Queen Victoria's Efforts for Peace-The French Emperor's Proclamation - The Duke de Gramont's Declaration in Full.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S LAST APPEAL FOR PEACE. Paris, July 15.-It is reported that the Emperor received a despatch from Queen Victoria this morning, making a last appeal for peace, and that a similar despatch was also sent from London to the King of Prussia. A NAPOLEONIC PROCLAMATION TO THE GERMANS.

A proclamation, it is said, signed by Napoleon, has been prepared for distribution throughout the German States as soon as the French troops have crossed the frontier. assures the German people that France wars against Prussia, not against Germany, and with no idea of conquest. An enormous number of copies have been printed.

THE WAR FEELING IN FRANCE-PRUSSIA "IM-PLACABLE.

London, July 15-Evening.-It is reported that the Prussian Government itself demanded of France the recall of Count Benedetti, and that the European powers yesterday united in a protest against the implacability of Prussia, but without effect.

ALL PARTIES IN PRUSSIA UNITED AND RESOLUTE. London, July 15 .- Count von Bismarck has issued a circular, which has been telegraphed in all directions, notifying German vessels to hasten to ports of shelter. The notification, of course, applies to all ocean steamers belonging to German ports.

Berlin, July 15 .- The Bundesrath of the North German Confederation meet here today. The Prussian Diet is already in session. Chiefs of all parties assure the King of their unqualified approval of his dignified and energetic attitude. A resolution was adopted according unlimited credit for national defense. The King of Saxony has abandoned his long-planned tour, and remains at

of the declaration made by Duke de Gramont before the Senate to-day: -

"Messieurs:-The manner in which the country received our declaration of the 6th of July led us to commence negotiations with Prussia, to secure her on of the validity of our grievances. recognition of the validity of our grievances. We did not treat with Spain, whose independence we have no wish to trammel, nor with the Prince of Hohenzollern, whom we consider to be under the shadow of the King. Nor have we advanced any other grievance than the candidacy of the prince for the Spanish throne. The Prussian Minister of Foreign Affairs opposed to use a determine Foreign Affairs opposed to us a determina-tion not to receive our representation, pretend-ing to ignore the affair. We thus addressed ourselves to the King, who maintained that he was a stranger to the affair and could not intervene except as head of the family, but he avowed that he had instructed Bismarck. We could not accept that answer, and we demanded that the King should influence the Prince of Honenzollern, besistance lin the project came from the quarter whence it was least expected. We then demanded that the King should give a promise for the future. Phis moderate demand, made in moderate terms we declared to be without any reservations. The King declined to say that he would refuse in future to interfere with the candidature, and he refused to authorize us to transmit to you a declaration that he would in future oppose the candidature. He declared that he reserved to himself the right to consider circumstances. Even after this right to consider circumstances. Even after this refusal we did not break off negotiations, but adjourned our explanation to you until this date. Yesterday we were apprised that the King of Prussia had notified our Ambassador that he would no longer receive him, and to render a rupture more obvious he gave notice of his action to the Cabinets of Europe. At the same time he announced that Baron Warther release takes and the symmetry of Werther might take leave, and the armaments of Prussia had commenced. On our part we yesterday called out the reserves, and have taken such other measures as the interest and honor of the country demanded. NEW-YORRISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent. NEW YORK, July 16, 1870.

Plety as a Money-Maker. The peculiar aptitude which so many minis ters of religion evince for making money, outside as well as inside their profession, is one of the reasons why the world at large places but little faith in the spirituality of the pulpit. Preachers are found to be so extremely unspiritual in their practice, whatever they may affect to be in matters of faith. The eye which they have to the main chance is far from being identical with that single eye which has regard for things heavenly. If they abandon speculation in doctrinal matters, it is only to adopt that equally loose and wild speculation which has Wall street for its theatre and bulls and bears for its principal actors. They most emphatically do take thought for the morrow, and for a good many days after, too, and manifest at least as much interest in the rise and fall of gold as in the rise and fall of religion. I will not say that with them piety is not something more than a money-maker, but it certainly is that, whatever else it may be. The house of God is also their house of merchandise, and the communion-table is too often degraded to the level of a counter. A fair illustration of this principle has just been furnished by the young pastor of a certain church, whose congregation had presented him with a valuable lot on Lexington avenue. The lot was sufficiently capacious for him to erect thereon a large and handsome parsonage, and to surround it with large and well-laid-out grounds. The prudent recipient of this present was far too prudent to do anything of the kind, bowever. He built upon it an insignificant little parsonage, hardly large enough to swing a cat in-a mean enough affair, in fact, to be a disgrace to his congregation, whose feelings may be imagined. Upon the remainder of the lot, which is about ten times the area of that occupied by the "parsonage," he has erected three handsome brown-stone fronts, which he has lately succeeded in renting out at an enormous sum. There is a union of spiritual-mindedness and fine business tact for you! The property was his own, you will say, and he had a right to do as he chose with it. Certainly; but I am afraid the words of life and salvation will not drop any more persuasively from his lips because he has shown himself extremely sharp at driving a bargain. The act is a very fair sample or what the average New York minister is, however, and as such deserves mention.

Those Blessed Baths. That the baths are blessings is proved daily by the hundreds of men, women, and children who throng to them. They are used and enjoyed to an extent surpassing the expectations of the Board of Public Works, which erected them. It is now proposed to increase their number indefinitely, and finally, as circumstances may warrant, to provide stone wharves and immense stone reservoirs until the beauty, efficiency, and durability of such structures shall rival those of the antique. After all there is something pleasantly "naked, natural, and Greek" in these hourly facilities for bathing, in which each sex and every age can indulge. The sights and sounds of this new institution are worth the sacrifice one makes of one's exclusivism in attending them. It is something to know that the duty of being cleanly is recognized by the multitude and approved by the Fathers of the City. Among a perspiring crowd one feels a sweeter comfort in the sense that it is no longer an unwashed one. It is soothing to realize that you belong to a community which reposes faith in the fleshbrush and confidence in the crash-towel. Soap, even if it be yellow, rubs a better sentiment into dirty people with the sediment it rubs out. and I am convinced that the better minds among the lower orders of the community experience a growing attachment to the bath-tub. Poor Superintendent Jourdan

Since Superintendent Jourdan has held his present position as head of the police he has had no easy time. He doubtless brought to his work the same disposition which is said to make a new broom sweep clean, and it was manifestly his intention to sweep very clean indeed. To this end he has worked day and night, tightening relaxed laws, and satisfying himself by a personal round of visits in various quarters of the efficiency of their operation. Under his "ule we have had quieter and more peaceable Sundays than under the last days of the reign of Kennedy. During the last few weeks, particularly, the excise law has been made more stringent in its operation. The countless saloons which had begun to steal open on the Sabbath were instantaneously closed, as though they had one door. If he had turned as much of his attention towards the disreputable doings on Canal street, he would have accomplished a more important work. For instance, during the last few months the streets in that vicinity have been literally honeycombed with those wretched little cigar-shops the name of which is merely a caphemism for almost every kind and degree of crime. Females accomplished in the last degrees of vice have sprung up there like fungus, and during their short reign have converted Canal street, between the Bowery and Essex street, into a locality less tolerable than the Five Points. The cleansing of this and kindred localities is part of the work which Superintendent Jourdon finds himself unequal to perform. Not the consciousness of having performed a good and noble mission, not the emoluments or honor of his position, not the support he has received from the respectable press, can reconcile him to remaining in this notoriously ungrateful post. His resignation, accordingly, will take effect from the first of next month. He has discovered the police superintendency to be eminently unfavorable to his health, his hours of labor lasting from an early morning hour of one day till after midnight of the next. Amusements. The Lanner ballet troupe has not been as evenly successful as it was natural to anticipate it would be, on account of the illness of Madame Lanner herself. That lady had been working extremely hard, superintending rehearsals, and taking a laborious share in everything in which her own reputation and ambition were concerned. and broke down under the trials of a new climate. Her illness has lasted but a day or so. but it materially interfered with the pecuniary interests of the management. Mr. Gayler's play of Fritz, written to order, like machine poetry, attracts pretty good houses at Wallack's. Buckley's Serenaders, which assume to be the original ones, are stationed at the Sau Franciscans' Hall, doing an extremely meagre business. Among other theatricals the extremest duliness

Is it to be a Mabille? Judges Barnard and Cardozo have stepped in and prevented Commodore Vanderbilt from appropriating thirty-three lots near Fourth avenue and Forty-third street. In 1869 Vanderbilt succceded in getting permission to use that property as a depot for the Harlem Railroad. Our ..

tain commissioners, appointed by the Commodore and approved by Judge Ingraham, fixed the amount of compensation to be paid the city at the low sum of $25,000. Judges Barnard and Cardozo have appointed other commissioners to make a new valuation, and parties have since been found to offer $1,000,000 for the property which the Commodore hoped to secure at about one-fortleth that amount. It is rumored that those who have thus grasped at the property intend converting it into a Jardin Mabille! It is to be hoped so, for the sake of those who are forever lamenting New York's lack of such a charming necessity. ALT BABA.
