POSTPONEMENT OF THE TARIFF

THE House of Representatives yesterday decided to postpone all prior orders until the Appropriation bills are disposed of, and this movement will prevent the consideration of the new Tariff bill for some weeks, and probably render its passage at the present session impossible. This action is not a fair indication of the opinion of the House on the Tariff bill. for, although the postponement was opposed by the mass of the earnest friends of protection, it was favored by a number of members who are decidedly hostile to free trade, and who were influenced by a desire to hasten the consideration of measures of immediate practical importance. It is always extremely difficult, and under nearly all circumstances impossible, to thoroughly revise a tariff, and to secure a consideration, in detail, of the thousands of items upon which impost duties are levied. The attempts to complete this onerous task necessarily consume months of time, to the neglect of other pressbusiness, and it is not surprising that the tax on the patience of overwearied members and the eager desire to discuss such pressing subjects as the appropriation bills and the reduction of internal revenue duties produced the result recorded in yesterday's Congressional proceedings. The wisdom of any attempt to tear whole tariff bill to pieces and to reconstruct it, item by item, is at best questionable; and in nine cases out of ten, it would be far better for the Committee of Ways and Means to begin by proposing a few partial amendments of prime importance similar to those which usually conclude Congressional labors on this subject. A thousand fears and hopes and an infinite number of derangements of business are always excited by serious efforts to ensure a general change of the tariff, and much distress and depression are frequently caused by these fruitless agitations. Above all other things, stability is essential to the development and prosperity of diversified industry, and no interest dependent upon the regulation of the tariff can be stable when every item it contains is liable to be changed at any session.

The present Congress, however, has labored so long over the Tariff bill, and it has mastered so many of its details, that it required. to induce the suspension of its labors on this subject, the powerful combination of motives involved in a confession of Mr. Schenck, on the one hand, that he did not suppose his bill would become a law at this session, and a statement of Mr. Dawes, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, that if seven appropriation bills were not considered speedily the Government would be without money after the 30th of June. A strong additional incentive to postponement was furnished by the fact that a bill to reduce internal taxation was reported yesterday, and the rejoicings with which it was received by the members show how anxious they are to respond to the earnest demands of their constituents for relief in this quarter. The sums realized from the tax on spirits and tobacco are so large that nearly all other forms of internal taxation can speedily be dispensed with, and if Congress acts promptly on this bill, taking special care to either abolish the income tax altogether or to destroy all its specially odious features, the people will cheerfully submit to a postponement of the revision of the tariff.

THE ELECTION IN NEW YORK. An election for a Chief Justice and six Associate Justices of the Court of Appeals is progressing in New York State to-day, as well as elections for Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen and certain local judicial positions in New York city. The Times remarked yesterday that "the most notable feature of the election to be held to-morrow is the apparent apathy which exists throughout the State." and from the tone of our exchanges, we judge that this observation is correct. Judicial elections seldom serve to thoroughly arouse the people, and disreputable as a great portion of the judiciary of New York has become, that State is no exception to the general rule. The election in the State at large is held under the judiciary amendment to the Constitution which was ratified last fall, at the same time that the revised Constitution as a whole was rejected by the people. The election is to be conducted in a somewhat peculiar manner, devised for the purpose of preventing either of the great political parties from obtaining entire control of the court of last resort. The Chief Justice is to be voted for by every elector, but for the positions of Associate Justice, each elector is to cast his vote for four candidates only, and the six who receive the largest number of votes are to be declared elected. Whichever party, therefore, carries the State, the opposite party is bound to be represented on the banch of the Court of Appeals by at least two judges -a just and wholesome regulation under any circumstances, which has caused both parties to put up some of their ablest men. The two tickets stand as follows:-

FOR CHIEF JUSTICE. | Sanford E. Church. FOR ASSOCIATE JUSTICES. Charles Mason, Charles Andrews, Charles J. Folger, Robert S. Hale, William F. Allen, Martin Grover, Rufus W. Peckham,

The journals of each party have conceded that the candidates of the opposition are "respectable," if nothing more, which is conceding a great deal in New York. Judge Selden, who heads the Republican ticket, has already served a full term on the bench of the Supreme Court and of the Court of Appeals, with honor and credit. He became associated with the Republican party at its formation, but previous to that was a Demoerat of free-soil proclivities. Gifted with a high order of judicial capacity, and of unquestioned private worth and personal integrity, the people of the State will be exceedingly well served if he should be successful. Mr. Folger, one of the Republican candidates for Associate Justice, has already served upon the bench, has been elected three times to the State Senate-a poor recommendation, we imagine-and left the Senate to accept the position of Sub-Treasurer of the United States in New York city, to which position he was appointed a few months ago by President Grant, as the successor of General Butterfield, who was so completely undone by the great gold conspiracy of last September. Mr. Hale, one of his colleagues upon the ticket, has also served upon the bench for a period of eight years, and has been a Representative in Congress; while the other two candidates for Associate Justice are men of high standing in their profession. Mr. Church, who heads the Democratic ticket, has long been prominent as a politician and office-seeker-much more prominent, it is feared, than is desirable in a judicial candidate, unless, indeed, his nomination and possible election is a neat device of the Tammany Sachems to kill him off for the time being, and put him out of the way for an indefinite period. Mr. Allen, who follows him on the Democratic ticket, is at present Comptroller of the State, and has also served upon the bench, doing himself credit in both positions, despite the fact that he has been very much of a politician. Messrs. Peckham and Grover have both had experience in a judicial capacity, but Mr. Rapallo as yet has had the opportunity only of proving himself to be a very fair lawyer. The result of the election is a matter of grave doubt. During the past few years the vote in the State has stood as follows:

6,749R 27,857R 13,789R 273,193 852,526 378,029 47,930D 19,000D 27,946D 429,888 439,301 330,974

In case there should be a full vote, this would give a poor show for the Republican candidates, even after allowance is made for about 6000 extra colored votes which will now be polled for the first time in consequence of the property qualification being done away with by the fifteenth amendment. But the vote will not be a full one, and persons who are desirous of staking their money on the result can wager it on either side with as much safety as on the other.

The elections in New York city, as a matter of course, will be as one-sided as the handle of a jug. There are but two tickets in the field—that of Tammany Hall and that of the Republicans, the latter with no show for success whatever, although it is made up of such names as William E. Dodge, Henry Clews, and William M. Vermilye for aldermen, while the Tammany ticket teems with the worn-out political hacks who have never had any other trade but that of politics. The registration of voters shows that 2879 colored persons have put in a claim for the ballot under the amendment, but, unlike the case in this city, their unanimous support will accomplish but little towards swamping out the Democracy.

ANOTHER INDIAN RAID.

THE warm spring sun which restores animation to the venemous rattlesnakes of the plains is equally certain to incite the savage Chevennes to murderous expeditions, and to lead to wanton slaughter of white pioneers similar to that recorded in the late despatches from Denver and St. Louis. Treaties with these fiends are of no more efficacy than compacts with wolves. If the old tradition that they are an independent people, to be dealt with as foreign nations, is to be kept up, they deserve the most severe and sanguinary punishment that the army or the assailed citizens can inflict for the violation of their treaty obligations and their mereiless forays. If they are to be regarded as wards or subjects of the Government, every marauding savage warrior richly deserves death for the murders and murderous outrages in which he has participated. Both theories lead to the same conclusion, that Cavalry Sheridan cannot too soon commence a decisive and destructive campaign against the miscreants who, by making murder the chief end of their lives, have forfeited all claim to mercy.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The City Amusements. AT THE WALNUT the drama of Not Guilty was played last evening to a fair audience, and the great battle scene and other incidents were applauded with quite as much enthusiasm as they plauded with quite as much enthusiasm as they were a few months ago when the piece was originally produced. Not Guilty, independently of its incidental attractions, is an interesting piece, with an exciting plot and a variety of vigorously sketched characters. The battle scene is in its way the best piece of sensationalism that has been seen in this city for a long time, and although it is not always easy to revive the interest in a drama of this kind after it has once been withdrawn from the stage, there is no reason why Not Guilty should not obtain a second lease of popularity and run for the balance of the season.

AT THE ARCH Mr. Joseph K. Emmett will personate "Fritz" this evening.
AT THE ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE

an entertaining performance of minstrelsy will be given this evening.

The Panorama of "The Pilgrim" is in its last week at Concert Hall. This is a very interesting exhibition, and those who have not attended should do so at once. THE PENNSYLVANIA POLYTECHNIC AND ANA-TOMICAL MUSEUM is now open with a fine collection of curiosities at No. 1205 Chesnut

THE JEFFERSON GIRLS' GRAMMAR SCHOOL will give a grand musical entertainment at the Academy of Music on Wednesday, May 35. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of a piano for the school.

THE SIXTH CONCERT of the West Philadelphia Choral Society will be given at Musical Fund Hall on Thursday evening next. A fine programme will be presented.
