DARING. An A Moset to Rob the Paymnster's Sale at the Navy Yard.

Bousewhat of a sensation was created in our New Yard about 3 o'clock this morning by the Navy Yard about 3 o'clock this morning by the discovery being made that three burglars or rather thieves, had attempted to rob the safe of the Paymaster. About the hour named the "officer of the night," whilst making his rounds, noticed a strange man stealthly lurking under the shadow of the main building on the south side of the Federal street gate. Accosting the sentry he asked, "What is that man doing there?" Scarce had the words passed his lips ere the fellow was noticed to give a signal to some one inside by means of a cord, and then dash off around the house, and there being joined by two others, all three cut across the parade ground and by means of two stools placed against the wall mounted it.

Two succeeded in getting over and escaping,

Two succeeded in getting over and escaping, but a sentry arrived just in time to capture the third. The fellow was just about jumping down when the sentry, pointing his piece at him, threatened to fire. With a sort of spasmodic action the thief ran his hand behind him for his pistol, but on second thought concluded that he would rather suffer capture than have a musket ball put through his misrable carcass. Descending he was at once taken in charge and placed in the guard house, a careful watch being kept

The other two having entirely disappeared, the chase of them was given up, and an exami-nation started. First it was found that the front door of the commandant's building shad been fastened by means of two gimlets run in on either side, in order to prevent ingress from that quarter of the yard. The lock of the door leading to the paymaster's office was found forced, and the Lillie's safe, weighing over a ton, was found to have been rolled out and moved to the rear of the hallway.

Here two of the thieves had braced it to the wall, and by means of burglar's tools had bored two holes in it about three inches deep, each; thus far had they got when they were notified of their danger by the one who was watching outside. The safe this morning was moved back to its original position, the work requiring the united effort of 12 men. How the thieves, three only in number, managed to first move it, is somewhat of a mystery. The surroundings show that a piece of iron found in the cellar had first been used and broke; pieces of cord wood were then substituted and found to answer the purpose. The fact of three men being able to move such a weight with such help, only shows what strength desperation lends to a man. How the fellows entered is not positively known, but the main supposition is that, coming in as visitors during yesterday, they managed to secrete themselves in the cellar of the building, and there remained until after midnight, when they commenced opera-This they could readily have done, as the cellar is but little used except when whitewashing is being done at the yard, the lime being slacked and mixed therein. So hastened was the flight that they left all their tools behind them. The "kit," as the detectives term the lot, is the flight seen in this city for some time past. The drill is of highly-polished steel and a powerful and effective instrument. "jimmy" is a solid piece of steel about an inch in thickness and three feet in length, with a curve of about four inches, being one of the finest we have ever seen. They were also provided with a dark lantern, bits in abundance, and all the other articles requisite for safe opening. Their shrewdness and know-ledge of the place and of their business were shown in the fact that they carried with them no powder, they relying solely on first drilling, and then, by means of the "jimmy," forcing the door of the safe. To-day is pay-day at the Navy Yard, and yesterday there was forwarded to the paymaster a check for $200,000; but on account of some delay the greenbacks were not drawn therefor. The thief who is captured is a stranger, but whether the others are or not is not at present ascertainable. Be that as it may, however, the fact is patent that the fellows were well posted as to the proper time to attack the safe, although, owing to the unusual delay above mentioned, even had they succeeded in forcing it they would have got

The prisoner was visited by Detectives Franklin and Lukens this morning, but refused to give his name. He is supposed to come from New York. On his person was found a ticket from Utica to New York, via Rochester, a lady's gold watch and chain, and a gold lead The watch is medium sized, both covers enamelled. On the front is the letter C or G formed of pearls and diamonds, and on the reverse a leaf. It is much worn, and numbered 28,119, Breithing & Laederich, makers, "Cheaux de Fond, Suisse." The chain is a twisted one, the links being small.

The fellow seems very anxious to obtain possession of the latter-named articles, but the detectives retain them in the hope that they may lead to some other discoveries. The prisoner will be held at the Navy Yard until the matter is cleared up. He is one of the two who was is cleared up. He is one of the two who were working inside, as on him were also found hree screws fitting the "drill."

Bassing Cows.—The Quarterly Session of he Criminal Court of Montgomery county, held in Norristown, closed on Saturday last. Among other important cases tried was a suit by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, against John Kennedy, of Port Kennedy, charging him with "bagging" cows, keeping them some twenty or twenty-four hours without being milked. This, it is understood, is practiced by cattle-dealers that the cow may appear as a good milker. Mr. Kennedy is one of the largest dealers in the county, and a gen-tleman of great wealth and influence in his neighborhood. He produced some twenty witnesses, who testified that no injury or suffering would ensue from keeping the animal twenty or twenty-four hours from her calf and without being milked. The society, on the other hand, by their agent, Mr. Kilpatrick, three experienced dairymen, and two eminent medical practitioners, testified positively to the contrary. The jury, after more than an hour's delibera-tion, returned a verdict of "not guilty," the county to pay the costs. There is still a suit pending against Mr. Kennedy for crueity to calves in muzzling them. This lies over until the next term of the court. Counsel for the society, D. H. Mulvany and Henry Livessy, Esqs.; for the defense, J. Boyd and B. M. Boyer, Positively the Last.—The last excursion of Beck's Philadelphia Band, No. 1, is now advertised for Saturday, August 27, over Camden and Burlington County and New Jersey Southern Railroads to Long Branch, when all who wish to enjoy a really delightful day's pleasure will do well to be on hand. All who wish to attend will do well to procure tickets some time in advance, before the supply is entirely exhausted. For list of places where tickets can be bought at any time previous to 7 o'clock P. M. on Friday evening, see advertisement in another column. On this occasion the excursionists will be able to spend eight hours at Long Branch, and can witness the trotting matches to take place on that day, and the review of Fisk's celebrated 9th New York Regiment now encamped in the

A RAID .- About 1 o'clock this morning the Delaware Harbor police made a raid upon the "wharf rate," who have of late been playing sad havoc amongst the fruit stored on the docks. From Market to Vine street they found over fifty of Ithem, of all ages, sex, and colors. One fellow named Henry Rye, halling from Nebraska, was captured with a watermelon under his arm, and was locked up. The others were driven off.

WARD EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—At a meeting of the Twenty-sixth ward Executive Committee, held last evening, Frank Gwynn, Jr., Joseph K. Fletcher, and James M. Newlin were elected delegates to the convention to revise the rules of the Republican party.

JUVENILES.

Attempted House Robbery. About 6 o'clock this morning three lads entered the yard in the rear of the residence of William 8. Hansell, No. 1410 Arch street, for the purpose of robbery. One of their number was hoisted by the other two to the top of the kitchen door, the transom glass of which he broke, and then entered the kitchen. Between this place and the dining-room was a door, the upper portion being plate glass. This he also smashed in order to gain ingress. He then proceeded to open the dining-room window, which done, one of his companions entered, the other remaining outside to keep watch. About this time a colored girl living on Cherry street saw the boy No. 3 in the yard, and called the atten-tion of Officer Davis, of the Sixth district force, to the fact. The officer forced the gate, when the watcher skedaddled. Climbing through the window, he made a search, and under the piano in the parlor found the other two lads. They gave their names as James Devine and James Hughes, aged fifteen years each. This morning they were taken before Alderman Jones, and committed for a further hearing to-morrow.

Houses Ransacken.—During Tuesday night and yesterday the residences Nos. 520, 522, and 524 North Nineteenth street were entered by thieves and ransacked, everything of value in the shape of clothing, silverware, etc., being carried off. The occupants of the dwellings are all absent in the country. No. 520 is the residence of H. W. Colesberry, No. 523 of Edward Ely, and No. 534 of a gentleman named Mc-

A HEROIC WOMAN.

She Plunges Into the Water and Rescues a Man from Drowning-Other Acts of Self-

The Boston Herald says:—"On Sunday a party from Charlestown, consisting of Mr. Thomas McLaughlin, the oarsman, his wife, and Mrs. H. E. Trimble, wife of Captain John Trimble, were spending the afternoon at Hull, when the former procured a small boat and took the ladies out for a pull round the bay. They had been out but a short time when Mr. McLaughlin complained of a bad feeling in the head, and requested the ladies, who were both accustomed to boat satiling, to take the oars, which they did, sculling the boat for a considerable distance; Mr. McLaughlin in the meantime sitting in the stern. In a few moments he swooned and fell the stern. In a few moments he swooned and fell backwards into the water, which at that point was some forty fathoms deep. Mrs. Trimble immedi-ately in ped to his rescue, and as he came to the surface threw him an oar, which he was unable to notice, as he presented a livid appearance, and was apparently in a drowning condition. Discovering his helpless state, and appreciating the importance of quick work, Mrs. Trimble, who had a slight knowledge of the art of swimming, sprang from the boat into the water, a distance of some six or seven feet, and succeeded in clasping Mr. McLaughlin around the body with her left arm, keeping him and herself at the surface about eight or ten minutes, and until the arrival of a boat containing two soldiers from Fort Warren, who took the drowning man into their boat, the heroic lady refusing to be taken in until after he was secured. "Mrs. Trimble is the wife of Captain John Trim-

She has been her husband's companion on his voyages for twenty-one years, and on one occasion last spring, while off Nassau, N. The particulars of this afiair were published at the time, and it will be remembered Mrs. Trimble received a medal for her bravery on the occesion. In her efforts to save Mr. McLaughlin, Mrs. Trimble so strained the muscles of her left hand that yesterday it was very badly swollen and she was otherwise physically prostrated."

CHINAMEN AND THE RAILROADS.

Arrival of 160 of Koopmanschap's Celestials at St. Louis.

The St. Louis Republican of the 22d inst. says:—
The influx of Chinamen engaged to work on The influx of Chinamen engaged to work on Southern railroads still continues, and is growing in proportion. Yesterday five car loads came by the North Missouri Railroad. These were 160 men in the party, and they were sent from San Francisco by Koopmanschap & Co., who had made a contract for furnishing them with the Selma and Gulf Railroad Company. They are to be employed as laborers in the construction of this railroad, and have contracted to work three years. Each laborer is to receive $16 in monthly, free board, lodging, water, and fuel. contract stipulates that the working hours shall be ten hours per day, six days in the week; that there shall be five cooks; that a sufficient quantity of rice pork, fish, beef, and vegetables shall be furnished: that when a man falls sick he shall receive no wages, but provisions, and guarantees free return to San Francisco after the term of service. There is one interpeter who has to receive $75 a month, and there are four foremen who will receive $40 a month.

who will receive $40 a month.

The men were small in stature but apparently robust and intelligent. There was one female, the wife of the interpreter, in the party. The whole were under the charge of Mr. F. Groen, agent of Koopmanschap & Co. They left San Francisco on the night of the 12th instant, and came overland by the Central and Union Pacific Railroad, the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad, and the North Missouri Railroad, and arrived yesterday morning. They left at 5 o'clock by the Iron Mountain Railroad, for Selma, Alabama. Most of them have lived in Caiifornia from five to fourteen years. The route by railroad is preferred more than that part which by railroad is preferred more than that part which

N. Y. MONEY MARKET YESTERDAY.

Prom the N. F. Herald.

"The gold movement continues to monopolize the attention of the street to the exclusion of speculative interest in the other markets. Nor is it the more readily understood the more it engrosses attention, but is gradually getting to be of the nature of a puzzle, such as appears in many magazines the solution of which being quite hopeless to the ordinary mind, is promised in a subsequent number. So here to-day it exhibited some ourious features, opening active and strong and advancing rapidly one per cent, from the figure of the first sales. From that it weakened and went off $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, but rallied again $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$, and continued steady for some time. Suddenly it became panicky and dropped i per cent, but as quickly recovered, advancing rapidly in successive fractional stages. Here it stood at the formal closing of the room (117-2), but subsequently advanced a further $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, which, however it again lost, leaving off at the same figure. The precise causes operating to produce these fluctuations it would be difficult to state positively. The story of a poel having been formed gained further credence early in the day, and may have stimulated a closing out of the remaining short interest left over from yeas erdsy, and so produced the first advance. That this short interest has been gradually eliminated is shown in the rates of the gold lean market to-day, which ranged from that for borrowing to three per cent, for carrying. The subsequent gradual decline is explainable by the fact of the sudder drop being coasioned by the report that the Secretary had availed himself of such privilege. This latter incident, however, is in itself a puzzle, the whole amount had for being only $2,050,000, and the award of $\frac{1}{2}$,000,000 having been made and posted on the bulletin board in front of the casher's deak in the Sul-reasury building for some time before the excitement in the Gold Room referred to the report of a different result commenced. ## A GHOST STORY,

Sue Mundy and His Phantom Bride Revisit the Glimpues of the Mcon. A recent number of the Louisville Courier-Journal A recent number of the Louisville Courier-Journal has the following:

Many of our readers remember the daring exploits of Jerome Clark, alias Sue Mundy, the notorious guerillad and robber, during the war, and his subsequent excention in this city by the military authorities. The story of his life and crimes has been revived in a very singular manner. For some weeks past the people living near Eighteenth and Broadway, the pace of his execution, have been startled by strange sighs and sounds. The ghost of Sue Mundy has been seen filting across the commons, in the vicinity of the fatal tree, at all hours of the night. Sometimes alone, with his hands pinioned behind him and the fatal cap drawn over his eyes; again, dangling in the air, with a rope around his neck, struggling as if in the agonies of death. At other times he was accompanied by the girl who so fondly and truly loved him, all steeped in crime as he was, and to whom he wrote so affectionately with his manacled hands a few hours before his death. Many of the people were skeptical on the subject, and attempted to solve the mystery. The strange couple were skeptical on the subject, and attempted to solve the mystery. The ghosts got to be a real terror, and the nervons maidens and children were afraid to venture out after dark. The ghosts finally got to be such an annoyance that the police were appealed to, and on Sunday night last Lieutenant John Shelly was informed that the ghosts were in full view. He went to the spot sure enough, and saw the tall form of a man, with a female all dressed in white, "Thanging on his arm, walking slowly in the direction of the fatal tree as and finally take a seat. ## SHOCKING SUICIDE.

Terrible Self-Murder of a Leading Merchant of Newark.

The Newark Advertiser of last evening says :-The Newark Advertiser of last evening says:—
At noon to-day the city was shocked by the intelligence of the suicide of one of our oldest and most successful business men, Mr. Alexander M. Utter, of the firm of Jacobus & Utter, leather dealers, of No. 100 Market street. For some thirty-five years Messrs. Jacobus & Utter have been engaged in business in this city, and in that time had been unusually successful. Mr. Utter was a gentleman of the highest standing in his business relations and otherwise, and always won the kind consideration of all with whom he came in contact.

e came in contact. About 12 o'clock Mr. Jacobus, his partner, went up to the head of the stairs in the fourth story of the establishment, and seeing Mr. Utter reclining behind a bulkhead about four feet high, against the hind a bulkhead about four feet high, against the railing of the stairs, said:—"Come, Aleck, It is 12 o'clock," and descended the stairs. Eliciting no reply, and thinking that perhaps Mr. Utter was asleep upon the pile of leather behind the bulkhead, he retraced his steps, and beheld a sight which riveted him to the spot—the body of his partner cold in death, with a rope around his neck, which was fastened by a knot in a crack in the bulkhead, which had at some time been a door. Screaming for aid, he cut the fatal cord. aid, he cut the fatal cord.

aid, he cut the fatal cord.

The unfortunate man must have died an excruciatingly painful death, by slow strangulation. The rope was about three feet in length. He evidently adjusted the rope around his neck, tied a knot in the end of a rope which he forced down a crack in the bulkhead, and then deliberately settled down upon the pile of leather. When found his tongue was protruding from his mouth, and his face was frightfully discolored. Mr., Jacobus, between whom and deceased the most friendly relations have existed since they entered into partnership, could give no cause for the rash act. He was free from debt, worth $50,000, and their business was going on successfully. $60,000, and their business was going on successfully. The news of this shocking event soon became known throughout the central portion of the city, and hundreds flocked to the place of business of deceased, some eager to learn the causes which had led to the suicide, and others to gratify a morbid desire to look upon the ghastly corpse.

RAILROAD SUIT.

A Highly Important Case-$200,000 Involved. The Nashville American of the 23d inst. says:— There came up in the Chancery Court yesterday for adjudication a heavy and important railroad suit, in which the Nashville and Decatur Railroad is involved to the amount of $200,000. The General Assembly, by an act passed March 23, 1860, authorized the Tennessee and Alabama Railroad Company to issue coupon bonds to the amount of $300,000, maturing in ten years, bearing interest, payable semi-annually at the rate of ten per cent, per num, and to secure the bonds by a mortgage upon the road, its franchises, income, etc., subject to the prior lien of the State. Upon the first day of April, 1860, under this act, the company issued $205,000 of bonds. These bonds were secured by a mortgage upon the road, etc., and the trustee was empowered to take possession of the property mortgaged upon failure of the company to meet the interest or principal of the bonds.

failure of the company to meet the interest or principal of the bonds.

The bonds matured April 1, 1870; $200,000 of them remain unpaid. The trustee filed his bill to foreclose the mortgage to secure possession of the property, and to have the company injoined from interfering with him in such possession. A motion was made to have the trustee appointed receiver. This motion is resisted upon many grounds, chiefly the following:—1. That the act of March 23, 1860, is void as being partial. 2. The act was not strictly pursued by the company. 8. That there was no consideration for the bond. 4. That the road is already in the hands of the company under a bond appointed by the Federal courts. by the Federal courts.
Great interest attaches to the case, and learned and able counsel are engaged on both sides.

Washington, Aug. 25.—A specimen of a dangerous and remarkably well executed counterfeit twenty dollar note on the Shoe and Leather National Bank was received at the Treasury Department to-day from detectives of the secret service division operating in New York city. The lettering and paper is excellent, and the only feature to excite the suspicions of the general public is the rather dingy appearance of the engraving of the baptism of Pocahontas on the back of the notes. It is reported that the officers have strong hopes of capturing the counterfeiters at an early date and also of securing their plates. their plates.

FROM EUROPE.

Parls Without News. LONDON, Aug. 25. - Paris is utterly without news from the seat of war.

Metz Completely Isolated. The entrenchments around Metz are com-

Will the Emperor Abdicate? It is believed that a deputation of the Corps Legislatif has gone to the Emperor in reference to his abdication.

A French Provisional Government. The Corps Legislatif is now permanently guarded by troops. The announcement of the organization of a provisional government for France is imminent.

The Secret Treaty. A quarter of a million of fac similes of the Benedetti secret treaty have been sold here since the war began.

The Belgian Stories Untrue. The French stories of the Prussians having passed the Belgian frontier, or transported their dead and wounded through that country, are untrue. When the question was broached by Prussia, Belgium was inclined to yield on the ground of humanity, but finally declined.

The Storm in the Corps Legislatif. Paris, Aug. 25 .- La Liberte firmly demands of the Deputies, referring to the stormy sestion of the Corps Legislatif yesterday, to efface all individualities in our hour of need. We must not compromise the future of

The Great Financial Victory. There must be but one grand object in view, the country. La Liberte says:-France yesterday gained a great victory. In one day many hundreds of millions were paid into the Treasury. Prussia for two months has sought to procure a less sum

A Duke made a Colonel. Michel Alois Ney, Duke of Elchingen, received three sabre cuts across the face at the battle of Gravelotte. He was promoted to a colonelcy on the field. The defense of Toul by the National Guard and the Garde Mobile is described as very gallant.

Bravery of Canrobert. At Sainte Marie aux Chenes Marshal Canrobert threw himself before his troops, and after a sharp sword combat with a Prussian officer, drove the enemy back.

It is said that the garrison at Brussels has received orders to march to the frontier im-

Victoria Not Yet a Mediatrix. London, Aug. 25 .- The Times of this morning is authorized to deny that Queen Victoria had any correspondence with anybody on the subject of mediation, or that Gladstone is fearful that Prussia is becoming too strong. The Situation at Metz.

London, Aug. 25 .- A special despatch from Berlin says that since last Tuesday Metz has been completely surrounded by a strongly entrenched force of Prussians. No attempt at a sally had been made up to no on yesterday. The Attempted Assassination of MacMahon.

Special to the N. Y. Telegram. Paris, Aug. 25.—The report of an attempt to assassinate MacMahon is reported this morning, but without particulars.

Reinforcements for the Army continue to go forward. Among others, a number of

is organizing for service in the French army. It is now positively ascertained that the camp

Chalons Has Been Burned by order of the commander-in-chief.

The Wounded. Extensive preparations continue to be made for the reception of the wounded. Four large ambulances are kept ready in the Tuileries garden. The Empress yesterday personally visited the hospitals, inspecting the details of arrangements.

American Subscriptions to the Loan. A number of Americans are among the subscribers to the new French loan. The Prices of Food in the rear of the Prussian army have advanced exorbitantly. Bread in Rhineland is seventy-five centimes a loaf.

Bembardment of strasbourg. A further bombardment of Strasbourg has taken place without any result.

The Gaietes Theatre in this city admits soldiers free. Forty-five thousand Prussian wounded have been sent to Germany.

Probable Prussian Tactics. LONDON, Aug. 25,-In the absence of official news from the armies, it is believed here that the Prussians will not hurry the attack upon Paris, but will turn their attention to the reduction of Metz and the destruction of Bazgine's army, leaving the Crown Prince to cut the French communication with Paris,

watch MacMabon, and check any forward

It is further believed that the Prussians are strong enough to disregard MacMahon's reinforcements, composed as they are of raw
