The Prussians have removed all art treasures from Sevres to Versailles.

Sir Francis Head writes to the Times to-day, deprecating the English protest against the annexation of Alsace and Lorraine to Germany, seeing England has captured and annexed more millions of men than all Europe together.

The Prussians again announce that fire will be opened on Paris on the 29th inst. One thousand toves have been ordered for the huts of the Prussians besieging Metz.

General Cambrill claims a victory for the French at Chattillon-le-Duc.

Belgium is again sending troops to the frontier. The French regard England's last effort at me-diation with extreme distrust.

It is reported on the continent that Queen Vic-toria has written to the King of Prussia to moderate his demands.

The Liverpool Chamber of Commerce complains of losses caused by the inaccuracy and delay in the telegraphic service between Liverpool and America. They have resolved to petition the gov-ernment for a direct line between Liverpool and Valentia bay, as it is between those points that the greatest irregularities occur.

It is understood that the Madrid government awaits Prussia's approval of the nomination of the Duke of Aosta to the throne.

The arrival of M. Thiers at Versailles is expected to-day. The Tours government is firm in its refusal to enter into any negotiations involving the surrender of territory. Bismarck's constant answer in reference to peace is that an election by the French of some authorized government is an indis-pensable preliminary.

The Prussians have impressed minors into their service, to repair railways from the German fron-tier to Paris. The bakers and butchers of Saarbruck and other frontier towns are ordered to prere ample supplies for the German forces London, Oct. 26.—Books for subscription to the new French loan have been opened in seventy out of eighty-nine departments of France, nineteen being occupied by the Germans. London, Oct. 26.—[Special to the London Telegram.]—A dispatch has been received by our correspondent at Berlin from Metz, which states that all endeavors on the part of the Bonapartists, through Bazaine, by which peace could be restored on a basis of the Empress becoming regent, have been aban-doned, and all hopes are therefore now at an end, and peace can only be gained by the intervention of eutral Powers.

The correspondent of the New York Herald, at The correspondent of the New York Herald, at the headquarters of the German army, writes on the 20th that the Saxons at Aulnay, Senerau, Livry, Nerbgallant, and other points around the forest of Bondy, are kept alert night and day. At Chatenay and Sceaux the Bavariaus are nightly disturbed by shells falling around them. The besiegers have not yet replied with a single cannon. No secret is made of the fact that they do not intend to commence till they have brought enough beavy to commence till they have brought enough heavy guns into position to bombard effectually.

A number of guns have been brought up by slow and painful process, having been dragged over common roads. Guns of larger calibre cannot be moved in that way, but must wait until obstruc-tions in the funnel of Nanteiul have been cleared and the bridge over the Marne, at Lagny, rebuilt. The latter work is nearly completed, but the former is not. When the guns are up nobody here has the slightest doubt of the result; still the men are getting impatient of delay. It is provoking to have friends picked off one by one and make no return. Various reports of the strength of the army at Lyons have been received here.

It is not credited that it amounts to any importance, and it is believed that it can be readily de-stroyed if desirable; but the Germans are beginning to fall into the grievous fault of despising and ning to fall into the grievous fault of despising and underrating the enemy.

October 21, at 7 A. M., I was awakened by the sound of heavy guns, not the dropping of shot, but a well-sustained roll, coming from the direction of St. Cloud. The Germans think there is nothing wrong, but in the cafes the French are mysteriously whispering, and I gather from fragments of their conversation that they are inbilant over a report that Garibaldi, at the head of 1500 men, is near at hand, and that the firing from the forts is intended hand, and that the firing from the forts is intended to cover an assault upon some bridge, outpost or

Garibaldi, no doubt, is capable of doing much mischief in rendering German communications in-secure, but I believe he would do better with less men. Mosely and Morgan did their work effective-ly with only a handful of men.

The vigilance of the besiegers is so constant that even such an active raider as Garibaldi will find it even such an active raider as Garibaldi will find it difficult to effect a surprise. Garibaldi, like Grant, dees not believe in night attacks.

London, Oct. 26.—[Special to the Ni Zork Herald.]—A Berlin letter dated the 2ith, 7s the uppermost feeling in Berlin at the present nonent is an intense longing for peace, especially among the lower classes, who loudly clamor for a termination of the war. A single batallion of landwehr, under General Kummer, at Metz, in repelling Bazaine's sortie on the 7th, lost over four hundred fathers of families, leaving as many bereaved widows and 1979 orphans.

zaine's sortie on the 7th, lost over four hundred fathers of families, leaving as many bereaved widows and 1070 orphans.

London, Oct. 28.—[Special to the New York Tribune]—The following is an authorized statement, notwithstanding what is insinuated and even affirmed in certain English journals.

The Empress has not taken part in any one of the combinations referred to, having for their object either peace or an armistice. Her saloon at Chiselhurst has not become in any sense official. Her saloon is still that of an exile, and if its doors are open to those who knock for admittance it is not to afford a field for discussing peace or war.

General Boyer, envoy of Bazaina, may have approached the Empress with a view to propositions of peace or war, to be submitted to Prussia, but he was received with ne more favor than were the emissaries of Bismarck on a previous occasion, when a former envoy of the Prussian chancellor came to propose peace, declaring that the King was disposed to content himself with 250,000 france with the inhabitants of Strasburg included.

The Empress replied with great energy that so long as there was any question of the smallest cession of territory, she would hold aloaf from every negotiation. The events of the last month have made no alteration in her resolution; and so far as the efforts of Boyer have been directed to this point they have completely failed; nor could the mission of General Boyer have had for its object to consult the Empress as to the propriety of sur-rendering Metz at this moment.

That is only one way of concealing the real ob-ject of Boyer's journey. Bazaine is confident of the strength of his position, and as a general who has suffered no defeat, and at the head of the only French army which now exists, he thinks himself entitled to exercise no little influence on the ques-tion whether peace shall be made, or hostilities continue. He would gladly make himself indicecontinue. He would gladly make himself indis-pensable—would gladly be dictator, with whom the enemy should have to treat, taking the lead of both the government which sits at Tours and that which is shut up in Paris; and he would rejoice that France should owe peace or victory to him only.

This is respectable ambition, exaggerated as it may perhaps be, but it must not be inferred that Bazaine would rather conclude peace favorable to Bazaine would rather conclude peace favorable to the Napoleonic dynasty than in accordance with the true interests of his country. There is, then, no particle of truth in the stories told about the in-terview at Chischurst, and it can scarcely be necessary to add that the approaching journey of the Empress to King William's headquarters be-longs, like all the rest, to that domain of interven-tion in which the subtle greating of France.

to the aid of her present difficulties, has contrived during the last few weeks to lead us astray.

Prince Napoleon, who had taken sides with those who would, perhaps, wish to induce the Empress to commit indiscretion, has had his labor for his pains, while his violent recriminations against the part of the empress to commit indiscretion of the empress to commit indiscretion. past policy of the empire had no other result than to compel him to listen to some harsh truths from his illustrious cousin, and to cause him to quit Chiselhurst somewhat suddenly, where, indeed, his reception had been of the coldest.

London, Oct. 26.—[Special to New York World.] Great annoyance and uneasiness is caused in the minds of the English Ministry by the guarded but absolute refusal of Russia to take any part in the recent English attempt at negotiating peace. As the chief of the Cabinet of the Russian Chancellor, after passing three days at Brussels, went to Tours the beginning of last week, and is expected in London to-night, it is feared Russia is quietly negotiating on its own account, with a view of isolat-ing Great Britain on the eastern question both from France and Germany.

The attitude of the Austrian government, too, hough first regarded as decided and encouraging to the English propositions, is now pronounced un-satisfactory in a high degree. The steps taken by the English government are felt to have resulted only in nortification for the Gladstone ministry, and showing the weakness of the influence of England in continental affairs, without in any way con tributing to advance the prospects of settlement.

THE PROTEST OF PIO.

The Pope's Letter to the Cardinals-He Complains of Infringement of his Liberty-Interference with Education.

The following protest, in Latin, has been addressed by the Pope to each cardinal, and was distributed in the 300 vestries of Rome:— PIUX IX, POPE.

Beloved Son, salutation and apostolic benediction; our Lord Jesus Christ, who humbles and elevates, mortifies and vivines (let Kings chap, ii, ver. 6), scourges and saves (Tobias, chap, nii, ver. 2), has recently permitted that this city or Rome, the seat or the Supreme Pontificate, should fall into hostile hands, as well as the remaining portion of the Pontifical State, which the enemies had for some time considered it expedient not to usurp. Yielding to the impulse of our fatherly love towards our beloved the Holy Roman Charch, and seeling in thom co-operators is our supreme apostolate, we have this day resolved, in our mourning and sorrow, to declare to them, as is required by the duty of our dynasty, and as even the voice of our conscience urges us to do, the inmost feeling of our sul, which makes us detest and publicly and openly to reprobate the state of things now existing. We who, although unworthy and undeserving, ever ise the power of the vicar of our Lord Christ on earth, and who are the pastor over the whole house of Israel, find ourselves new practically wanting that freedom which is absolutely indispensable to us in order to govern that Church of God and to maintain its rights; and we feel it is our duty to issue infis protest, which we moreover intend to have published, that it may be known, as it is proper that it should, by the whole Catholic world. And when we assert that the freedom has been ravished and taken from us, our adversaries could not reply that this complaint and this cecleration are without foundation. Indeed, any one who possesses good sense will understand and confess that having no loner that supreme and free power in virtue of which we enjoy the right of our civil principate in the use of public means of conveyance and in the public circulation of letters, and being unable to trust he government who has arrogated this power, we are really deprived of the necessary and speedy way as well as of the free taculty of treating the affairs which the vicar of Jesus Christ and the Ommo complaint was lodged against this proceeding, and the reply was it had been done by mistake, and an apology was offered for it. But who can ignore how easily errors of this kind can be repeated and lead to others?

Moreover, public education in this august city is threatened with a very serious evil. Before long the academic year will be opened at the university. This establishment which has heretofore epicyed exemplary tranquillity and order, although about 1200 young men are there assembled, being the sole place where so many Christian and honest parents can send their children to be instructed without the risk of being corrupted; this establishment, either on account of the false and erroneous doctrines which are now prevailing, or on account of the enamies of those who have been chosen to promagate them, must fall, as will be easily understood, into a state very different from what it was. It was made known that the laws in operation in Ron e should remain in their integrity and inviolability after the occupation; but in spite of such declarations the parish registers are taken away by force and examined, and it is not difficult to guess that such information is therein searched for as will doubtless he useful to draw up conscription lists, and that other ands which are easily imagined. It must be added that attacks and offenses, inspired by the desire of vengeance and party spirit, are left unpurshed, and that a similar impunity is assured to the authors of tuose shameful and otherses, who have so well deserved of society and religion. geance and party spirit, are left unpunished, and that a similar impunity is assured to the authors of those shamsful and unworthy outrages with which our faithful bodies of troops, who have so well deserved of society and religion, have been loaded to the great grief of all innest people. Lastly, ordinances and decrees people and the property lave already showed the tendancies of the suarpers. Therefore, against all those things already accomplished, as well as against those still worse which are imminent we intend to protest in virtue of our supreme authority, as we protest through the present letter, by means of which we let you know, beloved son, and also each of the cardinals of the Holy Roman Church, a brief statement of these particular facts, moreover reserving to ourself to enter more fully into the matter elsewhoto.

Meanwhile let us fervently and incessantly pray Almighty God that he will enlighten the minds of our curmies in order that they cease loading their sonis with the more and more overwhelming weight of ecclesiastical censures, and provoking upon themselves the terrible wrath of the living and all-seeing God, whose arm nobody can shun. We, on our part, pray the Divine Majesty, with constancy and humility imploring also the intercession of the Immaculate Vergin and of the Brother Aposities Peter and Paul; and let us do so with the holy confidence that we shall obtain what we sak, because the Lord helps those who are in tribulation who invoke him in sincerity. Meanwhile, praying that our Lord Jesus Christ may bestow peace and joy on thee, beloved son, we, from the bottom of our heart, give thee the apostolic blessing. Given at Rome, near St. Peter's, on the 29th of September, the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel, in the 25th pear of our Pontificate.

A THRILLING INCIDENT.

The Heroic Rescue of a Child from the Waters of Lake Huron.

Those in whose ears have ever rung the fearful cry, 'man overboard,' or who can sympathize with the agony of a parent when death threatens his child, and his rapturous joy when this death is averted, says the Cleveland Herald, will read with somewhat of a personal interest the narration of an somewhat of a personal interest the narration of an incident which has just come to our knowledge.

A week or two since the splendid bark City of Painesville, Captain Daniel Ingraham, laden with oats and bound from Chicago to Buffalo, was taken in tow by a steam tog in Lake Huron, several miles out from the head of St. Clair river, and was going through the water at a rapid rate, when the child of the steward a box of five years who was playing on the steward, a boy of five years, who was playing on a coil of cable which had been run aft and piled on the after-deck to trim the ship, feel overboard. Captain Ingraham heard the splash, looked over and saw the child, called to the steward that the boy was overboard, and ran for-ward and spoke the tug to round to for "a man overboard." The steward tarried not man overboard. The steward tarried dot a moment, and at a leap was over the sice and into the water. The mate, Al. Ingraham, brother of the captain, in almost equally quick time jumped into the yawl, with one of the men, cut the falls with his sheath knife, and scuttled away in the desperation of agony for the steward, who was to be seen a half mile asterp, keeping himself afeat with the child in mile asterp, keeping himself affeat with the child in his arms. In the meantime the tug had come about and headed for the party, and in a li-the while all were safe again on the decks of the great bark, and the voyage had been resumed.

The wife of the steward was on board, and so frantic was she in her grief, before the restoration of her child, that it required the undivided strength of Captain Ingraham to keep her from jumping overboard to ald in the rescue. The joy of the parents can be better imagined than described, yet it scarcely exceeded that of the gallant captain and mate and crew. There was joy in that ship, in cabin and in forecastic, and never did she seem so much a "good inip" as when the little lad was safely on her decks again after having been in the "jaws of death."

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton Declines to Run for Congress.

Highwood Park, Transply, N. J., Oct. 24.—
Mesars Edwin A Studwell, Biram P. Crozier, John J. Merrit, and others, Committee—Gentlemen:—
When I consented to be a candidate for Congress in your district I was not unmindful of section 2s, artile, of the Constitution, which provides that a representative in Congress must be twenty-five years of age, and have been seven years etitzen of the United States, and when elected must be an inhabitant of the State in which the person is chosen.

Now I am old enough, and have been a citizen long enough to qualify me for a seat in Congress to represent your district; but I am not willing to leave my charming home on the blue hills of Jersey, and become a denizen of your dirty town, as according to the strict letter of article 1 I should be compelled to do before election.

But as political parties pay little regard to constitutions nowadays, you may not consider this a practical obstacle to my being your representative, and hence I would further add that after writing you that hasty note of acceptance I ascertained that two of the candidates now in the field, Messrs Whiting and Wesster, the Republican nominees, are in favor of woman's suffrage; and I venture to assume that, on mature reflection, so liberal a gentieman as General Slocum, the Democratic nominee, will take the same view of this important question. The great cause, then, being secure, whoever is elected I have deemed it best, in the present sadly confused condition of politics in my native State, and especially in the cities of New York and Brooklyn, to withdraw from the canvasa, that my name may not be an apple of discord among you. Yours respectfully, ELIZABETH CADY STANTON. to do before election. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON.
