

NEW-YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent. NEW YORK, Sept. 15, 1870. The Nathan Murder. Since this will probably be the last time I shall have occasion to refer to the Nathan murder, I may as well be permitted to say my own individual say before dismissing the case. That say merely amounts to the opinion that the detective police of this city are not worth a Continental benediction. The verdict rendered by the coroner's jury simply stated that the death of Mr. Nathan resulted from wounds inflicted by an instrument known as a "dog" in the hands of some person or persons to them unknown. The jury, however, made one suggestion that is very sensible, and which ought to have occurred to our police authorities without a necessity for its being prompted by other parties. The suggestion is that the reward for the arrest of the murderer be so modified as to include for the accomplice or accessory (should there be one) immunity from prosecution, provided he gives, relative to the crime, all the knowledge in his possession. A good many of the facts in connection with the murder have a tendency to prove that the crime was not committed by one man only. Of course it is not conceivable that the murderer, if there was only one man concerned in the deed, will seal his own doom for the mere sake of obtaining the reward offered. But if more than one is concerned in the murder, the proffered immunity from prosecution will have the inevitable tendency to make the least guilty party come forward and hand his companion over to justice. So far as appears, this suggestion is the only good thing that has been evolved by the coroner's jury.

The Reverend Horace Cooke. I do not admire the practice of kicking a man when he is down, or when he is up, either. The kicking, except under very extraordinary circumstances, I can dispense with. I make this remark introductory of the fact that one or two sensation papers have glowingly announced that the Rev. Horace Cooke is at present a clerk in a down-town store. The assertion is not a literally correct one. Mr. Cooke holds a situation, in which physical strength is an advantage, in the Seamless Clothing Establishment, No. 493 Broad street, of which Mr. J. Falconer is president. There is nothing in the mere fact of his being so employed that need make him ashamed, and he probably transacts his duties better than many ministers of the gospel do who continue to retain possession of the pulpit to their dying day. The extent of Mr. Cooke's sin—if he committed any sin—I am not competent to judge, and I am glad that I am not placed in a position where it is necessary for me to decide. Who is it that first gave utterance to that gracious expression of trust in Providence, "I had rather die a sinner than live one?" I dare say if the Rev. Horace Cooke's thought could be literally interpreted it would read something like that, and would be found to contain a much more firm and joyful confidence in the justice of God than in the judgment of man. We all know that he committed an extreme error; none of us can prove that he committed a crime or a grievous sin. If Mr. Cooke does his duty in the position where he has found his level, he is infinitely more to be congratulated than if he had remained in the pulpit with his offenses artfully cloaked.

Hittalism Revisited. An extremely large number of Episcopalian applied for tickets of admission in order to witness the ritualistic service which was held to-day in the St. Sacrament Mission. The church itself only holding six hundred, of course the congregation had to be limited to that number. Father Bradley was the officiating priest, and the service used is what is known as the Scotch Office of the Holy Eucharist, as embodied in the Book of Common Prayer recently approved by Bishop Doane of Albany. In this office the doctrine of the Real Presence is set forth precisely as it was in the liturgies in the days of Queen Elizabeth and Edward the Sixth. Almost every one of the High Church clergy had received invitations, and the celebration was a brilliant exponent of ritualism. There are hundreds of people who in such demonstrations can find a more free expression for their religious sentiments than in any other mode. I was going to say "so much the better for the people," but on second thought I will say "so much the worse."

Heterocentricities. There is a good deal of amusing if innocent affectation in the manner in which Wallack's theatre is conducted. Thus the date at which the season will open is never announced until every other theatre is in full blast. The names of the plays and the performers are with elaborate pains concealed, up to the last moment, from the theatrical critics and newspaper people generally, and the orchestra, with ostentatious simplicity, called "the band." Considering that Wallack's has had a career brilliant enough to justify some eccentricities of this kind, perhaps these little flaws ought to be pardoned. The new company will be particularly rich in men, though it will not equal the Fifth Avenue Theatre company in women. Its principal men will be John Gilbert, Charles Fisher, George Clarke, J. H. Stoddard, John Brougham, Owen Marlowe, and B. T. Ringgold. It will have only three women, however, who amount to anything—Elie Germon, Miss Henriques, and Miss Mestayer.

The Nilsson excitement has commenced. That she arrived here quietly and that she was driven quietly to her hotel was true enough. Of the several hundred people who awaited her arrival only one or two individuals were aware that the plainly dressed, grey-eyed young woman walking in a very commonplace manner down the plank was she. By the time she was in her carriage and was being ushered on board the Jersey City ferry boat the crowd made up its mind that she had given it the slip, and when it was just too late began a feeble series of cheers. When she reached her rooms at the Clarendon she discovered that they were overpoweringly sweet with the scent of the superb bouquets that were awaiting her arrival. Bouquets, did I say? The bouquets alone were nothing. Invitations from all manner of people to all manner of places had accumulated ever since it had become publicly known that the Clarendon was to be her home. There are two classes of people—snobs and tradespeople—who always will make asses of themselves in their attempts to make fools of people of distinction. It is by these classes only that Nilsson has been beset. Her managers, with an eye to business, will of course try to make money by creating a factitious notoriety for her, and circulating such absurd stories as that, owing to the recent death of her mother, she will not sing in opera during the present season. Even if the story be true, the ridiculousness of it is not altered. Miss Nilsson comes here to make money more than for anything else, and if she found that opera is the speediest way of making it, I am pretty certain that private bereavement or promises made to the Archbishop of Paris will not be made to stand very much in her way.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The City Amusements. AT THE WALNUT Mr. Forrest will appear this evening as "Jack Cade," in Judge Conrad's tragedy of that name. There will be a matinee to-morrow, when Uncle Tom's Cabin will be performed. To-morrow evening Mr. Albert Casady will have a testimonial benefit, which has been tendered by his friends. The performance will consist of Bouffant's splendid military drama, entitled Jessie Brown; or, the Siege of Lucknow, and the sensational play, adapted from the French by Edward Sterling, called The Courier of Paris; or, the Attack upon the Mail Coach. The last-named play is founded upon truthful incidents which are known to have occurred during the French republic of 1792, and is intended to serve as a story of one of the many mistakes which justice has made when urged by circumstantial evidence.

Mr. Casady, the benefactor, is universally known in the theatrical, musical, and literary circles of every principal city of the country, and his efforts have added much gain to those arts and professions to which he is and has been attached. In proffering the Saturday night testimonial the friends of Mr. Casady have acted commendably, and the general public, we think, will make a proper indorsement of the action by filling every seat in the Walnut to-morrow night.

AT THE ARCH the drama of Fernando, which has been attracting full houses, will be repeated this evening.

AT THE ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE the interludes of The Prussian Exiles, The Two Dromios, The Colored Police, and other comedies will be presented this evening.

AT THE ARCH STREET OPERA HOUSE Master Boney, the Dutch dancer, will appear this evening in conjunction with other interesting features.

AT THE AMERICAN a variety entertainment will be given this evening.

At Rice's Circus will perform on the Keystone Skating Rink, Southwark, this afternoon and evening.

SEA MOSS FARINE.—This is a new article of food, which we take pleasure in commending to our readers. We have used it in our families, and have found it to be the most nutritious, delicate, and palatable article for table use we have seen. It is a light and agreeable farine, very pleasant to the taste, easy of digestion, and hence especially adapted to the use of the sick, the thousands of dyspeptics among us, and for young children. Besides, the Sea Moss, its principal ingredient, has many curative properties, and is highly recommended for pectoral and scrofulous affections, and is perfectly harmless.

Here, then, we have an entirely new article of food of the most delicate and inviting character, adapted to the use of the table for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Charlotte de Russe, etc., and almost invaluable for use by the invalid. It is simple, delicate, nutritious, harmless, remedial, and economical, as it can be furnished for one-third to one-half the cost of Corn Starch, Malzena, Farina, etc., for all of which it is more than a substitute. It is made up without trouble, and will always be good. Try it; and our word for it, you will continue in its use.—Independent.

FAST LIVING AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.—When "fast life" has undermined the strength, destroyed the appetite, impaired the digestion, and stolen the hue of health from the cheek—when the hand trembles, the spirits droop, and the whole physical and mental organization languishes, is it possible to repair the evil and restore the dilapidated system to full health and vigor? We answer that it is. Hundreds of cases have been cited, thousands might be cited, in which this regeneration has been accomplished by the regular and persistent use of PLANTATION BITTERS. Abstinence from the indulgences which have wrought the mischief is, of course, one of the means of restoration. But it is not sufficient alone. The consequences remain after the cause has been abandoned. A wholesome and genial tonic is absolutely necessary to rouse the corporeal and mental energies from their state of collapse. This good work it is the mission of the Plantation Bitters to perform. But no other stimulant must be taken.

THE FALL AND WINTER SUITS, which are so popular at this time and so beautifully cut, made, and trimmed, and in such vast varieties that you have only to look upon them and they will speak to you—not in an audible voice, but by a power more potent than words—they will speak to your understanding, to your pecuniary interests, to your personal appearance, even to physical powers and square shoulders. There is nothing to compete with the $15 suits sold at the Great Brown Stone Hall, Nos. 603 and 605 CHESTNUT STREET.

MR. WILLIAM W. CASADY, the Jeweller at No. 3 South Second street, has one of the largest and most attractive stocks of all kinds of Jewelry and Silverware in the city. He has also on hand a fine assortment of the American Western Watches. Those who purchase at this store at the present time are certain to get the worth of their money.

GOING! GOING! GONE!—Faster than the auctioneer's hammer knocks down merchandise, neglect disposes of the teeth. Bid, therefore, for that prize of life, a perfect set, by brushing them regularly with SOZODONT.

PROMPTNESS, energy, and perseverance have established a reliable, cheap and first-class Curtain, Shade, Bedding, and Upholstery-Store in the well-known house of Albertson & Co., No. 1435 Chestnut street.

THE LATE IMPROVEMENTS in the American House, Boston, leave little to be wished for by those who quarter under the roof of this leading hotel. Everything fresh and nice; all improvements added, and the unequalled management of the past continued.

FROM NEW YORK. The Lincoln Statute. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The statue to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, erected under the auspices of the Union League, was unveiled in position to-day in Union Square without any formal ceremony. The statue represents Lincoln in a standing position with the Emancipation Proclamation in his extended hand. The figure is enveloped in a cloak. The statue is of bronze, ten feet high, standing on a pedestal of stone, and cost about $140,000. It was cast at Wood's bronze foundry, on Edge avenue, Philadelphia, in front of which it was erected some time before being taken to New York.

THIRD EDITION THE SEAT OF WAR. Startling Intelligence! Canrobert Escaped from Metz. Marching on Paris with 6000 Men! Marshal Bazaine at Sedan. The Doomed Capital! The Gates Shut! Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

FROM EUROPE. Paris in a State of Siege. PARIS, Sept. 16.—The city has been declared in a state of siege. Non-combatants are to be expelled. It is reported that the American ship Queen has arrived at Toulon with five hundred American Volunteers and 7000 rifles. The Prussians were yesterday at Joinville, seven miles from the city. There have been no railroad trains beyond Pontoise since Wednesday last. Forests Consumed. The forests around the city are now entirely consumed. Canrobert Marching to Paris. BOULON, Sept. 15.—Canrobert's forces, which lately cut through the Prussian lines at Metz, and are now marching towards Paris, were six thousand strong. General Bazaine at Sedan. General Bazaine himself has gone to Sedan. The civilians are withdrawing from Strasbourg. The Peace Question. ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16.—The Journal of this city, official organ, regrets the refusal of the Prussian Government to treat only with the French Emperor for peace. The Journal says, as Napoleon cannot again reign in France, he cannot, as a consequence, enforce a treaty. Destruction of Property. LONDON, Sept. 16.—The French have uselessly destroyed all the works of art on the highways and railroads leading out of Paris. The Prussians Not Delayed. Notwithstanding this wholesale destruction of property, the advance of the Prussian army has not been delayed a single hour. The French Think
