FROM EUROPE.

The French Steadily Falling Back.

London, Aug. 11 .- Advices from the Prussian front up to 10 o'clock on Wednesday night state that the French army was falling back to the line of the Moselle, harassed by Prussian cavalry, which has already passed Saarlouis, Falaisement and Les Etanges.

The Prussian Captures.

Stores of all kinds and military trains had fallen into the hands of the Prussians. They had also taken the small fortress of Hatzelstein, in the Vosges Mountains, which the French had evacuated, leaving their guns and provisions behind.

The Battle of Freschweller.

Paris, Aug. 11 .- The Journal Officiel has advices from Metz to 4.30 yesterday evening. The details of the battle of Froschweiler are

Marshal MacMahon had his horse killed

A brigade of cavalry of the Reserve Corps and one division of the corps of General Failly arrived on the field at the close of the day and covered the retreat. The pursuit of the enemy was vigorous at first, but soon became mere reconnoissances.

Marshal MacMahon, after being twentyfive hours in the saddle, passed Sunday at Saverne, which was abandoned on Sunday night, and occupied by the Prussians. Some of their advance pickets came up with our rear guard, but were driven back without much difficulty.

A Battle Believed to be in Progress-Difficulty of Obtaining News from the Prussian Army.

London, Aug. 11-1 A. M.-There is no news here of an engagement up to this hour (1 A. M.), but it is believed in Paris that a battle is in progress. No telegrams are allowed to go through, and there are no railway trains running south or east from Cologne. except one to Berlin daily, and two trains for troops. This explains the difficulty of obtaining news from the front.

Napoleon Blind to His Own Incompetency-He is determined to Retain the Command-in-Chief of the Army.

London, Aug. 10-Evening.-The latest "official" dispatch, dated Metz, August 9. evening, states that the Emperor went that morning to the headquarters of Marshal Bazaine, who resumed command of the troops "concentrated at Metz." This is an indirect way of contradicting the rumor that Marshal Bazaine was to be made Generalissimo of the whole Army of the Rhine. The Emperor is blind to his incompetency. and, disregarding the universal outcry against it, will cling to the chief command of the army until another defeat exhausts the national patience. He gives out that he never will return to Paris alive, unless as a

FROM THE PLAINS.

Army Headquarters in New Mexico. Santa Fe, New Mexico, Aug. 10.—The question as to the permanent location of the headquarters in this district, which has caused considerable interest lately, has been finally settled in favor of Santa Fe. General Cetty yesterday received from the department headquarters an order issued by the Secretary of War authorizing him to proceed at once to construct eight suitable buildings. This gives great satisfaction to the owners of real estate.

The Foreign War News. The news of the recent Prussian victories created great excitement here last night. A procession composed of Germans, headed by a band of music, paraded through the streets and called on several of our prominent citizens, who expressed sympathy with the Prussians and their rejoicings with them over their ylctories.

The Rulston Eliver Mines.

A great interest is manifested in relation to the recently discovered silver mines of Ralston City and Burr's Mountain. A large number of returns of assays of ores taken from all parts of this region were received by the California mail vesterday, and from these assays it appears that the best mineral authorities on the Pacific coast pronounce them the richest of rich mines. They are supposed by many to be the 'lost mines" of which tradition has handed down such remarkable accounts, as there is unmistakable evidence of their having been worked at some period long in the past.

Cool Weather. HELENA, Montana, Aug. 10.—The weather is very cool here. The thermometer at noon was down to the freezing point, and it snowed a little.

THE PRUSSIAN EING.

A Monarch of Men-King William's Magnifi-cent Presence.

A correspondent of the London Times says:—

There was a gleam of helimeted heads and plumes and of orders and uniforms around the Queen as the train passed on, and some said, "There is the King," and others said, "It is the Crown Prince," but the glimpse was transient, and the clouds of dust which followed in our track on this most dusty of railroads put all in eclipse. In another hour we were in Berlin, and emerged into streets filled with men in plain clothes proceeding in some sort of milimen in plain clothes proceeding in some sort of thin-tary order, with small escorts of soldiery to the rall-way station. Many of these wore decorations, medals, ribands, and crosses—which spoke of medals, ribands, and crosses—which spoke of service in Schleswig-Holstein and in Bo-hemia. They were sober, orderly men, quiet, nnexcited, and perhaps all the more anxious to fight hard to end the campaign because they had been called away so suddenly from hearth and home—men mostly of twenty-five and upwards, several in each band belonging apparently to the well-to-do bourgeoisie or better classes of artisans, Large cavalcades of horses in better spirits were led off in fours in the same direction. Detachments of troops were passing all day down the Lime-tree walk, and at two o'clock the King drove through the streets to the station in a Russian drosky, and was received with uncovered heads and a buzzing sort of suppressed cheer as he passed. He "looked every inch a king," plumed and helmeted in strictest soldier tunic—a real anax andron of the days when kings led subjects to battle. What a line old head and front it is! The stamp of Imperator is there already, and it would not surprise one very much to learn that in an hour of stress that old man, with his piercing blue eye and open brow, and fine lip, curved under his massive white moustache, would cut the Gordian knot of a constitution with a swift, sure sword. Certainly he is not the sort of man one would like to worry coram populo in a watering-place. And then he has a faith; "he be-lieves," and he is sure that He in whom he believes has placed his cause beyond the reach of human harm.

It is observed, nevertheless, that the King is not in his usual joyous spirits. He speaks with devout confidence, and trusts in the justice of his quarrel; but his Majesty is grave. The Crown Prince, too, seems, it is said, to feel the influence of the tremendous events which are impending, and surely if the designs of Prussia were warlike the royal family cannot have regarded them with favor or have participated in the desire for a conflict which causes them so much anxiety, although they do not express any apprehensions as to the ultimate result.

EUGENIE.

The Empress Regent, and How She Became Such-Napoleon's Decree of Appointment. The following is the text of the decree of the Emperor conferring on the Empress the title and powers of Regent:-

Napoleon, by the Grace of God and the national will Emperor of the French to all whom these presents may concern, greeting:—"Wishing to give to our well-beloved Consort, the Empress, a proof of the confidence which we have in her; and having the intention to place ourselves at the head of the army, we have resolved to confer, and do hereby cise the functions of that charge as soon as we shall have left our capital, in conformity with our instructions and orders, as we shall have given them in the general directions of the service which we shall have established, and which will be transcribed on the book of the the said orders and instructions, and that in no case the Empress can depart from their rigor, in the ex-ercise of her functions of Regent. We desire that the Empress shall preside in our name over the Council of Ministers. We do not, however, intend that the Empress-Regent shall authorize by her sig nature the promulgation of any law other than those now pending before the Senate, the Legislative Body, and the Council of State, referring on that subject to the orders and instructions abovementioned; we order our Keeper of the Seals, Minister of Justice and Public Worship, o communicate the present letters-patent to the publish them in the Bulletin des Lois. publish them in the Bulletin des Lois.

Given at the Palace of the Tuileries, this 23d day of July, 1870.

A FRENCH VIEW.

What Has Become of the Wreck of Napoleon's Army.

The Courrier des Etats Unis of yesterday contained a special despatch from its Paris correspondent, dated the 9th instant, in which the following report is made:

General Frossard's corps has entirely railied under the walls of Metz. Contrary to the recorts of the enemy General Failly's corps has not yet been engaged, but is also within the entrenched camp of Metz. By the addition of the 3d Corps under General de Caen, General Bazaine has now under his immediate order at Metz, 150,000 men. The 8th Corps, or Imperial Guard, is in ethelmen. The 5th Corps, or Imperial Guard, is in echel-lon from Metz to Nancy, while at Nancy there is part of the 4th Corps, under General Ladmirault, Marshal MacMahon has at Savergne, where he was instructed to stop, the remains of 1st and 7th Corps, numbering a 50,000 men. The 6th Corps, Marshal Canrobert, has arrived at Chaready to enter the theatre of hostilities. All t form an army of 350,000 men, exclusive of the Garde Mobile, which has commenced to enter Lorraine. This report is exceedingly reassuring under the cir-

The Business Transacted by the Philadelphia Office in July Last.

Within the past five years the business transacted at the Philadelphia Post Office has increased nearly three fold, and with a corresponding increase in the next five years the present building will prove entirely inadequate. It is understood that arrangements are being made for the erection of a new structure, the accommodations of which will serve for many years to come. The following table will show the amount of business done in July, 1870, as compared with the same month of 1865:

THE USUAL WEAPON .- Last night, whilst a barber named Samuel Jackson was passing a gin mill at Eighth and Emmeline streets, he was insulted by another colored individual whose cognomen is Richard Latton. Considerable bantering was indulged in, when finally Jackson drew forth a razor, and with it inflicted a severe wound on the shoulder of Latton. Jackson then took to his heels, whilst his victim was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital. Subsequently Jack-son was arrested in a barber-shop on Bainbridge street, above Fifth, whilst asleep. He was taken before Alderman Bonsall, who committed him to prison to await the result of the injuries he had inflicted.

DONALD DINNIE.

The Champion Scottish Athlete—The Caledonian Games Next Week.

Among the prominent amusements in this city are the exhibitions of athletic exercises which are given annually by the Caledonian Clubs. They always attract large audiences, composed principally of our citizens of Scottish descent. To encourage these exercises, the clubs of this country invited the champion athlete of Scotland, Donald Dinnie, to cross the Atlantic and give exhibitions of his powers in the prominent cities in Canada and the United States. He has consented, and is now in Canada. On Tuesday consented, and is now in Canada. On Tuesday next he will be in this city, and on that day will appear at Oakdale Park and take part in the programme arranged for that occasion by the Caledonian Club of Philadelphia. The following is a short sketch of the great athlete:-

Donald Dinnie was born at Aboyne, Aberdeen-shire, in 1838, and commenced his career as an athlete in 1857. Since then he has gained upwards of 1500 prizes, 1000 of them being for throwing the hammer, putting the stone, tossing the caber, running, leaping, wrestling, etc. He has also gained 62 silver medals, and the champion gold medal, awarded by the Glasgow Celtic for throwing the hammer in 1867. Forty of these medals are champion medals, and had to be held for three successive years before becoming his property. He is acknowledged to be one of the best specimens of muscular development that has ever appeared in Scotland. The following are some of his dimensions:—height, 6 feet 1 in.; round chest, 45½ in.; arm, 15% in.; thigh, 25% in.; weight, 210 pounds. The following are some of his best feats on level ground:—Putting the stone, 22 lbs., 39 feet 6 in.; 16 lbs., 47 feet 6 in.; throwing the hammer, 22 lbs., 97 feet; of 16 lbs., 122 feet, fair stand. Turning the body with the hammer, he has sent a 22 lb. hammer 120 feet, and with one has thrown a hammer weighing 13 lbs. 130 feet. At both feats (stone and hammer) he excels anything that has ever been recorded in Scotland. At high leap he has cleared 5 feet 11 in. long leap, 19 feet 4 in.; hop, step and jump, 43 feet. He also gained the champion silver cup at Dublin in 1865, for performing feats with the 56 lb. weight, for throwing which he challenges any man in the world, and will allow any man in America 12 inches start.

AQUEOUS.

The Streets Turned into Rivers. Whilst the party named Jupiter P., who is supposed to act as the head of the water department of the space aerial, has been rather sparing in the supply of aqua pure, many have wondered at the cause, and numerous have been the surmises thereat. The storm, the welcome storm, and, to be emphatic, the thrice welcome storm of last night and this morning has furnished many the clue to the mystery. Jupe has been having built a new and powerful turbine, and the result of its first trial has been witnessed. Unlike those at Fairmonnt, it has proved a complete success, in fact rather too much so, as the sequel will show. The old story of "Rain on the Roof" may be all very well so far as poetry is concerned, but when the tune changes to "Rain in the Parlor," it is not quite so enjoyable. Doubtless many persons were truly thankful for the abundance of the aqueous furnished, but of their number were not the inhabitants in the neighborhood of Front and Richmond streets. Here a complete flood formed, and the water rose four feet in the street, filling cellars, flooding parlors, and floating carpets, furniture, etc., ceilingward, beside furnishing an extensive public bath, in which many of the residents in-

Nor were humanity the only sufferers, for in the stable of Messrs. Warren, Kirk & Co., on Richmond street, below Front, were a number of mules, which narrowly escaped drowning, they being barely able to keep their heads above the water when resened.

At Second and Canal streets numerous cellars were flooded and the police compelled to arouse danger. The cellar of the Morgue at Front and Noble streets was also flooded, and is to-day being used by a number of urchins for bathing

PRUSSIAN OR CUBAN?

A Mysterious Craft Affont. For several days past a clipper-built schooner has been moving about in the Delaware in such a manner as to excite the suspicion of the Harbor Police, who are unable to decide as to bor Police, who are unable to decide as to whether she is a Prussian privateer or a Cuban gunboat. The first idea is, in our mind, upset by the fact that according to treaty no European power can engage in privateering.

Yet so excited are our German friends over the downfall of the Napoleonic dynasty, that we are inclined to judge that they are fitting contained and great for the nursose of sending a decided and the statement of the purpose of sending a decided and the statement of the purpose of sending a decided and the statement of the purpose of sending a decided and the statement of the purpose of sending a decided and the statement of the purpose of sending a decided and the statement of the purpose of sending a decided and the statement of the purpose of sending a decided and the statement of the statem

If she be, however, a Cuban gunboat, and is really fitting out here with the intention of aiding the patriots of the "Sunny Isle," then we think General Grant should be apprised of the fact. At present the mysterious rakish craft is moored below the Navy Yard. LATER.

The Frishmuth Cavalry are assembling, squads of them being seen on different streets. The officers say they are going to Smith's Island to indulge in beer. Many suppose that they are to embark in this mysterious vessel.

COLORED .- William Woods, one of our ebonyhued citizens, who has been residing at No. 940 Rodman street, yesterday, at the solicitation of Alderman Jones, paid a visit to the palatial stone mansion at Eleventh and Passyunk road. there to remain several days. The way the thing came about was thusly:-William had been smelling the corks of some bottles, and becoming somewhat excited, he displayed to an assembled multitude a blackjack, which he flourished quite freely. A gentleman "in blue" supposing he was affected by the heat, informed the Alderman, and the latter sent William to the place named to recuperate.

COAL OIL.—About 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning one Mary Boyle, aged 28 years, residing in Watt's court, Twenty-fourth street, below Spring Garden, possessing more inventive talent than ordinary common sense, attempted to hasten the ignition of some smouldering kindling wood by pouring coal oil on it from out a quart can. It is scarcely necessary to add that said can cannot now be found. Mary has taken up her residence in St. Joseph's Hos-

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY .- About ten minutes of ATTEMPTED ROBERY.—About ten minutes of 12 o'clock last evening thieves attempted to force an entrance to the cigar store No. 1241 Carpenter street. They had succeeded in prying open a shutter when they were discovered by officer Feeney. The thieves seeing him ran off. He fired two shots at them, but they managed to escape, none of the shots taking effect.

ELECTRICITY.—During the continuance of the storm this morning the barn of Select Coun-cilman Charles Thompson Jones, situated at Roxborough, Tweuty-first ward, was fired by lightning and totally consumed. One horse was burned to death and another badly injured.

A SHAWL .- Yesterday James McNeill entered a house on Twelfth street, below South, and helping himself to a shawl, marched off. Sub sequently James was arrested, and Alderman Morrow sent him to Moyamensing.

HATS'AND CAPS WROLESALE .- Some time last night an enterprising individual entered, through a rear door, the hat and cap store of A. Hess, No. 1010 South street, and helped himself to a portion of the stock, amounting to $100.

Charge of Perjury.—Before United States Commissioner Biddle to-day was arraigned Benjamin Smith, on the charge of perjury, which consists in swearing that a sallor who perished by the foundering of a British vessel was the husband of, a Mrs. Catharine Hanson, and on this she obtained his prize money. Hanson has since turned up. The accused was held in $2000 ball to answer.

NICKELS.—Some sneak thief last night entered through the transom of the liquor store of Mr. Shea, Thirteenth and Callowhill streets, and robbed the place of $45 in pennies.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

EVENING TELEGRAPH OFFICE, Thursday, Aug. 11, 1870. In this market the weather to-day interferes somewhat with financial operations, and the supply in consequence appears in excess of the demand, but the rates for all classes of loans are fully sustained both at the banks and in the outside market. Only first class paper is nego-tiable and long dates are current only at excep-tional terms. As a rule the banks limit their discounting to regular customers only.

The gold market continues very active and unsettled, the fluctuations being rapid and wide. Sales opened at 116¼, declined to 115¾, and advanced again to 116¾ before noon.

Government bonds are steady in this market. but there is no material advance in prices. The London market is reported very strong this morning, but our own refuses to respond, the impression being universal that the foreign dealers rule the market for their own profit. The stock market was dull and prices were generally steady. In State securities there were sales of the sixes, third series, at 111. Lehigh gold loan sold at 83%.

Reading Railroad was dull and weak; sales at 48@48%. Camden and Amboy was steady, with sales at 116. 37 was bid for Catawissa preferred, and 27 for Philadelphia and Erie. The balance of the list was overlooked. PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE SALES.

has been greatly agitated by demonstrations of the people. Great crowds assembled and demanded arms. Last evening groups of radicals, seemingly without evil intent, entered the City Hall and endeavored to overthrow the municipal government. Troops quickly arrived, with stringent orders to arrest the rioters. The arrests have continued to-day, about forty persons being now under guard for participating in the disturbances. The city is perfectly tranquil

FROM NEW YORK.

Continuation of the Nathan Inquest. NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Nathan inquest was resumed to-day before Coroner Rollins. S. Williams, the lawyer, testified that Morris Williams, the builder, told him positively that the "dog" with which the murder was committed was the same implement that he saw behind the stable door a year ago.

Miss Clara Dale corroborated the statement of Washington Nathan, that he had been at No. 104 East Fourteenth street from nine o'clock till a quarter to twelve.

William Kelly was then placed upon the stand and examined as to his previous life. His testi-mony showed him to be a shiftless character, who had enlisted in the army under a false name. He showed great reluctance about disclosing his history, and appeared much confused and ill at ease. He produced a bad impression on all

MEMPHIS, Aug. 11.—Indian affairs near Fort Sill are still unsettled. The Kiowas and Cheyennes are still committing depredations in Texas. A party of twenty Indians attacked Whaley's ranche, near the mouth of the Little Watchita, in Texas, on the 18th of July, killing L. C. Ware, of Illinois, and wounding another. L. C. Ware, of Illinois, and wounding another.

About the 20th of July 750 Indians raided in Cook and Montague counties, Texas, killing a Mr. Coosier, carrying off his wife and five children, also wounding several others. Sixty of the 6th United States Cavalry from Jacksboro, Texas, pursued the Indians, and near Wachita were attacked by the Indians, and had a severe fight. Two soldiers were killed and six wounded. Two Indians were killed and several wounded. The troops fell back, to Jacksboro, and being

"The Gold Room was greatly excited to-day over the European war news, and as the drift of speculation is in favor of a lower premium, commensurately with the success of the Prussian element of the great contest, the report of another Prussian victory, received by the cable to-day, started a further downward movement, the extremes to-day being 118 and 115%. Moreover, the course of the market was characterized by few of the traditional reactions which are so common to such a movement. It was a steady decline from the moment dealings commenced at the Board. The formal opening price was 118, from which there was a decline to 1174 during the forenoon. At 12 o'clock, when the Assistant Treasurer opened the bids for the Government gold, and it was found that a total "The Gold Room was greatly excited to-day over when the Assistant Treasurer opened the bids for the Government gold, and it was found that a total of $2,400,000 was bid for, the competition so manifested produced a reaction to 117%, curiously exemplifying the fact that the sale of Government gold, while generally productive of a decline, may produce an advance when, as it such instances, the offer to sell exhibits the demand existing in the market. The reaction was but temporary, however, for the intelligence of an advance to $6%,687 for our bonds in London provoked fresh weakness, and when at length it was announced that the Prussian army had pierced the French centre and was on its way to Paris, where, furthermore, a revolution was said to be in progress with a view to the dethronement of Napoleon, gold fell to 115%. It is not venturing too much to say with a view to the dethronement of Napoleon, gold fell to 115%. It is not venturing too much to say that the fall would have been still more precipitate, and even to lower prices, had not the covering of the enormous short interest arrested the decline at such stage of its downward progress.

"It might be supposed that the Government market would have responded more closely to the higher quotations abroad, but the advance was barely a quarter per cent, in the leading issues. The reason of this is twofold. In the first place, while high gold renders the principal of a bond less valuable in currency, low gold makes the interest less valuable. The real price of such a security in times like the present is, therefore, a curious problem. In the second place, there is a wide-spread impression that the bonds now on the market are speculatively held the bonds now on the market are speculatively held by the foreign bankers, who were the first to break down their price a few weeks ago. The public, by which term the street includes individuals, savings banks, and private corporations, are, therefore, exe-cuting a sort of poetic justice in refusing to buy the bonds from the men who broke the market with a flood of sales and then loaded up at the lowest prices. It remains to be seen who will profit by the Court of Quarter Sessions—Judge Paxson.

Samuel Webster was this morning convicted of the larceny of a gold watch chain and diamond pin, altogether of the value of $95, the property of C. C. Mann. It was proved that during the aosene of Mr. Mann and his family at the sea-shore his house was entered by thieves and these articles were stolen.

They were afterwards found in the possession of pawnbrokers, who testified that the prisoner had pledged them. Upon his arrest, it will be remem-bered, he swallowed a pawn-ticket, which Detective bered, he swallowed a pawn-ticket, which bered, he swallowed to recover—administering an Franklin endeavored to recover—administering an emetic, but falled. The prisoner indulged in a long, emetical speech, denying the larcenies, but ungrammatical speech, denying the larcenies, but acknowledging that he received and piedged them. The jury convicted him generally upon the bill, and, being an old offender, he was sentenced to the Eastern Penitentiary for four years.

Other Sentences In the case of Warren Manuel, who was convicted of larceny, and of entering the office of S. H. Hall & Co., with intent to steal, the Court arrested the ndgment upon the latter count, holding that this mense was not known in our statute, but on the first count he was sentenced to the Eastern Penitentiar for three years. Hugo Miller was convicted of a charge of stealing

THE FIRST REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE DIS-TRICT.—The delegates to the First Republican Legislative District Convention, in accordance with the decision of the Republican Executive Committee, reassembled this morning, at 11 o'clock, at the public house on the southwest corner of Sixth and Dickerson streets. They were called together by G. Howard Griffiths, Charles Ridgway, and Samuel Lutz, who were delegated for that purpose. Mr. Griffiths pre-sided temporarily, and Mr. Ridgway acted as secretary. The roll of delegates was called, and it being announced that there were severa contested seats a committee was appointed to try these cases.
