diately after declaring his intentions, he received an endorsement from the Executive Committee of his (Tenth) ward. His first political position was that of Superintendent of the Carriers' Department in the Post Office, under Postmaster Walborn, which he left to accept that of Assistant Chief Colner Butler at the Mint. When Sheriff Howell was elected, Mr. Leeds became one of his deputies; he occupied until the incoming of Sheriff Lyle. After the inauguration of General Grant he was appointed Collector of the Second Internal Revenue District, a position which he still occupies. He has for ten years represented his ward in the City Executive Committee, of which body he has been Secretary, Treasurer, and Chairman.

Jacob R. Massey is at present an alderman of the Fourteenth ward, and the committing magistrate at the Eighth District Station. He was born in Chester county, where he lived for many years, and during a portion of this time he engaged in the capacity of schoolmaster. In 1849, after having spent a short time in the West, he came to Philadelphia and entered a wholesale dry goods house. In 1860 he was appointed explanation clerk in the office of the Prothonotary of the District Court, which position he held until elected to the present post.

Benjamin L. Berry is a resident of the lower part of the city. In early life he was with the firm of Blyth & Co., an old East India house. Under Polk's administration he occupied a position in the Post Office, and upon the discovery of gold he went to San Francisco and engaged in mercantile pursuits. He there served as Comptroller of the Treasury, and was instrumental in obtaining the admission of California into the Union. He was also one of the commissioners of the funded debt in San Francisco. In the early part of the war he published the Statesman at Washington, D. C., and equipped three regiments for the Government. He has been since his return to this city a member of the Republican State Committee, and was a delegate to the convention which nominated General Grant. He was the last Congressional candidate in the First district.

Joseph Moore comes from the bloody Fourth. The only position he has occupied was as a member of the Legislature from the Seventh ward, where he used to dwell.

Receiver of Taxes. Robert H. Beatty is from the First ward. He is at present Deputy Recorder of Deeds, and for many years past has been connected with the Tax Receiver's office. He has also been a member of the City Executive Committee, and has filled the position of Clerk to the Board of Return Judges since the Republican party has come into power.

John L. Hill is a resident of the Ninth ward. He commenced public life as a clerk in the office of the Commissioner of City Property, and was subsequently transferred to the Tax Receiver's office. He was chief clerk since Mr. Pelz was elected Receiver, and held that post until the passage by the last Legislature of what is known as the Delinquent Tax bill, when he was appointed Collector under the bill.

Richard Vanseller hails from the Twenty-sixth ward. He formerly held a position under Collector Thomas. This will be his first appearance before a political convention. He served in one of the short term regiments during the war.

O. P. Glessner, a printer at Fourth and Chestnut streets, only announced himself on Saturday as a candidate for this position.

Register of Wills. Gideon J. Clark, from the Twentieth ward, is the present Master Warden of this port, having received the appointment from Governor Curtin. He served throughout the war, entering into it as Adjutant of the 17th Regiment P. V. (three months). In 1852 he was elected Lieutenant-Colonel of the 119th Regiment, and in 1855 he was brevetted Colonel for gallant services while in command of a brigade. Subsequently he was made a full Colonel, and brevetted a Brigadier-General. He was wounded during Grant's Virginia campaign.

Charles Dixey was formerly Commissioner of City Property, and has been a standing candidate before the Republican Convention for several years.

Philip Hamilton is a resident of the Twentieth ward. He has represented the Fourteenth ward in Common Council, and subsequently served one term as City Commissioner.

William Smyth, like General Clark, resides in the Twentieth ward. For several years before consolidation he served as Assessor in Cedar ward. At one time he was one of the firm of George W. Colloyd & Co., manufacturers of cotton goods. Two years ago he received injuries which necessitated the amputation of his legs.

William Y. Campbell hails from the Fourth ward. He was nominated three years ago for this same office, and was defeated by the present incumbent, General Leech. He is President of the Southwark Hose Company, and depends much upon the efforts of the firemen. He was in early life a printer, but of late years has occupied a clerkship in the extensive establishment of Dr. David Jayne & Son.

William M. Bunn is a very young man, living in the Sixteenth ward. He served throughout the war as a private in Baxter's Regiment, and was wounded at Savage Station, where he was taken prisoner and confined in Libby for five months. He was in the Legislature of 1869 and 1870, both of which bodies have received the credit of having done decidedly more mischief to the State than good.

William Moran is from the Twenty-sixth ward. He has during his life been connected with various journals, and now is in the Custom House. He has delivered speeches all over the State during the recent political campaigns.

Joseph A. Bonham, of the Eleventh ward, although never having held any political position of profit, has served on the State Central Committee and once ran on the ticket in the Third Senatorial district, casting 700 votes ahead of his ticket. He is a member of the bar and has taken a prominent part in the various contests. He is a contributing member of four fire companies and a life member of another.

Clerk of Orphan's Court. Thomas B. Reeves resides in the Twentieth ward. He is well known to the bar, of which he has recently become a member, having been for a number of years Court Clerk under Frederick J. Wolbert, late Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas. He was also assistant of the election papers, and frequently has had occasion as such to appear as a witness in the various contested election cases.

Richard M. Batters is from the Fifteenth ward. He has a good idea of the duties appertaining to the office, as he held a clerical position in it for many years. He took an active part in the late city contested election case.

Robert M. Bethel lives in the Twenty-second ward. He is a lawyer, but for several years past has been Assistant Clerk in Select Council.

David Cramer is a member of Select Council from the Fourteenth ward. He announced himself at the commencement of the campaign as a candidate for Register of Wills, but in a short time changed his base. He is favorably known in the central and northwestern portions of the city. Prior to consolidation he was one of the Commissioners of Spring Garden.

Edward S. McGuire was born in Washington, D. C., and is about fifty years of age. For a number of years he resided in the Eleventh ward, which he represented in the City Executive Committee. Lately he removed to the Twenty-eighth ward. His business is that of contractor and builder, and in both of these departments has been well patronized by the Highways and Water Departments. His influence is mainly derived from these quarters.

Joseph C. Titterton is from the Second ward, and is a son of the well-known Alderman Titterton, deceased. At the breaking out of the war he enlisted in the 19th Regiment, and on the completion of his term of service re-enlisted in the 24th Regiment, with which he remained until wounded at Antietam. After a six months' service in the hospital, he was discharged, and on coming home received a position in the Mint. He again enlisted for the emergency. He was then nominated for Alderman of the Second ward, and at the expiration of his term was re-nominated. This time he was defeated by a majority of 68 votes, although the other candidates on the Republican ticket were some 500 votes in the minority. He was an important witness in the Diamond-Watt contested election case.

City Commissioner. George W. Curry at present occupies a minor position in the United States Mint, and resides in the Eighteenth ward. He served throughout the war as a Captain in the 4th Delaware Volunteers. During the various political campaigns since again assuming the robes of the civilian he has travelled over the State, and within five years has delivered five hundred speeches. It is his first appeal for position.

George W. Schultz is a West Philadelphia, and is the superintendent of the erection of the reservoir at George's Hill, in the new park. The only other political position he has held was that of Purveyor of the Second Water District. His father, Robert E. Schultz, was the American candidate for Clerk of the Quarter Sessions in 1849, but was defeated.

George Boyer is a resident of the Nineteenth ward and is about thirty years of age. He is the supervisor of that highway district, a position he has held since 1868. He has no soldier's claim.

Thomas Dutton, of the Twenty-second ward, is a native of England. Although beyond forty-five, he enlisted in Collier's Regiment and served during the war, until discharged on account of injuries. When the Rebellion broke out he held a position in the Custom House, but on Andy Johnson deserting the party which elected him, Mr. Dutton resigned to continue in the Custom House and refused.

James Bair is a resident of the Twentieth ward, and now fills the position of a deputy to United States Marshal Gregory. He served as a private in the 19th Pennsylvania Volunteers for three months, when on returning to the city he obtained a captaincy in Baxter's Regiment, with which he continued for over two years. He also held office under Sheriff Howell.

Edwin J. Spangler is a young man living in the Thirteenth ward. He has been a School Director and a member of the Board of Port Wardens.

W. E. Crockett, of the Twenty-sixth ward, was born in Bucks county. A few years ago he came to Philadelphia and was appointed stamp clerk in the Post Office, a position which he still occupies.

Frank Logo hails from the Sixth ward. He served in the late war in the 119th Regiment, and at Spotsylvania Court House was so badly wounded that he obtained his discharge. He was the candidate in the Ninth Legislative district against Mr. Dalley in the last canvass.

John T. Brady, of the Twenty-sixth ward, lost a leg in the service while serving as a private in Colonel Baker's California Regiment. He is at present Commander of J. T. Owen Post, No. 5, G. A. R.

Hector C. Williams at present fills the post of Assessor of the Fifth ward. He is an Englishman by birth, and has no war record.

Associate Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. Hon. E. M. Paxson has received the endorsement, in the shape of a public card, of a number of the lights of the bar for a renomination to a position which he has filled acceptably. He is a native of Bucks county, and learned the printing business in the office of the Village Record at West Chester. He then returned to his native county, and was for some time editor and publisher of the Newtown Journal. He was subsequently called to this city, where he became one of the owners of the late Daily News. Having read law, he entered upon his practice, and although but little heard of before his appointment by Governor Geary to succeed Hon. F. Carroll Brewster, enjoyed a good record in his business.

William H. Roddman is a middle-aged man, and has brought himself prominently before the court and public by reason of his connection with the District Attorney's office during the occupation of that position by William B. Mann. He also served in the Legislature, and is said to have been among the few who could not be purchased. He signed the paper urging the people to vote for Judge Ludlow without regard to party affiliations.

Samuel C. Perkins is a lawyer in good practice, having fallen heir to the business of his father, Samuel H. Perkins, a gentleman well known throughout the city. Mr. Perkins, Jr., has taken an active part in politics, and was the gentleman who was ousted as a delegate to the late Recorder of Deeds Convention by the Committee on Contested Seats on a forged document presented by a fellow who had not received a vote at the delegate election. He was then opposed to John A. Houseman.

Thomas K. Finletter, of the Twelfth ward, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and for a number of years was an active politician, but latterly he has paid close attention to his business at the bar. Some twenty years ago he was elected to the Legislature by the Democracy. His predecessor was Hon. William A. Porter. He has been a candidate for the District Attorneyship, and was also prominent against Judge Thayer.

Associate Judge of the District Court. Henry T. King, of the Thirteenth ward, is a middle-aged gentleman, and one who has had a large practice since his admission to the bar. Some twelve months ago he represented the Thirteenth ward in Common Council, and subsequently was prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Mayoralty, but not being of a sufficient age, his name was not pressed for the election. He ran for City Solicitor on the same ticket with Mayor Henry, and was elected. Since his retirement from that position he has not appeared in political life.

Charles E. Lex has been at the bar for nearly thirty-six years, and the larger portion of his practice has been in the District Court, over which he now seeks to preside. He has been a director of Girard College for many years, and was once elected as an independent candidate to the post of City Solicitor. He, like Judge Paxson, has received the endorsement of the eminent men at the bar.

William L. Dennis was originally a Baptist minister, but some twenty years ago he entered the office of Hon. Josiah Randall, and was admitted in 1833. He has been a member of Councils, and latterly has written a series of papers known as the "Pennyville Lectures," which he has delivered through the State. He is a Rhode Islander by birth.

James Lynd was the predecessor of the present incumbent of the City Solicitorship. He has filled the position of President of both branches of Councils, and as such he devoted much of his time to the city's interest. He has a good practice and stands well with his professional brethren.

John Dolman's admission to the bar dates within the last ten years. Prior to that time he was on the stage, and a decided favorite at the old Arch, but his health was so poorly that he was compelled to leave the boards. He has also been a member of Select Council.

James T. Mitchell has never dabbled in politics, but has paid strict attention to his business. He was admitted to the bar in 1857.

Amos Briggs has appeared before the public on several occasions. He is reported to have denounced the emancipation proclamation, and last October was one of the candidates on the Temperance ticket. He is a lawyer in excellent practice.

General Horatio Hubbell is a native of New York city, and is one of the oldest practitioners in our courts.

Frederick Hyer is better known to the legal profession than the public. His strength is said to lay among the German element.

Recorder James Glavin, although not residing in the district, will allow his name to go before the Convention. He served during the recent war in command of a colored regiment. He is from the Twenty-sixth ward.

Benjamin Huckel, the present acting Collector of this Port, resides in the Seventh ward. He has been in political life for many years, and has been prominently connected with the Republican Invincibles.

R. Rundie Smith, of the Fifth ward, was a member of the Legislature a few years ago.

Burton J. Kollock is an undertaker, and resides in the Fourth ward. This is his first application for political honors.

Rev. Stephen Smith is a wealthy colored citizen hailing from the Seventh ward. He has manifested considerable activity during the canvass.

Dr. Eliab Ward is at present the President of the Board of Health.

Hon. Charles O'Neill is now in his fourth term, and like his colleagues, Randall, Myers, and Kelley, has spent little or no time in Philadelphia looking after his interests for a renomination. He has been in political position for about 20 years.

John E. Addicks, the present Health Officer, is from the Ninth ward. He has been intimately connected with the Union League, and is at present the presiding officer of the National Union Club.

John Price Wetherill has received endorsements in the various wards in this district, in the shape of a series of resolutions adopted at public meetings. He is from the Seventh ward, which he has represented in Councils, the Board of Guardians of the Poor and the Board of School Controllers. He descends from a line of merchant princes, and is himself in a prosperous mercantile firm.

John V. Creely is a member of Common Council from the Seventh ward. He is a lawyer by profession and has seen service in the field during the late Rebellion.

Cornelius Walborn hails from the Ninth ward. He has been in Common Council, the Legislature, and was Postmaster of the city under Lincoln and Johnson. He was also a candidate for the Directorship of the Mint under Grant.

Hon. James H. Campbell resides in the Seventh ward. He served as a member of Congress for three terms, representing the Schuylkill and Lebanon districts, subsequent to which he was sent as Minister to Stockholm. He was a candidate against Judge Kelley before the last nominating convention.

Third Congressional District. Hon. Leonard Myers is from the Thirteenth ward, and is about completing his fourth term. He has had but little time to give the canvass personal attention, as the tariff bill has been under consideration in the House for some weeks. The special feature in it to which he has directed his thoughts was the tax on carpets, his district being particularly interested. Prior to entering the Congressional arena he pursued the practice of the law.

E. Harper Jeffrey is from the same ward as Mr. Myers. He has been a successful merchant, and has at various times been President of the Corn Exchange. His business has made him an out-and-out protectionist.

Mahlon H. Dickinson is a resident of the Sixteenth ward. He now holds the position of Chief Commissioner of Highways, to which he was elected three years ago by Councils. He devoted a couple of years, under an appointment by Governor Geary, visiting the county prisons throughout the State and reporting upon their condition.

Alexander Adaire is from the Eighteenth ward. He has spent many years at Harrisburg, formerly as an officer of the House, and latterly as a member of the Legislature.

The name of William B. Mann, late District Attorney, has been mentioned in connection with this district.

Fourth Congressional District. Hon. William D. Kelley has represented this district since 1861, prior to which time he had devoted many years to the law, and at one time was elected Judge of the Quarter Sessions, running as an independent candidate. He was a Democrat in early life.

J. Alexander Simpson is from Kelley's ward. He is a lawyer, and has attained considerable prominence as a counsellor in contested election cases.

Hiram Miller resides in the Twenty-eighth ward. He has been a Councilman, and has for years been a member of the Republican City Executive Committee, and one of the Gas Trust.

Alexander Henry, a lawyer, and the model Mayor of Philadelphia, has been mentioned, but has made no effort to secure the nomination.

William B. Thomas, late Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, and a Brigadier-General in the Militia, will be an independent candidate in the event of Judge Kelley's nomination. The Democratic Convention will endorse Thomas should he run.

Fifth Congressional District. F. Carroll Brewster is a resident of Germantown. He has been successively a successful City Solicitor, Judge of the Quarter Sessions, and Attorney-General of the State.

Joshua T. Owen hails from Chestnut Hill. As a Common Councilman from the Twenty-second ward he was a Democrat, but on the breaking out of the war raised the 69th Regiment and commanded Baker's Brigade. Returning home a Union Republican, he was elected Recorder of Deeds.

William Reich Wister is a Germantowner, and a lawyer in good practice. He came out in response to a letter signed by the first men in the district.

Baron H. Jenks is a millionaire from Bridesburg, where he has immense machine works. He contributed largely of his means to the Union cause during the war, and raised and equipped a regiment.

William J. Newell, of the Twenty-fifth ward, is a Jerseyman by birth, and a cousin of Hon. William A. Newell, formerly Governor of that State. He served during the early part of the war with Burnside. This is his first appearance in the political arena.

J. T. Pratt, late Assistant District Attorney, was a good soldier. He is now prominently identified with the Grand Army of the Republic.

Alfred C. Harmer is from the Twenty-second ward. He has been a Councilman, and served one term as Recorder of Deeds. He has been a politician all his life, and has made plenty of money at his business.

The State House of Representatives. FIRST DISTRICT. Louis B. Thomas, First ward, represented the district last winter. He was absent a considerable time, owing to sickness.

Joseph Edmondson, Twenty-sixth ward, is at present a clerk in the Navy Yard.

George A. Shuster, Twenty-sixth ward, is a member of Common Council.

George Handy Smith, First ward, was one of the city detectives. He is now associated with Joshua Teggart in a private detective agency.

Samuel P. Thompson, First ward, was a member of the Ferry Japan expedition.

Charles T. Begley, Twenty-sixth ward, is master painter at the Point Breeze Gas Works. Adam Szelzline has no place in the Directory.

H. B. Sessler, of the Twenty-sixth ward, is in the coal business. He has never been a politician.

SECOND DISTRICT. George E. Maxwell, Second ward, was the representative last winter. He slipped in on account of a bolt in the Democracy.

William H. Stevenson, Second ward, is a coal dealer on Washington avenue.

THIRD DISTRICT. The Republicans have been encouraged by their efforts against Sam. Josephs last year, and they think with a good man they can win this time. They have therefore brought forward John J. Franklin, of the Fifth ward, a soldier and an Assistant Assessor in the Revenue Department.

Colonel Christopher Klein, Fourth ward, will also take the field.

FOURTH DISTRICT. William Elliott, Seventh ward, the old member, has no opposition.

FIFTH DISTRICT. The negro vote will in all probability give this district to the Republicans.

William Duffy, Eighth ward, is a painter and was an officer of the Senate last winter.

James Blaylock, hotel-keeper, Fifth ward, was formerly master joiner at the Navy Yard.

SIXTH DISTRICT. This district will undoubtedly send a Republican.

John G. Butler, Sixth ward, was formerly Chief Colner at the Mint and Clerk of the Quarter Sessions.

Charles Kleckner, Ninth ward, is one of the proprietors of the Allegheny House, and formerly represented the district.

Robert C. Graham, of the Ninth ward, was the Republican candidate last year, and unsuccessfully contested John F. Mooney's seat last winter.

Dr. Stille, of the Ninth ward, is a day inspector at the Custom House.

SEVENTH DISTRICT. Robert Johnson, the late member, has no opposition, his opponents having withdrawn.

EIGHTH DISTRICT. Stokes having withdrawn, several prominent gentlemen have made their appearance.

Howard J. Potts, Tenth ward, is a brother-in-law of Hiram Porter, Assistant Commissioner of Highways. He is a mined-meat manufacturer, and was an opponent of Stokes.

William S. Marshall, Tenth ward, is a young lawyer, and was a determined opponent to Stokes.

Frederick M. Adams, of the Tenth ward, was formerly Register of Wills.

SIXTH DISTRICT. This district is hopelessly Democratic, and no Republican has as yet announced himself eager to help pay the expenses of printing tickets.

NINTH DISTRICT. Samuel Daniels, Fifteenth ward, was formerly a Deputy Sheriff and Coroner of the city.

A. K. Reburn, Fifteenth ward, was a candidate against Colonel Davis before the last convention.

J. W. Delaney, Fifteenth ward, was also a candidate last year.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT. S. S. Tompkins, Sixteenth ward, is a Government storekeeper in the Custom House.

William M. Bunn was the old member of the House. It is said that this individual, failing to receive the nomination for Register of Wills, will be renominated for the Legislature.

SEVENTEENTH DISTRICT. Watson Comly, Twenty-third ward, tried to represent the district last winter, but his connection with the Rooster ring is still well remembered.

William E. Hammill, Twenty-third ward, is a farmer near Frankford, and enters the canvass at the solicitation of the best men in that vicinity.

William Shallowors, Twenty-third ward, is also a farmer.

John Bigler, Twenty-third ward, is a butcher, and this is his first application for political honors.

EIGHTEENTH DISTRICT. James A. Miller, Twenty-seventh ward, was the late representative.

Dr. James M. Marks, Twenty-seventh ward, is an old member of the Legislature.

William R. Dickerson, lawyer, Twenty-seventh ward, some years ago created quite a sensation by an exposure of the corruptions of the State House Row.

Joseph P. Boon, Twenty-seventh ward, is Register at the West Philadelphia Gas Office.

William N. Ashman, of the Twenty-fourth ward, is a lawyer of considerable prominence.
