TUESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1870.

SH The earliest regular edition of THE EVENING TELEGRAPH goes to press at 11 o'clock, and the subsequent regular editions at 21, 24, and 41. Whenever there is important news of the progress of the European war, extra editions will be issued after this hour, and before the regular time for the early edition.

IT THE EVENING TELEGRAPH, from Its original establishment, has been in the receipt of telegraphic news from the New York Associated Press, which consists of the Tribune, Times, Herald, World, Sun, Journal of Commerce, Evening Post, Commercial Advertiser, and Evening Express. The success which has attended our enterprise is, in itself, a sufficient evidence of the freshness, fullness, and reliability of the news which we have received from this source. We have now entered Into a special contract by which THE EVENING TELEGRAPH has the exclusive use of the news furnished in the afternoon by the Associated Press to its own members, the North American, Inquirer, Ledger, Press, Age and German Democrat, of this city, and the leading journals of the East, North, West and South; and hereafter THE TELEGRAPH will be the only evening paper published in this city in which the afternoon despatches of the Associated Press will appear.

THE WAR.

Tim present campaign in France is crowded with so many startling events that cable telegrams which do not record a great battle or a momentous political change seem comparatively tame. But even Prussian armies cannot fight incessantly, and it is natural that the terrible conflicts of last week should be succeeded by a temporary lull. Time is needed if for no other purpose than to bury the dead, relieve the sufferings of the wounded, and to recuperate the armies exhausted by a prolonged struggle. The French claim that they have improved their precious moments by supplying the garrison with food and ammunition. at Metz that Bazaine has been able and to withdraw a portion of his army by opening a route north of the Prussian lines. They also allege that a junction of his forces with those of MacMahon will be formed, and that this united army will be capable of making a stout resistance to the invaders. The Prussian answer to this theory has not been received. As usual, when they are on the eve of great movements, they are remarkably reticent. We never hear from Berlin what the Germans propose to do, the official despatches from that quarter being confined to laconic reports of accomplished results. The official and semi-official news from Paris is usually of a directly opposite character: it tells of the mighty things that French armies are about to do, and of mysterious strategic movements in contemplation, dwelling upon the hopes of the future instead of the disasters of the past. It would be singular if the campaign should be concluded without a single interruption of the line of German successes; and partial French triumphs, in some quarters, are almost inevitable. But there are no indications that such successes are sufficiently important to alter the general features of the situa ion or to give to distracted Paris anything better than momentary relief. Behind the vast hordes of German soldiers who are already occupying French strongholds, other corps and divisions scarcely less formidable follow in their wake, and nothing short of a military miracle can enable France to recover her lost ground. J. GLANCY JONES, of blessed Lecompton memory, having played himself out in Berks county, and having become so obnoxious there that he was defeated as the regular nominee of the strongest Democratic district in the Union, has found a home in the genial climate of little Delaware, and it is alleged that he is now looming up as a prominent candidate for the United States Senate from that State in place of Saulsbury, whose term expires March 4, 1871. As Jones is one of the most inveterate office beggars in the country, and one of the most plausible tricksters who ever deceived a good-natured constituency, we shall not be astonished to hear that he is making headway for the post to which he aspiras. But if the eyes of Delaware are well opened, it is scarcely possible that she will rescue so despicable a carpet-bagger from deserved obscurity. If she is betrayed into such a mistake she will repent her error in sackcloth and ashes, and find that even a Saulsbury is to be preferred to a Janus faced Jones.

In our Washington correspondence will be found a statement of alleged irregularities in the settlement of contracts for naval steam machinery, addressed to Vice-Admiral Porter by William H. Allyn, late Chief Clerk of the Bureau of Steam Engineering. According to the story told by Mr. Allyn, Chief Engineer J. W. King, who succeeded the experimenting Isherwood as head of the Bureau of Steam Engineering, is guilty not only of gross mismanagement, but of aiding to defrand the Government of a large sum of money in the interests of the Corliss Steam Engine Company. The facts of the case, as far as we can gather them from Allyn's statement and from his testimony and that of Porter before the Congressional Joint Select Committee on Retrenchment, are that when the present administration came into power was deemed desirable to compromise with contractors who were building steam machinery for the navy rather than to draw from the Treasury the large sums of money that would be necessary if the contracts were fully carried out and the machinery finished. There appears to have been no difficulty in effecting a settlement with any of the contractors except Corliss, who endeavored to obtain the full amount that would have been due him if his engines. were completed and placed on board of a vessel, whereas the machinery was only about three-fourths finished, and Allyn contended that the deduction to be made by the Government should be the difference between the value of the ongines as complete and fitted on board of a vessel and the value as delivered to the Government imperfect-this difference amounting, according to his calculation, to the large sum of $240,000. The Corliss contract for a 100-inch engine was for $730,000, of which amount $30,000 represented the cost of transportation to the Charlestown Navy Yard and fitting it in a vessel, and the proposition he made to the Navy Department was that he should receive the face of the contract less the $30,000. Previous to this a board of officers, consisting of Captain Strong and Chief Engineers Garvin and Fithian, had examined the machinery, and estimated that it would cost $110,000 to complete it. Chief Engineer Henderson of the Charlestown Navy Yard, also made an examination, and placed his estimate of the cost of completion at the still larger sum of $250,000. Allyn states that in spite of the reports of these officers the proposition of Corliss was accepted by the Navy Department, and that this could not have been done except at the recommendation of Engineer-in-chief King. What makes the matter more serious is that the proposition of Corliss was found, when the investi-

Since we complain of the conduct of Great Britain in our war, it is important that we should show her practically, as well as theoretically, how genuine neutrality should be maintained; and the restrictions now imposed on American citizens furnish a marked contrast to the loose system adopted by England when her shipbuilders were helping the Confederates.

A CASE FOR RANDALL.

Ws. affectionately commend to the tender care of Generalissimo Samuel J. Randall the tangled condition of the Democracy in the Fifteenth Congressional district. There is a palpable disposition manifested on the part of the Democratic people of the district to snuff out the political pretensions of Hon. Richard J. Haldeman, and as palpable a determination displayed on the part of said Richard and a few politicians he employs to train with him, not to be snuffed out; and confusion worse confounded in the ranks of the Democracy is the result. A few years sgo Mr. Haldeman carpet-bagged across the Susquehanna to escape the Republican majorities of Dauphin, which he had assaulted unsuccessfully, and in 1868, in the face of a large adverse popular vote, he bagged a majority of the delegates to the Cumberland Convention, and journeyed to Congress. The Democracy resolved not to be bagged by a carpet-bagger agaia, and adopted the Crawford county system to destroy the cash value of delegates. In the recent race for a renomination three-fourths of the Democracy of Cumberland voted against Haldeman and declared Mr. Bratton the candidate, but forthwith Haldeman carpet-bags off to York and Perry, and gets endorsements there at reasonable rates for cash and approved promises, through the rotten delegate system, and now claims to be the nominee on the Scriptural principle that propheis have honor save in their own country. York and Perry will of course nominate Haldeman, and Cumberland, with her threefourths Democratic vote backing Bratton, will protest and refuse submission; and as both cannot well be elected, Mr. Randall must interpose under the broad seal of Democracy and reconcile the belligerents. We trust that it will be arranged so that Haldeman may be returned. True, the Democracy don't want him, but, as the only remaining son-in-law of Senator Cameron, he must have a mission from President Grant if the people of his district are allowed to carry out their clearly expressed wishes to overthrow him. He will do just as well in Congress as any other Democrat, and he has high example in his eminent father-in-law for holding high position in defiance of the people. Considering that missions are scarce and applicants numerous, we beg Mr. Randall to provide for Mr. Haldeman in the Democratic party; and as for Mr. Bratton, he has been cheated so often that he is certainly used to it, and may even like it by this time. It has been clearly demonstrated that all Liquors distilled by the ordinary methods contain a very large percentage of impurities; the degree of heat that must necessarily be em-ployed, decomposing, disengaging and vaporizing all the baneful elements and norious gases contained in the mash, which when condensed form the deleterious fusel oil so detrimental to life and health; but, when indulged in to excess, the result is Brain Fever, De-lirium Tremens, Apoplery, Insanity, etc. Consequently Liquors, as ordinarily distilled, are apt, even when only used sparingly as a stimulant, to create Nausea, Sick Headache, Inflammation, and Kidney Diseases.

The "P. P." Whiskies, on the contrary, "stimulate and cheer" without unduly exciting the brain or injuring the coats of the stomach. They are distilled from the choicest product of the Cereals in raccuo, the pressure of the atmosphere being reduced from 15 lbs, to 2 lbs. to the square inch, consequently a temperature of only about 90 degrees of heat is re-quired in the operation. The process is entirely mechanical, no ACIDS, CHARCOAL, ESSENCES, EXTRACTS, DRUGS OR CHEMICALS OF ANY DESCRIPTION BEING USED-hence the "P. P." Whiskies are not only delicate in flavor, but pure, wholesome, and innocuous as a beverage, retaining in simple purity the flavor of the cereals from which they were distilled.

The "P. P." Whiskies have been tested by some of the most eminent of the Medical Faculty, by Analytical Chemists, and by the best judges of Liquors in the United States, and pronounced perfectly pure and wholesome, and especially desirable for Family use and Medical purposes.

Members of the medical faculty, the trade, and the public generally are cordially invited to call and inspect the machinery and process, and examine the liquors and the impurities extracted, at the Refinery and Warerooms, Nos. 246 South FRONT and 117 DOCK Street. This is the only process in operation in the State of Pennsylvania for refining whiskies in

Own of the avowed objects of the freetraders in the present canvass is to thin the ranks of the protectionists in the next Congress, so that, when the tariff is revised, American industry may be placed at the mercy of foreign manufacturers. No issues of the pending campaign are more important than those connected with the future adjustment of imposts, and the people will commit a disastrous error if they do not guard carefully against the encroachments of the enemies of American labor.

There is certainly sufficient in these allegations to cause a very thorough investigation to be made, and Chief Engineer King, if he is innocent of any dereliction of duty, will demand a searching inquiry into his conduct-Pending such an inquiry, it is only proper that the accusations of Allyn and Porter should be received with some grains of allowance. Porter is an enemy of the entire corps of naval engineers, and would be only too glad of an opportunity to do all or any one of them an injury, and a certain amount of vindictiveness toward Mr. King is to be accounted for from the fact of that gent'eman having labored during the last session of Congress for the passage of a law to grant positive rank to the officers of the navy in opposition staff to the well-known desires of Porter to appropriate all the honors of the naval service to the Allyn's enmity to Mr. King is not line. unaccountable in view of his discharge from the chief clerkship of the Bureau of Steam Engineering. We put the matter before our readers in this shape because Chief Engineer King, during many years of service in the navy, has always borne an irreproachable character as an officer and a gentleman, and he is entitled to a presumption in favor of his innocence until he is proved to be guilty on more substantial evidence than the exparte statement of men who by their own showing bear him no good will.

But whether Chief Engineer King is innocent or guilty, this trouble proves one thing very clearly, and that is that the Navy Department is grossly mismanaged. Practically there is no head to it, and the fact that Allyn's letter is addressed to Porter, and the almost contemptuous manner in which both Porter and Allyn refer to the Secretary when they have occasion to do so, show that that officer is not considered to be even a respectable figure-head to the department. Admiral Porter, who seems to be the one in authority, has no legal status at the department, and no responsibility. It is utterly impossible that the affairs of the navy should be rightly managed amid such disorganization, or that ample opportunities for frauds of the grossest character should not exist. The affairs of the Navy Department are in a muddle, and have been in a muddle ever since the present administration assumed the control of the Government, and no improvement can be expected until there is a real Secretary of the Navy, who will supervise the bureaus of his department himself and dispense with the aid of all irresponsible volunteer assistants.

THE NEUTRALITY PROCLAMATION issued by the President takes special care to enumerate among the interdicted offenses the fitting out of voscels to be employed by either of the 'sey.
