CITY INTELLIGENCE.

YELLOW FEVER.

Several Deaths from this Disease-It is Brought Here by a Filthyt Jamaica Vessel. The citizens of the southeastern portion of the city have been thrown into a state of great alarm by a rumor that several deaths had occurred recently at the Lazaretto from vellow fever. On inquiry it has been found that the rumor was true, but there is some consolation in learning that the disease has abated, and that since day before yesterday no deaths have oc-curred. Those still suffering with the malady are reported to the health authorities this morning as being in an improving condition. The disease was brought here by the barque Home, from Black river, Kingston, Jamaica. She ar-rived off the Quarantine on the 29th of June last, with a cargo of logwood. It being reported to the officers stationed at that post that her commander, Captain Phillips, had died of a malignant fever on the passage, the vessel was brought to and examined. She was found to be in a perfectly filthy condition, and in addition to this a lot of loathsome rags were packed away in the hold. These were taken to the quarantine wharf, where the match was applied, and in a short time nothing but cinders were left. While this was being done the cargo was taken out and brought up to Windmill Island, where it now lies,

Shortly after the destruction of the rags, the children of Jacob Pepper, the keeper of the hotel adjacent to the station, were taken down with a fever, from which they all recovered. Mrs. Enos, the mother-in-law of Mr. Pepper, was also taken sick, and, after having shown every symptom of yellow fever, died during the early part of last week. The servant girl in the same family, after having exhibited prominent symptoms of the same disease, was taken to the residence of some of her relatives near Darby, where she expired. Mr. Pepper himself was the next victim, and died on Sunday last. Mrs. Mary Johnson, a sister-in-law of the deceased, is now in bed, suffering with the fever. Mrs. Mary Kugler, wife of the steward of the Quarantine, was also laid up, and in a short time died. Dr. Thompson, the physician in charge of the Quarantine, after working energetically to prevent the spread of disease, is also now laid up. Pilot J. Bennett, of Cape May, after lying a few days in this city, died. _____ Griffliths, second mate of the Home, and two of her crew, also expired in the built-up portion of Philadelphia. — Doggat, captain of one of the lighters which carried the cargo to Windmill Island, died at Port Carbon, and his wife and a son fell victims to the malady at the Lazaretto, The Home, on being cleaned and fumigated came up to the city during the latter part of the week, but the Health Officer directed her return to Quarantine, where she is now anchored. The Health Officer is actively engaged in investigating whether there are any other cases in the city, so that they may be removed to the Municipal Hospital, and the buildings they have been occupying fumigated. THE GERMANTOWN PUBLIC BATHS .- The Kelley's dam public bath at Germantown was opened on Saturday last, and was patronized by about three hundred bathers during the day. The accommodations are not of the best, but the lateness of the season would not warrant much outlay. Applicants for admission to the bath after 10 P. M. are denied. The building of bath-house No. 2, to be located on a portion of the Town Hall lot, has been commenced. The contractor is Charles Miller, Esq., Haines street. The house will have a Main-street frontage, on a line with and north of the hall It will be a frame structure and painted, sixteen feet high. Steps will lead to the main entrance, which will be placed in the centre of the front. The frontage will be sixty test and the depth thirty feet. The main entrance will lead into a reception room, twenty by twelve feet, and from thence a door leads to the bathing apartment. The bath proper will be forty-eight by twenty-four feet, and have an feet. A platform six feet 01 10 10 wide will surround it.

Park Commission was held yesterday, Hon. Morton McMichael in the chair. After the reports of several committees had been read and acted upon, the board directed the following works of improvement to be creased so that wherever it is practicable, without great expense, its width may be forty-four feet, exclusive of gutters, and not less than forty feet, exclusive of gutters, at any point. An extension of Landsdowne drive from the Horse-watering Station to Belmont avenue. Completing the surfacing of Elm avenue to the intersection of the new road from the concourse on George's Hill.

Improving the grounds west of Reading Rall-road, north of Coates street, by draining, grad-ing, sodding, and planting, and the construc-tion of a concourse near Belmont Mansion.

At a former meeting the board directed the completion of the drive from the Green street entrance to Sedgley, at the east end of the Girard Avenue bridge, the surface to be metalled

Also the extension of the river drive, east side, to a point beyond the Connecting Railroad bridge, where it may connect with a drive through the East Park, the road to pass through a tunnel in the rock at the Spring Garden Water Works. Also, the construction of a road from George's Hill concourse to Eim avenue.

PARK ITEMS.-C. Schoedler, of No. 440 North Third street, has presented to the city, through the Park Commission, two handsome oleanders in full bloom, and two fine fig trees laden with fruit. A number of articles were found by the Park officers, during the month just passed, and were returned to the owners; amongst others were a pocket-book containing $125, found by Keeper Alton, the owner being a New York lady, and a bracelet found by Keeper Foulke. A diary of an actor was found, containing ongst other entries the following:-"Have not had ten cents for ten days. Have left knife for lager and cane for shave.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY .- This morning a Ninth district officer heard cries of murder issuing from the house at the northwest corner of Nineteenth and Poplar streets, and proceeding thereto, found one of the inmates yelling lustily. Inquiring as to the cause, the officer was in-formed that a burglar had attempted to enter the house, but had been frightened off.

CAPTURED.—John McCauliey, aged nineteen, and William Murphy, aged fifteen years, were arrested at Twelfth and Catharine streets yesterday, on the charge of having been concerned in the robbery of a dwelling in the southern portion of the city. Alderman Bonsall held them to answer.

After an inspection of the docks and arsenals, she returned to land on board Le Coligny, and left for Paris by the 8 o'clock evening train. ## WHO KILLED NATHAN!

A Confusion of Theories and Puzzling Speculations-The Mysterious Paper Found-It is a sto-kbroker's List.

The New York World to-day mys:-If the so lution of the mystery in which the Nathan mur der is involved depends upon the arrest of the assassin, it is as far from being reached to-day as it was on the morning of the discovery of the horrible deed. The farther men become removed from the night of the tragedy, the more they speculate in regard to how the murder was committed, what motive it was done for, and who did it.

The "dog" has, as yet, failed to speak the facts connected with the assassination. The key of the safe has not yet unlocked the mys-tery. The bloody footprints on the stairs have been explained, and the explanation has only deepened the mystery. Other things connected with the murder have been subjected to that peculiar analytical examination which experi-enced detectives give to matters which are officially entrusted to them, but the solution is not

If theorizing over the why, the wherefore, and the manner of a mysterious murder ought to lead to an unravelling of the mystery, it ought to so in the case of the assassin of Benjamin Nathan. For, as every intelligent man well knows, much theorizing has been done on the subject. For instance, the detectives, who are supposed to be acting in accordance with the suggestions and theories given out by Superin were indulged in. The festival will be continued tendent Jourdan, started out with the idea,

1. That the murderer was a sneak-thief who had entered the house for petty plunder, but who, discovering a bigger prize than he had looked for, "went for it." to use a cant phrase, and found that he could not get away with it without committing murder, Mr. Nathan having The steamer John Brooks, which arrived here this morning from Portland, reports that at 1 o'clock this P. nication with MacMahon. The morale of the army is excellent. There has been no fighting since the 7th. In the battle of Froschwiller 140,000 of the enemy attacked 33,000 Frenchmen under MacMahon.

Address to the Parisians.

The Ministers have addressed the following proclamation to the Parislans:-

"Our army is concentrated. The new effort has imparted to it fresh hope and confidence; but agitation here will lessen the moral force of the army and act against it. Paris is rising. The French army will be between two fires. We prepare for the defense of Paris. The Deputies will co-operate with us. Let all good citizens help to prevent disorder. Those who wish will have arms furnished them, and will be sent to the front at once."

The London "Times" on the French Disaster.

LONDON, Aug. 9 .- The Times ascribes the French disaster to the Emperor's obstinacy in refusing sound military advice and to his illness. The Times says parties in France will make the Emperor pay the penalty of his ill success. His name is already ignored in acts by which the regency seeks to rally the people. Things arrange themselves as if he was not expected to resume his power, as if testing how he may be dispensed with altogether. The only question is who shall first utter the word "abcdiate."

The Emperor's Mismanugement.

Edmond About writes from the field bitterly condemning the Emperor's mismanagement. Helsays .- "Having declared war, he let the Prussians begin it. True, neither party was ready, yet the French lost twenty days in useless marching and countermarching. They were surprised at Weissenburg by an enemy whom there were no videttes to watch, no stirmishers to meet, and no settled plan to repel."

French Reinforcements.

PARIS, Aug. 9 .- The Patrie says the Government calls upon all former officers and soldiers having served in the armies of France to take grades in regiments of volunteers or of the Garde Mobile, which are to go to the front immediately. This request has been greeted enthusiastically, and numbers are responding to PARIS, July 24.—Monsieur:—According to a telegram from Berlin, published by the journals of the 23d, MM. de Bismarck and de Thile, conesting a passage in my circular despatch of the 21st of July, declared that "since the day they heard of the offer addressed to the Prince de Hohenzollern, the question of that candidature to the throne of Spain has never been the subject of the least conversation, either official or private, between themselves and M. Benedetti." In the form in which it is produced, this affirmation is ambiguous; it seems to refer solely to the relations of our Ambassador with the Prussian Ministry posterior to the acceptance of Prince Leopold. In that sense it would not be contrary to what we have ourselves said; but if it is extended to anterior communications it ceases to be true, and to establish that fact I caunot do better than cite here a despatch dated

March 31, 1869, addressed by Count Benedetti to the Marquis de Lavalette, then Minister of Foreign Affairs. It is thus conceived:--

BERLIN, March 31 .- Monsieur le Marquis :-- Your Excellency requested me by telegraph, yesterday, to assure myself whether the candidature of Prince de hohorzollern to the throne of Spain had a serious character. I had occasion this morning to see M. de Thile, and I asked him if I was to attach any import-ance to the rumors in circulation on this subject. I did not conceal from him that I was anxious to be exactly informed, remarking that such an eventu-ality was of too direct interest to the Emperor's

Government for my daty not to compel me to point out the danger if any reason existed to believe that the project might be realized. I made him aware that I intended to com-municate our conversation to you. M. de Thile gave me the most formal assurance that he had not at any moment been aware of any indication what-at any moment been aware of any indication what-ever which could authorize a similar conjecture, and that the Spanish Minister at Vienna, during the stay he made in Berlin had not even made any allu-sion to the subject. The Under Secretary of State, in thus expressing himself, and without any-thing I said being of a nature to induce such a manifestation, believed himself called upon to pledge his word of honor. According to him, M. Rances had confined himself to taking to Count de Bismarck — who per-haps was anxious to take advantage of the passage of this diplomatist to obtain some information on the state of things in Spain—of the manner in which affairs were advancing in what concerned the choice of the future sovereign. That, in substance, is what M, de Thile stated to me. several times re-peating his first declaration that there was not, and could not be, a question of the Prince de Hohenzol-

Here Fitzpatrick secured a revolver, and soon caused his customer to leave. Proceeding into the street, Bernard met Officer Costigan, whom he attacked and beat severely. # LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

Prison Cases. Court of Quarter Sessions—Judge Paxson, John McLaughlin, more commonly known in the John McLanghlin, more commonly known in the fraternity by the title of the Gipsy, was this morning brought to grief by being convicted of robbery and larceny. In the first case it was proven that on the night of July 16th a gang of six or seven men, of which he was one, attacked Thomas Rands-ford and William Burrage at Front and Walnut streets, garroted them and stole $7 from one and $17 from the other.

The Gipsy took no very active part in the robbery, but recognizing Randsford as an acquaintance of his, he called out to the others to desist as they had the wrong party. In the text case the evidence went to show that on the night of July 23 the cigar shop in McCaully's restaurant, at Front and Dock streets, was broken into and a quantity of cigars were stolen away; between 12 and 1 o'clock the same night the Gipsy, Riley, who was convicted the other day, and Gallagher, who is yet uncaught, were seen near Tommy Holland's, at Front and Wainut streets, with boxes of cigars in their possession. The Gipsy denied having taken any part in either of the offenses.

Mary Roach was tried upon a charge of larceny. The keeper of a saloon at Thirty-first and Market streets testified that the prisoner was employed by him, and having missed a number of table cloths, napkins, etc., he searched her trunk and found them The prisoner asked him if he had ever mentioned this trunk before, and he said he had not whereupon the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty The Judge, however, required her to give security in $500 to be of good behavior for the period of nine months.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

EVENING TELEGRAPH OFFICE, Tuesday, Aug. 9, 1870.

The bank statement of yesterday, as we anti-cipated, is again unfavorable to borrowers, though the losses in the supply are more mode-rate than usual. The deposits have fallen off $189,423 and specie $98,199, whilst the loans show a slight increase, the more favorable terms obtainable for loans having disposed the managers to be liberal. The chief falling off is in the legal-tender reserves, which are less than last week by $353,471. This is entirely due to the sharp demands from the West. The local demand for loans is lively both for business and speculative purposes, and rates are very firm but unchanged

Gold is active and weak in anticipation of further successes to Prussian arms and a pro-bable early termination of the war. Sales opened at 11814, advanced to 118%, and closed at about 1181/2 at noon.

Government bonds are rather unsettled, but prices are generally about the same as at the close yesterday.

The stock market was active, steady, and strong. In City sixes there were sales of the old bonds at 102½, and 101½ was offered for the new do. State sixes, first series, sold at 103½. and of the third do. at 112.

EUGENIE.

The Empress at Cherbourg-Her Opinions-Preparations of the Emperor.

PARIS, July 27 .- The accounts of the Empress' visit to the fleet at Cherbourg, on the 24th, are glowing with the enthusiasm of the writer. Her Majesty arrived unexpectly at 7 o'clock in the morning, and within ten minutes was on board La Savole, whence she was con-veyed to the flag-ship, La Surveillante. The Vice-Admiral, having presented the staff officers of the iron-clad squadron, thus addressed the Empress Madam :-- Just as we are about to weigh anchor, Madam:—Just as we are about to weigh anchor, your Majesty condescends to say to us a last fare-well, on the very decks of our vessels. Thanks! We are accustomed to see our Empress wherever there is a danger to be braved, and have only to be inspired with her noble courage in the struggle about to commence. Our part in it appears likely to be more humble than that of our brethren of the army; but happen what may, we shall not forget we have the offended dignity of France to avenge, in grouping ourselves around the Imperial family. Long live the Emperer! long live the Empress! long live the Prince Imperial!

The crews immediately repeated these cries, and some time elapsed before silence was re-

4. That the murder was committed by one of the workmen employed in repairing the housea theory which was soon exploded.

5. That some of these workmen may have spoken in some bar-room about the careless manner in which the doors of the house were frequently left open, and that some burglar, overhearing the talk, may have resolved on "cracking" the "crib" for the purpose of making a havl of some valuable "swag."

6. That it was some acquaintance of Mr. Nathan who did the deed, from some motive, business or otherwise, at present unknown. Other theories have been set forth by the detectives, but not one of them has as yet resulted in solving the mystery of the murder. That the officers have worked hard and assiduously in the matter there is no doubt; and, from cer tain rumors that have been put in circulation, it is quite likely, notwithstanding the failure of a majority of the theories advanced, that the detectives are confident that they know the name of the murderer, and that they hope to "bag' their man ere the lapse of many hours.

THAT PIECE OF PAPER-AN IMPORTANT STATE-MENT.

There has been much said relative to a piece of paper that was picked up from the stoop of Mr. Nathan's residence on the morning of the murder. At the inquest yesterday, a news-boy named James Nies testified that he saw a man pick up a piece of paper from the stoop on that morning, and that this man wore a white hat, white pants, and grey coat, and that his clothing being covered with lime and mortar gave him the appearance of being a mason. The boy also testified that the piece of paper looked like a bank check. In connection with this testimony, the following statement, personally furnished to the writer, cannot fail to be read with serious interest: -I was at work (said the informant) at Mr. William C. White's place, at the foot of Eleventh street and the East river, until about 10 o'clock on the night of the murder. I am an engineer there. I went from that place about that hour to Aveaue A, where I took an Avenue A car and rode to Twenty-third street and Broadway. There I got out and went along Twenty-third street towards the North river.

along Twenty-third street towards the North liver. After getting out of the car I noticed two men lean-ing against the railing in front of Mr. Peckham's residence, on the corner of the street, next door to Mr. Nathan's. The men were well dressed and were conversing as I passed. It was raining quite hard at the time, and the sidewalks were quite wet. After passing the men I noticed a piece of paper on the sidewalk. It was rained it was not at the time, and the sidewalks were quite wet. After passing the men I noticed a piece of paper on the sidewalk. I picked it up, and found it was not saturated all through. I carried it to the first hamp-light on the south side of the street, and saw that it was nothing but a stock-broker's list written out in pencil. No name was signed to it. I then walked on rather fast, and went past Mr. Nathan's stoop. I threw the paper away, thinking it would be no good to me, and the wind, which was blowing very hard at the time, carried it towards Mr. Nathan's stoop. I heard no more about the piece of paper-in fact I forgot all about it-till last Saturday morning, when I heard there was a reward offered for a piece of paper found on the stoop the morning after the murder. I think the man who took the paper from the stoop is a man who generally comes over the Pavonia ferry from New Jersey every morning in the boat that leaves the Jersey side at 430 o'clock, arriving at the foot of Twenty-third street about 5 o'clock. Thave often seen him going along the street (Twenty-third) ahead of me. He is usually dressed in blue over-alls and dark blue shirt, and scems to be a fireman. He always went through Twenty-third street until be took an ayenne car at the corner of that street

He always went through Twenty-third street until he took an avenue car at the corner of that street and Broadway. I never spoke to him about it, and don't know his name. This is all I know about the paper or anything else connected with the murder.
