THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COM-

PANY OF NEW YORK. The following documents speak for them-Belves, and they demonstrate in the most satisfactory manner that the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York is well managed, and is in every way worthy of the confidence of the public. The report of Superintendent George W. Miller gives a full and exact statement of the status of the company. He represents that the assets are of the highest order of securities, that they have been safely kept, and that by the strictest scrutiny into the management of the company for the past sixteen or seventeen years, during which a vast amount of business has been done, not one dollar is discovered to have been lost by the embezzlement, defalcation, or breach of trust of any officer or trustee:-

TO THE POLICY HOLDERS OF THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK .- It is doubtless known to many of our assured that for some time past rumors prejudicial to the management of this company have been in cir-

George W. Miller, Esq., Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York, has just completed his investigation of the charges preferred against this Company (none of which have been sustained) and of the general condition of its affairs. His report, from which the subjoined extracts are taken, will be distributed among the policy holders so soon as it can be printed, and should be carefully read by all.

F. RATCHFORD STARR. General Agent.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4, 1870.

EXTRACTS FROM REPORT. "Every effort has been made to make the investigation the orgh and complete. It has been connued through a period of about three months. Over six hundred foolscap pages of testimony have been taken, and the books of every description, as well as the assets of the company, have been carefully examined." "Having undertaken the examination of the affairs of this great Company (besides the special charges already considered), I have continued it until by a personal inspection of the assets, and a general investigation of the methods of business, as well as a review of the history of the Company, I feel prepared to declare, as my opinion, that the condition and standing of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York is such as entitles it to the confidence of the public and the high position it has so long eccup'ed; that it has acquired this leading and magnificent position is most unquestionably in a great measure due to the efficiency, ability, and fidelity of those intrusted with its management. It was organized by special act in 1842, and was the first Mutual Life Insurance Company of this State. The present chief executive officer, Mr. Frederick S. Winston, became its president in 1853, at which time the assets of the company amounted to $2,018,776. The number of policies then in force was 6773, insuring the amount of $17,556,133. On the 1st of January, 1870, the assets of the company had increased to the enormous sum of $35,579,169. The number of policies then in force was 68,072, insuring $236,94 02. The income of the company for the year 1869 was about $15,000,000. Of the assets, over $27,000,000 are inyested in bonds and mortgages upon real estate, all, except about $2,900,000 in New Jersey, being upon real estate situate in this State. The assets of the company were found to correspond with its annual statement thereof made to the Insurance department. They are of the highest order of securities, and have been safely kept. It is a fact wo thy of remark that the strictest scrutiny into the management of this company during the past sixteen or seventeen years, during which such a vast amount of business has been done, and such Immense sums of money have been received and invested, not one dollar is discovered to have been lost by the embezzlement, defalcation, or breach of trust of any officer or trustee. It is perhaps not strange that such success should excite not only generous rivalry in this great field of business enterprise, but also some jealousy as well as personal animosities and criticisms. It is to be regretted that in any case the officers or agents of one company should resort to the vilification of another company or its officers, with a view to advancing theinterests of their own company or themselves. If there are charges affecting the standing of a company, or the legality of its management, seriously made upon prima facie, reasonable grounds to the Superintendent, he will, as in this case, deem it his duty as soon as practicable to investigate them. In making these remarks, no reference is had to any company or person in particular. They are merely simed generally at what I have conceived to be a pernicious practice.

"In concluding this report, I would say that I entered upon this examination certainly not predisposed to extend any special favor to the Company, but fully determined to probe to the bottom all complaints, and, so far as I was able, to mete out equal and exact justice. This, to the best of my ability, I have done. Personal examinations of the affairs of companies will be more frequent under the present than they were under the late administration of the Insurance Department. It will be gratifying if those examinations disclose no greater irregularities nor cause more serious apprehensions for the future companies examined than this has done. If any of our Life Insurance Companies are sound and reliable, the Mutual Life must be one of them,

"In language which I have before used, I will only add, my examination has satisfied me that the Company has been managed with peculiar ability and integrity, and that its condition is eminently GEORGE W. MILLER, "Superintendent.

CONGRESS. House.

Continued from Second Edition. The date in the first section was amended to first of January, 1871. He stated the reductions of the revenue which would be effected by these changes, the total reduction being $20,761,023. The increase of revenue an wines and brandles was estimated at $1,000,000, so that the total reduction might be stated at $21,000,000, and that of the internal revenue at $40,000,000. He moved the previous question on the first section.

Mr. Eldridge made the point of order that the House had a right to vote on each paragraph in the section.

The Speaker overrailed the point of order, and had the rule on the subject read.

ule on the subject read.

The House refused to second the previous question, 80 Mr. Schenck then withdrew the amendment, and moved the previous question on the passage of the bill to reduce taxation. Points of order were raised on the question whether the amendment could be withdrawn, and were overruled by the Speaker.

Mr. Schenck withdrew the previous question on the bill, and again moved the amendment after a verbal modification of it by making the date when it is to go into effect 31st December, 1870, and on that demanded the previous question, this time amid much excitement.

The previous question was seconded—90 to 83.

Mr. Eldridge demanded the yeas and nays on ordering the main question.

Mr. Eldridge demanded the yeas and nays on orderingthe main question.

Mr. Brooks (N. Y.) moved to adjourn, and Mr. Eldridgemoved that when the House adjourn it be to meet on Tnesday next, thus initiating a filibustering movement to delay action on the bill.

After the first call of the yeas and nays, Mr. Brooks (N.
Y.) stated that he would withdraw the motion to adjourn were it not that some members had left the hall for half an hour in the expectation that there would be at least three calls of yeas and pays.

So the Clerk proceeded to call the yeas and nays on the motion to adjourn.

Dilatory motions were again reserted to, and after several votes by yeas and navs, Mr. Eldridge suggested that they were not wasting valuable time without a purpose. The reason way they commenced it was because of the ruling of the Chair that they were not entitled to tion to adjourn. of the ruing of the Chartant they were not entitled to vote on each independent proposition separately. There were many of them on which they would like separate votes. One was on Bessener, steel.

The dispersion and capture of the band of outlaws under the command of the notorious Siffra have been finally completed by the capture of the scoundrel himself, after he had for many weeks eluded the vigilance of the Government troops, who searched the woods foot by foot. He is expected here to-day, and will be immediately brought to trial for his many crimes. No pity is felt here for him, and it is not at all likely that he will obtain any mercy. The taking of this man ends the last of the movements in the South consequent upon the late revolution, so that there is every reason to expect perfect quiet for the present, for
