, the result of which may yet prove fatal. It appears that two of the customers, named James Carroll and Charles Chatting, entered into an altercation over some political differences, when to expedite the settlement of the same Carroll seized a heavy tumbler and hurled it at Chatting. The missile struck him in the head and inflicted a very serious injury. Carroll was arrested and committed to prison to await the result.

POLICEMAN BEATEN .- Officer McCullough, of the Seventeenth district, was yesterday attacked at Seventh and Baker streets by two of the "bummers" and severely beaten. Subsequently his assailants, John Whalen and John Mooney, were arrested, and Alderman Bonsall sent them to prison in default of bail.

ORDINATION SERVICES .- This morning the usual Episcopal services were performed at the church Third and Pine streets, on the occasion of the ordination of Rev. J. Hutchings Brown to the priesthood. Bishop Stevens officiated and was assisted by Rev. Dr. Rudder, of St. Stephen's Church.

I. O. W. B.—A specimen of the genus "brute," named John Hirst, was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Bonsall on the charge of beating his wife Abigail. John resides on Essex straet, above Christian; he now resides at Eleventh and Passyunk road.

INDECENCY .- A "brute" named Pat Donahue was yesterday arrested at Seventh and Alaska streets for indecency. Aldermad Collins sent him to prison to improve his morals.

THE PARADE OF THE CADETS OF TEMPERANCE .- The annual parade of the I. O. Cadets of Honor and Temperance took place this morning. Though the procession in point of numbers did not come up to those of other years the display was in other particulars very creditable to the order.

The line formed on Broad street, right resting on Spring Garden, at 10½ o'clock, and a short time after 11 proceeded over the following route: Up Broad to Girard avenue, down Girard avenue to Tenth, Tenth to Chesnut, Chesnut to Fourth, down Fourth to Pine, up Pine to Broad, up Broad to Walnut, up Walnut to Eighteenth, up Eighteenth to Arch, down Arch to Eighth, up Eighth to Race, down Race to Franklin quare, where the parade dismissed. The procession was headed by a large double file of police in their new spring uniforms. Detachments of police were scattered along the whole line of the parade, and another brought up the rear.

The First division—composed of Oriental, Brotherly Love of New Jersey, and Hamilton Sections—formed on Spring Garden street, facing east. Oriental Section bore an emblematic banner having a representation of three female figures of Truth, Virtue, and Temper-ance. The uniform of the axe-bearers of these sections, composed of red shirts, dark pants, and black caps, presented a fine appearance. The general uniform of the members of the different sections was white shirts, dark pants, and blue velvet collars embroidered with golden stars. Much of the regalia was entirely new, having been procured especially for this Brotherly Love Section of New Jersey bore handsome lettered banner, and carried a large horizontal flag and an open Bible, with a handsome marker having upon it the name of the section. Hamilton Section bore a bauner with the inscription "Few but True." The axebearers of this section had prepared themselves against the attacks of hunger by providing each one with a large loaf of bread, which was car-ried on the pointed end of the axe-head. The members of these, as those of all the sections, marched four abreast with intertwined arms.

The Second division was composed of Minne-haba, Peebody, Grant, and Fidelity Sections. The Minnehaba was preceded by a colored band, which discoursed appropriate music.

The Third division comprised Cohocksink, Brotherly Love, and Peace Sections. The Cohocksink bore a banner having a representation of a child importuning a female figure for a drink of pure water, which she holds in a vase over her head. Peace Section carried a fine new wreath of artificial flowers, with a silk centre, having the inscription, "Presented to Peace Section by their lady friends, May 12, 1870."

The Fourth division was composed of Fre-donia and George Washington Sections and formed on Coates street, facing east. The Fre donia was preceded by an ambulance filled with beautiful little girls. They carried a green velvet gold-embroidered banner and a miniature hydrant mounted on a pole and ornamented with ribbons and flowers. The George Washington Section carried a fine oil painting of the hero and statesman whose name they bear. The weather turned out the most favorable which has been vouchsafed to the processions of this order for many years. The members were to-day compelled to take their cold water inwardly, and not outwardly also, as on several former occasions. The usual precautions against hunger had been observed by all the participants, which consist principally in carrying long strings of pretzels and doughnuts. The best of order was observed throughout, and the numerous friends who witnessed the display unite in pronouncing it most interesting.

A GIRARD ROW IMPROVEMENT .- Another improvement is about being made in the Girard Row, on the north side of Chesnut street, be-tween Eleventh and Twelfth. Three more of the old-time dwelling-houses are about to succumb to the requirements of business and be altered into stores. Work will be commenced upon these three about the first of July, at which time the present leases expire. Possession cannot be had until that time. Already several applications have been received from tenants anxious to rent the prospective stores, though no agreement has yet been made as to who shall occupy them. The stores will be of the same general class as those already finished in that row. They be of ample size, the lots being very deep and the width considerable. The best of work manship will be put upon them, so that they

The day of the Girard Row dwelling-houses is about over, and the day of the Girard store row is coming on as fast as the expiring leases will allow. Those already completed give ample credit to the builders, and as the others are finished they will undoubtedly do the same.

VESSEL WITH ICE WRECKED .- Among the marine reports we very much regret to notice the loss of the schooner B. C. Scribner, of Fall River, Captain Doane, with a cargo of 500 tons of ice from Portland, Maine, for the Penn Coal and Ice Company of our city. This vessel went ashore on Squan Beach, N. J., on the night of the 5th instant, and is a total wreck of both vessel and cargo. We are happy to learn that no lives were lost by this sad disaster, and while we sympathize with the owners at the loss of their vessel, we greatly deplore the destruction of so valuable a cargo of ice, at such a season as this, when ice is so scarce and every ton is needed for our summer supply. ASSAULT AND BATTERY .- A puglistic ineoriate named William Camac last night assaulted one Patrick Leonard at Seventh and South streets, and handled him rather roughly. Pat was sent to the gutter and for a time made a foot-ball of. A policeman arriving, William was taken into custody, and Alderman Delany held him in $1000 ball to answer.

FROM WASHINGTON. Funding the Debt.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, May 12.-Mr. Bowles, a Paris banker, was before the Ways and Means Committee to-day, and made an argument to show that the debt could be funded in Europe at four per cent. without any trouble. The committee questioned him closely about his assurances for this belief, when he stated that he could get the whole twelve hundred millions taken at this rate of interest without going outside of Paris. The Committee on Pacific Railroads meet tomorrow to consider the Northern Pacific Railroad bill. They will report it back, it is said, without amendment. Grand Army of the Republic.

Despatch to the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 12 .- To day at noon the delegates to the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic proceeded in a body to the Executive Mansion, and were received by the President in the East Room. General Logan, Commander-in-Chief, said that the organization was composed of those who had fought to perpetuate the union and integrity of the States, but were now engaged in charitable deeds and in such means as would promote love and the practice of fraternity, and to maintain unequivocal loyalty.

He then introduced by name the various delegates, who severally shook hands with the President. One of them said they would like to hear from the President. He replied that he was rather at a loss for words to express his feelings on such an occasion. He, however, expressed his thanks to the delegates for their visit.

General Logan said they had detained the President long enough, and thanked him in behalf of his confederates for the kind manner in which he had received them. The delegation then returned to the Grand Army Hall. Advices from Admiral Poor.

The Secretary of the Navy received a telegram to-day from Admiral Poor, dated Key West, May 12, announcing the arrival there of the steaming Aspinwall. The United States steamers Dictator, Tuscarora, and Nantasket had also arrived at Key West.

CONGRESS. FORTY-FIRST TERM-SECOND SESSION.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The conference committee re-port on the Arkansas Hot Springs Reservation bill was concurred in.

The biff to aid the Junction and Breakwater Railroad of Delaware to build a pier at Delaware Breakwater was reported from the Committee on Commerce, with a request that it be placed on the calendar.

Morrill (Me.) offered a resolution, calling upon the President for information concerning organized bands of persons at Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory. Adopted. Mr. Howe introduced a bill granting the right of way in Wisconsin to the Green Bay and Isike Superior Railroad. Mr. Sherman gave notice of his intention to call up the bill to reduce taxation immediately after the pending order was disposed of.

The army bill was then taken up, and a motion by Mr. Pomercy to amend the first section by fixing the reduction of the army at 30,000 instead of 25,000, was agreed to. The pending motion to strike out the first section as amended, reducing the army to 39,000, was lost. Year 31, nays 31.

Mr. Ferry moved to strike out the eleventh section providing for a board to retire army officers reported to them as inefficient by department commanders and chiefs of staff.

His objection was that the section was a threat to turn out of the service those officers who did not voluntarily resign in consequence of the inducements held out to them in the previous sections. He was opposed to compalsory retirement of wounded officers or those disabled by sick ness. He preferred to provide for this class so long as they lived, rather than they should believe that an ungrateful constry had turned them out upon the cold charities of the world.

Mr. Wilson regarded this proposition to examine only such officers as were reported unfit for duty more tracticable than that of the House bill for a general examination of all officers of the army covering some three years of time.

Messrs. A. G. Thurman and Hamlin concurred is the belief that in the retiring process discrimination ought to be made between these who ought to be absolutely dismissed from the service because of their own remissuess, and those who had become disqualified for duty by wounds or disease contracted in the service.

After discussion Mr. Villson offered an amendment to provide that officers to be reported to the board shall; be only those unfit for duty from any cause other than injuries incurred in the line of their duty.

Mr. A. G. Thurman suggested to include those disabled by disease.

Mr. Corbett (saide)—Suppose the disease be delirium tremens? (Laughter.)

Mr. Wilson—Then it would not have been incurred in the line of duty.

The amendment was agreed to, and also an amendment by Mr. Howard to insure every officer reported for retire ment a hearing before the Board.

Mr. Ferry's motion to strike out the section was lost. House.

Mr. Hays, rising to a personal question, sent to the Clerk's desk and had read an article from the New York Star, reflecting upon him in connection with a claim of one Charles Divine, which he had presented and collected in the Navy Department, depriving the claimant of the commissions which he should have received. should have received.

should have received.

He charged that the article was written by, or by the instigation of, one floratio King, of Washington, the claim agent whom he designated as "a vulture who feeds upon the claims of mutilated soldiers and sailors—a graveyard robber of widows and or-phans—a sanctimonious, hypocritical, would-be Christian, who wears the livery of heaven to serve Christian, who wears the livery of heaven to serve the devil in," etc. He explained the circumstances of the case, which showed it to be a matter that had been referred to the Naval Committee, and to him-self as a member thereof, and he had simply per-formed his duty in the premises.

Mr. Jones (Ky.) offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War for the recent report of Colonel

The House resumed as the business of the morning hour the bill reported yesterday by Mr. Lynch to revive the navigation and commercial interests of the United States. Cullom, who had raised the point of order yes terday that it must be considered in Committee the Whole, said he would not insist on that point i there was an understanding that an amendmen could be offered to the bill, and there could be a fair opportunity for debate. Mr. Lynch said he certainly would be in-clined to admit any amendment that the gentleman desired to offer, but he could not the gentleman desired to offer, but he could not consent to leave the bill generally open to all amendments that might be proposed. He should prefer to let the point of order be insisted upon and decided.

Mr. Lynch said he had no disposition to cut off debate, qut would allow all the latitude or debate that might be agreeable to the House.

Mr. Welles, a member of the Select Committee on the subject, addressed the House in advocacy of the bill.

Mr. Finklenburg opposed the bill, He was alive to the importance of reviving American commerce; but was totally opposed to subsidies and bounties. The true remedy was to reduce the burdens that depress that interest as well as every other industry of the country. The evil was an excess of the policy of so called protection which the bill proposed further to extend. If their interests were to succumb their epitaph would be, "Here lies American industry and commerce, dead of too much protection."

After explanation by Mr. Sargent, showing that the bill was entered in the interest of settlers, the bill was Mr. Schenck moved to go into committee on the Tariff

Mr. Schenck moved to go into committee on the Tariff bill.

Mr. Wood, before the question was put, asked Mr. Schenck whether, in view of the fact that the bill had been three and a half months before the House, that only twenty one pages out of iffly had been disposed of, that it was now late in the session, that many appropriation bills were yet unacted upon, and that there were many questions of great importance yet undetermined, and that even if the bill should pass the House, it could not possibly pass the Senate, he would not let the bill either be recommitted or laid aside, so the House could go to practical legislation?

Mr. Schenck replied that he was prepared at all times to attempt at least to do his duty, which was, as chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, to present its work to the House and endeavor to get action upon it.

As to how long the House mightibe occupied on the bill the gentleman could get more information on that subject from gentlemen immediately around him. If the bill were fairly considered, and if no amendments were offered but such as was substantial in their character and were offered in good faith, with a view to raiss lower duties, he believed they could get through the bill in the next three or four days essily. If they could reason from probabilities, considering the nature of the remaining pages of the bill, it might be considered three-fourths inished in point of time. The had passed over almost overything that could be made the subject of considerable discussion. There were a good many members who did not intend to vote for any tariff at all, and he suggested that these members should retrain from discussing or offering amendments and reserve themselves to vote against the bill as a whole.

He thought it would be known in a day or two, when the House would probably reach a conclusion. He therefore proposed to go on the morning, not with discussing probabilities, but with the consideration of the bill itself. He insisted on his motion to go into committee on the Tarif chairman directed the roll to be called.

Mr. Allison did not propose to offer any factious amendments, but there were principles in the bill which ought to be fairly tested by a vote of the House.

Mr. Wood appealed to Mr. Allison not to insist upon his point of order. The bill involved vers important principles, which were of interest to the whole country, and he hoped that full opportunity would be afforded for amendments.

Mr. Allison said he would withdraw his point of order, trusting that the gentleman from Maine would not un-dertake by any technicalities to cut off amendments or to limit debate.

Mr. Schenek said he wished to call the attention of the

Mr. Schenek said he wished to call the attention of the country to the side from which delay came, alluding to the fact that many Democrats were not voting.

Mr. Brooks retorted that he too called the attention of the country to the fact that while the majority was robbing the country it would not afford an opportunity to the minority even to protest.

"The clique movement in gold noticed yesterday was more marked to-day, and the leading speculators of the street are again enlisted for a 'oull' campaign in the Gold Room. Meantime the foreign bankers have advanced the rate of exthe foreign bankers have advanced the rate of ex-change to within a small fraction of the specie-shipping point, while the stocks of produce and cotton liable to export on a rise in gold are not so extensive as to materially interfere with their plans. Moreover, the situation in France is purposely exag-gerated into one of alarm for the future peace of the empire, and has produced a strong feeling in favor of holding gold against the comingencies of a popu-lar outbreak. Furthermore, the London money market is working so closely as to very likely induce an advance in the bank rate within the next few weeks. PORTO RICO.

Alarming Rumors in Porto Rico-Proclamation of the Governor.

HAVANA, May 7.—The journals of this city have recently published the following proclamation of the Governor of Porto Rico. It is strongly indicative that troubles are anticipated in that island:—

SUPERIOR POLITICAL GOVERNMENT.

To the Inhabitants of this Province:—The tenacious enemies of your repose disseminate, with the most mischievous intention, a grave notice, like to affect public order on one of the days consecrated to our sacred religion and to commemorate the sublime mystery of the redemption of the human race. The Holy Week has passed; to the prayers and tears of the Church and of the faithful have succeeded those pure and innocent joys which Easter always inspires among Christian people, and neither the lighter shadow of sorrow nor the most insignificant excess has come to disturb the peace, truly Octavian, in which this island rejoices. Porto Ricans—Do not give credit to the false notices which are circulated solely with the obect of interrupting mercantile operations, create fear among the people in the country, and bring bankruptcy near. Such like rumors in every country of the world have the unfortunate privilege of disturbing the spirit, of alarming weak people, and slowly destroying the prosperity of localities.

Let those who invent these, in foreign lands or in the heart of our common country, understand that while the government watches over your families and your fortunes, these paid-for notices, produced for the purposes of destruction, will not be converted into acts of alarm. A strong and vigilant government has taken all necessary precautions, and you may be solemuly assured that if your eternal enemies united to bring the result of the delirious visions of their exalted brains to this land, the punishment will be as terrible as the magnitude of the crime, for the rich treasures of Spanish clemency are exhausted.

Inhabitants of this province, be tranquil, and confide in the patriotism of your Governor.
