commission who' (sic) 'inquired into the neu-trality laws of 1867, decided that to prohibit the export (sic) of munitions of war was impracticable and impolitic.' We have carefully ex-amined the 'Report of the Neutrality Laws' Commissioners' referred to, which was pre-sented to both houses of the British Parliament by command of Queen Victoria, in 1868, and we find in it no such decisions as that attributed to these 'eminent jurisconsults' by Earl Granville. Their report does not contain one word on the subject of the prohibition of the exportation of munitions of war. If we acquit his lordship of the deliberate intention to mislead Count Bernstorff and the public, it is our duty at least to expose the gross misstatement made by the Foreign Office.

"It is singular enough that Earl Granville's reference to the report in question supplies us with an additional argument in support of the remonstrances of North Germany; for at page 48 of an appendix to the report we have found very clear exposition of the laws in force in France with reference to the exportation of arms and munitions of war from that country. The information must be considered authentic, having been supplied to the British Govern-ment by Monsieur de Moustier, in his capacity of Minister of Foreign Affairs, under date of February 26, 1867. It appears from the official documents communicated by M de Moustier that the exportation and transit of arms and munitions of war to belligerents are strictly prohibited, and infractions of the law severely punished. Had Great Britain fol-lowed the practice of France, the grievous in-fractions of neutrality of which North Germany complains would not have occurred. The popu-lation of France would not have been supplied with hundreds of thousands of rifles for the slaughter of our citizen soldiers. For the death-roll we hold Great Britain responsible.

"In conclusion, we would observe that France could not, with any show of reason, have com-plained of Great Britain acting according to the rules of French law, and Earl Granville's plea of unfairness is a mere transparent subterfuge.'

Fifty-one Indiana Naturalized in Minnesota. The St. Paul Pioneer of a late date says: -"Yesterday morning a scene took place in the United States District Court in this city, which caused a good ceal of curiosity, and which, from its novelty, was extremely interesting. The scene consisted of the naturalization of fifty-one Indians, of the Winnebago tribe. Fifty-four made application, but three were not able to pass the required examination, and were there-pass the required examination, and were there-fore not naturalized. "In 1862, when the Sioux were meditating their bloody attack upon the white people of this State, they entered into an agreement with the Winnebagoes, a part of which agreement was that the latter should assist the Sioux in their attack upon the whites. The Winneba-goes, however, failed, for some reason, to fulfil their part of the agreement, and took no part in the outbreak. After the attack of the Sioux in the outbreak. After the attack of the Sloux was put down, and peace restored, it was thought desirable to remove the Winnebagoes further west, and most of them were sent about seventeen hundred miles up the Missouri river. When they arrived there they found the soil barren and everything uninviting. After re-maining there a short time most of them went to Kansas and Nebraska, and a few of them returned to the reservation in Blue Earth county. where they have since remained. Those who were yesterday naturalized were composed in part of those who remained on the reservation in Blue Earth county, and in part of those who came from the Missouri reservation. "The principal object these Indians had in being naturalized was to obtain the title in fee simple to the lands they now occupy. The title to them is in the United States, though the Indians, by acts of Congress, occupy them in sev-eralty, and for the time being, own them without the power to convey. Recent legislation, how-ever, has authorized the naturalization of Indians upon the conditions that they successfully pass the same examination that foreign born persons who are naturalized are required to pass, with the additional examination as to their having adopted the habits and modes of life belonging to civilized people. By the act of Congress it is also required to satisfy the court that they are prudent and able to manage their own affairs, and support themselves.

"Fifty-one of those who appeared in court yesterday were able to satisfy Judge Nelson upon all these points, and were duly naturalized and are now good American citizens, whose votes will count as much as the votes of an equal number of whites. Three of those who applied were unable to satisfy the court, and were accordingly rejected. "One of the women was one hundred and four years old, and was accompanied by her daugh-ter, grand-daughter, and great grand-daughter. She was formerly the wife of the well-known Nick Bolloin, a Frenchman, and one of the first agents to that tribe. "One of the Indians was David Twiggs, and he was the son of General Twiggs, who surren-dered a portion of the United States forces in Texas in the beginning of the Rebellion.

"Previous to making these original proprietors of the soll American citizens, Judge Nelson ad-dressed a few words to them upon the change in their relations.

"This extraordinary scene was witnessed with a great deal of curiosity and interest by a large number of people who never before saw an American cltizen made out of an Indian. It is expected that before the next election in this State occurs they will be fully informed with regard to the tariff, and that when election day does come they will be able to vote with that degree of intelligence upon that subject who is 'prudent' and is 'able to manage his own affairs.' Good thing."

Anniversary of the Battle of Leipsic. LONDON, Oct. 18.—The Times to-day, in an editorial on the Continental situation, reminds its readers that this is the anniversary of the battle of nations which occurred near Leipste on the 18th of October, 1813.

The Expected Bombardment of Paris It has been generally understood in the German camp that the bombardment of Paris from all the batteries simultaneously would be opened on this anniversary day, which is so full of glorious remembrances to the Germans, and which has been regularly celebrated for years. The world is waiting for the events of to-day. The Anglo-American Ambulance Corps has left Versailles for Orleans, where there are three thousand wounded French and Germans. Some of the journals here to-day print short letters, dated at Paris, October 1. They contain no news.

The German Army in France

is maintained by constant reinforcements, and it is estimated that there are fully six hundred thousand armed Germans on French soll. Nothing has yet been heard from La Ferte St. Aubin. At the last accounts a battle was imminent at that point.

Gambetta has Left Tours

for the French army in the Vosges, which is to be organized for the purpose of resisting the German advance on Lyons.

The Prussians still occupy Meung quietly. They have made no demonstration against Blois and Tours, and it is not believed that they will at present.

The following despatch has just been received here:-Paris Calm and Collected.

VALENCIENNES, Oct. 18 .- Ribota, an attache of the Foreign Office, has just arrived here from Paris. He says the people are calm and hopeful. Politically, affairs are unaltered. The

A BABY SHOW.

After nurses and babies had all been collected in rear of the judges' stand, the secretary called them into the arena in the order in which they had been entered, and the babies belonging to the

were carried into the ring for the inspection of the bachelor judges. Ranged in front of the northern grand stand stood the nurses with their little charges in their arms or in petile carriages, and the sight was a peculiar one There were babies of all kinds and of all ages, that is to say of all months under twelve, for Wheeler, Pickens & Co., in presenting the beautiful little perambulator, had distinctly bargained that it should be pre-sented "to the finest baby under one year old on exhibition at this fair." The blue-eyed blondes were in the majority, although there were many brunettes, dark-colored and placid. The boys seemed to be livelier than the girls, and laughed and "crowed" in a manner that was delightful to behold. The mammas tried every subterfuge to make their babies smile, stood the nurses with their little charges in their every subterfuge to make their babies smile. laugh, and crow, and sundry comfits and cakes were called into requisition. One blue-eyed lad of about ten months was very attractive, and his efforts to swallow a scarlet worsted ball four inches in diameter excited universal admiration. FINE BABIES.

The task of the judges was no ordinary one, but they faced the music like men, and gazed the juveniles nearly out of countenance while exam-ining their "points." Health, strength, "heft" and good looks were all taken into account, and the judges moved silently and stadily along the judges moved silently and steadily along the line, their every motion and every word being eagerly watched by nurse, papa and mamma.

SOME OF THE BABIES

stared at the portly figure of Mr. Hamilton as he marched at the head of his forces, and looked as if they had a slight glimmering of what it was all about, and they looked up smilingly, while others presented sombre faces, with tears in their eyes and mouths all a-hout. It was indeed an interesting sight, and many broke through the rope guards and eagerly rushed into the ring as if to look upon a baby was not an every day occurrence. After the judges had carefully scanned the groups they retired for consultation, and then ordered the following babies, according to numbers as given above, to be separated from the general group:-Nos. 3, 4, 6, 19, 25 and 26, be-longing respectively to Mrs. J. C. Johnson, Mrs. R. W. Ainslie, Mrs. John Mitchell, Mrs. L. McGuire, Mrs. C. H. Cavan, and Mrs. Joseph Musso.

THE JUDGES TOOK ANOTHER FOND LOOK of the fortunate half dezen and again retired for consultation. They seemed to have nearly all agreed on the same baby, for the consulta-tion was brief, and Dr. Perkins, the superintendent of the arena, came forward, took little Mary Ainslie in his arms, attached to her right arm

N. Y. MONEY MARKET YESTERDAY.

From the N: Y. Herald.

From the N: Y. Herald. "The news from Europe that both belligerent nations are likely to suffer from a searcity of supplies, and the advance in the price of wheat in Liverpool, produced great activity at the Produce Exchange to-day, and the dealings in flour and wheat were very large. The specula-tive movement received a sudden check, however, from the sharp rise in freights, the owners and agents of ves-mels being prompt to see the necessities of the trade and take advantage thereof. Since eriday wheat has gone up between four and five cents a bushel, but the advance to day was only one to two cents, owing to the rise in freights. Flour has risen thirty to forty cents a barrel for the ordinary brands.

German Captures and French Misfortunes-A Terrible Resume.

The Staats Anzeiger publishes the following account of the captures of men and materie by the German armies since the beginning of the war:-The reconnoissance and out post fights which formed the prelude of the war were of course accompanied by only slight losses, as at Gers-weiler, Ludweiler, Sturzelbrunn, and the encounters in the neighborhood of Saarbruck and Niederbronn. The 2d of August, when the town of Saarbruck was temporarily abandoned on the Prussian side, cost the French 6 officers and 67 men. The engagement at Wissenbourg threw 30 officers and 1000 men into the hands of the victor, and also 4 mitrailleuses, 15 fourpounders, 7 eight-pounders, 31 munition wagons, 13 baggage wagons, and 14 infantry cartridge carts. In the battle of Woerth the French lost 6000 prisoners, with 100 officers, 2 eagles, 6 mitrailleuses, 35 cannons, 42 wagons, 200 horses, the baggage and tents of two divisions, and two railway trains of provisions. On the same day they lost at Spicheren and on the following days at Reichshofen and Saargemund 256 prisoners, 4 guns, 40 pontoons, an encampment, various magazines, 10,000 woollen counter-panes, 40,000 cwt. of rice, coffee, sugar, rum, wine, and biscuits; also boots, military caps. gaiters, and tobacco rations -of these last alone 1,000,000. The strongholds which surrendered to German troops in the first half of the month August brought us at Hagenau 9 officers and 103 men, with 80 horses and great stores of arms, etc.; at Lichtenberg 3 officers, 280 men, 7 guns, 2006 muskets, 30,000 cartridges, gunpowder, etc.; at Lutzelstein muskets and munitions, with 60 guns at Marsal. The three battles before Metz, compared with the great sacrifices which they cost on our side, had not such considerable material success as the previous and subsequent combats, for the enemy was always able to save his materiel under the shelter of the strong fortress. Viouville, however, cost the French 36 officers and 200 men, Gravelotte 54 officers and 3000 men prisoners, and for their total loss on all three days 25,000 men is by no means too high a figure. On advancing further, the fortress of Vitry, with 17 officers, 850 men, and 16 cannon, fell into our hands. The fighting at Nonart, Beanmont, and Sedan, before the capitulation of the last named place, gave us about 30,000 prisoners, as well as a large number of eagles and guns; that at Beaumont caused the enemy a loss of 7000 prisoners, two eagles, 11 mitralleuses, 23 cannon, and his encampment: that at Sedan before the capitulation a loss of 25 guns, two eagles and 25,000 men. The capitalation of Sedan brought us the marshal, 89 generals, 230 staff and 2095 other officers, and 81,450 men, besides 14,000 wounded, all the eagles of these regiments, 70 mitrallleuses. 330 field and 150 fortress guns, and 10,000 horses. The remainder of the army, about 14,500 men, with 12,000 horses, cannous and gun carriages, were disarmed on Belgian territory. The losses of the French in the beleaguered or invested fortresses cannot yet be ascertained. It is only known that the garrison of Strasburg, in a sortie on the 34 of August, lost three can-non, and in another on the 2d of September one officer and four men as prisoners. The trophies and supplies which fell into our possession by the capitulation of Laon have not yet been pub lisbed, but include twenty-three cannon and many muskets. Adding up these various suc-cesses, the losses of the enemy and the prizes of the German armies in the present campaign, not yet of two months' duration, exclusive of killed and wounded, are:-One marshal, 39 genekilled and wonneed, are: One marshal, or gene-rais, 3250 cfficers, 104,750 men, and 14,000 wounded in Sedan; 10,280 horses, at least 50 eagles, 102 mitraillenses, 600 field and fortress guns, over 400 standards, several pontoons, magazines, railway trains, dress and equipment articles, forage and provisions. To this enormous total the prizes taken at Toul and Strasburg have now to be added.

FRENCH WAR LOANS.

The New Demands on Towns and Departments. The correspondent of the Economist at Havre writes:-

The prolongation of hostilities will of course necessitate, or at least be made a pretext for, new loans of towns and departments. Havre, for its part, after raising 300,000f., is now trying to get, and no doubt will obtain, 1,000,000f. more: and the neighboring department of Cal-vados, though entirely agricultural, is demanding 3,000,000f. The department of La Vendee though in a part of the country not likely to be invaded, asks for 1,800,000f. Marsellles, even when there were hopes of peace, determined on having 10,000,000f., and probably will now consider a large additional sum necessary. In a word, all France is selzed with the mania of borrowing for military purposes, and the total of her requirements, when made up, will be startling. The extreme scarcity of small notes and coin is grievously felt in every commercial town, particularly as regards the payment of wages to workmen and laborers. At Lille, it has been, or at least is on the point of being, remedied by the issue of private paper money destined to circulate exclusively in the locality. It is probable that the example set by Lille will be extensively followed. At Elbeuf it is already proposed to issue small notes, with, however, this difference—that they shall be guaranteed by a committee of the prin-cipal manufacturers, and that it shall fix the amount to be granted weekly to each employer. At Rouen the matter is under consideration. At Bordeaux the plan recommended was that a number of bankers and merchants should sub-scribe among themselves a certain sum in notes -- say 1,000,000f. to begin with-to be lodged in the branch of the Bank of France, and stamped with the word "deposit" to prevent them from going into circulation-and that small notes of five france and ten francs, to the amount of them, should be issued under the guarantee of the bank.

-The Freemasons of Troy have organized an insurance company, with three classes of mem-bers, of 1000 each. A fee of $8 has to be paid on entering, and at the death of a member each remaining member of his class pays $1.10 into the treasury, $1 of which goes to the family of the deceased. No other fees or dues are required.

-Mr. Storey, of the Chicago Times, has been sued for libel by Mr. Crosby, and others of the Crosby Opera House in that city. An idea may be formed of the damages expected from the fact that counsel have-according to the Chi-cago Republican-already received $4000 as retaining fees. -The divers who visited the wreck of the United States war ship Housatonic, off Charles-ton harbor, a short time since, say they found the little torpedo-boat that was commanded by Lleutenant Dixon lying alongside of her, and having on board the skeletons of the eight men who volunteered for the enterprise.

-At a meeting of the Cleveland, Ohio, Board of Trade, held last week, resolutions were passed favorable to the early construction of a ship canal, with a capacity equal to the passage of vessels of 1500 tons burden, to connect Lakes Erie and Ontario. Competent engineers estimate the cost of the proposed work at $5,500,000.

-The Irish in California sometimes allow themselves to be easily affected by floating ru-mors. The Hibernia Bank, at San Francisco, was recently subjected to the trying ordeal of a "run," through some foolish rumor of its inca-pacity to pay 100 cents on the dollar. This makes the third time that it has suffered from a similar inconvenience.

-A fashionable individual who had patronized the Boston hotels rather liberally for some time past without troubling himself about money matters, was discovered to be an accomplished swindler's few days ago, and taken in charge by the Chief of Police. He was supposed to be a German Count until his trunks were found to contain nothing more valuable than bricks, stones-not precious-and pieces of wrapping-paper.

Protest of the Papal Government. Cardinal Antonelli has sent to the members of the diplomatic body in Home a protest arginst the recent proceedings of the Italians. His Eminence says:--"In presence of this fact, which has been accom-plished before the eyes of all Europe, and by which the sacred principles of all Europe, and by which the sacred principles of all law, and specially of the law of nations, have been trampled under foot, His Holiness has directed the undersigned Cardinal Secretary of State to object and protest loudly, as he now objects and protests in his Holiness has directed the undersigned Cardinal Secretary of State to object and protest loudly, as he now objects and protests in his suggest name, against the unworthy and sacrilegious spollation of the dominions of the Holy See which has been accomplished, declaring at the same time the King and his Government responsible for all the damage which may result to the Holy See and to the Pontifical subjects from this violent and sacrilegious usurpation. had been shown all around it was taken in front of the grand stand, but the noise around proved too much for its nerves, and the Grand Marshal and his assistant shouted lustily for the narse. So ended the great baby show of the fair. AN INCIDENT is worth relating. A planter from Mississippi, rejoicing in the name of Brown, crowded in among the bevy of anxious mothers surrounding it, and, after viewing its beauties awhile, re-marked in a jesting sort of a way that he would bet $100 that his baby would get the prize. Now this was calculated to arouse the ire of the aforesaid anxions and fond mothers. One of them came up to the boaster "like a little man," and offered to wager $100 that he had no baby which was exactly the truth of the aforesaid Brown, who suddenly subsided amid the laugh-ter of his friends and of the bystanders generally.

FULTON VS. TILTON.

A Card.

OFFICE OF THE BROOKLYN "UNION," Monday Morning, Oct. 17, 1870.

Rev. Justin D. Fulton:-Sir :-- I have just read with wonder the reports in the New York papers of your remarks to your Boston congregation yesterday on the issue pending between you and me. These re-ports, assuming them to be correct, compel me to say, in point-blank English, that I stand ready to prove:--First. That you did go into a lager beer saloon and drink lager beer after preaching: and.

Second, That your narrative of your interview on Saturday last with my informant and myself is as false as your denial of the original charge.

Having threatened me with libel, you announce the withdrawal of the suit. This is be-cause you dare not go forward with it. I challenge you to meet me in a court of justice. THEODORE TILTON.

-Two families, the occupants of frame houses, narrowly escaped destruction by a landslide a few days since, at Mount St. Vincent, on the southern bank of the Poestenkill. One hundred and fifty feet of earth was carried into the creek.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

EVENING TELEGRAPH OFFICE, Tuesday, Oct. 15, 1870.

The usual weekly bank statement is rather favorable, but the improvement is not of a marked character. There is an increase in the deposits of $285,055 and in the loans of $43,771, but on the other hand there is a decrease in the legal tenders of $378,472 and in specie of $26,826, making an aggregate loss of reserve of $305,298. The amount of business done was over $3,000,-000 less than the previous week, which is due to the dullness at the Stock Board and the falling off in general business. The rates to-day are comparatively steady. The gold market is quiet and shows a further downward tendency, owing to the increase in cash gold. The sales opened at 113, and after reaching down to 112%, closed about noon at 112%.

Government bends are dull but very firm at last night's quotations. At the Stock Board the business was very light,
