GENUINE AND BOGUS NEWS ENTERTAINMENT.

Yesterday afternoon we published in our second edition an important and lengthy despatch from Havana which was furnished to us by the Associated Press. As our readers are well aware, THE EVENING TELEGRAPH is the only afternoon paper published in this city which receives the despatches of the Associated Press, and consequently the only afternoon paper which was entitled to the use of this Havana telegram. But in the later editions of the afternoon papers which receive their news from a bogus opposition agency passing under the high-sounding title of "The American Press Association," this Havana telegram appeared, with not more than a half dozen mere verbal changes, credited in the first place to "The American Press Association," and immediately afterward entitled a "Special to New York Post." On examining the New York Evening Post of yesterday afternoon, we find in the edition issued simultaneously with our second edition the Havana telegram in question, and over it, in plain black letters, the words "Despatch to the Associated Press." If this were the first instance in which this fraud had been perpetrated, we should take no notice of it; but during the exciting period of the European war, the bogus concern has day after day indulged in the same reprehensible practice, column after column of important telegrams which have been furnished by the Associated Press and appeared simultaneously in THE EVENING TELEGRAPH and the leading afternoon papers of New York city, being served up in later editions in the papers in this city supplied by the bogus concern, and invariably credited by it to the New York Evening Post as special; while the morning journals receiving their news from the same source have followed the lead of their afternoon contemporaries by repeating the fraud.

From this simple statement of the facts in the case, the reading public will see at once the fraudulent and dishonest character of the bogus concern which is yclept "The American Press Association." Its agent in New York is not content with appropriating—we use a milder term than the facts warrant—the news of the only thoroughly organized news association in the country, but endeavors to cover up his tracks by styling a special despatch to the New York Evening Post what that very paper distinctly announces to the whole world to be a despatch to the Associated Press. The fact that the papers which receive their so-called news from the bogus opposition concern habitually appropriate the despatches of the Associated Press, giving them to their readers in later editions necessarily than those in which they appear in THE TELEGRAPH, is a strong testimonial to the variety and reliability of the Associated Press despatches. Since we have had the exclusive use in the afternoon of the Associated Press despatches, the increase in our circulation has trebly realized our anticipations, and fully justified us in meeting the great increase in our expenses. The reading public of Philadelphia fully appreciates the fact that the association which provides all the leading papers of New York, Philadelphia, and the country with news enjoys facilities for its collection, transmission, and distribution that are not and cannot be enjoyed by the bogus concern which has attempted to rival it.

THE RIOT AT THE MEETING OF THE RETURN JUDGES.

In the ordinary course of justice, so far as it is influenced by the action of policemen or police authorities, their first duty in connection with a riot is to quell it as speedily as possible, and their second, to arrest the ringleaders. We have not yet heard, however, of the arrest of a single one of the instigators of the disgraceful and dangerous attack upon the meeting of the return judges last week. Their names have been freely published, their proceedings are a matter of public notoriety, their offense is far more culpable than any ordinary riotous demonstration, and yet days pass by without a single one of their number being arrested. It is true that after prolonged consideration it was at last decided that warrants should be issued, but the offenders might have nearly fled across the continent before this plain duty was performed, and it remains to be seen how much more time is to elapse before they are taken into custody.

The course of proceedings adopted by the police, and the police authorities, in reference to Messrs. Crawford and Mann presents a wonderful contrast to their tender treatment of McLaughlin and Ahern. As for Crawford, it required the interposition of Judge Allison to enable him to finish his labors as a return judge at a time when it was not known that Nolan's wounds would prove fatal. Yesterday, too, Alderman Kerr adopted the extraordinary expedient of taking him out of the custody of the Coroner while the inquest of that official was pending, and committing him to prison. This course is in direct opposition to the usual practice, if not in clear conflict with law. While the Coroner is inquiring into the causes of a violent death his authority is well-nigh absolute. He can imprison witnesses who refuse to testify, order the arrest of high dignitaries, and exercise for the time being extraordinary powers. It is questionable whether aldermen have a better right to dispose of prisoners in his hands than to snatch prisoners from the Criminal Court. No such conflict of authority should have arisen, and if politics had not been indirectly connected with this affair, it is scarcely possible that the privileges of the Coroner would have been invaded in such an extraordinary manner. The prosecution of William B. Mann also affords a striking illustration of extraordinary zeal in prosecuting an innocent man at a moment when the leaders of a dangerous riot are suffered to run at large.

The investigation before Judge Allison yesterday disclosed the fact that the dying declarations of Nolan, which furnished the principal pretext for the warrant against him, were totally destitute of legal validity. Judge Allison ruled them out of court on account of their evident unreliability. As to the other testimony it amounted to nothing, and Judge Allison admirably summed up the whole case when he said that Mr. Mann was at the meeting of the return judges "for a lawful and proper purpose," that he "neither said nor did anything calculated to provoke a riot," and that if he or any one else had said to Crawford, when a deadly assault was made upon him, "shoot" or "defend yourself," he did right, just as a man might tell a friend to defend himself by shooting a burglar.

It is also worthy of remark that Mr. Lewis C. Cassidy, while acting as Mr. Mann's counsel yesterday, said that "if Crawford shot Nolan under a well-founded apprehension of great violence, he was guilty of no offense," and the extent of the danger by which Crawford was threatened was proven by a host of witnesses who appeared at the Coroner's inquest yesterday.

The fact remains that up to this morning men were still at large who instigated a riot with the intention of committing, by forcible means, that most flagrant of crimes against a free government—treating an election as if it had not been held; while extraordinary zeal and unusual severity have been displayed in the prosecution of Crawford and Mann.

THE PRESIDENT OF COMMON COUNCIL.

In a few days a caucus of the Republican members of Councils will be held for the nomination of officers, and considering the importance of making good selections, we hope that none but the best men will be put up. The Presidency of Common Council, in particular, is a position of great trust and responsibility, that should only be filled by a gentleman who will command the entire confidence and regard of the community. All the present indications are that Mr. Henry Huhn, of the Fifteenth ward, will certainly be the Republican nominee for presiding officer of Common Council, and a more suitable selection could scarcely be made. Mr. Huhn is engaged in the coal business, and is one of the largest miners and shippers in the city. He is thoroughly identified with the business interests of the city, and is also a large property holder, so that he has a common interest with all our citizens in placing our system of taxation upon a proper and equitable basis. It is certainly to the interest of the city that property and large business interests should be represented to a greater extent in Councils than they are, and if our city legislature was more largely made up of men like Mr. Huhn, a check would be placed upon the rash, hasty, and irregular method in which the public business is now too often performed. It is particularly important that a man of his stamp should occupy the seat of the presiding officer and exercise the power of appointing committees, and as Mr. Huhn is well known to be one of the best parliamentarians in the city, he is particularly fitted to perform the duties that will devolve upon him, in case he is elected, with impartiality and to the entire satisfaction not only of the members of Common Council, but of the public at large. Mr. Huhn is still a young man, being about thirty-eight years of age. He was born in the Seventh ward in this city, and is a graduate of the High School. He studied law in the office of Hon. James Ryan, and although he is now engaged in mercantile pursuits, his legal training has not been forgotten, and it has been brought to bear on a multitude of occasions since he has occupied a seat in Councils. Mr. Huhn was elected to Common Council in 1868, and that his services were appreciated by his constituents was shown by his being re-elected last week by the largest majority ever given to any man in the Fifteenth ward. Mr. Huhn is highly esteemed by all who know him, and is a man of admitted integrity and ability. He is a ready debater, and, as we before stated, one of the very best parliamentarians in the city.

We consider his election to the Presidency of Common Council as a foregone conclusion, and we are assured that the interests of the citizen and taxpayer will be well protected during his administration.

The Post takes exception to our remarks of yesterday with regard to the pardon of the three Fenian leaders recently confined in the Auburn Penitentiary, and enters upon a very lame and impotent defense of the President. The Post says:—"The offense of these prisoners was committed long before the late neutrality proclamation was issued, and such a proclamation does not apply to the past." Our contemporary is apparently oblivious of the fact that the law was the same before as it is after the issuing of the President's proclamation, and that the enforcement of the law was the duty of the Executive whether he issued a proclamation or not. Not merely the Fenians but all others who are interested in violating our neutrality laws will most certainly, in view of this action of the President, look upon the matter as we do, and conclude that the announcement of an intention to enforce the law in future is more sound and firm, signifying nothing.

tion it makes to this subject is when it says "The TELEGRAPH is so angry with Senator Cameron that it cannot keep its temper with the President." Although the neutrality proclamation and the release of the Fenians have no connection with the Cox affair, except as showing the demoralization of the administration, this allusion is substantially an acknowledgment on the part of the Post that it is well aware of the fact that Secretary Cox was kicked out of the Cabinet at the dictation of Senator Cameron, and that it has no defense to offer for either the President or Cameron for the part they have taken in a most disgraceful transaction. The Post has a hard time of it in being obliged to whitewash Cameron's character so often, and we suggest the wisdom of saying as little about him as possible. We made no mention of Cameron in either of our articles yesterday, and the gratuitous remark of the Post only serves to show the workings of an uneasy conscience, and will scarcely convince any unprejudiced person that THE TELEGRAPH is wrong, or that the President and the old intriguer who appears to have become his evil genius are in the right.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE GREAT WHISKY ESTABLISHMENT OF THIS CITY.—H. M. DALY'S GREAT WHISKY WAREHOUSES are located at No. 223 South FRONT Street and No. 129 DOCK Street. The building, which is probably the largest of its kind in the United States, is five stories high, and runs through from Front to Dock Street, a distance of at least 215 feet. Whiskies of the rarest and purest brands are stored on every floor of this huge structure, and the secker after the genuine article can there find Bourbon of old date, wheat disto, and that champion of all whiskies, the Golden Wedding. It is of some importance to the liquor merchants of this and other cities to know that Mr. Daly's stock embraces the productions of the celebrated distilleries belonging to Thomas Moore & Son, Joseph S. Finch & Co., and Thomas Moore. Their whiskies are always made from the best grains, double copper distilled and put up in seasoned, heavily charred, iron-bound barrels. As agent, therefore, of these well-known firms, Mr. Daly justly claims that he can supply the trade with the finest whisky in the market, and in the original packages as received direct from the manufacturers. This he will vouch for, and this is a point which deserves the notice of all purchasers. 9 13 taths 26
