

Evening Telegraph PUBLISHED EVERY AFTERNOON (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED) AT THE EVENING TELEGRAPH BUILDING, No. 108 S. THIRD STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1870.

THE EVENING TELEGRAPH, from its original establishment, has been in the receipt of telegraphic news from the New York Associated Press, which consists of the Tribune, Times, Herald, World, Sun, Journal of Commerce, Evening Post, Commercial Advertiser, and Evening Express.

The earliest regular edition of THE EVENING TELEGRAPH goes to press at 1 1/2 o'clock, and the subsequent regular editions at 2 1/2, 3 1/2, and 4 1/2.

AFTER THE BATTLE. At length we have the full returns from all the Congressional, Senatorial, and Legislative districts in the State, and the field can be surveyed fully and calmly.

It is not often that we can cordially agree with the opinions of the Age on partisan matters, but the following paragraph which we find in its editorial columns of this morning is so very true and so very much to the point that we cannot avoid quoting it and giving it our endorsement.

Our contemporary is evidently waking up, and we take it as a most promising sign that it has at last discovered the fact that things are not altogether lovely in the Democratic ranks.

RELIGIOUS MOVEMENTS. The proceedings of the Methodist State Convention which is now in session in this city, as well as those of the National Unitarian Conference at New York, are attracting a large degree of public attention.

organizations to a degree of activity which would never have been displayed if they had depended upon governmental support. In nearly all other Christian lands the State contributes directly to the support of one or more Churches, on the pretext that without such aid the cause of religion cannot be properly supported.

THE "AGE" ON DEMOCRATIC REFORM. It is not often that we can cordially agree with the opinions of the Age on partisan matters, but the following paragraph which we find in its editorial columns of this morning is so very true and so very much to the point that we cannot avoid quoting it and giving it our endorsement.

Our contemporary is evidently waking up, and we take it as a most promising sign that it has at last discovered the fact that things are not altogether lovely in the Democratic ranks. The Age says, with considerable naïveté, with reference to the men who have disgraced the Democratic party, that some of them are now known, and as a matter of course we may expect to see their characters and performances thoroughly ventilated in the interests of the public in general and the Democratic party in particular.

the "regular Democratic ticket" made up, the World threw its virtue to the winds and preached the good old Democratic doctrine of "vote the straight ticket, and vote it early and often," with as much vehemence as if honesty was a word it had never learned the meaning of.

We are accustomed to the dense ignorance of American affairs displayed by the leading British newspapers and reviews, but surely the London Times, Saturday Review, and Athenaeum can be held excusable for their blunders when an American newspaper like the New York Herald sets before its readers such a confused account of events in a neighboring city as that which appeared in its editorial columns yesterday, in an article on the fracas at the meeting of the return judges in this city.

THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Hon. Columbus Delano, of Ohio, the Prospective Secretary. "It is generally conceded" by the Washington correspondents that the Hon. Columbus Delano, of Ohio, the present Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has been tendered by the President the position of Secretary of the Interior, made vacant by the resignation of General Jacob D. Cox, and that he has accepted it.

It is not often that we can cordially agree with the opinions of the Age on partisan matters, but the following paragraph which we find in its editorial columns of this morning is so very true and so very much to the point that we cannot avoid quoting it and giving it our endorsement.

sloner of Internal Revenue is scarcely inferior in importance to the Secretaryship of the Interior, but as Mr. Delano will in the latter position be removed from all surveillance except that of the President, his willingness to make the change is not a matter of surprise.

GENERALITIES.

The Purchase of Cuba. Again the report goes out, says the Washington local, that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of Cuba, and the fact that Secretaries Boutwell and Fish and Attorney-General Alkerman were closeted together at the Treasury Department for several hours this morning gave rise to thick flying rumors that the conclusion was reached in making the preliminary engagements for the acquisition of the "Gem of the Antilles."

The Arms Market. General Dyer, Chief of the Ordnance Bureau, on Tuesday opened the bids for 30,000 Springfield rifled muskets, new, and 110,000 old but serviceable, also 40,000 new Enfield rifles, 40,000 old, and 30,000 muskets, to be sold by the Government.

A suit was commenced in the United States Court at Louisville, on the 17th inst., to remove from office, under the 3d section of the 14th amendment, the Hon. William Lindsay, recently elected a judge of the Court of Appeals from the Fourth district by a large majority over his radical opponent. It is charged that, prior to the war, he, as a clerk of the Supreme Court, took an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and that, in 1832, he engaged in the Rebellion.

ZELL'S ENCYCLOPEDIA, DICTIONARY, AND GAZETTEER

It is now fast approaching completion. The price for the entire work, unbound, will still remain for a limited time as originally announced, namely, $30. As it has been found advisable to increase the size of the original work about 500 pages beyond the number at first proposed, those who purchase or subscribe now will get the benefit of this addition without extra charge. Otherwise they will be obliged to pay for the same. This book is a complete and unabridged dictionary of the English language, as good as the best, a Gazetteer of the World, and a more complete, newer, and fresher Encyclopedia than any now in print; the price is lower than that of any other Encyclopedia—and but a little above that charged for an unabridged Dictionary of a Gazetteer alone—and being the latest and begun and completed within the short space of two years—will draw through an unlimited number of years, as has always heretofore been the case with works of this magnitude—it must necessarily be far the newest in point of information, as, for example, the article Napoleon is brought down to his surrender, Prussia to the present war, etc.—and the populations given either in accordance with recent State Census or that of the General Census of this year, or from other reliable information, and every pains taken to make the information given new and accurate.
