THE FENIAN MOVEMENT.

Proclamation by the President. WASHINGTON, MAY 24 .- The following proclamation was issued to-day:-By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION. Whereas, It has come to my knowledge that sundry illegal military enterprises and expeditions are being put on foot within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, with a view to carry on the same from such territory and jurisdiction, against the people and district of the Dominion of Canada, within the dominion of Her Majesty, the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, with whom the United States are at peace.

Now, therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do hereby ad-monish all good citizens of the United States, and all persons within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, against aiding, countenancing, abetting, or taking part in such unlawful proceedings, and I do hereby warn all persons that by committing such illegal acts they will forfeit all right to the protection of this Government, or to its interference in their behalf to rescue them from the consequences of their own acts.

And I do hereby enjoin all officers in the service of the United States to employ all their lawful authority and power to prevent and defeat the aforesaid unlawful proceedings, and to arrest and bring to justice all persons who may be engaged therein.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 24th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1870, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-fourth. U. S. GRANT.

By the President.
HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

THE ASSEMBLY.

The Proceedings Yesterday Afternoon. Previous to the adjournment yesterday morning of the Presbyterian Assembly, Rev. S. T. Spear, D. D., of Brooklyn, offered the following as an amendment to that portion of the Reconstruction Committee's report which touched upon the reorganization of the pres-

"As to the reorganization of the presbyteries and fixing their future boundaries, the Assembly are of the opinion that this work fails more properly under the province of the different synods, and that by them it will be more likely to be effected to the satisfaction of all parties concerned than if done by this Assembly. Accordingly this specific work is remitted to the synods organized and defined by this Assembly. And for the purpose of securing uniformity of action on the part of the synods throughout the entire Church, the Assembly recommends that each synod, being convened as hereinafter provided, should reorganize the presbyteries existing within its bounds in accordance with the following general principles:—

"The commissioners of the presbyteries within the bounds of each synod, as fixed by this Assembly, are hereby respectively appointed a committee to designate the day, not later than —, and the place when and where each synod shall hold its first meeting for the reorganization of the presbyteries within its bounds, to nominate some one to preach the open-ing sermon, and preside until the synod shall be or-ganized by the choise of a moderator, and report the same to the Assembly for its action."

The entire afternoon session was devoted to the discussion of this amendment, which was favored by Rev. Dr. W. C. Wisner, Elder S. J. Thompson, S. G. Spees, Hon. James Pollock, Rev. J. B. Dunn, and Rev. G. P. Tindal, and was opposed by Rev. E. F. Hatfield, Rev. Dr. C. C. Beatty, Rev. Dr. W. P. Breed, Judge Skinner, and Dr. McLean, of Buffalo. It was finally agreed to—yeas, 283; nays, 180. The subject was then referred to a committee, consisting of Revs. S. T. Spear, Howard Crosby, D. D., W. P. Breed, D. D., Hon. James Pollock, and Judge Spencer. The Assembly then adjourned until this morning.

Hand-Shaking.—In the last number of All the Year Round we find the following:—
"How did people first get into the habit of shaking hands? The answer is not far to seek. In early and barbarous times, when every savage or semi-savage was his own law-giver, judge, soldier, and policeman, and had to watch over his own safety, in default of all other protection, two friends or acquaintances, or two strangers desiring to be friends or acquaintances, when they chanced to meet, offered each to the other the right hand-the hand alike of offense and defense, the hand that wields the sword, the dagger, the club, the tomahawk, or other weapon of war. Each did this to show that the hand was empty, and that neither war nor treachery was intended. A man cannot well stab another while he is engaged in shaking hands with him, unless he be a double-dyed traitor and villain, and strives to aim a cowardly blow with the left, while giving the right and pretending to be on good terms with his victim.

The custom of hand-shaking prevails, more or less, among all civilized nations, and is the tacit avowal of friendship and good-will, just as the kiss is of a warmer passion.

"Ladies, as every one must have remarked, seldom or never shake hands with the cordiality of gentlemen, unless it be with each other. The reason is obvious, It is for them to receive homage, not to give it. They cannot be expected to show to persons of the opposite sex a warmth of greeting which might be misinterpreted, unless such persons are very closely related to them by family or affection, in which case hand-shaking is not needed, and the lips do more agreeable duty. "Every man shakes hands according to his nature, whether it be timid or aggressive, proud or humble, courteous or churlish, vulgar or refined, sincere or hypocritical, enthusiastic or indifferent. The nicest refinements and idiosyncracies of character may not perhaps be discoverable in this fashion, but the more salient points of temperament and individuality may doubtless be made clear to the understanding of most people by a better study of what I shall call the physiology or the philosophy of hand-shaking.

"Some people are too 'robustious' to be altogether pleasant. They take the offered hand with the grasp of a vice, and as if they had, with malice prepense, resolved to squeeze all the delicate little bones of your knuckles into pulp or minced meat. And while the tears of agony come into your eyes and run down your cheeks, they smile at you benignantly, like gentle giants, unconscious of their strength, and of the tyranny with which they exercise it. "To shake hands without removing the glove is an act of discourtesy, which, if unintentional and thoughtless, requires an apology for the hurry and inadvertence which led to it. This idea would also seem to be an occult remnant of the old notion that the glove might conceal a weapon. Hence true courtesy and friendship required that the hand should be naked as a proof of bona fides.

"To refuse pointedly to shake kands with one who offers you the opportunity in a friendly manner amounts to a declaration of hostility. And after a quarrel-or act of open hostility-the acceptance of the hand offered is alike the sign and ratification of peace.

Some HINTS ABOUT THE HUMAN VOICE,-At a recent lecture in the Royal Assembly Room, Birmingham, Mr. Charles Lunn explained the qualifications requisite in a musical instru-ment, and passed on to speak of the human voice, nature's instrument. In order to pro-duce a sound there must be air or breath; but this did not produce tone or sound. That air must be set in motion by means of vocal organs, for sound was air in motion. The human vocal sound was the result of breath or air obstructed in the organs of sound, and that obstruction could be used at will. He then gave a minute description of the nature, mode of action, and capabilities of the vocal organs, remarking that sound was produced by the air coming from the chest through the windpipe exciting the vocal cords. The chief object of a master or a pupil in that science was to get the greatest possible sound with the least possible air. In-tensity and strength did not consist in or depend upon the quantity of air consumed, but the way in which it was used. He characterized the idea of there being a "chest voice" as stupid and erroneous. Having enlarged upon various other points, including the voice as a means of conveying thought, the influence of dialects, and the duties and objects of a master, he concluded by brief reference to the nature of stammering and of consumption. He said there were various causes of stammering, and in two cases only could it be treated with any hope of success. If he were to say that he could "sweep con-sumption from the land," he should tell them what was false; but in many cases a proper knowledge of the nature of the vocal organs, the way to use them, and a due exercise of them, would prevent the disease from taking root in the constintion.

LIST AND THE "MUSIC OF THE FUTURE."-Daring "Holy Week," some years ago, Liszt invited a number of composers and critics to his apartments, to listen to the first private performance of his mass, since become so celebrated at the Vatican and in Germany. At one of the passages, which is a little in the Wagnerian style, an influential critic made a wry face, and was invited to a second and still more select rehearsal when only he and Berlioz were present. The result was, however, the same, and M. d'O. expressed his unqualified disapproval of this "Music of the Future." "Miserable man!" exclaimed the future Abbe of Montemario, with an inspired air, "cannot you understand that this cacophony, as you call it, is meant to represent the nails of the Passion?"

-A New Haven gentleman assembled his friends in his orchard the other day and invited each one to select a branch on which should grow the pears for his or her eating, the name of the person being affixed upon a label. In the harvest time they are to meet again and enjoy

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

The French Government has given notice that the following danger signals have been established on the coasts of France, in the event of the entrance of a harbor being obstructed by a stranded vessel, or by any other accident, viz. :—By day, a red flag will be heisted on one of the jettles; by night, a red light will be exhibited, and in those harbors where a light is established a second light will be exhibited, and both will show a red light.

Also, that from the first day of May, 1870, the fol-lowing alteration will be made in the light on the western jetty of Port Napoleon, Brest. The red light will be changed to a fixed green light.
