POLUTICAL.

Address of the State Central Committee of the Republican Party of Pennsylvania. : HEADQUARTERS PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICAN STATE CHETRAL COMMITTEE, NO. 1105 CHESNUT STREET.— PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29, 1870.—The Republican State Central Committee presents to the people of Pennsylvania with great pride and pleasure its po-litical record since the committee last addressed them.

them The Republican party is the party of progress, political advancement, and the dissemination of knowledge among men. The Democratic party is the party of obstruction, and of resistance to the onward march of an ad-vancing civilization. The former emblazons on its banners the motto,

"The greatest good to the greatest number," em-bracing in its philanthropy the welfare of our fellow-men. The latter would reserve its beneficence to a single race. The first seeks to advance and promote the wealth, happiness, and comfort of American citizens in preference to others; the second aims to promote the interests of foreigners in preference to those of our own people. With such broad differences of political faith, the action of the two parties is in acordance therewith. The Democratic party, wedded to slavery and seeking to perpetuate its power through that institu-tion, had well-nigh destroyed the integrity of the Union. To the Republican party was left the task of restoring it. of restoring it. Through a series of years, since the Democratic rebellion was crushed, the Republican party has been industriously endeavoring to heal the wounds that Democracy had made, and by Congressional action last session, the last of the States that remained out of the Union were admitted into its paternal fold. We have now an undivided Union, with every State in the union mere admitted into its paternal fold. in the full enjoyment of its political privileges as a member thereof, notwithstanding the Democratic member thereof, notwithstanding the Democratic resistance to such a happy consummation. The emancipation proclamation and the four-teenth amendment gave to an entire race privileges as American citizens which they had not heretofore possessed, upon the Jeffersonian principle of the equality of man, but Southern Democracy sought to nullify their influence even at the expense of its own positional newer.

nullify their influence even at the expense of its own political power. This obstructive action of the Democracy neces-sitated the passage of the fifteenth amendment, conferring the right to vote on all American diti-zens, "without regard to race, color, or previous condition of servitude;" but the Southern Demo-cracy endeavored to destroy the beneficient provi-sions of the amendment by fraud and violence. Hence came the necessity of the act to enforce the provisions of the fifteenth amendment. Both to the amendment and the act to enforce it the Democratic amendment and the act to enforce it the Democratic party gave its undisguised and unqualified opposi-tion, and still, in an open and unhesitating manner, denounces that amendment, made under constitutional forms, as unconstitutional and of no effect. This disorganizing policy it pursues throughout the Union with a view to unite the old pro-slavery the Union with a view to unite the old pro-slavery feeling of the South with the standstill policy of the Northern Democracy, in the vain hope that such an unhallowed coalition may result in once more gaining the reins of national political power. In this hope it will be surely disappointed, for no friend of equal rights and equality before the law, and no voter of that race which has been enfran-chised by the liberal and enliption of the chised by the liberal and enlightened action of the Republican party, can ever give his support to a party whose political policy is so retrogressive as is that of the Democratic party. Ever auxious to relieve the people from the burdens of an oppressive taxation, resulting from our efforts necessary to crush out a Democratic rebellion, the Republican party has sought to adjust the internal revenue laws so us to afford immediate re-ilei to all classes of the people. It has abolished all the special taxes that were so irritating and annoying, and now the merchant and manufacturer the laws the destar.

manufacturer, the lawyer, the doctor, the farmer, and men in most other occupations, can pursue their avocation without receiving visits from the tax gatherer. There now remains a tax only on a few articles, such as liquor, tobacco, stamps, bank divi-dends, and one or two other things, which belong to the class of luxuries rather than of necessities. The delicate events of a solution on

The delicate queston of so adjusting the duties on imports as to afford the best possible protection to our American manufacturers and their laborers our American maintacturers and their inforers against the low wages and cheap capital of Europe was most carefully considered by the Republican majority in Congress, and in spite of the hostility of the Democracy, an act was passed carefully discri-minating between those articles which we could not manufacture or produce and those which we could, and affording adequate protection to the latter, and admitting the former at low rates or free of duty. In the controversy over this act the Democratic ment to that party to pursue their disastrous mea-sures, and will discourage and dishearten Republi-cans; while every member gained by the Republi-cans will strengthen their hands in doing good for the result.

cans will strengthen their hands in doing good for the people. Let all dissensions, then, wherever they may be in our ranks, be healed. Let every candidate consider himself a representative having the care of the party interests rather than of his own, and let private wishes and personal aspirations give way to the pub-ile good. By divisions we occasion bitterness of feeling that will not be soon allayed; we defeat our candidates and elect those who are hostile, as we believe, to the best interests of the constry. Let personal feelings everywhere be sacrificed on the altar of our country's welfare; let us be united, for "in union there is strength." and we shall show results at the election that will gratify every one who has at heart the welfare of the State and nation and strengthen the Republican party, which has thus far been so great a success. Pennsylvasia must maintain her Republican ma-jority in Congress, or her dearest interests will be runliessly sacrified. The next Legislature is charged with the duty of ruthlessly sacrified. The next Legislature is charged with the duty of apportioning the State for Legislative and Congres-sional purposes, giving it an importance which occurs only once in seventy years, and the loss of Pennsylvania now will, in all probability, occasion the loss of her electoral vote to the Republican can-didate for President in 1872, and a Democratic Legis-lature, if elected, will so apportion the State as to prevent the Republican party from regaining the positions they have held so triumphantly for the last six years. Let only those who were logal and true during the Rebellion be trusted now, and the world will see that a free republic cannot die. will see that a free republic cannot die. Let no feeling of confidence or apathy as to the result keep a Republican voter from attendance at the polls at an early hour upon election day, and a victory as glorious and as complete as greeted you last October will again crown yoar efforts. JOHN COVODE, Chairman.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The Olty Amusements.

The Oliv Amusements. THE CHESKUT STREET THEATRE, with Mr. E. I. Davenport as lessee and manager, will be reopened on Monday evening next by the Lingard troupe, who will appear in comedicitas and new local sketches. The Lingards will be succeeded by Mad'lle Fanny Jananschek, supported by Messrs. F. W. Robinson, Mark Smith, and a star company. Mad'lle Janaus-chek's opening performance will be an English ver-sion of Deborah, after which the great German actress will appear in other of her specialities. The Lingards and Janauschek will enable Mr. Davenport to open his establishment under favorable auspices, and to get it well started in the favor of the public previous to the first of November, when the regular previous to the first of November, when the regular season will commence with a carefully selected season will commence with a carefully selected company. It is Mr. Davenport's intention to produce a series of plays in first-class style, both as to acting and appointments, and with such an accomplished artist as himself at the head of affairs, the Chesnut ought to become a favorite place of resort for all lovers of dramatic art. At the WALNUT Miss Lucille Western will appear this evening in East Large.

Register of Wills.

I cannot call to recollection a single instance where a private soldier has been honored with the opportunity of an election to a lucrative Row office, until our present candidate for Register of Wills, William M. Bunn, Esq., was placed in nomination. It shows that the Republican party has not forgotten those who sustained the old flag, and that while they do not forget the brave officers who so nob'y did their duty in front of the enemy, they have no inclination to throw overboard any one who conscientiously did his duty, although he may not have had a chance of obtaining a commission. Mr. Bunn looks fresh and vigorous, and though his labors in campaigning may be somewhat arduous in the future. the danger through which he passed during our recent struggle with Rebellion will lend him fortitude which he otherwise would not have possessed-fortitude that cannot be thwarted by any remarks that may be made by enemies or professed friends when the candidate is not present. Mr. Bunn works with an energy and will which those who have not had experience cannot comprehend, and we know we are safe in predicting that he will be elected by a decisive and overwhelming majority.

traders, and gave its whole influence to the interests of foreign manufacturers and importers, and against the American laborer. By this reduction of the internal revenue and income taxes, and the duty on imports, the Republi-can party has relieved the people of burdens to the estimated amount of eighty millions of dollars per In addition to this, it has reduced the army roll to a considerable extent, and the expenses of the army and navy several millions per annum.

The public debt has been its especial care. By a careful husbanding of the resources of the people, careful husbanding of the resources of the people, by exacting a rigid accountability from all persons employed in the Revenue Department, by a closer collection of the tax on whisky and tobacco, by a prosecution of defaulters and violators of the revenue laws, it has managed to secure to the Trea-sury millions of money that, under a profligate Democratic administration, were allowed to go into the hands of dishonest office-holders. By this economy and vigilance the revenues have been greatly augmented, and the results may be seen in the extinction of one hundred and sixty millions of the public debt since the present administration the public debt since the present administration came into power. This reduction may be still fur-ther increased when a prosperous state of the money market, now disturbed by European wars, may enable the Secretary of the Treasury to fund may enable the Secretary of the Treasury to fund the public debt at a lower rate of interest, as is pro-vided by a law of the last session. The development of the unsettled public domain by a judicious and prudent policy of land grants to railroads has resulted in the binding together of the two extremes of the republic, opened the way for settlers to penetrate to the mines, and developed the vast mineral resources of the nation that hitherto were inaccessible and valueless; saved many mil-lions annually in the cost of army transportation. lions annually in the cost of army transportation, and ended the costly Indian wars wherever the "iron horse" penetrated. As soon as such of these great avenues of commerce as are necessary for the full present development of the country to settlers shall have been completed, a still closer husbanding of the lands for actual settlers will obtain, and every head of a family in the nation will be enabled to get a homestead free of expense, save office fees, within reach of a market for the products of his industry.

Along these railroads, by an act of the last ses-sion of Congress, every soldier who served ninety days in the Union army during the late Rebellion and was honorably discharged, can now have his 160 acres under the homestead laws, a privilege denied to others, and which will afford him a chance of a comfortable home along these great highways of the nation.

highways of the nation. In prosecuting to a successful termination these great and beneficial public measures, the Republi-can party, ever attached to the interests of the people, was always met by the hostile opposition of the Democratic party, which seems to have no sym-pathy with the interests of the masses, but to be ruled by the wishes of foreign manufacturers and the importers of the great commercial cities. Holding it as a cardinal principle of Republican faith that a Government should prefer the weifare of its own people to that of other nations, the Re-publican party, both in its State and National legis-iation, has kept that end constantly in view, and labored faithfully to promote it; and, despite of the clamor of the free-trade Democracy, who wish to flood the country with cheap goods until their foreign friends can obtain the American market by destroying American manufactures, with a view to destroying American manufactures, with a view to then advancing prices to suit themseives, as they have hitherto done, the Republican party declares its unintermitting resistance to free trade, and its deterunintermitting resistance to free trade, and its deter-mined persistence in the advancement and protec-tion of American labor. With these views concerning the protection of the interests of the people, with a determination to still further reduce taxation and the expenses of the Government, with a funding of the national debt at a lower rate of interest, and a stringent collection of the public revenues, the Republican party will add to its unsurpassed and brilliant record an example of successful administration such as the nation has of successful administration such as the nation has not heretofore seen. It commends itself to the unbiassed judgment of all lovers of their country, and claims that it is entitled to the support of every true American citizen. While the National Administration has been thus successful in administering the political and finan-cial affairs of the General Government, the at-ainis-tration of our State affairs has not been less satisactory

Tration of our State analysis has not been less suffi-factory. Large amounts of outstanding dues have been col-lected and the taxes have been reduced, and there has been paid of the public debt of the State eight and a quarter millions of dollars since the termina-tion of the war. With careful management under Republican rule the day is not far distant when the whole public debt of the State will be extinguished, and the people relieved from all taxation excepting so much as may be necessary for the ordinary administration of State affairs. With such records the committee feels that it may be prote: and although there may be no exciting State or National questions prominently before the people, yet with the well-known hostility of the Damo-crace to the American principles and the policy of Republicanting election.
